Massed Demonstration Monday Billed As Student Revolution

MONTREAL (CP) — While rebellious Quebec students Friday planned mass marches and other demonstrations for Monday, a small faction at the University of Montreal issued a warning against the sit-in in their faculty.

About 200 students in the 2,500-member social science faculty issued a statement denouncing "the illegal character of the assembly which decided to occupy the faculty Thursday night and Friday morning."

The statement said that only 61 members of the faculty were present at the assembly which voted on the sit-in in support of students occupying about one-half of Quebec's 23 junior colleges.

It said the balance of the faculty would not take the occupation lightly and a mass meeting would be held Monday to poll the opinion of the non-striking students.

"We hope to end this situation and establish strategy to return all departments of the faculty to legal authority," the students said.

Meanwhile, Paul Bourdeau, president of the provincial student union which Friday voted in favor of the mass march, said Monday's demonstration will "be a beginning and not an end to Quebec's student revolution."

The leader of the Union Generale des Etudiants du Quebec, which groups the province's English- and French-language universities and colleges, told a news conference the student movement is a "cultural revolution."

He added the occupations have brought students closer together.

Meanwhile, Loyola College administrators said they will cancel classes Wednesday in favor of study sessions and the McGill University senate expressed support for the junior-college students.

Professors at Laval University in Quebec City also said in a statement they agree "radical reform" is necessary in Quebec's institutions of higher learning.

In a statement bearing 18 signatures, the professors called for an inquiry commission to be established immediately to look into the possibility of "profoundly transforming" the teaching course organization and research at Laval University.

The unrest in the junior colleges began 11 days ago with the occupation of Lionel Groulx College in Ste. Therese de Blainville, 20 miles north of Montreal. At the peak of the unrest, 10 of the 23 junior colleges were occupied by students.

UGEC decided on the mass marches after learning an ultimatum by Education Minister Jean-Guy Cardinal for the students at the six colleges still occupied to return to classes Monday or risk annulment of their first term's work.

Jeane Dixon's Horoscope

For October 20

Your birthday today: During the year ahead prepare for the ending of many old situations; renounce what you can no longer accept. Changes will often be sudden but quite beneficial if you avoid sensational financial schemes. Today's natives thrive on personal opposition.

ARIES (Mar. 21 — Apr. 19): Your Sunday is packed with things which you've put off for weeks. Get down to details early. Brainstorming future plans is favored. Bring your loved ones in on your projections.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 — May 20): Reading and study are productive today; be receptive to self-improvement activities. Retire early to give your system a chance to catch up with your experience.

GEMINI (May 21 — June 20): Hobbies, sports, and public amusements suit your mood. Make the rounds with friends and relatives. Seldom is there likely to be so pleasant a day.

CANCER (June 21 — July 22): Consolidate family plans. Visitors are likely to bring you interesting tidings. Spend the evening going places yourself, but relax early.

LEO (July 23 — Aug. 22): Careful handling of the mission entrusted to you brings satisfaction. Exercise your mental powers, settle details of plans. Visits can be pleasant this evening.

VIRGO (Aug. 23 — Sept. 22): Be prepared for a minor disappointment in an emotional matter. Some people are a bit touchy about what you do for them. Busy yourself with your favorite studies.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 — Oct. 22): Visitors bring more than they take if you count the intangibles and intellectual stimulation. Be the gracious host or go visiting this pleasant day.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23—Nov. 21): This is a day of unusual visiting activities. Mental processes are favored. Follow a sudden hunch and be aware of what you avoided by so doing.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 — Dec. 21): Strive to learn something new today. It will more than reward any effort you put forth. Get a bit of exercise to turn in early to be fresh for a big tomorrow.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 — Jan. 19): A little effort goes a long way today. Organize the things you have been trying to get to for some time into a workable schedule. Enjoy a pleasant day.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20 — Feb. 18): Intellectual, rather than physical exertion takes precedence today. Press for lasting agreements with relatives and in-laws. Begin laying out additional plans.

PISCES (Feb. 19 — Mar. 20): Your church needs your support today. Check over your position, your prospects, your holdings, the results should cheer you up somewhat. Relax with reading this evening.

For October 21

Your birthday today: Inconvenient, but worthwhile, beginnings are featured during the coming year. Circumstances force fresh answers to all questions. None of the solutions in the past apply now. Today's natives have a definite sense of history and the talent for consistent work.

ARIES (Mar. 21 — Apr. 19): Today promises a wider opportunity for diplomacy. Business and personal life both benefit. Your normal quota of work still has to be done. Don't rush matters later in the day!

TAURUS (Apr. 20 — May 20): Now is the time to get to the core of your health problems. Consult your specialists. Your regular routine should be smoothly; be proud of the results.

GEMINI (May 21 — June 20): Invest cash in supplies and tools for your creative endeavor or in a chance to use your talents. You may also attract some scholarship or other subsidy. Gesture recognition . . .

CANCER (June 21 — July 22): Today begins prosperity which should produce through the rest of the month. Put your attentions first on matters which have been delayed. Entertaining is favored, afternoon and evening.

LEO (July 23 — Aug. 22): You will have to do hard research, or perhaps travel, to get information essential to your affairs. Results range from satisfactory to excellent despite some possible extra time.

VIRGO (Aug. 23 — Sept. 22): Success demands increasing self knowledge on your part. Consult medical or other advisers early; pay careful attention. Today you have indications for increased earnings!

LIBRA (Sept. 23 — Oct. 22): Today begins an expansion in your life good for both material gain and spiritual development. Strive for a balance among the forces working in your life. Seek higher levels.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23—Nov. 21): You may not have all your friends out in the open batting for you, but never mind. Keep at your regular routines in all good faith. At least, negotiations with institutions tend to be fortunate.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 — Dec. 21): Properly focused energy and co-operation of your friends can result in a day of new activities. Review your progress and position this evening.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 — Jan. 19): Channel your organizing drive into your work today. Seek conference and advice, and make your bid for better conditions or higher income. Your mood may be a bit overpowering in terms of romantic or marital relations; calm down to an easy gentleness.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20 — Feb. 18): Open your big promotion campaign now and keep rolling. People at great distances are more helpful than many of those nearby. Don't berate anybody for anything; the destructive results would be permanent.

PISCES (Feb. 19 — Mar. 20): There is no great improvement in money supply today, but you can get nearer to a solution of some old problem. Group or joint financing shows promise of early profits. Have a bit of patience and keep right on plugging along.

B.C. City Fluoridation Impressive

PRINCE GEORGE, B.C. (CP) — Children here have almost perfect teeth as a result of British Columbia's first municipal water fluoridation program started in this city 12 years ago.

A report prepared by the Prince George and District Dental Society and released Friday showed that 1,000 children continuously studied since the water was treated, showed 61.1-per-cent reduction in decayed, missing or filled teeth.

The reduction in the 13- to 14-year-old age group was 86 per cent.

Since the Prince George fluoridation program began, 10 B.C. municipalities have followed suit.

Czechs Cry Shame as Assembly Ratifies Occupation Treaty

PRAGUE (AP)—Groups of Czechoslovaks cried "shame" in the streets outside their National Assembly Friday night after its members voted 220 to 4 to ratify a treaty providing for the indefinite stay of 70,000 Soviet occupation troops. There were 10 abstentions.

A few hours later, it was announced in Moscow that the presidium of the Supreme Soviet had unanimously ratified the treaty. The two countries exchanged diplomatic notes on the votes, and the treaty went into effect.

In a 40-minute speech to the assembly, Czechoslovak Premier Oldrich Cernik said the treaty was not a complete surrender of sovereignty. However, Czechoslovakia will have no control over the movement into the country by Soviet troops and their families who will be stationed mainly in northern Bohemia and around Prague, Brno and Bratislava.

Cernik told the assemblymen the rest of the Soviet, Polish, East German, Hungarian and Bulgarian troops, variously estimated from 250,000 to 500,000 will leave within two months.

He said the Soviet Union would pay for the upkeep of the remaining forces and that offences they commit against the public or Czechoslovak law will be prosecuted by Czechoslovakia.

Cernik and Soviet Premier Alexei N. Kosygin signed the treaty in Prague Wednesday.

The Soviet-bloc soldiers invaded Czechoslovakia Aug. 20 and Moscow forced the Czechoslovak leaders to reverse such liberalizing trends as freedom of press and assembly.

As explained in Prague, the treaty calls for the Soviets to remove their secret police and military units and pay $1,900,000 as settlement for occupation damages.

The Czechoslovaks agreed to have no mass public celebration on the 50th anniversary of the republic Oct. 28. The Russians reserve the right to send troops at their discretion to any mass demonstrations or meetings and act in the name of Czechoslovak authorities in such cases.

The Czechoslovaks will not be allowed to call a meeting of the 160-member central committee of the Communist party before Oct. 17. Apparently the Soviets wanted more time to influence individual members.

Cernik insisted that Czechoslovaks, "its people and all its institutions will have sufficient leeway to ensure a happy Socialist future according to their own interests." He added that economic reforms begun prior to the invasion would be continued.

There were reports that at least 3,500 Soviet troops have moved into barracks at Mlada Boleslav, 40 miles north of Prague, despite protests from local authorities.

The names of the four assembly members voting against the treaty were not learned.

But CTK, the Czechoslovak news agency, said a woman, Gertruda Scharinova-Cakrtova, made an unsuccessful motion that the government start talks on complete withdrawal of troops.

Gladys Veers Into Tampa and Citrus Belt

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP)—Taking another life, Hurricane Gladys roared inland toward the Florida citrus belt today, leaving behind miles of Gulf Coast beaches heavily damaged by raging storm tides.

At least one man died as Gladys, veering suddenly from a northward course, attacked coastal cities of the Tampa Bay area with thundering winds, towering waves and hammering rains.

Glenn Morris Sr. of Sarasota was killed when his car plunged off a road into floodwaters of Phillippe Creek. Earlier, when Gladys flashed across Cuba, a man drowned in a flood.

Gladys was expected to reach the east coast between Jacksonville and Daytona Beach this afternoon. Small craft along the entire Florida east coast and northward to the Carolina were warned to remain in safe harbor.

Miles of beaches were buried by towering tides as Gladys skirted the gulf coastline toward her landfall. Roads were flooded, homes isolated and buildings undermined on the beaches.

Many of the 1,000,000 residents of the Tampa Bay area, lulled into complacency as Gladys followed a due north course for three days, were caught by surprise when 60-mile-an-hour winds and driving sheets of rain struck during the afternoon rush hour.

Trees toppled, signs came crashing down, and power transformers exploded with brilliant flashes of light in the early darkness.

Gov. Claude Kirk mobilized the Florida National Guard to assist in frantic evacuation of thousands of persons from vulnerable beach areas.

Along the beaches, motel owners opened doors front and back, allowing the tides to sweep through. Guests were moved to upper floors.

Many storm shelters were opened. At Clearwater, as 100 tourists huddled in the high school gymnasium, a blast of wind ripped off part of the roof and the rain pounded through the gap. There were no injuries.

Many reports of looting came from areas in which store windows were blasted out by the wind.

Windsor Loves Its Paul

And in this southwestern Ontario city Friday there was only one Paul—Senator Paul Martin who represented Windsor's Essex West riding as a federal member of Parliament for 33 years.

More than 1,100 persons squeezed into an auditorium to honor him.

The greying senator who missed on two attempts to lead the Liberal party, sounded little like a man who's age bespeaks retirement.

He said his goal now is "to make a success of my second career," that of government leader in the Senate.

"I will help to work for the growth of Canada and the preservation of its unity."

Said Prime Minister Trudeau: "We in other parts of Canada know Windsor for two products —automobiles and Paul Martin. Some people complain that automobiles are not built to last forever, but they cannot make the same complaint about Mr. Martin."

Moscow Charges Club 231 Promotes Counter-revolution

OTTAWA (CP) — Ever hear of Club 231?

Moscow says it has branches in Canada which have strongboxes containing secret information on how the West tried to promote "counter-revolution" in Czechoslovakia.

The bizarre allegation is printed in a 168-page Russian book called On Events in Czechoslovakia, the Soviet euphemism for the Warsaw pact invasion and occupation of that country.

According to the Russians, the members of Club 231 are an unsavory lot.

Without exception, they are "ex-felons, Nazis, fascists, puppets, reactionary clergy, bourgeois generals, American intelligence agents, collaborators, thieves, murderers, political criminals, terrorists, turncoats, profiteers, plunderers and traitors."

The Russians say Club 231 was founded March 31 this year in Czechoslovakia and had 40,000 members, some of them—they don't say how many—in Canada.

The Soviet book, made available by the Russian embassy here, says Czechoslovakian immigrants in Canada and the U.S. were recruited into Club 231.

And what was Club 231 up to anyway?

"Tryint to poison working people's minds with the counter-revolutionary ideas of democracy without Communists, pure democracy and absolute freedom," say the Russians.

As if that weren't bad enough, there's more, the Soviet's say. Club 231 also promoted freedom of speech and abolition of censorship.

"Club 231 activists travelled unhindered to the cities and villages of Czechoslovakia where they called upon people not to elect Communists to government bodies," says the Russian document.

Teachers Begin Jail Term

QUEBEC (CP) — Twelve teachers who began short jail seniences Friday night on charges of contempt of court received immediate sympathy in the form of a picket line from the Confederation of National Trade Unions.

The teachers, members of the Syndicat des professeurs de l'Etat du Quebec, had been sentenced to 20-day terms for violating a back-to-work court injunction during a teachers' strike in 1966.

More than 50 CNTU picketers marched outside the jail and CNTU spokesmen said they would remain until the imprisonment ended.

The Supreme Court of Canada had refused to hear their appeal on the contempt conviction and the 20-day terms were to have started Oct. 1.

Employment News

By: J. R. STAVELEY
Manpower Counsellor

The construction field which has dominated the labor market in recent weeks with a demand for additional workers showed a decrease during the past week.

In the industrial field, employment opportunities continue to be confined mainly to skilled plant workers with a number of years of experience. Opportunities for unskilled labor requirements are over with requirements defined as "reliable and suitable" workers.

The agricultural seasonal labour requirements are over for the year, crops have been picked and processed by Canning Companies, and the apple crop is now in its final harvesting stage.

The following employment opportunities are available:

In the female division there is a demand for mature reliable women to look after children. Locally required (also sought by Trenton Canada Manpower Centre) are experienced dining room waitresses willing to work either full or part-time, and also during the evenings. There is an opening for a switchboard operator to work during the evening, and a limited number of sales clerks are required for evening work throughout the week and occasionally on Saturday and Sunday evenings. A Ladies' Wear Store is seeking qualified seamstress. In constant demand are capable housekeepers and registered nurses. Trenton Canada Manpower Centre is seeking an experienced Executive Secretary and plant workers for evening and night shifts.

It is drawn to the attention of employers in the Quinte Area that this office, and the Trenton Canada Manpower Centre, have a supply of typists, payroll clerks, bookkeepers and general clerical workers presently seeking employment.

In the male division locally urgently required is a qualified barber. Openings also exist for a baker and a short order cook. Industrial plants have vacancies for experienced heavy gauge sheet metal workers; machinists: a knitting machine fixer; fibre glass moulders and a machine shop moulder. As yet unfilled are positions for experienced saddle and harness makers.

In short supply in the Quinte area are Class "A" automobile repair mechanics and a licensed automobile body repair mechanic. A number of management trainees are being sought by Retail and Banking organizations.

There is an urgent requirement in the Kingston area for qualified mechanical, electrical and civil engineering draftsmen preferably possessing municipal work background. A qualified mechanical draftsman is also required by a local industrial plant.

At the professional level there are positions available for industrial and civil engineers in addition to a qualified accountant.

If interested in any of these positions, seeking other employment or thinking of re-entering the labor market, contact the Canada Manpower Centre at 224 Church Street, Belleville.

Heart Team Concentrates

Toronto Heart Transplant Shows Steady Improvement

Pietro Ongaro, an Italian who came to Canada in 1953, received the new heart Saturday in a 4½-hour operation by about 20 doctors and nurses.

The operation came about 36 hours before Canada's seventh heart transplant was performed Sunday night at Montreal, the world's 53rd. A total of 31 survive.

Dr. Donald Wilson, who headed the team which performed the operation at Toronto Western Hospital, said everything went smoothly.

Hospital officials announced at 10 a.m. today Mr. Ongaro had been removed from the operating room to the regular intensive-care section. He was semi-conscious and no longer dependent on respiratory equipment.

Much of the monitoring equipment has been removed and the patient is freer to move about in his bed, the hospital bulletin said.

Doctors said his pulse, breathing and temperature were normal.

The patient, incapacitated for 15 months by repeated heart attacks, had been in and out of hospital for six months.

"He had no chance the way he was," said Dr. Wilson. "This way there is hope for him. He will have to lead a restricted life, but the other way. . . .

The donor was James Bryan, 33, a carpenter who died Saturday of a cerebral hemorrhage. He had been transferred here from Alliston, Ont., 50 miles north of Toronto.

Mr. Ongaro, married for 14 years, has no children. Mr. Bryan was married and leaves a wife and a young family of four.

Dr. Wilson said the new heart started beating in Mr. Ongaro after being stimulated by one electric shock.

He told reporters Mr. Ongaro was kept on an artificial heart and lung apparatus for an hour and 40 minutes before the new heart was shocked into life.

Warsaw Pact Troops Leave

PRAGUE (AP) — Warsaw pact occupation troops began pulling out of Czechoslovakia today.

The Hungarian news agency MTI reported the first Hungarian units to leave crossed the southern Czechoslovak border at three points and were welcomed home with ceremonies and banners strung across houses.

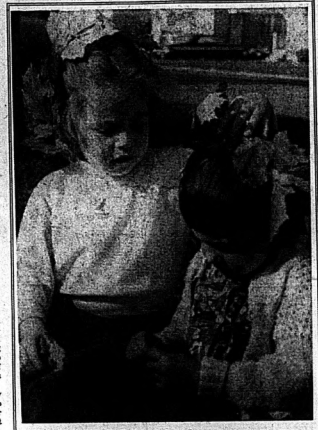
In Warsaw, the Polish armed forces newspaper Zolierz Wolnosci-Soldier of Freedom—said: "Our soldiers are returning home. Today we shall greet them cordially on their home soil."

Apollo Crew Calmed

HOUSTON (AP) — Calmed down after a day of bitter disagreements with ground controllers, the three Apollo 7 astronauts soared into their final 24 hours in space today, eager for their homecoming.

Otherwise Capt. Walter M. Schirra Jr., Maj. Donn F. Eisele and civilian Walter Cunningham were busily preparing for re-entry and splashdown in the Atlantic Ocean Tuesday morning.

They are to ignite their spacecraft engine over Hawaii and streak through the atmosphere to a landing southeast of Bermuda at 7:12 a.m. EDT.



On Sunday, Schirra held a running verbal battle with mission control centre in Houston. The 45-year-old veteran, making his third and last trip into space, objected to a number of unscheduled flight plan changes and snapped:

"I've had it up to here today and from now on I'm going to be an on-board flight director for these updates. We're not going to accept any new games, like doing some crazy testing we never heard of before."

Earlier, Schirra was irked by a change in the procedure for firing the spacecraft engine.

"I wish you would find out the idiot's name who thought up this test," Schirra said. "I want to find out and I want to talk to him personally when I get back home."

At another point, he said sharply: "We have a feeling you are believing that some of those experimenters are holier than God. We are heck of a lot closer to Him right now."

Leave It to Kids!

It's the time of falling leaves in the Quinte district — and you can always leave it to the youngsters to mark the change of seasons in an inimitable way. Like young Kelly Vance and Patty Hobbs for instance — hopefully creating a fashionable fall headdress.

Getting There -- by Degrees

Slowly, but surely, Loyalist College is evolving as a full-scale community college. At its first convocation, and perhaps symbolic of its growth by degrees, it awarded its first honorary degree to assistant deputy education minister Lorne Johnston. Making presentation was Judge J. C. Anderson, college chairman. (For details, see Page 5).

Army Vetoes Airlift

LAGOS (CP) — While thousands of Biafrans are reported starving, three Canadian forces Hercules transport planes sit idle, waiting for the go ahead to start ferrying food and medical supplies in civil-war-torn Nigeria.

One of the $3,000,000, pot-bellied turboprops, on loan to the International Red Cross, sat on the tarmac at Lagos's Ikeja airport Sunday, where it landed one week ago.

Two others, one at Recife, on the northeast coast of Brazil, and another at Ascension Island, 700 miles southwest of here in the Atlantic, sat waiting for the red tape to be cut.

One apparent reason for the delay in starting to transport relief supplies is the uncertainty of the Nigerian government as to how far it should co-operate in facilitating relief operations into break-away Biafra, the eastern section of Nigeria where civil war has ranged for 18 months.

Major K. S. (Ken) Johnson of Smiths Falls, Ont., commander of the Canadian detachment, last Wednesday sought permission from the Nigerian chief of staff to fly supplies to Port Harcourt, 200 miles east of here, but permission was denied for "military reasons."

He had scouted the area, held by Nigerian forces commanded by Col. Benjamin (Black Scorpion) Adekunle, who takes a dim view of non-military aircraft operating in his command area, and found that runways near Calabar, 100 miles east of Port Harcourt, could handle the transports.

Meanwhile, Lt.-Col. Leslie Hussey of Ottawa, commander of 436 transport squadron based at Ottawa, and Maj. Robert Gibson of St. Bruno, Que., commander of 429 transport squadron based at St. Hubert, flew in the island of Fernando Poo.

They found the runway at the island, used as a jumping-off point for relief operations into Biafra, is also sound enough for the Hercules.

However, the island, formerly held by Spain, last week became part of a new independent state called Equatorial Guinea, and visas are required for Canadian personnel passing through here on the way to Biafra.

Mrs. Onassis Radiant

Island Wedding Distinct Contrast to Lavish Newport Affair

SKORPIOS ISLAND (AP) — Jacqueline Kennedy Onassis and her multi-millionaire bridegroom began their yachting honeymoon in port at this Greek Island today amid icy rains and gale winds.

Rains poured Sunday all through the simple Greek Orthodox ceremony that united the 39-year-old widow of President John F. Kennedy to Aristotle Onassis, 62, the selfmade shipping magnate.

The glamorous former first lady and her bronzed, silver-haired husband retired on their wedding night aboard the yacht without revealing their travel plans.

The storm seemed likely to impel the newlyweds to seek sunnier shores, possibly along North Africa.

At a champagne reception aboard the Christina Sunday night, the man who rose from teen-age poverty n Turkey to a fortune estimated at $200,000,000 to $500,000,000 said he and his bride hadn't decided where they would go.

The wedding ceremony in the simple, freshly whitewashed Chapel of the Little Virginon Skorpios was a far cry from the lavish affair in Newport, R.I., 15 years ago when Jacqueline Bouvier married John Fitzgerald Kennedy at a Roman Catholic mass.

Mrs. Kennedy's two children, John F. Jr., 7, and Caroline, 10, and the bridegroom's two, Alexander Onassis, 21, and Chrstina, 19, stood beside the couple as Father Polykarpos Athanassiou performed the ceremony. The bridegroom's sister, Mrs. Alexander Garoufallou, was the official witness.

Unlike the Catholic wedding ceremony, there was no "I do" or any pledge to love, honor or obey. The priest placed a New Testament encased in gold before the couple and each kissed it.

Her dark eyes brimming with tears, the new Mrs. Onassis was radiant. Many of the 40 relatives and friends in the little chapel wept with her, including her mother, Mrs. Hugh D. Auchinclos.

After the ceremony, Mr. and Mrs. Onassis got in the front seat of a small beach car to drive to the yacht moored nearby.

Caroline and John were to leave to go back to school in New York. Their mother and their new stepfather have not yet announced where they will live. Both have apartments in New York, and Onassis also has residences in Athens, Paris, Antibes and Montevideo as well as on Skorpios.

Mrs. Auchinclos incurred the Roman Catholic penalty of excommunication when she married Auchinclos after divorcing Jack Bouvier when Jacqueline was 18.

The same penalty fell on Mrs. Kennedy's sister Lee, when she married Prince Stanislas Radziwill after divorcing her first husband, but several years later she got an annulment of her first marriage from the Vatican Rota and remarried in the church.

Vatican theologians said Mrs. Kennedy also put herself outside the Church by marrying a man her church considers is still married to Tina Livanos, now the Marchioness of Blandford. But the Greek Orthodox Church has accepted Onassis' divorce, and some theologians say there is an ecumenical tendency these days for the Vatican to accept what the Greek Orthodox Church does with regard to its flock.

Ontario Mines Minister Visits Sidney Wednesday

Mines minister Allan Lawrence, who last week said the Conservative party would lose the next election if they didn't smarten up, is going to be speaking in Belleville Wednesday night.

The outspoken Mr. Lawrence was asked here by Quinte MPP Dr. Richard T. Potter to speak at the annual meeting of the Quinte Riding Provincial Progressive Conservative Organization.

The meeting will be held at eight p.m. at the new Sidney township hall near Wallbridge and an election of officers will also take place.

The current president of the riding wide organization is Ted Parker of Trenton, with Gerald Joyce of Belleville as first vice-president.

On Saturday Mr. Lawrence spoke to the annual meeting of the Ontario Progressive Conservative Student Association in Guelph.

The party, he said, must offer youth "A real place where they can play a meaningful role."

A youthful and dynamic image is required by the party to meet the challenge of the 1970's especially with the rising percentage of young people among the nation's voters he said.

He asked the association members to "fight the selfish ghetto concept of the university campus and seek to replace this concept with a vital awareness of the university as a functioning and valuable part of our society."

He was referring to a "kind of indifference among students and leaders" which Mr. Lawrence said he detected in the "thought of many of the university campus."

Also in Guelph on Saturday three prominent members of the Ontario Conservative party, agreed with Mr. Lawrence and said the party was in real danger of losing the next election.

They blamed complacency that has led to what they describe as a weakening of the party's grass roots appeal.

The three, Alan Eagleson, Delbert O'Brien and Robert Roch, all candidates for the vacant party presidency spoke to the conference of the Ontario Progressive Conservative Association.

"We have to get funds and get professional organizers or we could lose the next election" said Mr. Eagleson.

And Mr. Roche said that new goals must be set because the party's rural base does not take into account the rapid shift of population to urban centres.

Supporting Mr. Lawrence's statements about college attitudes the Progressive Conservative students called for "a Conservative backlash" to combat what they termed the activist preachings of the Canadian Union of Students.

A bulletin was given to 100 members of the OPCSA urging them "to fight back if you are sick and tired of radicalism."

Mr. Lawrence speaking last week had also called for reorganization.

Submarginal Land Used in Project

TWEED — An extensive area of submarginal land around Camden Lake in the County of Addington and Addington will be developed into a multi-use recreational facility.

The development will take place under the terms of a Federal-Provincial rural development agreement announced by Jean Marchand, Minister of the Canada Department of Forestry and Rural Development and William Stewart, Ontario Minister of the Department of Agriculture and Food.

The immediate undertaking will be to acquire 1,450 acres of submarginal land as a basis for development.

Local citizens will be employed in the development work which will include water level control, the building of access roads, construction of fences and the improvement of waterfowl habitat.

Acquisition and development of the land involved will be the responsibility of the Lennox - Addington County ARDA board.

In addition to generating new income for those directly involved in the project, it is expected that there will be a beneficial effect upon the tourist service industries in the area.

The cost of the project will be shared equally by the Federal and Provincial Governments under the Rural Development Agreement.

A second ARDA project will benefit a number of rural families in Brudenell Township in Renfrew County.

The Tweed Forest District of the Ontario Department of Lands and Forests and the Renfrew County ARDA board have prepared a detailed plan for extensive redevelopment and woodland harvests that will increase productivity and generate winter employment for local farm families.

The long-term effect of the program will be to improve the quality and quantity of timber in the area.

It is estimated that approximately $23,000 can be realized from the sale of logs and pulpwood during the coming winter which will more than meet the labor costs.

The immediate economic benefit has been estimated at $1,500 per family in winter income.

Tweed Walk Six Days Away

TWEED — The date of the Minor Hockey Walkathon here is just six days away.

Oct. 27 is the walkathon date and it is estimated that 300 entry forms are in circulation at the present time.

It has been decided that the male and female who complete the walk with the largest amount of money collected will receive a pair of skates.

Water and first aid supplies will be waiting for the walker at each check-point of the walk.

Entry forms are still available at the Tweed News Office and from any Tweed Minor Hockey Association member.

Even with the rain coming down cats and dogs many of the 188 walkers in the Prince Edward Collegiate Institute walkathon Saturday still got thirsty. This walker solved the problem with the water running off a roadside cliff.

Picton Walkathon A Huge Success

Not even the chilling rain Saturday could keep students from Prince Edward Collegiate Institute in Picton from finishing their Bellville to Picton Walkathon.

In this year of the walkathon the PECI walk, which was organized by Class 12 D at the school was one of the most successful, especially considering the weather.

A spokesman at the school said this morning that sponsors for the most part were almost doubling their donations now that the walk is completed.

"We originally planned on raising $500 but it looks as if we're going to get more than that."

The walkathon was held to raise money for the Retarded Children's Association in Picton who are buying a project; or.

Police Still Seek Driver of Car

Belleville police still have no leads to report on the double hit and run accident occurring late Friday night and sending two 15 year old girls to Belleville General Hospital.

All the police have to go on in the hit and run accident on West Bridge St. is that the girls said they were struck by a blue station wagon.

An appeal for any information from citizens that might be helpful in apprehending the car and its driver has been issued by city police who are still working hard on the case.

Uttering Charge Laid in Trenton

TRENTON — A Moose Creek youth was led from the Bank of Nova Scotia in handcuffs this morning.

Police were called to the scene when a youth attempted to pass a $25 cheque in the name of Norman Taylor of Metcalf.

Detective Sidney Vickers of the Trenton Police Department said Hutt was also charged with possession of stolen goods.

Mr. Taylor's identification and car were stolen in Metcalf on Sunday.

Trent River

Pollution Investigated By Water Commission

TRENTON — The Ontario Water Resources Commission began an investigation today into the pollution of the Trent River.

The investigation comes as a result of complaints concerning a slimy foam which has appeared on the water's surface. Officials say it has taken the form of oil and small plastic chunks.

It is believed the oil comes from CFB Trenton. A spokesman for the base said this is the result of a storm sewer and remedial action is under way.

John Baker of the Industrial Wastes branch of the commission arrived today to head the survey which should last for about a week.

James Block, public relations officer for the commission said that the plastic chunks could possibly be coming from the Glen Miller paper mill.

He went on to say that the foam when broken down was found to be made up of "protoleucanous" material which is a bulldup of algae and occurs mainly around dams.

Another interesting aspect of pollution was mentioned. Pieces of buildings under construction have been dumped into the Trent River at Campbellcroft Park, he said.

This could cause pollution of a dangerous kind as the contaminants believes this could eventually result in the blocking of boat traffic, Mr. Block concluded.

Obituaries and Funerals

CAPT. JOSEPH GEORGE CALDWELL

Captain Joseph George Caldwell, veteran of two World Wars, died suddenly at his home, 209 Albert Street. He suffered a heart attack.

Capt. Caldwell was born in Belleville, 72 years ago, a son of the late Dr. and Mrs. Joseph George Caldwell and had been a resident of Belleville all his life.

He spent his entire life in the militia and in service. Mr. Caldwell joined the Argyll Light Infantry as a private and rose through the ranks to be sergeant. At the outbreak of the First World War, Mr. Caldwell joined the 21st battalion and went overseas with that unit and served in France and was discharged in 1919.

Again in 1939 he joined the Hasty Pees and served until discharge in 1944. He was an active member of the Royal Canadian Legion, Branch No. 99.

In civilian life he served some years with the Customs and Excise department.

Surviving are his wife, the former Coralie Laurie Cook, two sons, Joseph G. Caldwell, Peterborough, South Carolina, William S. Caldwell, Ottawa and one daughter, Mrs. W. Ross (Joan) Thomas of Bethany. Also surviving are 10 grandchildren and four great grandchildren.

Mr. Caldwell is resting at the John R. Bush Funeral Home, Service will be held in the chapel on Tuesday, October 22 at 11 a.m. Interment will be in Belleville Cemetery with Padre Bram Humphreys officiating.

The members of Branch No. 99, Royal Canadian Legion are requested to attend the funeral in a body.

Moira Secondary Drew Full Attendance for Graduation Exercises Saturday Night

People Are Important Factor: Musgrove

People, not progress, are the most important product of civilization, graduating students at Moira Secondary School were told Saturday.

The caution that human beings must not run second to technology came from W. J. Musgrove, Centennial Secondary School principal and guest speaker at Moira's graduation exercises.

Discoveries increase the rate of technical change in any society, said Mr. Musgrove.

"But people are still the most important factor. If these changes result in man becoming a slave of technology rather than a partner, then we've headed for disaster."

"One fact we must face in today's world is the enormous increase in population," he added. "We have substituted the law of humanity for the laws of nature. We no longer believe in the survival of the fittest for the human members of the animal kingdom."

As a result new problems have been created.

"The most immediate of these . . . is the inability of individuals to work in harmony and in unison to solve the other problems."

The school also graduated seven Ontario scholars, among them Heather Hume, 18-year-old top grades student.

The valedictory was given by 18-year-old Brian Royle, who said the graduates viewed the occasion with mixed emotions.

Because of their Moira background, he said, the students would continue into life independent, free of former outside pressures.

"These outside pressures, however, were very necessary for our development into mature and responsible young adults that we now are," he added.

BRIAN ROYLE, valedictorian at Moira Secondary School graduation could be confident his speech was letter-perfect Saturday night. Checking it over was 18-year-old Heather Hume, top grades student of the year.

Poppy Campaign Approved

The Belleville Financial Appeals Review Board has approved The Poppy Day proposed by The Belleville Poppy Fund Committee to be held on November 8 and 9. Poppies have been sold annually in Belleville since 1927.

The funds raised by the committee are used for assistance of various kinds to veterans, their families and survivors. The committee consists of representatives from the following organizations: Legion, Branches 59 and 167, ANAF, RCAF Association and Legion Auxiliary.

City Inspector Named Director

Grant E. Stickle, city building inspector for Belleville, was named one of four directors of the Ontario Building Officials Association, at their annual conference held last week at Sault Ste. Marie.

The conference named George Anderson of St. Catharines as president. In 1964 the building officials conference was held in Belleville. Next year they will convene in Cornwall.

Doug Buchanan works in the control centre of Montreal's busy Dorval airport. He has been an air traffic controller for over eight years and has the highest grade obtainable in this job.

"There are 19 of us on each shift. We control about 125,000 square miles of air space. Our job is to make sure airplanes get down safely. There's radar to help us. Generally, we start speaking to pilots when they're 200 miles away.

"At peak periods each controller handles between 8 and 12 planes. That means you would be responsible for more than 1,000 lives. It can become pretty nerve-racking but you have to remain calm.

"So you can see I don't have time to dabble in the stock market. When I get home I just want to relax. That's one reason I'm sold on those London Life policies. Of course, protection for my wife and daughter is important, too.

"The policies force me to save money. I think unless you have money regularly going into a sound, safe investment you'll never have peace of mind—and do all the things you want to do."

Here are the facts about Doug's $45,000 of insurance with London Life. He has four Jubilee life premiums to 65 policies purchased between ages 23 and 28. His total monthly premium is $64.47. By age 65 he will have paid in $30,883. However, if he leaves his dividends to accumulate, his policies will be worth $76,576* in cash! More than double the money he paid in.

"Those policies are like having a really solid basement for your house! They're always going to be there to keep your family out of financial trouble, and they earn money.

"And they're excellent collateral. When we wanted to buy furniture, I took them to the bank manager and he said, 'I'll lend you all the money you need.' He gave me a favorable interest rate, too.

"Of course, I'd like to retire early. A couple of years ago Johanne and I went to the Caribbean. When we got back, we decided that when I retire, we want to travel all over the world. My London Life policies are going to help me do that. What better return could you get for money that's protecting your family into the bargain?"

A London Life Jubilee policy can be tailored to your personal requirements. That's why it is called "the flexible one." To find out more about this policy, phone a Company representative.

East–West Relatives

It is interesting to note that Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko has given an assurance to the United States that there will be no East European threat to West Berlin in the foreseeable future.

According to The New York Times, the Soviet pledge is part of a Kremlin effort to cool the political climate in the wake of the invasion of Czechoslovakia. The United States had also warned Russia that the Western allies would not tolerate any threat or use of force against West Berlin or Western Germany.

This is all well and good. Nevertheless, the worst thing the West could do at this time is drop its guard. The Soviet assurance merely speaks of the "foreseeable future," and this could be a convenient let out for the Soviets if at any time they felt like moving against West Berlin or West Germany.

And remember this — six years ago Gromyko assured President Kennedy that Soviet missile sites were not being established in Cuba. U.S. aerial reconnaissance proved otherwise and led to the U.S. "quarantine" of Soviet vessels heading for Cuba.

If Gromyko's word could not be trusted then, there is no reason now to suppose that Russia would not move against the West any time it felt like it. The price of freedom, as ever, is eternal vigilance.

Satellites' Dilemma

It is tough in more ways than one for people in the Communist bloc countries dominated by the Soviet Union.

Russia may be the second most powerful nation on earth after the United States but at the grass roots level, in terms of material possessions and living standards generally they are still generations behind not only the United States but the Western world at large.

An extract from an article by Kitchener-Waterloo Record business editor Henry Koch, appearing elsewhere on this page, is revealing in this regard.

The satellite countries on the other hand have always been a bit more on the ball, as it were, where living conditions and the social graces are concerned. Hungary, Poland, Czechoslovakia in particular are countries whose people fundamentally have more in common with the West and Western standards than they have ever had with the Soviets.

That they are shackled hook line and sinker to the Soviet juggernaut, instead of remaining independent as of old is one of the unfortunate facts of latter-day political life.

Study in Contrasts

In countries as far apart as Poland and Tanzania the vagaries of contemporary fashion are distilling the same theme — while in Poland they seem to be with it — mod teenagers, miniskirts and all — in Tanzania, (formerly Tanganyika and Zanzibar) they can only be described as "square."

Hearken to this view expressed by the Dar es Salaam Standard: "In what is described as a move to safeguard the nation's culture the General Council of the Tanu Youth League has banned miniskirts, tight trousers, wigs and bleaches from next January. According to an official statement it is felt that this will halt the spread of alien ideas considered harmful to the youth of the nation."

The editorial goes on to urge more attention by the youth of Tanzania to the cause of socialism than to "the merely passing phases of world-wide fashion."

Ah well, perhaps this is just another example of the fact that there is no unanimity of thought in the socialist world. Russia and China, the two Red giants, have already proved that. Now it is Poland, where communism is a less darker shade of grey than in Russia, and Tanzania, a leftist-oriented African nation, which are at odds.

Color and grace fortunately have not fled the Polish scene, as recent pictures of modishly-attired teenage girls indicated. With their shoulder-length hair, dark glasses and contemporary teen clothing they might have been Canadians. In Tanzania however, the Africans' flair for style and color is being squelched by the cold hand of socialist thought.

Responsible Approach

Here is a footnote on student power — from a student of Ryerson Institute in Toronto — that makes good sense. "Student power is sort of silly. We don't know the score on a lot of issues. What we want is to see the administration sharpen up . . . and there needs to be better communication between it and the faculty and the students." — John Spadafora, 22, a business administration student.

Student Power and the Student Viewpoint Today

Letter to The Globe and Mail

That universities are run and controlled by a "board of governors representing the corporate elite", as Philip Resnick so aptly puts it (Dr. Sokosh—Sept. 25), is common knowledge. What is not so well known or understood is how university philosophy and policy are dominated by this fact. How does it pay the people of Canada to subsidize, at such great expense to taxpayers, institutions of higher learning which insist on acting, not as sociological guides and instruments, but as hand-maidens of private enterprise?

What chance has a student, a sobeing in a monolithic, impersonal structure, to find recognition, expression, guidance, counsel or fulfilment as an individual? What encouragement or inspiration is offered to a student to make a contribution because that contribution will be acknowledged or appreciated?

Is the student supposed to have a point of view? Yes, they say, the point of view of a servile ignoramus who should be seen and not heard. And on they go, same old way, status quo, ring the bells of jingoism, shout down the welfare state (welfare in the form of huge government grants, should go only to the universities!), build ivory tower or ivory tower and proclaim that there is no God but education and education exists for education's sake alone.

But the student does have a point of view and it is being heard from Berlin to Colombia and from Thailand to Mexico City. He no longer wants to be regarded as a cog but as a thinking, important human being to be reckoned with. He is sick to death of war and war machines and war budgets and the sight of dead babies in Vietnam and Biafra. He is fed up with slums and miserable hovels and unemployment and vast areas of degrading poverty.

He indicts segregation and racial discrimination. He proclaims that this is a time for justice and liberty and equality. And he demands a voice in the running of university affairs, a countermanding voice, to oppose the materialistic monopolists who would use education as a concubine. No board of governors composed of one class of people exclusively can pretend to have a totality of practical experience of the outside world.

The student calls upon the universities today to take their proper place in the vanguard of society's march. It is the university that should lead the way against slums and against unemployment. It is the university that should inspire the student to be the shining force to fight for medicare, free education, a guaranteed annual income.

It is the university that should give to the student, its precious product, a will, a purpose, a burning desire to contribute to the betterment of the world, a sense of satisfaction in the stilling of the hunger for knowledge and a great sense of fulfilment in the service of mankind and of peace.

Boldt Castle

Labor of Love Runs to Seed

Ottawa Journal

Foreign sailors on the St. Lawrence river must do a double - take when Boldt Castle looms up among the holiday cottages dotting the Thousand Islands.

George Boldt, a U.S. hotel magnate, began building the castle in 1900 as a labor of love for his wife. Situated on Heart Island, a short boat ride from Alexandria Bay, New York, the castle looks oddly out of place like the giant ocean freighters that sail past it.

Over $2,000,000 had been spent on the castle and other buildings including a power-house fashioned after a medieval tower, when Mrs. Boldt died. Chandeliers, tapestries, sculpture and mosaics from all over the world were ready for installation. But within a few hours of Mrs. Boldt's death the stone mason's chisel was silenced forever. Mr. Boldt never visited his castle again.

Others did and left their mark. Graffiti covers the plaster walls that once graced the house 100 guests and their servants. Hundreds of Joes and Floras celebrated their love by smearing their names on the wall. It's a good thing George Boldt cannot come back to see. The elevator shaft is filled with garbage, shingles are peeling off the turreted roofs and cracks have broken most of the windows.

Tourists come from both sides of the river and even carve their initials in what's left of hand-carved wood panelling.

The castle, now the property of a motel chain, continues to rot but people still come to see it. The concept is romantic. A round-trip ticket costs $1.25. Once deposited on the island, one must fork over another 60 cents to see the desecrated ruin.

But it's worth it. The way it was and the way it is — all for $1.90.

Olympics In Rain Or Shine

A rainy day at The Olympics — By Chris Allan of The Montreal Gazette

Go inside, young man. Or go back to your room. Or just pack and go home. There is little for you here.

Until the sun shines again tomorrow. And the color returns to the grass. And the excitement and the admiration, the awe and that deep-down feeling of endeavor.

Until the people return tomorrow. To thrust back the hoods and drive screaming muscles one impossible step faster, one incredible fraction faster, to the ultimate of absolute ability. Until the strong weep and the strongest survive and the strongest win. Until the pettiness is forgotten and the perfect poise returns.

Drab By Western Standards... But

Russian Women Are Hard-Working Lot

Henry Koch in the Kitchener - Waterloo Record

Every street cleaner the Kitchener-Waterloo delegation saw in Leningrad and Moscow was a woman. They sweep up the streets with twig brooms and a dustpan.

The streets are spotlessly clean. There are waste receptacles everywhere and nobody throws a cigarette butt or a wrapper on the streets. It' just not done.

Women also run the street flushers, drive heavy trucks, run the hotels and plaster buildings.

They do all the selling at stores and concessions.

In all the stores we visited in Leningrad and Moscow we saw no male clerks or cashiers. In fact, there was little evidence of men working anywhere.

About 85 per cent of Russian women look dumpy and badly dressed. They wear heavy clothing and colored or net stockings.

Although there are bathhuts in Russia, it's immediately evident that most of the populace doesn't bathe regularly.

Even the elite Intourist guides don't have a change of clothing every day.

Rita, our tall, well-educated and thoroughly Communist-indoctrinated Intourist guide in Leningrad and part of Moscow, wore the same grey skirt and grey sweater for five days.

Rita was about 25. She was so efficient that a couple of the builders from Kitchener said they would like to take her back home to run their offices.

Many Russian women looked tired and downtrodden because they work straight 24-hour shifts and take from eight to 12 hours off to sleep.

All the "den mothers" in Russian hotels — the desk clerks on each floor who keep track of your movements and give you the key — work around-the-clock shifts.

So do the elevator operators in hotels. Some look very worn out. One in the Soviet-sky Hotel in Leningrad collapsed and was led out by two nurses and a doctor.

In Leningrad the den mothers try to keep alert for the entire 24-hour shift. In Moscow they are a little more practical. They bring their feather ticks and curl up for a nap at their desks when business is slow.

The women elevator operators are friendly to foreigners only when Russian men are not in the elevators. There seems to be an unwritten law that they should not smile or speak to any other than Russian men.

One burly Russian was so infuriated when three of the Kitchener-Waterloo group asked a pretty blonde elevator to autograph a book that his neck veins stuck out.

"I thought he was going to punch us," said Glen Feister.

On another occasion in the elevator a Kitchener man commented to the operator that it was a beautiful day.

The really attractive women of Moscow are few and far between. They're dolled up in silk stockings and hats and seem to be a little overdressed.

Circumscribed Existence

Ottawa—A Diplomat's Nightmare

Allan Fotheringham in The Vancouver Sun

Because of its nature, Ottawa buddies into three distinct camps, like musk-oxen who face inward in a group to repel the winds. The civil servants go home to their own little world at night, to do whatever civil servants do. The politicians and the press are left to their own little group. And the embassy people, sustained by their mutual horror at being caught in these freezing winters and goopy summers, entertain one another in the Rockcliffe mansions along the river that were built by the old cut-and-run timber barons. I often wonder about some poor diplomat, whose previous postings have been, say, Rio, Hong Kong and Copenhagen and who learns he has been assigned (consigned!) to Ottawa. I wonder if he requests danger pay. Perhaps because the foreign visitors do all their own entertaining with their duty-free drinks, the town has never developed, as one would expect, any decent restaurants. The only one worth mentioning is Madame Burger's, over in Hull. She is the widow of a chef brought from France by Sir Robert Borden and, coincidentally, knows she has the only game in town so charges accordingly.

The transportation people treat Ottawa as a way station, not the nation's capital. It is still impossible to take a direct flight from the west to Ottawa, taking in the scenic drive. Vancouver, Edmonton, Calgary, Regina and Winnipeg. Neither can you fly from Ottawa direct to Quebec City or the Maritimes. Everything is routed through either Montreal or Toronto. We have a People's Airline. Can't they pretend it's an important city? In the same strange vein, the town with all its political history has not managed to produce a newspaper that is essential reading. The paper that everyone in government reads is from Toronto, the Globe and Mail. The small town atmosphere is illustrated by the two-for-one drinks given by one of the papers to this story: "Friends will have the opportunity to honor Jean Lapalme at a mixed stag, this Thursday, Sept. 28, at the Knights of Columbus Hall, 240 MacArthur Road. Time of the stag is 7:30"

As mentioned, things are improving. The National Capital Commission has torn down some of the Industrial Revolution relics along the river and completed some sweeping view drives. The National Arts Centre is nearing completion in Centennial Square across from the Chateau Laurier, and, hopefully, will do something about the non-existent artistic life. But, basically, over everything is that overpressing air of too much politics in too small a confinement. Gail MacIntyre is a pert blonde who worked on the Trudeau campaign and who now does research for the commission on alcoholism in the Yukon and Northern Territories. The young men you meet here are either corny or nakedly ambitious. They want to get ahead so fast here — and there is nothing else to do but work. "It's very demoralizing effect on them," she says.

Executives Less Prone To Seizures

Montreal Gazette

Are "executives" as a class particularly prone to heart attacks?

Not Dr. Lawrence E. Hinkle of Cornell University, a specialist in psychosomatic medicine, has shown his conclusions after a five-year study of 270,000 male employees of the Bell System. He has found that executives have fewer heart attacks than tradesmen.

Whatever distinguishes executives it may not, after all, be their illnesses. In so far as it may be assumed that executives have had to work harder than most people, and still work harder than most people, their relatively good health would seem to underline the old adage that hard work never did anybody any harm.

Loyalist College Officially Opened -- Hundreds Attend Tour of New Campus

Rain threatened to sweep away the occasion — planned to culminate months of campus activity. Then, at the last minute, the clouds rolled by, ending a 16-hour downpour.

In fact, the afternoon turned out so pleasant the ceremonies drew more than 500 persons to the Wallbridge Road campus to tour the college after the opening formalities.

Many of the guests later trooped down to Centennial Secondary School, scene of Loyalist's first-year operations, as the college held its first convocation.

A key figure at both events was Lorne M. Johnston, a Quinte native now assistant deputy minister of education, and a pilot figure of the community-college movement.

Mr. Johnston was singled out for distinction when, at the convocation, he became the first Ontario recipient of an honorary degree in applied arts and technology.

Earlier, in a keynote speech at the Wallbridge Road campus, he emphasized the crucial need for community colleges.

That need has become "particularly acute" with technological change which is wiping out job opportunities for the unskilled and semi-skilled.

"The colleges of applied arts and technology are designed to mould themselves to the requirements of the community, including those of the business and industrial community," he said. "The colleges intend to determine as best they can the needs of the community."

Another reason for the college movement was the fact it is "neither feasible or desirable" that all secondary-school graduates go to university.

"The (education) department is aware that a substantial number of our young people were being poorly served by our traditional university-oriented programs," he declared.

Despite the expansion of trade - technology programs many students required an entirely new system of post-secondary education.

Supporting this is the number of students — now about 60,000 in day and night schools — enrolled at the 20 Ontario Colleges.

"The long-term solution to most of our problems lies in education and training and in the fullest possible utilization of all our human resources," said Mr. Johnston. " . . . In these colleges we're but on the threshold of many achievements.

"Their flexibility and adaptability will ensure that they remain in the forefront of our educational system and will be the choice of many young people . . ."

The speedup of technological change has increased the need "for retooling of the mind."

The government official predicted: "It may well be that a large proportion of those who graduate from the first class at Loyalist College will return again within five to 10 years for further training in their chosen fields."

With Mr. Johnston on the platform were representatives of federal, provincial and local government.

Presiding over the events was Judge J. C. Anderson, chairman of Loyalist board of governors.

Immediately following the ceremonies, the guests and spectators formed into long lines, joining the first inspection tour of the new college. It took close to an hour to conduct the visitors through classrooms, workshops and laboratories where close to 700 day and night students are now at work.

Academic Unveiling

Marking its first year of operations — in leased quarters at Centennial Secondary School — Loyalist College Saturday unveiled plaque in school lobby. Suitably garbed for academic occasion were (left) Loyalist president J. K. Bradford, college board chairman Judge J. C. Anderson and school board chairman James Clarke.

More than 500 spectators turned out Saturday for Loyalist official opening ceremonies, tour of college facilities. On display was pattern of what new permanent campus may look like years from now.

Permanent Campus -- Two Years

Loyalist College will definitely move toward a permanent campus within two years — the project to be completed by 1975.

The prediction comes from Loyalist president J. K. Bradford who believes the Quinte-area community college should have its permanent campus in seven years.

The campus will be built in phases geared to promotion — now the accepted practice among Loyalist's sister colleges in Ontario.

Mr. Bradford's forecast follows Saturday's ceremonies which officially opened Loyalist's temporary campus building on Wallbridge Road.

During the day's events, the college president made oblique reference to the seven-year schedule.

Loyalist, he cautioned, must justify the use of public funds in the "demanding task of establishing the permanent buildings . . . the integrating of students and academic intent over the next seven years. . ."

He made the remarks in the keynote conversation speech at Loyalist's first convocation — Centennial Secondary School, following the campus ceremonies.

Today, Mr. Bradford broadly elucidated the blueprint for college growth toward permanency.

"We're building in separate modules which will take about seven years before we have the final one on campus."

Each building module will house a specific curricular function — chosen by need and preparedness.

"I feel very strongly that we'll have to move into the first section of the campus within 18 months to two years," said Mr. Bradford.

No specific costs of a complete campus can yet be cited. Planning is still in preliminary stages and estimates will vary because of the project's phasing.

However, the college already has its most important possession — land. Its present temporary building is sited on more than 130 acres acquired last year for eventual campus construction.

In his convocation address Mr. Bradford was optimistic of Loyalist's future in the four Quinte counties it serves with post-secondary education.

Academic pessimism too often is the rule today, he said. The pioneering determination of earlier generations has been blanketed by nihilism from those who feel incompetent.

Loyalist betokened social change, reaching beyond the present to establish a broad and imaginative policy.

"The community must continue to look ahead with cherished enclaves of established and localized interest are merging into a dynamic and broader concept."

For Loyalist the convocation marked the end of "a fantastic and incredible year," recalled the college president. "At times the difficulties in our way appeared almost insurmountable."

The convocation ceremonies set the pattern of traditions for future graduating events at Loyalist.

The first year saw awards and bursaries to 12 students and graduating diplomas to 23 secretarial and advanced technical students.

Later, Judge Anderson, chairman of Loyalist board of governors, unveiled a plaque in Centennial's lobby; commemorating the college's first year of operations in quarters leased in the school.

Nursery Enrolment Drops

Unless enrolment at the Belleville Day Nursery can be increased, city council may be asked to give consideration to allowing the acceptance of children from outside the city limits.

Included in the agenda is a report from Welfare Administrator R. E. Tucker, listing an average daily attendance of 16.6 at the day nursery. The nursery is licenced and set up to handle an enrolment of 34 children in the two to five years age bracket.

Mr. Tucker in his report noted that there had been requests from parents outside the city to enrol their children at the Belleville day nursery, but because the nursery was city owned and operated the requests had been turned down.

However, he said increased enrolment was necessary for the efficient operation of the nursery and council consideration regarding the outside requests is suggested.

It was pointed out that under the Day Nurseries Act the city could sell its nursery services on a cost for service basis to other municipalities.

It is suggested that one of the reasons for the rather limited use of the day nursery might be the rate of fees ($5. per day child up to a maximum of $60. per child per month).

One of the primary reasons for setting up the day nursery was to assist working mothers who might otherwise be unable to accept outside employment. Under the regulations it is permissible for fees to be reduced or, completely waived in necessitous cases.

Enrolment at the city nursery since January of this year has ranged from a low of 16 to a high of 35 with a daily attendance of 16.6. In July and August, (the holiday months) the average daily attendance was 8.9 and 13.5.

Increase in Production Is Needed Says Hees

A higher yearly increase of industrial production is needed in Canada if unemployment is to be reduced to an acceptable level.

This is the feeling of Hon. George Hees, MP for Hastings-Prince Edward, who Saturday night spoke to the Quinte and District Credit Union Chapter at Trenton.

The topic of Mr. Hees' talk was the measures which he felt must be taken by Finance Minister Hon. Edgar Benson to combat unemployment when he brings down his budget Tuesday night.

Mr. Hees said that unemployment had increased by 30 per cent in the past 18 months and had now reached the unacceptable level of 5.3 per cent of the working force.

"The reason this unfortunate situation has come about is that during the last year and a half, the Canadian work force has been growing at a faster rate than our industrial production," he said.

The Member said the Canadian industrial production increased by 10 per cent in 1966 but in 1967 had fallen to only 1.9 per cent with no greater increase forecast for this year.

In the same five-year period however, the labor force has been growing at the rate of three per cent and at present is increasing at three and a half per cent per year.

To keep unemployment at the acceptable three per cent level, it would be necessary to increase industrial production by eight and a half per cent each year.

To do this, however, Canada must sell more and this calls for a combination of lower prices, better designs and better quality. To bring about this combination improved productivity and increased industrial research would be needed.

MR. AND MRS. CALVIN A. WATSON

Watson – Fisher

Yellow and rust 'mum bouquets formed an effective setting for a lovely fall wedding on Saturday, October 12 at 2 p.m. in Frankford Full Gospel Tabernacle when Linda Viola Fisher of Batawa, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Fisher was united in marriage with Calvin Austin Watson, only son of Mr. and Mrs. Austin Watson of Frankford. Rev. James Dunlop performed the ceremony assisted by Rev. Fred Spring of Oshawa. Organist was M.Ps. Gordon Smith of Brockville, cousin of the bridegroom. Soloist was Rev. Willard Whitman of Welland.

The bride, given in marriage by her grandfather, Mr. Charles Fisher of Belleville, wore a floor length sleeveless sheath gown of bridal velvet with Empire waistline and scooped neckline. Her matching coat with wedding ring collar was fastened at the front with two self-covered buttons, the coat falling into a shapel length train over the elbow sleeves. Her headdress was a pillbox of velvet petals with a long silk illusion Cathedral train was bordered with a wide Swiss lace edging. She carried a cascade of baby white 'mums centred with a yellow orchid.

Matron of honor was Mrs. Georgie LaBrash of Batawa, sister of the bride. Brides-maids were Mrs. James Curry of Oshawa, cousin of the bridegroom, Mrs. Toni Hartin of Roblin and Miss Sharon Roblin of Roblin, cousins of the bride. All wore identical floor-length gowns of moss green imported pure silk velvet with A-line skirts, scooped necklines, Empire waist lines and elbow length sleeves. Their Empire waist lines were trimmed with a band of Swiss embroidery. They wore matching headpieces of moss green loops with silk illusion veiling and carried cascades of yellow and white 'mums.

The flower girls were Miss Susan Ruddell and Miss Colleen Dunlop. They were attired in gowns identical to the bridal attendants and carried baskets of yellow and white 'mums. Ring bearers were Master Chris Hartin of Roblin, cousin of the bride and Master David Bishop.

Attending the bridegroom was Richard Patrick of Frankford. Ushers were George LaBrash of Batawa, brother-in-law of the bride, Gary Hartin of Roblin, cousin of the bride and James Curry of Oshawa, cousin of the groom.

The wedding reception was held in Batawa Recreational Centre where the bride's mother received the guests wearing a mint green dress and coat ensemble of pure worsted silk, her fitted sleeveless sheath with wedding ring collar was enhanced with bugle beads and rhinestones. She wore a mint green turban hat and black accessories. She was assisted by the bridegroom's mother wearing a dress and coat ensemble of flush pink lace over taffeta with matching hat with black accessories.

For the wedding trip to Myrtle Beach, Florida, the bride chose for travelling a rust walker all wool bonded tricot suit in Shetland weave with dyed European lamb fur trim with brown accessories and orchid corsage.

On their return, they will take up residence at 11 Mill St., Frankford.

UCW Sponsors Fashion Show

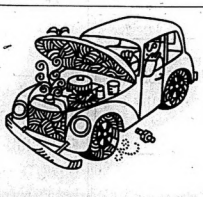
Earlier this month, the members of the United Church Women of nearby Actinolite, held a fashion show which proved extremely successful by everyone who attended. Held in the Actinolite Township Hall, the event featured a showing of International fashions, presented by Mrs. Jean Smith, of the West Wind Boutique.

The models included the following: Miss Beth Price, Actinolite; Mrs. Ruth Burnside, Madoc; Mrs. June Way, Tweed; Mrs. Ella Thompson, Queensboro; Mrs. Sadie Armstrong, Madoc; Miss Jane Scott, of Belleville; Mrs. Elaine White, Madoc, and Mrs. Ruth Ostman of Tweed.

The apparel was a collection of outstanding clothes including Lapplanders from Norway; leather from Israel; cashmeres from Scotland; woollens from Italy; silks from England and not to be outdone, the cream of Canadian crafts.

Mrs. Margaret Bakay of Belleville, made the show the most enjoyable by her knowledgeable and light commentary.

Several lovely door prizes were donated by the West Wind Boutiques, and presentation made the evening. These were won by: Mrs. C. M. Donnelly, Tweed; Mrs. Margaret Connor, Madoc; Miss Shawnee Craig, Belleville; Margaret Morton, Tweed; Mrs. Ken Lattie, Tweed; Mrs. G. H. Craig, Belleville; Mrs. Cecil Taylor, Madoc; Mrs. Shirley Casselman, Tweed; Mrs. Violet Gaylord, Actinolite and Mrs. Hilda Declair of Queensboro.



Other items that were responsible for the success of the show were the antiques, on display from Tweed; hair styles from Tweed and makeup from Madoc and flowers from Belleville. The United Church Women of Actinolite served tea and dessert at the conclusion, completing a lovely evening.

Church Groups

The October meeting of the Women's Missionary meeting of Marmora and Beaver Creek Free Methodist Church was held at the home of Mrs. Harry Mawer with Mrs. Ritchie Wells presiding.

Devotional were in charge of Mrs. Alex McFaul. Names for Penny and prayer a day were given out by Mrs. Gladys Jones. An entertaining skit "No Hands But Our Hands" was presented by Mesdames Everett Barrons and Gladys Jones.

Missionary study was conducted by Mrs. W. A. McMillan. Letters were read from missionary Kathryn Hendrix and from Beth and Mark Shumaker, missionaries in Paraguay. "Japan Today" was subject of a talk by Mrs. Mawer, after which the meeting concluded.

MR. AND MRS. GORDON E. HUGHES

Hughes – Goodmurphy

St. Gregory's Catholic Church, Picton, was the scene of the October 12th wedding when Rev. Father Trainor united in marriage Teresa Marilyn Goodmurphy, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Goodmurphy, of RR 1, Hillier, to Gordon Edward Hughes, son of Mrs. Priscilla Hughes, of Belleville, and the late Ernest Hughes. Rendering the appropriate wedding music was Sister Marie.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of white peau de soie, featuring a rounded neckline, Empire waistline and an A-line skirt. The gown was further enhanced by the bell-shaped sleeves in the elbow, which were lace-trimmed, as was the bodice. The train was attached to the waistline in the back. Her bouffant shoulder length veil and white petalled flowers in front were complemented by the small bouquet of red roses and artificial lilies of the valley which she carried.

Maid of honor, Miss Elizabeth Goodmurphy wore a yellow dress featuring a lace bodice, and sleeves to the elbow with softly flared ruffles. The skirt of the dress was of chiffon over taffeta. Her headpiece was of matching shade in yellow, in nylon net with petalled flowers in the front. Her bouquet was of orange and bronze toned daisies.

Attending the bridegroom was Vincent Murnaghan, of Toronto, while the ushers were Phillip Goodmurphy and Stephen Fleck, both of Belleville.

For the wedding reception held at the Wellington Royal Canadian Legion Hall, the mother of the bride received the guests wearing a two piece outfit — a short-sleeved turquoise dress and jacket with three-quarter sleeves. She wore a turban hat of blue tulle. A corsage of yellow roses completed her ensemble. Assisting her, the mother of the bridegroom chose a navy blue two-piece suit, the jacket featuring three-quarter-length sleeves. A navy blue hat and white accessories with a corsage of pink carnation completed her ensemble.

For the wedding trip to points in Northern Ontario, the bride donned a dark gold wool two piece suit. The skirt and jacket were complemented by a corsage of yellow roses and gold leaves and black accessories. Upon their return, the couple plan to reside in Toronto.

Home and School Association News

PRINCE CHARLES SCHOOL

A most interesting and informative meeting marked the commencement of the 1968-69 season of the Prince Charles Home and School on Thursday, October 17th.

A substantial number of enthusiastic parents who had gathered to view their children's classrooms and purchase Home and School memberships prior to the meeting were greeted by incoming president, David Thompson.

John Welch, president of the Belleville District Home and School installed the officers for the coming year and these include the forementioned president as well as Mrs. E. Beeby, vice-president; Mrs. P. Heide, secretary; Mrs. R. Wannamaker, treasurer; Mrs. J. Ford, membership convener; Mrs. I. Weatherston, social convener; Mrs. N. Ross, past president and Mr. D. L. Moore, Principal.

Mr. Welch then gave a thought provoking address concerning the roll of Home and School in these days of drastic changes in the educational system.

Mr. D. L. Moore, the principal of Prince Charles School introduced the members of his staff which allowed each parent to become visually acquainted with his or her child's teacher. The main theme of the evening's agenda "the integrated language experiencial program"; or in simpler terms, the new approach to reading in the primary schools was adeptly described by Mr. Moore.

Mrs. F. Burnsed, a primary teacher outlined a typical day in a primary classroom which illustrated how specific experiences, of interest to the pupils, such as a visit to the firehall can be very effectively used to teach the age old reading, writing and arithmetic. Miss P. Beattie, Supervisor of Primary Education for the city of Belleville rounded out the program by showing a group of slides which clearly indicated the success of this new method of reading.

Refreshments, prepared by the parents of the grade six class were served, bringing the meeting to a close.

On Wednesday evening, November 20th, the executive of Prince Charles Home and School look forward to meeting all parents who are truly interested in their childrens' progress at which time we will have an explanation of all levels of the curriculum from kindergarten to Grade 6.

Everyone Can Be a Volunteer

By DORIS CLARK

Dear Doris: I often read letters from women who want an idea for something useful to take on. Have you any ideas for them? We are a service club-type group. Don't want to sew or knit or make cookies. — Joe Dokes.

Dear Joe: Rather dig or hammer or play football? Here are a few projects made to order for the boys and men:

1. Drive handicapped children and adults to clinics.

2. Sponsor a boys' sports team.

3. Coach sports, teach crafts, lead a group, be a Big Brother.

4. Do rehabilitation work with ex-inmates of hospitals or institutions.

5. Staff a drop-in centre for delinquent teen-agers.

6. Visit the elderly; mental patients; hospitalized alcoholics.

7. Speak to organizations about the work of a local social agency or centre.

Don't hold back about going where the need is to volunteer. You'll be welcomed with open arms.

Dear Doris: I am a woman of 50 and a grandmother. I have been in the business world for 15 years, have saved my money and now want to go back to school, but hesitate. I have grade 10. Is it too late to want to be a teacher? I'd want kindergarten or primary grade.

I am in a position now where my two girls are married and I have time on my hands. Tea parties don't interest me, and as my husband is an alcoholic, my social life is just about nil.

I took several short night classes last year and enjoyed them so much that the thought occurred to me, why waste my time? Why not "life begins at — Fifty!"

Dear Fifty: No reason on earth why not. Your age in itself would not hold you back, provided you can meet health and education standards. You would have to do some plain and fancy boning up and catching up, but every province has courses to help adults telescope high school graduation into reduced periods of time.

There's a great need for teachers. Go to your local director of education for guidance.

Dear Doris: We three girls have been good friends for the past 11 years, but when two of us are together and the other is not there we seem to always talk about her. Then it gets back to her and another quarrel is on. In most cases three is a crowd but still the more the merrier.

We are all 13 but if this keeps up I am afraid someone is going to get hurt in the end. I don't know whether it is jealousy or one thinks they are too good for the other. Some of our problems are childish but we need advice. — Doubtful.

Dear Doubtful: There's that female triangle again. Two friends can be chummy and serene together, but it takes rare good humor and lots of love to make a three some work.

Take heart. It can be done. Resolve among you never to talk unkindly about the one who isn't present. This is gossip, and if you can nip the habit in the bud right now, you'll have an advantage over many grown-ups who didn't.

To make it work, buy a little bank; if you yield to the temptation to backbite, penalize yourselves five cents. The money goes to charity — but don't aim to make the fund grow, this time!

Ann Landers

Husband's Snoring Is Not Annoying

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I am getting sick and tired of reading letters from wives complaining about their husbands' snoring. My husband snores — loud, long and every night. So what! He is one of best human beings the good Lord ever put on this earth.

ANN LANDERS

When the snoring starts and my sleep is interrupted, I lie there and watch him get his badly needed rest. When I read that some women tie their husbands' jaws shut with silk stockings and wrap bicycle horns to their heads, I get so mad I could scream.

Every night I thank God that this wonderful man is in our bed snoring. We have been married 10 years and I hope the good Lord gives us 10 more. — CONTENTED.

DEAR CON: What a lovely letter! But while you're asking — ask for 40 more, not 10, dummy!

• • •

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Two years ago I wrote for advice. You said, "See a psychiatrist." I took your advice and it was the most difficult thing I've ever done in my life. But it was the smartest.

I can't understand why a person would be ashamed to admit he has a problem he can't handle. Does a patient have to be dying before he goes to a doctor? Why then should he wait till he's ready for a straightjacket before he sees a psychiatrist?

Please, Ann, continue to urge your readers to stop wasting their lives, especially the young. Psychiatry can open the doors to peace of mind and contentment. It can conquer fear and guilt and self hate. It can also overcome physical complaints and fatigue and depression.

I am very poor at expressing myself but I wanted to try. Thanks for reading this. — NANCY.

DEAR NANCY: I shall continue to urge people to get professional help, although I am well aware that not all patients obtain the glowing results you describe. And if you were able to achieve the miracle with your original therapist you are fortunate.

Therapy can be magic for some and Nothingsville for others. I recommend professional help for individuals who are depressed, destructive, or in continual conflict with themselves and others. Therapy that produces even modest results leads waiting around frightened, confused at the world and plagued by "undiagnosed" aches and pains.

• • •

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I am a homosexual who has had psychiatric help and I'm as well adjusted as I will ever be.

A few weeks ago I was turned down for military service. I told the truth and presented medical documentation.

Now people are beginning to ask why I have not been called up by my draft board. I've been saying, "I have a bad back," but I'm a poor liar. It shows on my face. What should I say? — STUCK FOR AN ANSWER.

DEAR STUCK: Tell them the truth. Nobody will believe it. If a few clods persist in pressing for an answer, say, "Seriously, I've tried but they didn't want me."

Mountain View W.I.

The October meeting of the Mountain View W.I. was held in the Wesley United Church Sunday School rooms. Mrs. Seymour Hamilton acted as hostess, with 25 members in attendance.

The business section of the meeting was attended to with president Mrs. W. Nightingale presiding. At this time delegates were appointed to the area convention.

Mrs. Hamilton was the convenor for the topic of agriculture. She also introduced Mrs. Giles who showed films of the Douglas ranch in BC — one of the largest in Canda. Mrs. B. Summers gave a talk on the motto of the month.

The meeting then closed and lunch was served by the hostess, assisted by Mrs. W. Burkitt and Mrs. S. Johnson. Mrs. Summers extended thanks to Mrs. Hamilton and Mrs. Giles for the fine program.

Kitchen Tested Recipes

Delicious Venetian Chicken

By MARY MOORE

Venetian Chicken is simple to make but we are progressing to a more advanced class with our cooking lessons.

It stole the show when I made it from start to finish in a large hard-Teflon-lined frypan for a group of ladies. (I should add it may be baked in a large casserole after a preliminary step of frypan browning.)

One 3½-lb. chicken (cut into serving pieces by the butcher or you may use)
1 med. zucchini
1 med. green pepper
1 chicken Oxo cube
18 sliced ripe olives (or ½ tin)
1 cup scrubbed mushrooms, sliced)
1 envelope spaghetti sauce mix
One 6-oz. can tomato paste (or 1 cup solid pack raw tomatoes)
1¼ cups hot water.

Melt butter (or oil) in frypan and add chicken pieces, skin side down, and brown them all over on high heat. (If desired at this stage transfer to large casserole.)

Meanwhile wash and slice zucchini and pepper (and mushrooms if used in place of olives). Cut olives from stones. Add Oxo cube then vegetables to browned chicken in pan in a broad layer. In a medium bowl combine the spaghetti sauce mix, tomato paste (or cut up tomato) and hot water. When blended pour over contents in pan (or casserole). Cover and simmer ¾ hr., turning chicken pieces over once. (If in casserole, bake at 350 deg. Fahr. covered for one hour.)

We served ours with crusty whole wheat rolls and it was a hearty easy supper that cooking pupils and professionals can be proud to serve.

Points for Parents

By MARY BRYSON

Joan: "Won't your mother worry if you don't call her about staying all night?"

Ann: She's probably already asleep. She'll know I decided to stay when I don't come home. She trusts me."

Though a daughter is college age or grownup, parents should know her whereabouts if she is living at home — for her own safety and for the parents' peace of mind.

Ann: "Hope I didn't wake you up, Mother. Joan wants me to spend the night. We just decided a few minutes ago."

Mother: "I was just reading in bed. Thank you for calling. See you tomorrow."

Benson to Take Hard Line on Increased Provincial Aid

OTTAWA (CP) — Finance Minister Benson is expected to take a hard line in his budget speech Tuesday night on the ability of Ottawa to finance much more provincial spending.

"We are not a well that anyone can dip into," he said recently when asked about fresh provincial demands for more tax-sharing.

Prime Minister Trudeau has proposed a conference of federal and provincial authorities to start trimming the shared-cost projects already burdening the federal taxpayer.

This is in advance of next year's demands on the federal treasury when perhaps five other provinces will join Saskatchewan and British Columbia, which now are participating in the national medical care insurance scheme.

Medical care insurance is costing the federal treasury $35,000,000 this fiscal year, which runs to next March 31. But this only covers Ottawa's share of the plan in the two provinces.

S. S. Reisman, secretary of the treasury board, told a Senate finance committee meeting last week that the $35,000,000 figure is really only an educated guess of the federal cost.

This is the season when the provinces and the federal government are staking out their positions before haggling over tax-sharing arrangements this winter and next spring.

Premier Robarts of Ontario said last month his province needs a bigger slice of the federal income tax dollar. Ontario now gets 28 cents out of every $1 collected by Ottawa in basic personal income taxes.

The project of Postmaster-General Eric Kierans to make the post office pay its own way by raising postage rates and trimming service becomes fair game during second-reading debate of his bill to amend the Post Office Act.

Mr. Kierans has been hearing hard-luck stories inside and outside Parliament since he began announcing a series of changes by regulation seven weeks ago.

The only indication that Mr. Kierans might yield came last Wednesday when he said he was seriously considering reversing his plan to terminate door-to-door mail deliveries for rural areas, while maintaining the proposal to halt urban Saturday deliveries Feb. 1.

"The deciding factor will be the need of the rural family to have its newspaper and not necessarily the pressure of newspapers to serve the rural families," he said in the Wednesday speech at London, Ont.

Opposition Leader Robert Stanfield served notice Friday he plans to pursue with Mr. Benson his charge that the government misled the country during the June 25 election campaign with assurances that 1968-69 spending could be held in tight check.

Egypt Rejects Israel Formula

UNITED NATIONS (AP) — Egyptian Foreign Minister Mahmoud Riad rejected Sunday Israel's nine-point formula for peace in the Middle East. He said the points were "just repetition of what the Israelis were saying during the last 15 months."

Riad also said it's start could be made toward peace only if Israel would say it was ready to implement the November, 1967, resolution of the Security Council that set forth the basis for a settlement.

Riad said in a telephone interview he had made note of Egypt's position on the whole subject in a memorandum he gave Saturday to Gunnar V. Jarring of Sweden, UN special peace envoy in the Middle East. Jarring received a memorandum on Israel's position four days earlier.

The November resolution calls for Israeli withdrawal from occupied Arab territories matched by Arab recognition of Israel's right to exist.

Israel's memorandum, still confidential, said peace could come only through Arab-Israeli agreement—not through proposals or assurances from outsiders. A copy of the document was circulated privately among some UN delegations.

The memorandum amplified nine principles Israeli Foreign Minister Abba Eban laid down in a speech to the UN General Assembly Oct. 8. It came in response to a request from Riad through Jarring for further explanation, in writing, of Israel's position.

It was the first written statement of details of the Israeli position that Jarring has gotten in 10 months of talks with Israel, Egypt, Jordan and Lebanon. The talks are aimed at settling the Arab-Israeli war of June 5-10, 1967, in line with a Security Council resolution of last Nov. 22.

Bullets Halt Father As 6 Flee Berlin

BERLIN (AP) — With bullets whizzing after them through daybreak fog, a young couple, a mother and two children fled East Germany to the West through Communist barbed wire Sunday. A sixth person, the children's father, didn't make it.

The father fell just short of his goal, cut down by gunfire from East German border guards. He appeared seriously wounded but his exact fate was not known. He was carried off under a tarpaulin.

Their clothes and bodies ripped by the barbed wire, the 33-year-old mother, her sons, 11 and 13, and a 28-year-old man and his 21-year-old wife were treated at a hospital.

The escape was staged on the East German border at Kladow, an outlying district in the British sector of West Berlin.

In a separate incident at another border area, a 24-year-old East German also used the fog to good advantage as he crossed alone into West Berlin, apparently unnoticed by border guards.

India "Sling-ing" an Olympic Tune

MEXICO CITY (AP) — Mexican spectators are beginning to think that India must be populated almost entirely by turbaned gentlemen surnamed Singh.

There are 13 Singhs out of 18 registered players on India's field hockey team. If one of them scores a goal—and they score plenty because India has been Olympic champion every time except once since 1928—the onlooker wonders whether it was scored by Ajitbal Singh of Dharam Singh or Gurbaksh or Gurbux Singh?

Or perhaps Harbinder or Harmik Singh? Of course it could always be Inder, Jagjut, Prithipal or Tarsem Singh.

Go to the Olympic Stadium and you find Bhim Singh in the men's high jump, Labh Singh in the 'ong jump and the hop, step and jump, as well as Kirpal Singh in the 5,000 and 10,000 metres.

In the wrestling arena, you have to distinguish between Bishan Singh, the bantamweight, and Mukhtiar Singh, the welterweight.

Then, of course, there are the shooting Singhs, two of whom competed in the Olympic trap, or clay pigeon, event.

Karni Singh finished 10th. Randhir Singh was 17th.

The event was won by John Braithwaite of Britain and neither Singh got on the victory podium. The medals were presented, however, by an Indian member of the International Olympic Committee.

Who else but the Rajah Bhalindra Singh?

The Fosbury Flop

This is the unconventional style used by Dick Fosbury of the U.S. in the high jump which carried him to an Olympic gold medal in Mexico City. Fosbury twists as he approaches the bar, then sails over it backwards with a technique now known as "the Fosbury Flop." (AP Wirephoto)

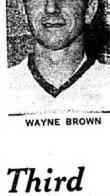
Hornets Feel Mo-Hawk Sting

GALT (Special) — Some gloomy autumn skies had been predicted for Friday and Saturday in western Ontario, but the Belleville Mo-Hawks found it perfect Senior "A" hockey weather.

Fresh from a 6-0 trouncing of the Kingston Aces Friday night in Belleville, the Mo-Hawks breezed into Galt Saturday to hand the powerful Hornets a 3-2 setback.

The back-to-back wins, after dropping their first two scheduled games, pushed the Mo-Hawks into a four-way tie for second in the jammed eight-team senior loop standings. The locals are tied at four points with Galt, Kingston and Collingwood.

Orillia, 6-5 losers to Kingston Sunday, and the Barrie Flyers share top spot with five points.



Veteran winger Wayne "Weiner" Brown's 20-footer with less than eight minutes to play was the death-sting to the Hornets, who fired 41 shots at Mo-Hawk goalie Larry Holmes for their pair of markers.

Defence stalwart Eddie Marineau and Murray "Moe" Hunter were in on the winning goal. Marineau also earned an assist on Wayne McConnell's tying goal at 5.55 of the third period, as did McConnell's back-alley linemate Ron Riley.

Beechey's first period goal for Galt stood up until Jack Wilton's sinking shot from the blueline fooled McKibbon in the Galt net at 11.48 of the middle stanza.

Wilton — who played defence for the senior loop's Oakville Oaks last winter — is proving a valuable addition to this year's Mo-Hawk lineup. His goal Saturday was his sixth point in the club's four games to date, the best total on the team.

Brennan gave the Hornets a 2-1 edge early in the third period, before McConnell's goal set

WAYNE BROWN

"They kind of smothered Galt after the first period and didn't give them too many scoring opportunities after that."

Without the services of hardrock rearguard Greg Marchen — still out of action with an ankle injury suffered in last Tuesday's 8-7 loss in Kingston— the Mo-Hawks have enjoyed new-found defensive strength from team captain Lionel Bozyly, oldster Eddie Marineau, Doug Murray, and Jack Wilton. Th: Mo-Hawks also played the Galt game with only nine forwards. Gary Goyer is still nursing a shoulder injury, while coach Jones said centre Bob Taylor may not see action for 10 days after receiving a slight concussion in a fall into the boards during Friday night's game.

"Saturday's game was the first one we've played (six, including two exhibition games) that we didn't have an injury," Jones observed.

Another indication that the Mo - Hawks are finding their skating legs lay in the 19 shots the locals poured on the Galt goal in Saturday's third period.

The stress on conditioning will continue at practice sessions this week as the Mo-Hawks prepare for Friday night's home encounter with the Barrie Flyers.

Terriers Upset In Overtime Loss

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Even the goaltender got into the act at Barrie Sunday when the hometown Flyers throttled Woodstock-Ai's 12-3 to regain a share of first place in eight-team Ontario Hockey Association Senior series.

Goalie Ken Payne was credited with a goal and Bob Forhan, the ex-Toronto Marlboro senior, had four goals in the Barrie attack. Payne scored two back into first place with Orillia Terriers.

The Terriers meanwhile were on the short end of a 6-5 score in Kingston Saturday night after Aces' Bob Clayton...scored at 1:13 of sudden-death overtime.

At Oshawa Sunday, Collingwood Kings rallied for four goals in the third period and a 6-4 win over the Oshs.

Corby Adams had three goals and two assists for Barrie. Other Flyers marksmen were Ron Vermette, John McMillan, Pete Panagabko, Mike Dubeau and Jim Stevenson. Goals for Woodstock were Gerry Harrigan, Don Mahoney and Jack McInlyre.

At Kingston, Rod Graham, Bob Brown, Bob Collins, Charlie Convery and Garfield Ball also tallied for Kingston. Moe Garland had three Orillia goals. The others went to George Vail and John Cressman.

Clair Alexander paced Collingwood's victory with two goals. Joe Hamley, with the assistance George Furlong, Fern St. Onge and John Lumley had one each.

THE CAR BUYER'S PROBLEMS

WHAT KIND OF A CAR IS RIGHT FOR YOU?

A very successful dealer who enjoys the confidence and loyalty of the large number of customers who patronize his dealership says that buying a car was much like getting married. The dealer plays the role of mother-in-law.

When he explained it all it makes sense, too. The biggest difference between the two is that divorce is easier when you buy the car.

When a prospective buyer falls in love with his bride-to-be he may be overwhelmed with her beautiful appearance. Or he may be impressed with a great body style. Whatever approach he uses, the romance passes into the honeymoon and settling down stage. When the owner buys a car some people discover his bride a few months later.

Manufacturers make automobiles in suit every taste and need and if a buyer is counselled honestly at the time of purchase he should avoid some obvious mistakes. His beautiful bride may turn out to be expensive to maintain, for instance, so he should know this beforehand. Or she may have faults that may not show up during the courtship.

The type of dealer to look for is the one that makes it his business to see that the "marriage" of customer and car remains just as pleasant an experience as the "courtship".

To be specific, he is "mother of the bride" — the car the customer will fall in love with — and he's someone that she should perform the duties expected of her well and efficiently.

In sport, it's ALWAYS too early to make a prediction.

But, with only two weeks' chance for observation, it's a pretty safe bet that this winter's offerings of Senior hockey will be genuine crowd-pleasers.

It seems like only days ago that selling season's tickets for Belleville Mo-Hawk home games was comparable to trying to find buyers for used Edsels.

A couple of convincing wins later, and club directors have announced they cannot promise a guaranteed seat to anyone not picking up a season pass by Thursday.

The Mo-Hawks served notice they intended to be more than Senior "A" alsorans last Tuesday in Kingston. They dropped an 8-7 decision to a younger, faster Aces' entry, but they scored four times in succession after trailing 5-0 — a habit that never does any team harm in the goal-abounding senior hockey climate.

Then came Friday's 6-0 trouncing of those same Aces on home ice, and the cough de grace — a 3-2 "upset" of the Galt Hornets Saturday.

"Upset" not only because the Hornets were predicted to match their pace-setting league performance of last year, but also because Mo-Hawk-owned victories in the club's first two seasons of operation could be counted on the fingers of very few hands.

Not to mention the fact that the Mo-Hawks were a ninth-place team in a 10-team league last winter.

Now that the local seniors are finally getting into shape it's not unreasonable to look at the club's initial two games — a 3-1 loss to Orillia and that 8-7 defeat by the Aces — and wonder just how high the Mo-Hawk totem might be standing had the season not started with a brief 12-day training camp.

Losing 3-1 to an Orillia powerhouse that included no less than nine members of last year's league-leading, now defunct Toronto Marlboros doesn't look so bad now, particularly since the Terriers absorbed a 6-5 loss at Kingston hands Saturday night.

And a lucky bounce or two could have drastically changed the outcome of that 8-7 loss in Kingston last Tuesday.

Besides, we think the Mo-Hawks have proven they can handle the Aces, the team they will play more than any other during their 30-game schedule.

What all this appears to hold in store for Belleville hockey fans, at this stage, is a return on the loyalty they have so generously lavished on the Mo-Hawks in the team's first two years of operation.

They were entitled to adopt a "wait-and-see" attitude at the start of this season, hearing last season's Mo-Hawk performance in mind.

But the way things are going, they better be at the arena early Friday nights, or they might be doing their rooting from an upright position.

Trenton Earns Tie

Realtors Stalemated in Third

The Belleville Morrison Realty Junior "B" hockey club staged a comeback Sunday afternoon but lost a chance to win their home opener, a 4-4 tie with the Trenton Golden Hawks.

Coach Floyd Crawford said he was happy with the performance of this young club. "We just have to get our footing in the league. But we're certainly shooting for the playoffs."

Coach Crawford felt that the Realtors were simply outclassed by a strong Oshawa team in Friday night's 8-2 loss in the season opener.

"It was a rough initiation for the boys playing against some players who should be playing Junior "A".

Trenton jumped to a 3-1 first period lead Sunday despite being outshot 11-10 by the local juniors. Trenton scorers were Potts, Randy Castellarin, and Bim McFall. McConnell potted Belleville's first period effort.

Ron Fuller and rookie Brian Coughlin evened the count for the Realtors in the second period, even though Trenton outshot Belleville by an 11 - 6 margin.

Fuller, Belleville's most valuable junior last year, scored again to open the third period and give him a three point performance for the afternoon. However, Trenton bombarded Belleville goalie Paul Hopkins with 11 third-period shots and Pete Hamel gave the visitors the tie with his goal at 8:21 of the final period.

Home Humiliation

Seals Burst Chicago Bubble

By SCOTT BUTTON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Coach Billy Reay was at peace with the world until the lowly Oakland Seals came to Chicago Sunday night and beat his Black Hawks 4-3 in front of 16,666 Chicago fans.

The Hawks were undefeated in four games, lead the National Hockey League in goals scored and seemed almost unbeatable. The Seals were winless in four starts before coming to Chicago.

Now the Hawks share first place in the Eastern Division with Boston Bruins. And Reay will have to wait for his revenge until Nov. 2 when the Black Hawks travel to Oakland.

The Hawks defeated Toronto Maple Leafs 3-1 Saturday, Boston blasted Pittsburgh Penguins 5-1, Minnesota North Stars took Los Angeles 4-1 and the Seals lost 4-1 to St. Louis Blues.

A total of 14,612 fans at New York saw centre Phil Goyette and goaltender Ed Giacomin embarrass the Kings and the Rangers post their most decisive shutout in 12 years.

Goyette scored three goals while Giacomin collected his first shutout this season. Other Ranger scorers were Donnie Marshall, Walt Tkaczuk, Rod Gilbert and Jean Ratelle.

Yvan Cournoyer and Jacques Laperriere also scored for the Canadiens, the only undefeated team in the NHL but still a point behind Chicago and Boston.

Minnesota, in a first-place tie with St. Louis in the Western Division, received two goals from Claude Larose. Single goals were scored by Danny Grant and Bryan Hadley.

Skip Krake's goal for Los Angeles ruined the shutout bid of Cesare Maniago at 19:26 of the final period robbed Jacques Plante of his 60th career shutout. Scoring for St. Louis were Camille Henry, Ab McDonald and Gary Sabourin to the delight of 13,531 fans.

Only 8,071 fans at Pittsburgh saw the Bruins take a commanding 3-0 lead in the first period and then only on the victory. Boston marksmen were Tom Williams, Phil Esposito, Eddie Shack, Fred Stanfield dand Bobby Orr.

Belleville Minors Have Edge on Road

A weekend trek to Brampton proved fruitful for three Belleville minor hockey teams, with the locals grabbing wins in four of six scheduled games.

The Belleville bantam All-stars won both games they played, earning 5-2 Saturday, and 5-1 Sunday decisions. Belleville scorers Saturday were: Jim Stevens equal tuned to two fine efforts, winning 1-0 Saturday and 6-1 Sunday. Peter Crawford scored the game's only tally Saturday as Ricky Hutchinson and John Ross shared the shutout.

In Sunday's game, Bruce Sutherland and Steve Kirby with two goals each and Peter Crawford and Scott James with singletons accounted for the Belleville scoring.

In Novice play, Belleville All-stars dropped two decisions, losing 5-2 Saturday and 3-2 Sunday. Pat Mulvihill and Tony Meagher were the Belleville marksmen Saturday and Brent Walmsley and Robert Crawford accounted for the Belleville scoring Sunday. Bruce Hamilton handled the goaltending chores for Belleville.

The Brampton teams pay a return visit to Belleville this coming weekend.

Kenyan Miler Spoils U.S. Olympic Domination

MEXICO CITY (AP) — U.S. track and swimming teams swept nearly everything before them Sunday as the Olympic Games entered their second and final week here.

While Kipchoge Keino of Kenya won with ease over Jim Ryun of the U.S. in the 1,500 metres, and Mamo Wolbe of Ethiopia gave his country its third consecutive victory in the marathon, the three U.S. relay teams burned up the track in world record time.

The easier U.S. victory came in the 1,600-metre relay, the all-Negro quartet clipping 3.5 seconds off its own world mark to set a record of 2:56.1.

U.S. swimmers won three final events Sunday, sweeping two of them and narrowly missing a sweep in the third.

Bernie Wrightson gave the U.S. its 11th consecutive triumph in the Olympic men's springboard diving event. Klaus Dibiasi of Italy was second, Jim Henry of the U.S. third.

The onslaught gave the U.S. nine of the 11 gold medals awarded so far in swimming and diving competition.

Germany won both three of the seven gold medals in rowing Saturday, West Germany winning the eights and East Germany the coxless fours and coxless pairs.

Henri Jan Wiesee of Holland won the single sculls. Other winners were Russia in the double sculls, Italy in the coxed pairs and New Zealand in the coxed fours.

There was no Canadian boat in the rowing finals and, for the first time since 1952, Canada went without a rowing medal.

Japanese competitors took three of the eight gold medals at stake in freestyle wrestling Sunday. The Japanese victors were featherweight Masaaki Kaneko, bantamweight Yojiro Uetake and flyweight Shigeo Nakata.

Russia and Turkey each won two of the wrestling golds. Iran one.

The U.S. swimming sweeps Sunday came in the men's and women's 200-metre individual medley races, following a U.S. sweep in the women's 100-metre freestyle Saturday.

Charles Hickcox led the U.S. sweep in the men's 200 medley, a new Olympic event, in 2:12. Greg Buckingham was second in 2:13, John Ferris third in 2:13.2.

Claudia Kolb won the women's 200 medley, also a new Olympic event, in 2:24.7. Sue Pedersen was second in 2:28.8 and Jan Henne third in 2:31.4.

Debbie Meyer and Linda Gustavson gave the U.S. a one-two finish in the women's 400 freestyle, with clockings of 4:31.8 and 4:35.5 respectively. Karen Moras of Australia was third in 4:37.0.

The men's 400-metre relay team triumphed in 38.3 seconds, and was followed by Cuba in 38.3 and France in 38.4. The women's 400-metre relay team finished in 43.8. Cuba was second in 43.3 and Russia third in 43.4.

The 1,600-metre relay was strictly no contest, although Kenya finished second in 7:19.6 to become the first country outside the U.S. to break the three-minute barrier. West Germany was third in 3:00.5.

Keino finished the 1,500 metres in 3:34.9 as he brought Kenya its third gold medal in track. Ryun was second in 3:37.8, Roda Tummler of West Germany third in 3:39.0.

Wolbe won the marathon—26 miles 385 yards—in two hours 20 minutes 26.4 seconds and ran an extra victory lap around the stadium before the next runner entered the gate. Kenji Kimihara of Japan was second and Michael Ryan of New Zealand third.

Margitta Gummel of East Germany smashed the world record with a toss of 64 feet four inches in winning the women's shot put, and Dick Fosbury of the U.S. won the high jump at 7-4½.

Four Canadians reached swimming finals during the weekend. George Smith of Edmonton and Sandy Gilchrist of Ocean Falls, B.C., placed fifth and sixth respectively in the men's 200 medley. Their times were 2:15.9 and 2:16.6.

Marion Lay of Vancouver came fourth in the women's 100-metre freestyle Saturday, in which Americans took all three medal places. Miss Henne was first in one minute flat. Miss Pedersen second in 1:00.3, Miss Gustavson third in 1:00.4 and Miss Lay fourth in 1:00.5.

Windup Banquet

Goodfellow Chosen Commercial Loop MVP

The annual banquet and "hardware-handout" Saturday night at the Club Canara officially marked the climax of what many felt was the most successful summer yet of Commercial League softball.

And Belvedere coach Jack Caddick received some consolation for his team's playoff defeat, as he accepted the O'Connor Trophy for Belvedere's first-place finish in the six-team leagues' regular schedule.

For the first time, the Belleville and District Umpire's Association had the responsible for selecting the Commercial League's most valuable player, and this year the honor went to Belvedere Hotel's consistent third baseman Paul Goodfellow.

Slugging Belvedere outfielder Lyle Wannamaker will have his name inscribed on the "Bucky" Ethier Memorial Trophy, annually presented to the league's most gentlemanly player.

The selection of Stinsons' Scott Reid as most valuable pitcher came as little surprise. The 17-year-old Commercial League rookie was the starting pitcher in all but a couple of his team's 40 games this year and was instrumental in their playoff victory.

Commercial League Filling Softball Gap

By GEORGE H. CARVER

"They laughed when they went out to play!. .

Years ago when senior softball was in its heyday here; city boasted a five-team loop and the bleachers were white with the shirts of the faithful, a gaggle of guys had an idea.

They weren't good enough to make the charmed circle of the senior ranks. They were too old for junior antics so they decided to build their own nest in the softball trees and go it on their own.

And so, as a wise-cracking senior softball snooty dubbed it, the "Working Man's League" came into being.

It wasn't the polished sort of softball. They played for the hell of it and the fun of it. And it caught on with the fans.

There made no money. Sponsors rallied behind them. Games were a collection-plate affairs. They picked up a lot of nickles, dimes and quarters not to mention a few slugs.

Unbeknown to them at the time, they gave birth to now what is known as the City Commercial Softball League.

Unlike senior softball and baseball, the Commercial League has never looked backwards. Through the years since its spawning, the loop has met with continued success.

The handwriting on the sports wall indicates that nothing short of a miracle will bring back the diamond senior sports to a once-proud status.

Meanwhile the Commercial League "saints have been marching in" bigger and better than ever.

Last year, a prominent league spokesman told me, was the best in the history of the "working man's" loop.

"We found the league had crowd appeal. The attendance was very good some 400-600 fans watching the playoffs and finals series. We had six teams last year and are looking forward to expanding to perhaps eight clubs next season."

"We intend to retain our identity" he said." All players are homebrews. No imports are allowed. There are no big awards promised or given. The executive under president Bill Vallance has done a marvellous job. The success of the leagues proves this."

The 1968 six-team loop consisting of Stinson, City Hotel, Belvedere Hotel, Point Anne, Brants and Black Diamond will be back next year.

"Five of the clubs were evenly matched" the spokeman said. "Brants was the weakest team but they'll be back with added power next year."

Outside observers tell me that the Commercial League has almost reached the point where it can take over the senior torch from the failing hands that have held it in recent years.

"The top teams of the league" one said" would have nothing to fear from the talented senior entry that represented this city last season."

"The pitching was exceptionally good" was another's opinion." The champion Stinsons had Scotty Reid and Bobby Boyle: the runners-up Belvedere had Wayne McConnell and Doug Ellis: City Hotel boasted Gerry Genereaux and Dave Feeney, Brant's had Mark Sherdian and Black Diamond had Sonny and Don Holoway and Point Anne had Waite and Hunter."

President Vallance and his Commercial Softball League crew should be congratulated on an outstanding contribution to city sports.

They have produced the calibre of softball that Joe Fan likes, and in this writer's opinion should be ready in a year or two to take over the city senior softball cudgels and bring the sport back to its rightful place in the calendar.

Boychuk Runs 10th in Marathon

MEXICO CITY (CP) — Andy Boychuk of Oshawa finished eight minutes behind the winner and got of the medal list in the marathon at the 1968 Olympics.

Boychuk, 27, now working as a mechanical engineer in Sarnia, finished 10th in the field of 82 starters with a time of approximately two hours 28 minutes.

Peter Buniak of Toronto, Canada's second marathon runner, did not finish the race.

"You have to be exceptionally strong to run a fast race at this altitude," Boychuk said.

"I knew I had to set my own pace and forget about the leaders. I knew that sooner or later they would start coming back to me."

Boychuk dropped about 30 yards behind the field after 10 kilometres and was running about 100 yards behind the leader after 15 kilometres.

He was about three minutes behind the leader at the halfway point, 25 kilometres.

He was about three minutes behind the leader at the halfway point, 35 kilometres.

Since 1922 Canadian Tire has, time and time again, been the first to bring to Canadian motorists, at realistically low price, the very newest in material and tire design.

Even now we introduce glass-belted, 2D Polyester Cord Tires. The most revolutionary ever conceived by automobile and tire . . . manufacturers. So good a tire, it will eventually replace all others.

Hence, looking into the future, we're concerned about a rather large tire inventory and manufacturer commitment of all Nylon and Polyester (non-glass belted) tires. So here they are offered at low, low prices for quick disposal . . . first come, first served.

Points in Team Standings A Possibility for Our Sailors

ACAPULCO (CP-AP) — The United States has clinched two gold medals in Olympics yachting and Sweden and Russia one each in advance of today's seventh—and final—races in the five classes.

But the sailors who have been less of all-Olympian Pattison and Iain MacDonald-Smith of Britain—will have to make a modest showing by the end of the gold medal in the Flying Dutchman class.

Canada has an opportunity to pick up points in the Olympic team standings. A compilation based on the best five of each entry's first six races shows Canada in sixth place in both the 5.5-metre and Dragon classes and seventh in the Flying Dutchman category. Each entry's best six races count toward the final placings.

In the Dragon class, Buddy Friedrichs of the U.S./and his two crewmen clinched the gold medal with a victory Sunday. He has only six points assessed against him, compared with 23.4 for runner-up Aage Birch of Denmark, who finished second.

Steve Tupper of Vancouver, with an eighth-place finish Saturday and a seventh on Sunday, has 58.4 points and is sixth.

In the 5.5-metre class, the three Sundelin brothers from Sweden placed first Sunday for the fourth time in six races, with Stan Leibel of Toronto in Tiger finishing second. Leibel started badly last week, but has climbed to sixth place over-all.

The 5.5 silver medal reems declined for Louis Noverraz of Switzerland. He has 22 points, compared with the eight with which he started. Sundelins have clinched the gold medal.

In the Finn dinghies, Valentin Mankin of Russia finished second Sunday to sew up the gold medal. He has 17.7 points in his best five races over the Finn course of nine nautical miles.

Paul Henderson of Toronto, who slipped to 10th Saturday and was 10th Sunday, is 20th place among the 36 Finns, with 104 points.

American skipper Lowell North clinched the gold medal in the Star class by a fraction with a 12th-place finish Sunday. The race was won by Bert Elvstrom of Denmark.

Fighting it out for the silver and bronze in the Stars are Italy's Franco Cavallo and Peter Lunde of Norway.

Bruce Kirby, Ottawa-born Chicago resident, finished 25th Sunday after being 10th Saturday and is 17th over-all on the basis of his best five races.

Ottawa Dumps Ticats for First As Argos Enforce Their Pennant Bid

BY THE CANADIAN PRESS

The battle for first place in the Eastern Football Conference has been reduced to a two-team struggle, with Hamilton Tiger-Cats now out of contention.

Ottawa Rough Riders held on to first place Saturday by edging Hamilton 27-24 and Toronto Argonauts stayed within one point of the top with a 29-25 victory against Montreal Alouettes Sunday.

Hamilton is five points back of the Rough Riders, without a chance of finishing first. The Alouettes were ousted from playoff contention, suffering their seventh consecutive defeat.

Don Sutherin's fourth field goal, with just 70 seconds remaining, gave the Riders their win before 25,421 at Ottawa and quarterback Wally Gabler hit end Al Irwin with a 24-yard pass with two seconds left to give Toronto its triumph before 21,162 at Toronto.

Sutherin also had two converts and a single. Quarterback Russ Jackson scored one Ottawa touchdown on a one-yard plunge and Bo Scott picked up the other on a three-yard run.

Tommy-Joe Coffey of Hamilton took a four-yard touchdown pass from Joe Zuger and added a 45-yard field goal and three converts. Halfback Dave Flem-ing contributed a one-yard touchdown plunge and Tommy Grant hauled in a 48-yard pass from Zuger for another touchdown.

Ottawa, down 24-21 entering the final quarter, used the potent running of Scott and Vic Washington to move the ball deep into Hamilton territory and set up Sutherin's last two field goals. Sutherin's field goals travelled 13, 43, 45 and 28 yards in that order.

The Riders held a 21-11 margin until midway through the third quarter when Hamilton exploded for two touchdowns within three minutes.

The Tiger-Cats meet the Argos at Hamilton next Sunday in a game which could decide second place. Montreal plays at Ottawa Saturday. An Ottawa victory, combined with a Toronto loss, would clinch first place for the Riders.

Gabler, Mel Profit and Bill Symons scored the other Toronto touchdowns while Dave Mann added four converts and a single.

Scoring Montreal touchdowns were Bernie Davis, Dennis Duncan and Peter Dalla Riva. John Baker booted a 17-yard field goal and a 25-yard single while David Ray collected three converts.

The Argonauts led 22-18 going into the final quarter, but Montreal quarterback Carroll Williams hit Dave with a 14-yard touchdown pass midway in the period and Ray converted to give the Als a three-point edge.

Ailing Unitas No Help to Colts

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Johnny Unitas, one of the truly awesome figures in the National Football League, was sent into the game Sunday to spark Baltimore's sagging offence. Instead, he turned in a performance that was anything but awe-inspiring as the Colts were upset 30-20 by Cleveland Browns.

Baltimore's first loss in six games dropped the Colts into second place in the Coastal Division behind Los Angeles Rams who got past stubborn Atlanta 27-14. The Rams and Colts collide next Sunday.

In other NFL action, Green Bay (3-3-1) tied Detroit (3-2-1) 14-14; Dallas (6-0) topped Minnesota (3-3) 20-7; St. Louis (3-3) bombed Washington (3-3) 41-16; San Francisco (3-3) upset New York Giants (4-2) 26-10; New Orleans (3-3) edged Pittsburgh (0-6) 16-12, and Chicago (2-4) beat Philadelphia (0-6) 29-16.

Unitas, troubled by a sore elbow and who didn't see his first action until late in the Colts' fifth game, started the second half in place of Earl Morrall. Cleveland lead 14-7 at the time.

Unitas completed just one of 11 passes—a screen behind the scrimmage line—and had three intercepted. The interceptions led to two Cleveland touchdowns and a field goal.

Bill Nelsen passed for three Cleveland touchdowns as the Browns (3-3) stayed in a first-place tie with New Orleans and St. Louis in the Century Division.

Los Angeles downed Atlanta (1-5) with a 17-point second quarter in which Roman Gabriel threw a pair of touchdown passes and Bruce Gossett kicked a field goal.

ST. CATHARINES (CP) — Dave Smith, a 21-year-old York University student, won the Ontario inter-collegiate cross-country championship Saturday for the second successive year. Smith, a third-year mathematics student completed the 5½-mile course in 29 minutes, 15.5 seconds. He had a 42-second margin over teammate Roger Landell. Randy Allan of Ryerson Polytechnical Institute was third and Doug Glover of York fourth.

OTTAWA (CP) — Four of Ottawa's controversial crowd-control dogs were on guard at Landowne Park Saturday during the Hamilton-Ottawa football game, but were kept outside the park fence. No incidents were reported. The dogs sparked a furore when some fans complained a muzzle was taken off one of the animals by a security guard during the last home game here two weeks ago. Security guards said the animal was unmuzzled after the guard was surrounded by a group of fans who hit him with part of a wooden barricade.

WINDSOR, Ont. (CP) — University of Waterloo used muscle, not speed, Saturday in capture the 1968 Ontario-Quebec Athletic Association track and field championship. Waterloo dominated the field events and stayed close enough in the track events to pick up many third and fourth-place finishes. Waterloo picked up 73 points to lead second-place McMaster University by 21 points. Queen's University was third with 35. Kip Sumner, who won the 880-yard run, was Waterloo's only successful runner. But the team compensated by winning the javelin, discus and long jump.

HAMILTON, Bermuda (CP) — Canada and Bermuda played to a scoreless draw Sunday in their second meeting of the World Cup soccer elimination series. It was a drab game in which Canada missed a score of scoring chances, but it virtually eliminated Bermuda from contention in the series, which also involves the British Guiana. Canada beat Bermuda 4-0 in Toronto in the first game Oct. 13. The Canadians now have five points from three games, Bermuda one point from two games and the U.S. no points from one game. The teams play four games in all. Canada beat the U.S. 4-2.

Redmen Blush in London

BY THE CANADIAN PRESS

George Springate kicked his second of two singles at 7:08 of the first quarter against University of Western Ontario Mustangs Saturday afternoon, but after that, he and McGill Redmen may just as well have gone home.

The Mustangs, playing nearly as flawless football, went on to trample the Redmen 56-2 to retain a share of first place in the Ontario-Quebec Athletic Association.

Meanwhile, quarter Vic Alboini delighted a homecoming crowd of 13,713 fans, completing 21 of 26 passing attempts as University of Toronto Blues trounced McMaster Marauders 42-8.

Queen's Golden Gaels preserved a share of the top spot with a 33-17 victory over the winless University of Waterloo Warriors. Both Queen's and UWO have 3-1 won-lost records.

The Redmen couldn't do anything right as the Mustangs recovered five of six McGill fumbles and picked up 204 yards on the ground.

Stu Behie added two majors and Bob Goodman, George Hill and Bruce Hough had one each. Ottavio Colosimo converted only three of Western's eight touchdowns and added a 35-yard field goal. Two singles completed the scoring.

In Toronto, Alboini hit end Eric Walter for three touchdown passes and gained 241 yards in the air. John Chapman, Mike Raham and Alex Squires scored the other majors and Bill Tuschak kovic kicked four converts. Paul McKay booted one convert and a 30-yard single.

Toronto gained 128 yards on the ground while the Marauders picked up 90. Quinlan completed 18 of 24 passes.

Queen's gained a total of 302 yards in the air as quarterback Don Bayne completed 16 of 22 passes, including two for touchdowns.

Heino Lilles scored two majors in the first quarter on short plunges. Allan Strader and Don McIntyre caught Bayne's touchdown passes.

Mike Conac kicked two converts, a single and a field goal while Keith Eaman, leading scorer in the six-team league with 34 points, added two singles and Jim McKeen one.

Waterloo quarterback Dave Groves scored one touchdown on a 45-yard run and Ron Howse added the other. Paul Knill converted both majors and kicked a 20-yard field goal.

Eskies Trip Calgary On Robinson's Bad Boot

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Rookie Jim Evenson of British Columbia Lions enjoyed a memorable weekend at the expense of Winnipeg Blue Bombers in one of two Western Football Conference weekend games.

But in the other, place-kicker Larry Robinson turned in a rare failure of a convert attempt, and Edmonton Eskimos a 14-13 win over Calgary Stampeders.

Evenson from University of Oregon, became the first player to pass the 1,000-yard rushing mark in the Canadian Football League this season when the Lions defeated the Bombers 16-14 in Vancouver Saturday night. The game, witnesses by 20,400, the smallest crowd at Empire Stadium in recent years, meant little to the two teams, both WFC doormats.

Evenson ran for 154 yards to boost his season total to 1,047, a lead of 111 yards over George Reed of Saskatchewan. Halfback Jim Young set up the Lion touchdown, Evenson the other.

Ted Gerela converted both and booted two singles on wide field goal attempts.

Winnipeg led 3-1 in the first quarter and held a 14-8 margin early in the third.

Jim Nielson scored a touchdown for the Bombers on a 40-yard pass from quarterback John Schneider. Pierre Guindon had two field goals—from 37 and 13 yards—a convert and a single.

The Calgary setback left the Stampeders with 18 points, one behind league-leading Saskatchewan Roughriders. The Eskimos, assured of a playoff berth, have 15 points and still have an opportunity to overtake the Stampeders. British Columbia has nine points and Winnipeg six.

Peter Kempf's kicking handed Calgary its fifth loss of the season before 19,221 fans.

Edmonton led 4-0 after the first quarter, trailed 7-4 at the half, and grabbed a 13-7 lead in the third quarter.

Kempf accounted for the winning points with a 46-yard field goal early in the fourth quarter. He also booted a 33-yard field goal and converted a 59-yard touchdown by Jim Thomas. Randy Kerbow added a 47-yard single in the first quarter.

Bob McCarthy scored both Calgary touchdowns, on passes of 16 and 14 yards. Robinson converted the first touchdown.

Thomas was the best rusher with 106 yards on nine carries. Charlie Fulton, one of three Edmonton quarterbacks, gained 71 yards rushing on seven carries.

Calgary led in total offence with 368 yards, including 334 on passes. Pete Liske completed 21 of 31. Edmonton had 240 yards in total offence, 220 along the ground.

The WFC resumes Wednesday when the Roughriders meet the Bombers in Winnipeg.

Falls Flyers' First Loss Fails to Alter Their Altitude

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Niagara Falls' bubble burst during the weekend, but its all water under the bridge so far as they're concerned as the Flyers still hold top spot in the Ontario Hockey Association Junior A series—precarious though it may be.

The league leaders went down 8-1 before St. Catharines Black Hawks Sunday, their first loss of the season after five straight wins.

In other Sunday action, Ottawa 67's rebounded from a 9-2 defeat Saturday night to Oshawa Generals and clipped the visiting Hamilton Red Wings 3-1 while Kitchener Rangers and Toronto Marlboros played to a 2-2 tie.

Niagara Falls' loss left them with 10 points, one ahead of Peterborough Petes—idle during the weekend. Hamilton, Toronto and St. Catharines each have seven points, followed by Oshawa with six. Kitchener and Ottawa have four points each while London Knights and Montreal Junior Canadiens share the basement with two points.

At St. Catharines, the Black Hawks built up a 3-0 first period lead and were never threatened. Bob Channell got two goals with the others going to Dennis O'Brien, Bob Sheehan and Marcel Dionne. Doug Brindley scored the lone Niagara Falls goal.

The game was relatively quiet until the third period when St. Catharines defenceman Gary Cunningham crashed Terry Ferguson into the boards.

On the way to the penalty box Cunningham first tangled with Rick Thompson and then Channell. Cunningham was assessed a minor for the initial offence while the two Hawks were given additional sentences for their misdemeanours—Thompson a major and double minor and Channell a major and minor.

Dave Cressman's second period goal at Toronto before 4,823 fans gave the Rangers their tie. Terry O'Flaherty had scored earlier for Kitchener. Marlboro scorers were Doug Acomb and Frank Hamill.

Roman Catholic Students Plead for Re-organized Grants

TORONTO (CP) — Roman Catholic students, convinced that separate high schools face extinction, this weekend founded a non-violent federation to persuade the Ontario government to extend its grants to Grades 11-12 and 13.

"Either it's given to us now or we have to get out of the future and die," said John, 17, of Notre Dame college in Welland. "We're asking for the same rights given in Quebec to its separate system of education."

Sunday the new Ontario Catholic Student Federation declared itself opposed to demonstrations, parades, marches and sit-ins. The anti-demonstration resolution, introduced by St. Michael's College, Toronto, passed by 62 votes to three. It said: "If violent action is taken by the federation it will be branded as student activists and will become unpopular with the Ontario public.

Steve Fatum of St. Jerome's high school in Kitchener warned: "The only way you can affect the government is to affect the vote . . . condemn and censure any violent protest."

Instead of marching or sitting in, the federation will ask Ontario bishops to proclaim a Catholic education week next spring. It would begin with Roman Catholic students speaking to Sunday congregations in every parish church. The OCSF plans to organize school assemblies, a mass media campaign and petitions to the legislature.

Joe Radican, 18, of Michael Power high school, Toronto, was elected president Sunday. He said Education Minister William Davis has asked for a report on the congress.

There are 79 English-speaking high schools in the province with about 31,000 students. Since 1964, Ontario has paid grants for students in the end of Grade 10. Roman Catholics may support separate elementary schools in their taxes but most support public high schools.

Catholic parents pay tuition fees from $175-to $35.. for students above Grade 10; Separate education is further subsidized by parishes and religious orders.

"The religious orders have been subsidizing the schools and the state," said Edward J. Bristol, president of the English Catholic Education Association.

He said the public mistakenly believes separate schools are private although the province has recognized them as public separate schools up to Grade 11.

"Once we take this out of what has plagued the province —bigotry and misunderstanding —to the place where it belongs as an educational problem, maybe the youngsters won't suffer."

Statistician Rev. Carl J. Matthews, a Jesuit priest in Toronto, estimates the existence of Roman Catholic separate schools saved the province $56,857,000 in 1966. He bases the figures on the difference between what the public pays for public school classes and what it pays for separate school classes.

Bob Culpa, 16, of Notre Dame, told adult observers, mostly teaching nuns and priests, that the public does not understand modern Roman Catholic schools.

"Religion isn't being rammed down our throats anymore."

Paul Bilewicz, 18, of Dunda Harris high school in St. Catharines said any progress that might come from the Hall-Dennis report on objectives of Ontario education would degenerate into a "privilege" unless the progress is made in both public and separate systems.

Stapley on Cars

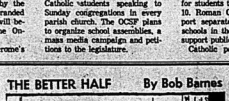
Tune-ups Changed

A reader writes: "The odometer has just reached 24,000 miles which ends the warranty period on my 66 Chevrolet six. standard transmission, no power equipment. I average 12,000 miles per year, half of which is highway driving, and intend keeping the car for three more years. I plan on following a preventive maintenance program, but there seems to be considerable difference of opinion regarding frequency and season for checkups. Should the car be shocked in the spring or fall, or both? At 3,000 miles, 6,000 miles, 12,000 miles? What is the best plan to follow?"

Much of this confusion stems from the days when there was considerable difference between a spring and fall check-up and the recommended lubrication change-overs. In those times engine oil was changed every 1,000 miles and often a flushing operation was performed to clean the crankcase, and depending on season and make of car, oils ranging in weight from number 10 to number 40, were used. Also, the weight of the rear end and transmission lubricants differed and required changing each spring and fall. A grease job was necessary every 1,000 miles regardless of the season.

Each spring the antifreeze (often alcohol) was drained away, the cooling system was flushed with a detergent and Water was used until the Fall. Many carburetors were adjusted according to season and mechanics would sometimes increase the generators' charging rate to aid cold weather starting. During this era many service stations had no mechanics and specialized in lubrication and very minor repairs. Mechanical work including tune-up and carburetor repairs were done by general garage operators.

But today this has all changed. Chassis lubrication and engine oil change periods have been extended considerably. Crankcase flushing is practically non-existent, and seldom if ever. Is it necessary to change the rear end and many motorists drive for years without changing the antifreeze. Little if any changes are needed in the carburetor and alternator or generator settings regardless of the season. In view of this and with the advent of multi-purpose lubricants, such as 10W30, which can be used year round, rather than think in terms of spring and fall checkups it is better to concentrate on properly maintaining the vehicle for 12 months of the year.



For example, with an average car, if a thorough tune-up and safety check is conducted say in January, comes spring it is doubtful that identically the same work would need doing all over again. Here is a safe, practical procedure for the average motorist to follow. First, take a lesson from pilots who "fly by the seat of their pants," or in other words heed any change in feel or sound of their aircraft. Check sudden changes in the usual characteristics of the car immediately. Placing the car on visual safety inspection minimizes the chances of minor defects developing into major problems. Every 10,000 miles the engine should be tuned as necessary and at the same time the car should be thoroughly examined including brake system, steering mechanism; shocks, suspension, exhaust system, tires, lights, signals, windshield washers and wipers.

While driving on a curve on the highway recently my son Bruce experienced a tense moment when suddenly it seemed that a dim pair of headlights were heading straight towards him. It turned out that both the large red tail-light lenses on a slow moving car he was following were broken away, creating the illusion of on-coming headlights. A police officer told me he had investigated accidents where, under the same circumstances, the driver panicked and steered off into the ditch.

If the tail-light bulbs are burned out and a faulty control switch causes the back-up lights to glow when the car is moving forward, it is the back-up lights can take on the appearance of on-coming front parking lights. I heard of another instance where the headlights failed on a tractor trailer that was loaded with new cars. Rather than wait for a service truck the enterprising driver backed on top of the trailer, pulled on the headlights of the leading new car and proceeded merrily on his way. Shortly after, an oncoming motorist seeing the headlights drifting away up on the highway, figured he was seeing things and steered hard right into the ditch and wrapped his car around a tree.

THE BETTER HALF By Bob Barnes

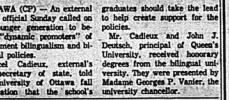
With the exception of the licence plate light, exposed clear bulbs on the rear of a vehicle can prove extremely dangerous. In the interest of safety replace broken tail-light lenses immediately and make sure a sticking switch is not causing the back-up lights to glow when the vehicle is moving forward.

Occasionally, when loading the trunk a piece of luggage is bumped against a light socket, disconnecting it from the housing. Even worse, one of the wires feeding current to all the rear lights become separated from the junction blocks rendering all the rear lights inoperative. It is wise to check all rear lights after loading or unloading the trunk.



Actually, the durability of the many bulbs and the sealed beams that lend so much to our safety and personal convenience is amazing. At 41,000 miles I have only replaced one sealed beam and that was due to breakage by a flying stone on a gravel road. The fact that they do last so long is possibly one reason many motorists take them for granted and forget to check them periodically.

Youth Urged to Participate

OTTAWA (CP) — An external affairs official Sunday called on the younger generation to become "dynamic pacemakers" of government bilingualism and bicultural policies.

Marcel Cadieux, external's under-secretary of state, told the University of Ottawa fall convocation that the school's graduates should take the lead to help create support for the policies.

Mr. Cadieux and John J. Deutsch, principal of Queen's University, received honorary degrees from the bilingual university. They were presented by Madame Georges P. Vanier, the university chancellor.

Word Quiz Repeated

By SYDNEY J. HARRIS

A little word quiz I devised for the column last spring proved so popular with readers—though some were angry that I made them look up the answers themselves, which is the only way to learn anything — that I've contrived another one, along slightly different (and harder) lines. The following question‡ give the definitions of certain words, and you have to find out what the words are.

1. What is it called when someone is fighting with shadows, or with an imaginary foe, like Don Quixote's tilting against windmills?

2. What is the adjective that means pertaining to chancy or to luck? (Economists should know this one.)

3. What is the word denoting the rolling sound of a drum or the hooves of galloping horses?

4. What is the word describing the kind of sentence that hints at the very thing it disclaims, the intention to mention? ("I will not speak of his unsavory past.")

5. What is the noun meaning a person who is self-educated?

6. What is the noun referring to education late in life?

7. What do you call the person from whose name a race, city, or nation is supposed to have taken its name, such as Rome from Romulus, America from Americus Vespucius, and so forth?

8. What is the single word meaning to dispossess or oust someone wrongfully? (Again, lawyers should know this one.)

9. When Asian flu was confined to Asia, what kind of disease was it? And now that it's spread all over the world, what kind of disease is it?

10. Perhaps the most common vowel sound in English is "uh" as pronounced in "the" and hundreds of other words where the vowel is not clearly any one of the five distinct vowels; what is the name of this sound?

11. Many years ago, I wrote column in which the letter "e" was not used once, because the "e" key was broken on my typewriter; what is the name of a composition in which a letter is missing?

12. What is the single word meaning the six days of creation?

13. What is the name for the amount which a vessel or cask of liquor lacks of being full?

14. When someone says, "I'm not rollin' huntin' today," what is the word to describe his chopping off the last sound or syllable?

15. What is refreshment after hunger or fatigue?

Tweed

TWEED — At the home of Miss Mabel and Mr. Walter Kenny for the holiday weekend in Tweed were: Miss Marion Kenny and Mrs. Jane Genereaux, both of Toronto and sisters of the Kenny's.

The recent Aztex party held at the home of Mrs. Harold Schonauer, of Ardoch, was well-attended and many of the ladies will be testing their skills at liquid embroidery.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Davison of Picton, visited recently with Mr. and Mrs. Doug. Davison and family and Mr. and Mrs. Jack Davison both of Flinton.

Mr. Art Hughes of Kaladar, is a patient in the Belleville General Hospital where he underwent emergency surgery. His condition is much improved and he will be home again before too long.

Mrs. Hazel Thorton, of Smiths Falls, and a previous resident of Ardoch, has again taken up residence in Arden, she is welcomed to that community.

Mr. and Mrs. John O'Rourke of Hepworth, Ontario, have been visiting with Mr. and Mrs. Frank O'Rourke and daughter.

Mrs. Lena Barton, of Ottawa and daughter, Linda, and husband, of Toronto, spent a few days recently at the home of Mr. Edgar Fortier, in Flinton.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Lefebvre of Hull, Quebec, and Lisa and Nicole, were Thanksgiving guests with the latter's mother, Mrs. John Gehan, Arthur St. Tweed. Mr. and Mrs. Earl Parker and Brian and Stephen and Lori Ann, of Toronto were also guests of Mrs. Gehan for the weekend. Mrs. Parker was the former Ellenore Gehan.

Star Badly Cast

Jonathan Winters Is Better Guest Than Host

NEW YORK (AP) — If there is one thing wrong with the CBS Jonathan Winters Show, it is that the star is badly cast. The inventive, outrageous funnyman is a better guest than host.

The variety hour was a mid-season replacement and after it was renewed for this season, the word was around that the uninhibited Winters would be cut loose to do his unique type of comedy.

Nothing seemed to have happened in the variety hour's format except that another distinctive comedian—Cliff Arquelle—has been added to the program's regulars and he, too, isn't given much of a chance to do his thing.

The Wednesday night tour had its compensations, however. Ella Fitzgerald sang several numbers, a treat, and Douglas Fairbanks Jr. took on the bowling number Camelot, which was written for actors, not singers.

Winters spent most of his time in sketches—a short-tempered husband explaining football to his wife; an annoying little kid on an airplane, and an unfunny spoof of the old Jack Armstrong series. Except for an occasional mischievous Winters touch, they all seemed to be the products of some tired script writer. And somehow Winters in his earnest, glowing introductions of guests, seemed out of character.

The supply of Los Angeles-type jokes apparently is running thin because for the second year in a row, CBS's Beverly Hillbillies are in the midst of a number of programs shot mostly in England.

Wednesday night's situation would have been hard to set up in Beverly Hills. Jed and Granny see a drunken Scotsman in kilts and playing a bagpipe and believe it is a large hairy girl drinking from a bag. This, of course, results in plenty of confusion but, alas, not much entertainment.

However, the series has started its seventh season and has never slipped down far in the popularity ratings. So millions of viewers think the impenetrable ignorance of the Clampett family a weekly tonic.

Sunday guests of Mrs. Essie Reid, were Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Reid and Susan, of Harold; and Mr. and Mrs. Walter Reid and George of Rylstone.

Tour Under Way

Canadian Opera 'Coming of Age'

TORONTO (CP) — Canadian Opera Company performers left Sunday night for a trip that revives many memories for tour manager Ernest Adams.

"It's been 10 years since we mounted our first tour at the request of the Canada Council and this one is a coming-of-age," said Adams in an interview.

The first tour took 25 performers about 8,000 miles to 14 towns on a $60,000 budget. This year the $165,000 tour will take 38 performers and an orchestra of about 12,000 miles through 50 communities.

It begins in Weyburn, Sask., and proceeds to Regina, Edmonton and Victoria as well as 14 U.S. cities and as far north as Yellowknife, N.W.T.

Four of the 19 in the cast of The Barber of Seville, John Arab, Alexander Gray, Sheila Piercey and Jan Rubes, were with the company 10 years ago when they also did The Barber of Seville.

"I was singing in that group and I can remember the cast working as stage crew," Adams said.

"In those days—boy it was fun—each sponsor was asked to contribute a set. We had kitchen chairs, coffee tables for desks."

When asked why the company continues the tour if it is losing money, Adams replies:

"The idea is to bring opera to communities which usually wouldn't see it. In some communities, they have never seen any live theatre.

"In our first tour, 800 of the 1,300 persons at Baddeck, N.S., turned out. They were jammed against the walls of the tiny theatre.

"They weren't really sure if and when to laugh, but over the years I've seen a great improvement in various communities' awareness of opera. They're becoming much more sophisticated. Sometimes more so than Toronto audiences."

Audience Sniffles

Chevalier Bows Out from Stage Career

PARIS (AP) — Master showman Maurice Chevalier bowed out of his 68-year-long stage career Sunday with a solid voice and a lingering twinkle—but his audience sniffed its regrets.

Silver-haired Chevalier, 80, did his best to curb sentimentality during his farewell. He said it was the snappiest performance in the three-week series.

The packed Theatre des Champs-Elysees knew it was his last, even though it was supposed to have been a secret. Three-fourths of the seats were filled with people near his own age, who clapped and sang along with the old songs that made Chevalier famous.

A self-confessed mediocre singer and ditto dancer, Chevalier philosophized in song and poem on love, youth, love and how to be youthful again.

He showed he can keep up to date. He donned a Beatle wig for a pop number, complete with pelvis movement.

At the end, he shook hands with everyone in the front row, burst out with a song, when I was 100 Years Old, and then made his farewell speech:

Chevalier said he would continue performing for television, the cinema or for records.

St. Ola District News

ST. OLA — Sympathy is extended to the family of the late Mrs. Agnes Robbins who passed away on Wednesday last in the Red Cross Hospital in Bancroft.

Winnipeg Election

Writer Challenges Juba

WINNIPEG (CP) — The acknowledged vote-getting ability and popularity of Mayor Stephen Juba are being challenged in this year's civic election by a political unknown.

Eric Wells, writer, television broadcaster and former newspaper editor, announced his candidacy for the mayor's chair about 18 hours before nominations closed Oct. 2.

Mr. Wells, 51, has received exposure on local public affairs television programs since he left the Winnipeg Tribune in 1965, but has no experience in public office.

Joining the newspaper in 1946 from the Regina Leader-Post, he became managing editor before being asked to resign in 1961. He won a National Newspaper Award for a series of editorials on the Canada Pension Plan.

Whatever the outcome, his vigorous drive for office has provoked the strongest counter-campaign in years from the mayor who has been accustomed to returning to city hall virtually unchallenged during his 12-year tenure.

The former editor says Winnipeg needs change with a progressive and his campaign for the Oct. 23 election follows the modern trend-appealing to youth and the future.

Mr. Juba, 54, was born and raised in Winnipeg. A well-to-do businessman, he has won broad electoral support from all three of the city's wards but has a particularly devoted following among the lower-income groups of whose problems he is never too busy to listen.

He once persuaded a young woman to hand over a gun after she threatened, in his office, to shoot him, and later saw her happily married.

Mr. Wells says Winnipeg has remained stagnant for the last 15 years while other western centres have grown.

Mr. Juba replies his record shows nothing undone for the city that could have been done. He says he has fought continuously to keep taxation down and has had a running battle with the provincial government on taxation distribution in the education field.

This year 152,037 of the city's 253,897 population are eligible to vote compared with 151,495 in 1965.

N. S. Abattoir Has Problems

HALIFAX (CP) — The Nova Scotia Co-operative Abattoir is having second thoughts about it: procurement, policy, after floundering in a financial quagmire since its inception in 1960.

With bankruptcy an admitted possibility, this year's annual report said: "This company continues to suffer because of a decided shortage of livestock and marketing conditions completely removed from its control."

Although the company's gross sales for the fiscal year ending April 30, 1968, totalled $5,818,803, the operating loss amounted to $136,512. At the end of last April, the company was $244,000 behind in its mortgage payments. The provincial government has a $1,000,000 first mortage on the plant.

Designed to process 15,000 head of beef annually, the plant received only 3,523 head of cattle and calves from Nova Scotia farmers during the year ending last April.

The Dominion Bureau of Statistics reported that 49,500 head of cattle were disposed of in the province during 1967, but the abatoir received only 3,504 head, or 7.2 per cent.

The abattoir buys only on a hot-dressed (rail grade) basis, which means the animal is slaughtered, then weighed and graded. The farmer is paid for the exact warm dressed weight and grade.

Farmers favor the live-weight method, employed by other meat packing firms, which indicates how much they will receive for their animals before they are slaughtered.

Doug Curtis of Truro, abatoir president, said recently a change in buying methods is being discussed.

W. J. Gibbard, a Bayhead, N.S., farmer, told the annual meeting of the abattoir's board of directors he believes the abattoir could buy, on a live-weight basis, all the cattle it needs to operate at full capacity year round.

Abatioir directors argue that a switch to live buying would mean that cattle drovers would "gouge" the farmer.

That Da Nang Rain

A group of cyclists found themselves in deep trouble as they struggled in one of Da Nang's flooded main streets in South Vietnam during a torrential rainstorm. The city's sewage system was unable to drain off the water.

ABOUT REAL ESTATE

"What's Your Problem?" by Don G. Campbell

By DON G. CAMPBELL

Heaven may protect the working girl, as the old song claims, but who is there available to look after the hard-working, middle income man when those golden strands turn to silver?

Dear Mr. Campbell: I've done a little pencil work on the retirement income that my company's pension is going to provide me in about 25 years—I'm 40 now — and I'm pretty discouraged. It's sure not enough to live on very gracefully.

At the same time, however, I have about $15,000 in savings and I am being urged by a friend of mine to invest this in some sort of income-producing real estate on the argument that the tax savings available can give me a respectable retirement income in a few years. I've been inclined to put the money into good - quality growth stocks, but I just don't like the looks of the market at the moment. Any comments? — Mr. V. B.

ANSWER: Your friend makes a lot of sense, and — for that matter — so do you. Anyone, in this day and age with $15,000 in liquid assets at the age of 40 is a pretty good money manager.

The theory of utilizing real estate as a long range pension plan is certainly a sound one: during your high-salary, high-tax-level days, that is, the income generated by the property is used exclusively to pay off capital and interest on its debt. At this end of 20 years, when you are ready to pocket the peaceful, gold retirement watch and settle back in your rocking chair, you own a building, free and clear, that will bring you a steady income of 8 to 10 per cent a year.

Let's say that you take that $15,000 now on hand and use it as the down payment on a $100,000 piece of income-producing property. If there are 20 years — all things being equal — you plow virtually all of the income from the property back into capital improvements and retirement of the debt. In 20 years the property should be clear and providing you with an annual income of at least $8,000.

Don't go into it blindly. Do not buy the first thing that comes along. But, with a little professional advice, you should be able to provide yourself with a comfortable "pension," 20 years from now.

• • •

Dear Mr. Campbell: I like a nice lawn as well as the next man, but I'm pretty fed up with the constant job of keeping it watered.

In the last few years it seems to me that underground watering systems have been getting more common, but I don't know whether this is because they are getting cheaper, or whether all of my neighbors are getting richer than I am. Is the cost of this sort of thing actually getting down to where someone in my position can afford it? — Mr. L. L.

ANSWER: I don't know what a man in your "position" is supposed to mean, but the general impression that such systems are getting less expensive is no pipe dream. The industry, in fact, expects underground sprinkler systems, in a few years, to equal the traffic in power lawn mowers. In 1961 the industry sold only about $12 million worth of such installations in the U.S. By last year the figure had more than doubled and, by 1970, sales are expected to hit $170 million.

What's made the difference, of course, has been the transition from expensive brass and copper tubing to plastic, and today the cost of a do-it-yourself system is down to about $190 for a 7,000-square-foot lawn.

Unemployment Dips

The number of persons without jobs became fewer by 57,000 during September, but the overall figure was still 43,000 higher than a year ago, the monthly government employment report shows. Figures represent a current 3.3 per cent of the labor force, compared with 2.8 per cent a year earlier. The decline in unemployment over the month is linked to the withdrawals of large numbers of teen-agers from the labor market with the re-opening of schools. (CP Newsmap)

Toronto Police Chief Wants Identity Cards

Chief Mackey, during a panel discussion program over radio station CFRB, said fraud cases have increased since banks issued credit cards.

Despite the objection of a "very small minority" identity cards would be a valuable protection to business and to the individual, he said.

He also said that "syndicate fingers are poking into Ontario," and police must be allowed to wiretap if they are to control crime.

Toronto Stocks

TORONTO (CP) — The Toron to stock market posted a fractional decline in active mid-morning trading today. All four major indexes were off.

In industrials, Falconbridge fell 1¼ to 96¾, Canadian Hydrocarbons 1 to 22, Seagrams ⅝ to 45¾ and Molson A ⅛ to 27.

Peel-Elder was up 2¼ to 45. Levy 1 to 33 and Inglis ¼ to 11¾.

Among the heaviest traders, Montex rose 15 cents to $2.55.

Great West Saddlery advanced ⅝ to 16¼. The group said it has paid $2,000,000 for a majority interest in a new computer company. Accessible Computers Inc. of Palo Alto, Calif., which offers computer time-sharing services.

On index, industries fell .03 to 179.50, golds 2.04 to 250.9 base metals .15 to 114.20 and western oils .61 to 230.72. Volume by 11 a.m. was 1,177,000 shares compared with 1,038,000 at the same time Friday.

Toronto Livestock

TORONTO (CP) — Trading was slow at steady prices for a supply of slaughter cattle lacking quality and finish at the Ontario public stockyards today.

Good and choice veal calves were firm, lower grades dull; hogs lower and there were no early sales of sheep and lambs.

Hogs 1,131: Grade A at Toronto 32.40-33.35 currently at Toronto 32.70; stags 16.95; boars liveweight 13.55.

The Syndicates

The syndicates are involved in the stock market and some legitimate businesses, he said. Police know some of their operations, but wiretapping would keep this type of crime under control.

In reply to a question about the handling of United States draft dodgers Chief Mackey said they "should be back in America where they are needed."

To Your Good Health

Circulatory Spasms Hard to Correct

By Dr. Joseph G. Molner

Dear Dr. Molner: I understand that Raynaud's disease is incurable. Besides taking medication prescribed by my doctor and giving up smoking, is there anything else that can be done to retard this disease? Mrs. R. P.

Raynaud's disease is considerably different from many of the diseases we are familiar with. It is not an infection, not caused by germs. It is not a breaking down or weakness of some organ.

Rather, in the simplest terms, it is misbehavior of part of the circulatory system. It is a matter of spasm, or constriction, of the small arteries of the extremities. When these spasms occur, circulation is sharply retarded in the affected areas. Fingers (or toes) blanch as circulation is suddenly reduced.

The disease varies greatly in intensity of symptoms from one patient to another. Numbness and a cold feeling may be all it amounts to in some individuals — although that can be unpleasant enough.

In others, it can cause a good deal of aching, or be cause of repeatedly curtailed circulation can lead to ulcers which are most difficult to heal.

Abstinence from tobacco is of prime importance, because smoking constricts the small blood vessels and adds to the basic difficulty of Raynaud's disease. Avoidance of cold is important, both from the standpoint of immediate comfort to the patient and the fact that exposure to cold increases the spasms.

It is not totally true that Raynaud's disease is "incurable", because in some cases it can be corrected. But let's face the fact that in most instances it is difficult to treat and controlling it rather than "curing" it is the wiser goal.

There are many and varied underlying causes: circulatory conditions, endocrine (glandular) imbalance, collagen diseases, sensitivity to certain toxic substances, and others. Control of Raynaud's syndrome therefore may depend on whether or how thoroughly some underlying condition can be corrected.

Since nervous tension can be a factor, mild sedation can be helpful. In some severe cases sympathectomy (cutting out of certain nerve trunks which control the arterial spasms) may halt or limit progress of the disorder.

In occasional dispathic cases (cases in which no physical cause can be found) there have even been instances in which psychiatric treatment has halted the disease. All of which goes to show how varied and complicated Raynaud's disease can be.

Simple pain-relief (as from aspirin), avoiding tobacco and chilling, and reducing nervous tension may be sufficent in many cases. In more severe cases treatment can become quite complicated and involved.

Dear Dr. Molner: My father has an itchy scalp and a lot of dandruff. We have tried to persuade him to go to the doctor, but he says only "sick people" go. Does rubbing corn and olive oil into the scalp help? — G. T.

Tell him his skin is "sick". Dandruff (not to mention the itch) indicates a chronic skin infection, usually seborrheic dermatitis. Oil won't cure it. Tell him that if I had dandruff and an itchy scalp I'd go to a dermatologist. (Skin specialist).

Dear Dr. Molner: I have tried taking birth control pills prescribed by my doctor for painful menstrual periods, but I find that one of the side effects is a severe depression. I was wondering if another brand would help. — E. P. H.

It might. Smaller doses are appearing in some of the newer tablets. Change of brand as well as of dosage might help you.

Robert Kennedy Memoirs

JFK Amazed at Military Advice During Cuban Missile Crisis

NEW YORK (AP) — Robert F. Kennedy, in his personal account of the 1962 Cuban missile crisis, said that President John F. Kennedy's military advisers seemed unable to see beyond their recommendations for military action.

One member of the joint chief of staff, Kennedy wrote, urged that nuclear weapons be used on Cuba.

One member of the joint chiefs, he said at another point, said he believed in a preventive attack on Russia.

"I thought, as I listened," the late senator wrote, "of the many times that I had heard the military take positions which, if wrong, had the advantage that no one would be around at the end to know."

The matter came up in the United Nations and the U.S. was prepared to stop all Soviet ships headed toward Cuba before the crisis was settled with the Russians withdrawing the missiles.

With the exception of retired Gen. Maxwell Taylor, Kennedy wrote, President Kennedy was "distressed" that the military advisers apparently felt there would be no response from the Soviet Union or Cuba to military action by the United States.

And, if there was a response, he continued, these advisers seemed to feel a war would be in best interest of the U.S.

Even after Soviet Premier Khrushchev announced on Sunday, Oct. 28, 1962, that he was withdrawing the missiles, one high military adviser, Kennedy said, urged that the United States attack Cuba anyway.

This approach, Kennedy said, underscored the need for civilian control, for carefully examining military recommendations and was one of the reasons his brother considered Defence Secretary Robert S. McNamara the most valuable man in his government.

Senator Kennedy's 21,000-word memoir was published Sunday by McCall's magazine. McCall's paid an unprecedented price of more than $1,000,000 for it. The magazine limited direct quotation of the article to 200 words.

Robert Kennedy was assassinated in California last June. The late president was shot down in Dallas, Tex., in 1963. Robert was a member of his brother's cabinet.

Jeane Dixon's Horoscope

For October 22

Your birthday today: You have before you a period of prosperous and pleasant adjustment. No social or business contact should be neglected (or affronted) during the coming year. Today's natives have a special gift for seeking the inner truth.

ARIES (Mar. 21 — Apr. 19): Romantic experience now takes a curious turn; unusual coincidence becomes the rule. Fresh contacts provide active stimulus. Join your own crowd and have fun with some popular entertainment this evening.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 — May 20): Teamwork is the keyword now. All sorts of problems become rather amenable to solution; diligent effort is equally important. Also, give your intuition time to adjust to new environment.

GEMINI (May 21—May 20): Think what you are doing — and pursue it consistently. The day will bring its share of surprises and good news.

CANCER (June 21—July 22): Find a novel approach to both work and play. Express your sense of humor. There is a lot, yet to do after your work hours are over. Pursue romantic interests with high spirits.

LEO (July 23 — Aug. 22): Anything you do to improve your property or living conditions today will be well rewarded! Sentimental interests come suddenly alive with new expressions, new meanings. Discussions with relatives can be productive if brief and moderate.

VIRGO (Aug. 23 — Sept. 22): Keep right on thinking out the details of your improvement program. There are many changes to be made. You'll have much luck in tackling the job directly.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 — Oct. 22): Communications become of fundamental importance. Your work involves fresh personalities, who interest you. It requires quite a bit of study before you come to a workable evaluation.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23—Nov. 21): Unscheduled meetings and contacts tend to provide you with additional responsibilities. Social activity is on the increase. Tonight is great for entertainment!

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 — Dec. 21): It is better to avoid publicity today, can you? Your work thrives, particularly in the research phases of your specialty. It is difficult for any confidential matter to escape your search: be discreet about what you are finding.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 — Jan. 19): Keep your personal plans to yourself today and tonight. Unusual conditions require difficult changes if you are public-ly committed. Developments cheer you up greatly.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20 — Feb. 18): Use all the co-operation which comes your way. New emotional energy arises now, perhaps a new love interest. Your friends are likely to help revolutionize your environment.

PISCES (Feb. 19 — Mar. 20): This day may be the turning point in an economic cycle for you. Press for progress, and recognition: seek a broader acquaintanceship, new adherents.

Bonn Puzzled By Violent Deaths

BONN (Reuters) — West German officials Saturday puzzled over the violent deaths of three senior military officers in the last 10 days as newspapers continued to speculate that espionage and even a military spy ring might be involved.

The third officer, Lt.-Col. Johannes Grimm, 54, shot himself in his defence ministry office Friday.

He was said to have been suffering from a serious illness but press reports today said military counter-intelligence investigators were called in. The reports could not be confirmed.

Grimm's suicide followed that of the deputy counter-intelligence chief, Gen. Horst Wendland, on Oct. 8, and the mysterious shooting death of a former NATO official, Rear Admiral Hermann Luedke on the same day.

A defence ministry spokesman said there was no reason to suspect any breach of regulations or security was connected with the death of Grimm, who had been with the ministry since 1961 and worked in the logistics division.

But the mystery surrounding Luedke's death deepened with reports that he had gone into a Bonn camera store with a film showing secret documents from NATO headquarters in Belgium where he worked as deputy logistics chief until his retirement last month.

RC Synod Recommends Post Secondary Interest

LONDON, Ont. (CP) — The formation of a council on higher education aimed at encouraging increased use of the chaplains at all levels of post-secondary school education was endorsed by the Roman Catholic Diocese of London synod Saturday.

The recommendation, one of many included in a report on universities and colleges prepared after a two-year study, calls for representation from all areas of post-secondary school education to study and promote the work of the church in the college and university level.

The group would make recommendations to the pastoral council regarding chaplaincies at the university and college levels and to governing boards of these institutions on policy.

The council's function would be three-fold—ministering to the needs of staff and students, contributing to the intellectual development of the students by teaching theology and related subjects and advising and assisting the administration in respecting the rights of all in a pluralistic society.

The 49-page report, prepared under the chairmanship of Rev. A.J. Ruth, dean of arts and science at the University of Windsor, also calls for the Divine Word Institute here to seek more formal recognition as an academic institute of graduate studies, provided it can be done without losing its autonomy.

Other major recommendations in the report include:

—Establishment in every institute of post-secondary education an association of staff and students to work for the promotion of the interests of Christian education in the school.

—Launching of a program to ensure courses in theology are available to all students in such institutions.

—Appointment of Chaplains at colleges of applied arts and technology.

Ibos Last Stand

After 16 Months of War Biafrans Still Fear Extermination

Sixteen months of civil war, marked by butchery and mounting starvation, have squeezed the Biafrans into a small area of southeastern Nigeria, about one-tenth the territory originally held.

What may well be the last stand of Lt.-Col. Odumegwu Ojukwu and his Ibos is taking shape in the Umuahia region, in the Biafran heartland.

There the Ibos, convinced that surrender would only lead to extermination, are under federal siege, with relief workers estimating the starvation toll at about 15,000 a day.

While Nigerian officials maintain that starvation claims are exaggerated, church and other relief experts conclude that perhaps 1,000,000 Ibos, mostly women and children, already have died in a war encouraged to some extent by the white man's arms.

The Lagos government under Maj.-Gen. Yakuba Gowon has been receiving arms and other aid from Britain and other sources. Despite criticism by some of his own Labor supporters, Prime Minister Wilson maintains that eventually the world will see that Britain's policy was right.

Commonwealth sources suggest most of Biafra's arms come from the black market, through funds raised partly in the European Common Market. Support for the Biafrans is reported to be growing in The Netherlands, France, West Germany and Italy.

One Commonwealth official estimates that because of outside help, the Ibos may be able to hold out for six months.

Rich in resources and once a showcase of African democracy, Nigeria actually is made up of about 250 tribes, organized under British direction into an independent Commonwealth country in 1960.

Experts say that aside from geography, there is little to unite the main groups which include the Hausa, Ibo, Yoruba and Fulani tribes. Among some of the groups, language and culture may be as far apart as that between English and Russian.

About 8,000,000 Biafrans have been squeezed into an area that normally held only about one-quarter that number. Many are living in the bush under the most primitive conditions. Relief supplies getting through are reported to be only a fraction of minimum requirements.

Appeals to end the war have been raised in many countries. The United Nations maintains it cannot play an active role because the war is an internal matter for Nigeria. Arnold Smith of Canada, Commonwealth secretary-general, has made unsuccessful attempts to bring the two sides together to seek an acceptable compromise.

Gowon insists on peace terms that would split Biafran territory into three states, thereby tending to weaken Ibo unity. Ojukwu says peace on those terms would lead to slaughter of his people.

Lagos speaks for a country of 45,000,000—against Ojukwu's 8,000,000. Even friends of Ojukwu say his case appears hopeless.

The only outside body that appears to have any chance of negotiating peace is the Organization for African Unity. It has received some co-operation from both sides but not enough to predict when peace may come.

Political bloodshed started in 1966 when Eastern army officers rebelled and killed Northerners running the federal government. One of Africa's most respected leaders, Sir Abubakar Balewa, Nigeria's first prime minister, was among those assassinated.

This brought Maj.-Gen. Aguiyi Ironsi, an Ibo, to power. But anti-Ibo riots erupted in the North in May, 1966, when thousands of Ibos were slaughtered. Two months later Northern officers mutinied and killed Ironsi.

Gowon, who headed the federal regime since the July, 1966, coup, is a British-educated Northern but a Christian of the minority Tiv tribe. His plan is to reduce tribalism in a reorganized state, but the Ibos say he merely wants to carve up their old territory.

Ojukwu, son of a multi-millionaire and a contemporary of Gowon's at British military schools, declared Biafra's independence May 30, 1967.

Lagos said it would be a short-lived independence. Gowon underestimated Ojukwu's determination to remain free—no matter what cost—in agony and blood.

Tired of Crying Say Ibo Refugees

ONITSHA (CP) — "I miss my family so much I can't sleep at night."

Sitting outside the small house which he shares with many other people, Chief Francis Iwenofu Ombdi Daike told of grief that has turned his old age into an eternity of torment and loneliness.

Chief Francis is one of nearly 3,000 persons who inhabit a refugee camp here, practically the only ones left of a population of 160,000 that inhabited Onitsha before the civil war broke out in Nigeria.

The rest fled with the retreating Biafran army when federal troops reoccupied this area last March, or disappeared into surrounding bush and are still there.

The population of the refugee camp is given as 3,000 though competent observers say it is much less than that.

The inhabitants are what are called Onitsha Ibos. Although they speak the Ibo tongue they are actually of the Ebo tribe, and some from an area 80 miles west of here.

Everyone at the camp seems to have spent some time in the bush after federal forces arrived, finally coming out in response to federal coaxing or through sheer inability to survive.

Chief Francis, 84, is typical of a large number in camp whose entire families have disappeared without a trace.

"I have no idea where my wife and children are," he says. "They are all scattered."

Asked how many children he has, he replied: "About 18." His 16 grandchildren also are gone.

Another resident is a lady of about 60 who has two daughters and one son. Two daughters are here but the son is missing as are her nine grandchildren.

Asked whether she ever cries over the missing ones, she replies: "I am tired of crying."

As to the conduct of federal soldiers she says: "They don't beat us and they look after us well."

Donor Was Willing To Give Heart

ORANGEVILLE, Ont. (CP) — The heart that beats in a 42-year-old Toronto bricklayer has caused grief for a mother of four in this community, 35 miles northwest of Toronto.

Mrs. Marie Bryan, widow of Canada's sixth donor for a heart transplant, James Bryan, said: "How can you be proud when you've just given away part of someone you love?"

Her 33-year-old husband's heart was transplanted in the chest of Pietro Ongaro Saturday at Toronto Western Hospital. A medical bulletin Sunday night said Mr. Ongaro's condition was satisfactory.

Speaking about her husband, a former carpenter, Mrs. Bryan said: "He used to talk all the time about the heart transplants. I know he would have wanted to do this."

She said early Saturday morning she consented almost immediately when doctors asked for permission to use her husband's heart.

Mr. Bryan had complained of headaches before he died of cerebral hemorrhage.

Mrs. Bryan said she did not know what she would do or where she and her children, Theresa, 9, Earl, 7, Brenda, 5, and Melanie, 2, would live.

They had just bought a house in Alliston, 35 miles northeast of here and had moved in Friday. The two oldest children were to start school in Alliston today.

"I don't know anyone in Alliston," said Mrs. Bryan. "I don't have any friends or relatives there.

Jackie's New Yacht A Floating Palace

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — The yacht of Jacqueline Kennedy's new husband is a floating palace, crusted with marble and gold, complete with playthings for children and adults.

Charles, the major domo who has served Onassis at sea since the Greek shipping magnate purchased the Christina in the early 1950s, proudly pointed out such knick-knacks as a library of Winston Churchill's writings personally inscribed by the author; a gold sextant from King Saud; whale-skin bar stools in the intimate lounge and a stack of opera scores beside the battened-down grand piano.

Mrs. Kennedy and Onassis were married Sunday in a chapel on Skorpios Island, Onassis' privately-owned paradise in the Ionian Sea off Greece.

Ashis and hers bathroom has twin sinks with gold plumbing. The large cafe-au-lait marble bathtub is lined with blue mosaics, with walls and marble bidet to match. A shower and commode in the master bath are in closets behind two-way mirrors, reflective from the bathroom side but clear glass from inside the tiny rooms.

Industrial Commission Dilemma

Orr, Mayor Clash Over Committee

By ROY PEACOCK
(Staff Reporter)

The special committee proposed last week to review policy of the Belleville Industrial Commission was authorized yesterday by city council but the approval was not given before verbal fireworks erupted.

Under the recommendation a committee of three council members will be set up to meet with industrial commission directors to review that body's constitution and program of activity.

Mayor R. J. Scott said he wanted to give the appointments some consideration but promised he would name the committee within 48 hours.

The proposal to name the committee came from Ald. E. A. Orr at a joint meeting of city council and industrial commission directors held last week.

The decision of that meeting was to ask the commission directors to carry on until the end of the year with the assurance that a committee would be set up to investigate commission policy.

Yesterday's bone of contention was the make-up of the special committee with Ald. Orr stating his proposal had been to have members from both city council and the industrial commission on the committee.

His motion expressed full confidence in the industrial commission members and called for a committeee of three council members and three Commission members.

But Mayor Scott felt council members only should be on the Committee and his amendment to this effect was carried after a half hour's heated debate.

Ald. Arthur Keegan fired up the discussion by questioning the legality of the industrial commission. He suggested the commission members continue until the end of the year, then put their books in order and resign.

But Ald. Orr immediately voiced objection.

"It seems to me council made a commitment to the industrial commission last week.." he said. "There was no objection to my suggestion and I feel to pass this now would be negating our committment."

"And I don't want to be any part of it." he continued.

Rural Mail To Stay

OTTAWA (CP) — Saturday mail delivery will be maintained in Canada's rural areas, Postmaster-General Eric Kierans told the Commons Monday.

Mr. Kierans backed from his earlier announced five-day week for all mail delivery as he outlined proposed postal rate increases and reductions in services designed to lop $80,000,000 of the estimated $100,000,000 deficit the post office exp.ects in this fiscal year.

He also stopped short of full implementation of his "users-pays" principle by continuing some "subsidy" on rates for newspapers and magazines.

Restricted Parking Invalid

He got a parking ticket for parking in a restricted area.

Mr. Temple didn't pay it and this morning in court he let the court know why.

"In city bylaws there is no such thing as a restricted parking zone," said Mr. Temple.

City prosecuter Ralph Graham checked the bylaws.

"That's true," he said.

"The charge is invalid," said Magistrate T. Y. Wills.

However if the ticket had been written out charging Mr. Temple with parking in a no parking zone (unmetered) the charge would have been valid, said Magistrate Wills.

So watch out future infringers on the mayor's parking spot.

Embattled N.Y. Mayor Facing Three Crisis

NEW YORK (AP) — North America's largest city today faced the greatest municipal labor crisis in its history.

It's 1,100,000 pupil public school system was paralyzed by a teachers' strike, its police patrolmen were engaged in a work slowdown and its firemen were set for their own slowdown.

Mayor John V. Lindsay again called Monday on the teachers' union to end its walkout "for the sake of the city," and told the uniformed services, I would not bow to their wage demands.

Lindsay said he would "stand firm" on either agreements with the police and firemen, saying that to reopen negotiations would set off a chain reaction among city employees and produce "complete anarchy in labor relations."

Police officials said 2,949 of the 23,000 members of the Patrolmen's Benevolent Association called in sick Monday while those who reported for work continued to bypass traffic offenders and perform "by the book."

The 10,500-member Uniformed Firefighters Association also voted to reject the city's contract offer and said that firemen would stop performing non-emergency duties Wednesday.

Rejecting the mayor's plea for a school truce, Albert Shanker, president of the 55,000-member United Federation of Teachers, said the strike would continue until the local board, administrator and principals in a Brooklyn experimental school district are removed.

The walkout, which has already cost IT of 28 schools days from the fall term, stems from the ouster of 80 white teachers in the predominantly Negro and Puerto Rican Ocean Hill-Brownsville district.

Ongaro Continues To Make Progress

Hospital officials described the 43-year-old bricklayer as being partly conscious, waking and sleeping, and that sedation was gradually being reduced.

Boyd McCaulay, executive director of the hospital, said that a tracheotomy had been performed on Mr. Ongaro Sunday to facilitate breathing. It is an operation in which the windpipe is opened at the neck and a tube inserted.

"Such an operation is quite routine in operations of this type," he said.

He became Canada's sixth heart transplant after receiving the heart of Jennie Bryan, 33, of Alliston, Ont., who died of a stroke early Saturday morning.

A seventh transplant was performed in Montreal Sunday night.

All Is Well: Apollo

HOUSTON (AP) — The Apollo 7 astronauts rode their "magnificent flying machine" to a landing in the Atlantic Ocean today, climaxing an 11-day space adventure that put the United States on the doorstep to the moon.

America's newest space heroes ended one of man's most significant space flights when their 6½-ton spaceship parachuted into the sea about five miles north of the recovery carrier USS Essex, stationed 350 miles south southeast of Bermuda.

"All is well," reported a search helicopter after making voice contact with Capt. Walter M. Schirra, Jr., Maj. Donn F. Eisele and Walter Cunningham.

There were a few anxious moments after the landing when no voice contact or electronic signals were received from Apollo 7.

But helicopters finally zeroed in on intermittent radio signals. These signals had been blocked at first because the craft landed upside down, submerging the antenna.

The possibility of an upside-down landing was anticipated, and the astronauts inflated large flotation bags which righted their spaceship in the gentle three-foot seas.

Twenty minutes after touchdown, a rescue helicopter was over the spaceship and in voice contact with the astronauts.

About 25 minutes after landing, the three astronauts climbed out of their spacecraft and into a rubber liferaft.

"Their physical status is good, all are in good shape," came the report from the frogmen.

However, one of the astronauts was reported slightly nauseated.

An initial report said there appeared to be no damage to the spacecraft.

It was the third time that Schirra had come back from space. He is the only U.S. astronaut.

Budget Released Tonight

No Drastic Change Expected in Form of Federal Taxation

OTTAWA (CP)—Finance Minister E. J. Benson, introducing his first budget in the Commons, tells taxpayers tonight how he intends to raise more revenue.

He has to meet a prospective $10,670,000,000-plus spending bill.

To do so, he must find another $400,000,000 or so, either in tax increases or by borrowing.

And he has said he does not want to borrow, but to balance the budget if he can.

That almost certainly means higher taxes.

The 45-year-old chartered accountant and professor of commerce, who is Liberal MP for the Ontario constituency of Kingston and the Islands, is widely regarded as a hard-driving decision-maker.

The decisions he has made for the country's pocket-books will be delivered in a full-dress speech to the Commons starting soon after 8 p.m. EDT.

If this budget speech runs true to form, he should reach the tax-change part of his speech about 8:55 p.m.

Last week he added an economic white paper as background for his budget. It said the economic upsurge earlier this year is likely to continue at a more moderate rate through the first half of 1969.

Mr. Benson can count on some increase in revenue as existing tax rates are applied to the growing economy. But most observers feel that is not likely to be enough to meet all the government's spending needs and balance the budget.

But Mr. Benson is not expected to make drastic changes in the form of federal taxation. He has promised to introduce a wholesale revision of basic tax law next year, based in part on the recommendations of the royal commission on taxation headed by Kenneth Lem. Carter, Toronto accountant and tax consultant.

In a Nov. 30 mini-budget, Mr. Sharp proposed a five-per-cent surtax on personal income taxes paid to the federal government, raised tobacco and alcohol taxes by about 10 per cent, and ordered a speedup in the payment of corporation profits taxes.

But the five-per-cent surtax was defeated in the Commons in March, and Mr. Sharp replaced it with three-per-cent surtaxes on both personal incomes and company profits. With them he estimated total revenues for the current fiscal year, running to next March 31, would total $10,185,000,000 and that there would be a $40,000,000 deficit.

This budgetary position did not include the federal cost of medical care insurance, now estimated at $55,000,000 for the two participating provinces of Saskatchewan and British Columbia. Next year, five more provinces are likely to participate, boosting the federal cost considerably.

Aldermen on Committees May Get Extra Pay

City aldermen called upon to do extra committee work should be entitled to extra remuneration.

This was the stand taken yesterday by city council as it amended its procedural by-law to formally establish its traffic and light committee as a standing committee.

The above committee, with Alderman Arthur Keegan as its head, has been in operation for some months but members are finding the work is taking up much more time than had been anticipated.

Setting up the body as a standing committee will make it possible for members to receive remuneration in addition to their $1200 annual council honorarium.

There was no discussion as to what the additional remuneration would be but city manager said the law regarding additional pay for committee chairman had been changed and there was now no limit.

He said the regulations had always permitted extra payment for committee chairman with $200 as the limit.

Alderman Douglas Boyle questioned whether formal establishment of a traffic and light committee might be an encroachment on the city manager form of government under which there are normally no council committees.

Mr. Reynolds agreed that it might appear a retrograde step but in view of the huge volume of work expected of the committee, felt it was a step in the right direction.

Mayor R. J. Scott said the traffic and light committee was a very important committee and stated its work entailed matters which could not be turned over to city hall administration staff.

In addition to matters pertaining to traffic and the installation of traffic lights, the committee last night was saddled with an additional responsibility.

In the future copies of applications for sub-divisions in the city will be referred to the committee for study and recommendation with respect to traffic.

City Can't Get Special Subsidy

Belleville's proposed north-south arterial road along the Haig Road at the eastern limits of the city will not be eligible for a 75 per cent provincial subsidy.

This was learned yesterday by city council in a report from city engineer Wilbur Purcell who said the director of planning for the Ontario department of highways had made it clear that the city could not receive a special subsidy for the work.

The reason given was that the project was far too indefinite and far too long range to be considered as a connecting link between highways 401 and No. 2.

However, Mayor Dr. R. J. Scott said the proposed overhead to replace the present level crossing at the east end of the Belleville CN yards would have to go ahead.

He said the present railway grade separation grants would apply to the structure.

The overpass would be phase one of the proposed north-south road which in view of the department of highways decision will now be considered a connecting link rather than an arterial road.

Mayor Scott said there was no alternative but to proceed with the overpass.

The city will apply for the normal 33 1-3 per cent grant applicable connecting road links.

Council also learned last night that grant for the proposed Sidney Street railway overpass are being delayed because of lack of information from Canadian National.

Alderman Richard Ellis said Parkdale ratepayers wouldn't be happy to learn that plans for the bridge are three months behind.

The mayor assured the matter was being pursued vigorously and full information had been received from Rideau area officials at Belleville.

However, railway transportation officials in Montreal were undecided on whether provision should be made for one or two additional tracks.

Lights Proposed On Two Arches

Belleville's two concrete arch bridge structures over the Moira River are to have new lights installed.

The proposal is to replace the present standards with protection model aluminum posts fitted with double brackets and topped with mercury vapor lamps.

The cost is expected to be in the area of $2,400.

One side of the double arched bracket would extend out over the roadway to light the vehicular traffic lanes, while the other with a lower powered head would light the sidewalk.

Alderman Robin Jeffrey wondered whether attractive iron standards could not be used to help beautify the two bridges noting that she had seen especially attractive lamps on bridges during a recent visit to Ireland.

Mayor Dr. J. R. Scott felt such lamps would be too expensive for the city's budget but did not rule out investigation of the cost of lamps such as proposed by Mrs. Jeffrey.

Marathon Meeting

Talk about marathon council meetings!

Yesterday afternoon's regular session of the city fathers was a session to end all sessions lasting just minutes shy of seven hours.

Then the open session got under way and, with the exception of a five minute break, lasted until almost ten o'clock.

Road Without Sidewalks

The Bridge Street west hill where, the new concrete road is being built is without a sidewalk on either side from Isabel Street up to Highland Ave. The only place to walk is amidst rocks and mud or on the road itself.

Fairground Building

Centre Opens in Two Weeks

When is the city going to get possession of its new recreational building at the fairgrounds.

According to city manager J. R. Reynolds the building should be turned over to the city "within two weeks."

Mayor J. R. Scott said the delay in the city obtaining possession had been of great concern to him and to the city manager.

He said the city's consulting engineer had called for installation of a steel girder over a certain doorway and when this was installed the certificate of safety would be forthcoming.

But Ald. Ellis wanted to know if there was no way the city could proceed with installation of washrooms while awaiting the engineer's approval.

Mayor Scott replied that because of the controversy that had arisen over the building the city could not accept the structure until the certificate was given. In the meantime the holdbacks owing to the contractor were not being paid.

To a question from alderman Gerald Joyce as to the number of requests for the building's use, parks administrator Lorne Williams said about eight permanent requests had been received. He adored that they recreation committee was planning other activities on their own.

Public use of the Salvation Army building on Pinnacle Street is also being sought, among the enquiries being a request from the Chamber of Commerce.

Ald. Boyle urged that the city keep in mind uses by the senior citizens and other such organizations.

Possible Pollution

OWRC Investigates Industry

TRENTON — Members of the Ontario Water Resources Commission are today continuing their study of pollution in the Trent River, while trying to find the cause of plastic chunks that have been plaguing the area's main waterway.

A commission spokesman said yesterday it was believed possible that the chunks came from the Glen Miller Paper Mill, and as a result the plant will undergo its annual checkup later today.

He added that the commission had made several recommendations concerning pollution control last year, and to the best of his knowledge, these were carried out.

"I imagine the plant will be scrutinized to see if we have conformed to these recommendations when the commission visits us later today," added Mr. Alexander.

But for the moment, the origin of the plastic chunks remains a mystery.

"I don't think we are at fault", said Hugh Campbell, "but if we are, we will take any action the Commission thinks necessary."

And the oil which has been coming from CFB Trenton, and polluting the waters nearby will be taken care of.

Lieut. Col. George Reid, chief technical officer for the base, said the oil came from a leak in a heating plant at hangar three.

The leak was repaired, but by this time, much of the oil had seeped in the ground," he explained.

From there it went to the storm sewer, and then into the water. Last week a log boom was placed around the oil slick, and varsol used to burn off the polluting liquid.

"We will be getting a bulldozer to spread gravel over the rocks so the oil will not be able to pollute the water," concluded the chief technical officer.

Public Board Meets

Retired school principal E. S. Fairman took his place on the Bellevile Public School Board as a trustee at the board's regular meeting last night. He will serve until the elected county board takes over education in Hastings Jan. 1.

The enrolment report revealed a drop in school population this year, attributed to the opening of separate school kindergartens. Total enrolment in city elementary schools this year is 5,286, down 46 from last year's total of 5,332.

Community groups booked public schools on 166 occasions during September and October for Home and School, Guide, Scout and other meetings.

A request by the YMCA for free use of the schools for recreational activities was referred back for further discussion. Trustee Gerald Brennan questioned the Y's free use of the schools when it charges to teach swimming to school children.

ANAF Weekly News

Last Thursday evening a meeting of the Remembrance Day Committee was held in the ANAF auditorium and the final details were arranged.

It is expected that a larger number of veterans will turn out for this year's Remembrance Day dinner, at which Lt.-Gen. Howard Graham will be the guest speaker. This will be held on Monday, Nov. 11 at the Belleville Armory.

Tickets will be on sale by the stewards of both veterans' organizations.

Thursday, Oct. 24 at 8 p.m. there will be a large initiation ceremony for 35 new members. After the ceremonies are over there will be a buffet feed, refreshments and good entertainment. Only members will be admitted.

A noteworthy date to remember will be Friday, Nov. 1 when the first big dance of the season will be held. The entertainment chairman has done all out to make this a success.

Owing to the passing of T. York, G. Christopher has been appointed chairman of the Benevolent Fund Committee and A. Jordan as third member until the next general meeting. Also, as Mr. York was a member of the trust fund, a new member will have to be elected to that position at the same meeting.

Saturday morning the ratepayers of the Auditorium rang in the shouts and laughter of 21 youngsters — members of the Unit sponsored ANAF Jets of the Minor Softball League.

Edward Nicholson provided movies and the group were served hot dogs, ice cream and pop. Saturday evening the Mr. and Mrs. Dart Tournament started. Mr. and Mrs. Sferma were the winners while Mr. and Mrs. Bowley were runners-up.

Irate Murray Township Residents Fight Council on Speedway Issue

TRENTON — Murray Township Council will have in the mail tomorrow an answer to the Pine Acres residents concerning action on Riverview speedway.

The dispute flared up two weeks ago at the last council meeting when the residents complained in force about noise and dust from the stock car track.

A petition was presented to council and Reeve Gerald Ross said last night an answer to the question "what will be done about the track" will be mailed out tomorrow.

However it appears, from last night's council meeting, that not much can be done.

Reeve Ross said last night that the complaints of the Pine Acres delegation came too late to carry any weight.

"We have no bylaws in the township governing race-tracks", he said.

To this, James Day, a member of the delegation, said that the clerk, Agnus Gunther, said previously, the town could pass a bylaw outlawing the operation of the track.

To this there was no response.

But council could only say that they did not know "if anything could have been done or if anything could be done."

To this one delegate bellowed, "We elected you to represent us, why can't you look into these things.

There was no response.

Councillor Cyril MacDonald said the best the residents of Pine Acres can hope for is "governing bylaws to make the operation of the racetrack as least offensive as possible."

It was mentioned by Reeve Ross that council disapproved of the track when it started. A letter was sent to the owners of the track but the action was not followed through.

And then one delegate asked if there was a bylaw concerning Sunday racing.

"No, there isn't", said the Reeve.

"Then the track is operating illegally", said the delegate.

And so this was all that the frustrated members of the Pine Acres delegation could extract from council.

"We cannot tell you tonight what our action will be", explained Reeve Ross, "but you will all find out in a couple of days."

"We have contacted our solicitors and have taken what we consider to be the best action", he concluded.

This did not seem to impress last night's delegation for as one resident of Pine Acres said, "... it looks like the track is here to stay."

Bay Bridge Road Detour May Be Used All Winter

It all depends on the weather, but motorists using the Bay Bridge Road may have to use that garbage dump detour throughout the coming winter.

The reason, of course, is that a siege of inclement autumn weather could delay completion of the Bay Bridge Road - CPR overpass sufficiently to preclude its being opened this fall.

And although motorists might not take it too kindly, a delay in the bridge opening could have its advantages as well as disadvantages.

A report from consulting engineers Damas and Smith, read to city council yesterday, states that while it would not be desirable to leave the Bay Bridge Road detour in operation during the winter, not opening the bridge until next spring would on the other hand protect the newly poured concrete from road salt damage.

And a delay in paving the approach ramps would allow for over-winter settling of the thousands of yards of fill used in the approach ramps.

On the other hand if good weather prevails, the construction schedule would allow for completion in time for opening of the bridge late this fall.

Lightfoot Construction have now completed the bridge piers and are working on the bridge abutments. The schedule calls for placing of the pre-stressed beams by Nov. 17 and deck topping by Nov. 24 — all conditional on the weather.

City Day Care Nursery Could Be Forced to Close

The Hastings County Welfare Unit will be asked to take over the operation of the Belleville Day Nursery and if this is declined the nursery may be forced to close.

City council yesterday voted to ask the county unit to take over the nursery operation after a report from welfare administrator R. E. Tucker showed that attendance at the day care centre had fallen off sharply this year.

He said there were not enough children enrolled and there was not enough supervision.

He said it was not being utilized to the extent expected and at the present scale of operations was a waste of money.

Mayor R. J. Scott said the day nursery had been a bone of contention since it was opened. At the present level of enrolment he said it was not practical to continue operation.

In his report Mr. Tucker suggested that children from outside the city be taken in at the nursery to boost enrolment.

For Sidney Users

Water Rates Show Increase

Rates to be paid by Sidney township user of the city water and sewer system were agreed on last night by city council.

A rate of 150 per cent of that paid by city users was approved by township water users.

Part of the sewer rate for township users will be based on water usage (44 per cent of the water bill) with an additional one mill levy to be paid on the owner's equalized assessment.

The 44 per cent rate on the water bill replaces a flat rate sewer charge of $3 now paid by township sewer users. The one mill levy will be assessed for application against the capital costs of the proposed city sewage Plant addition.

A report from city manager J. R. Reynolds showed that there were only four township users of the city sewage system.

These are Loyalist College, Hastings Manor and a house on manor property, along with two private residences.

A Sidney township resident, Mr. Brown, living immediately west of the city, charged city council with passing the buck on his application to hook up with the city water system.

He was told by Mayor Scott, however, that there had been no change in the city's policy of not extending city water to township users.

Ratepayers Get Money

The Hillcrest Ratepayers' Association will get the money required for the repairs and plumbing installation to allow their Centre Street church community centre to get into operation.

Two weeks ago the ratepayers' association requested $2,000 in city funds for the work, but this amount was reduced to $1,800 with directions that the most essential work be done.

Last night there was another request from the Hillcrest ratepayers pointing out that the necessary work could not be done for less than $3,000. And price quotations obtained by the city purchasing agent bore out their claim.

Under the community centres act the centre will be eligible for a 25 per cent grant.

Accordingly the city will have to come up with about $1,200 and council directed that the money be provided.

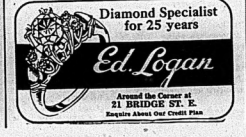
There are probably as many good reasons for buying Canada Savings Bonds as there are Canadians. There are the hopes, plans and ambitions you have for yourself and your family. There is the desire, which all of us share, to play a part in building the future of our country. The simple, safe, profitable way to help realize these goals is to buy Canada Savings Bonds.



They offer an excellent return. The average yield to maturity is 6.75% a year. There are fourteen annual interest coupons which begin at 5.75% and rise to 7.00% for each of the last nine years. These can be cashed each year as they become due. Better still, if you choose to keep these coupons uncashed, you can earn interest on your interest. Take full advantage of this option and, when your Bonds mature, your total interest earnings plus your original investment will amount to $250 for each $100 invested.

They are available to everyone. Canada Savings Bonds are available to every Canadian resident in amounts from $50 up to $50,000, for cash or on instalments, wherever you work, bank or invest. Adults, children, businesses and institutions—all may buy them.

They are instant cash. You can cash them any time at any bank in Canada at their full face value plus earned interest.

Few investments are so profitable. None builds more surely for the future. Buy into Canada today. Buy Canada Savings Bonds. It pays.

It pays.

Noise Versus Solitude

"Getting away from it all" has long been a deep-rooted dream of the human race, particularly when the going gets hard.

Yet unless a man is born to it, say to the relative solitude of farm life and the rural parts, his personality can flourish best only in the presence of various sensory stimuli. Without it people suffer from what psychiatrists term "sensory deprivation." It makes sense too. The headings of two recent features on the subject explain the theory in a nutshell. The first, "Lights, Color, Noise — The Spark of Life," and second, "Ssh! We could all go Nuts — Planner Defends Noise."

Not the kind of excessive noise that emanates increasingly from contemporary pop music groups and which, on reaching a certain pitch, can cause ear damage. But rather the normal degree of noise and other sensory elements of day-to-day life.

Consider, for instance, the plight of prison inmates confined as they are for varying periods behind bars, their only stimulus the deadly atmosphere of the hall, some reading matter perhaps, brief periods of exercise and presumably some occupational therapy.

Dr. George Scott, chief psychiatrist at Kingston penitentiary, believes that sensory deprivation is a growing problem, what with people living longer and more people in old people's homes and in institutions for the chronically ill.

"We keep them quiet," he said in a recent article in Weekend Magazine. "We talk in low voices. We shut off the sick room. In most cases, it would be better if we . . . encouraged as much normal activity as possible."

Lights . . . color . . . noise, who is there among us that does not respond to such elements? Absolute quiet for example can drive a man "nuts," according to Dr. V. S. Pendakur, associate professor of community and regional planning at the University of British Columbia. Noisy environments, he says, generate excitement.

As in every situation, though, it is likely that one man's meat is another's poison. As another speaker at the above discussion out West noted: "People accept their own noise, but can become highly intolerant of noise from others . . ." But one thing is certain, in normal circumstances some noise, color and so on are better than none at all.

Apollo Mission

With the Apollo VII space mission due to end today, the marathon orbital flight will be remembered as one that has tried the tempers of the astronauts more than any held thus far.

Apollo commander Walter Schirra and his two companions all have tangled with ground control. The men aloft have complained about unscheduled and perhaps unnecessary — flight tests ordered by ground control, about the food and the timing of the television broadcasts.

The fact that the three astronauts are no "yes men" is all to the good, because from their pointed comments will come the improvements that must be made after a mission of such magnitude. And particularly when the Americans are talking about sending a manned flight around the moon as early as December.

Another interesting difference from previous flights is the change in emphasis in flight routines. In early space flights by individual astronauts frequent references were made to the view — to the countries and terrain which the men could see from their celestial seat in the stalls. This time technical matters have taken up most of the time and there has been little time to enthuse about the spectacular sights below.

Behavioral Problem

Reports of smoking and drinking, moving of desks and equipment, and defacing of pictures on bulletin boards by students undergoing manpower training courses at Quinte secondary school have led to a move to have some of the students transferred to Loyalist College, where space is available.

Quite apart from trying to share school facilities and equipment when manpower students and Quinte students are attending night classes at the same time, it appears that behavioral problems are causing anxiety. Quinte principal Ben Haygarth has observed that the behavior of many trainees "makes it very embarrassing for our girls."

Clearly this sort of situation cannot be tolerated in any school. If schools are going to be used for retraining purposes for older — but not necessarily mature — persons — the question of discipline and decorum should not be neglected. School staff and authorities have enough disciplinary problems on their hands without inviting additional difficulties of this nature.

Trudeau's Documents Forecast Follies of Separatism

By RICHARD JACKSON

OTTAWA — Did you ever see a politician stimulate so much re-thinking of political positions as Prime Minister Trudeau has in Quebec?

First the Union Nationale inched back closer to the Confederation line, with its new leader Jean-Jacques Bertrand showing the way.

Then Jean Lesage's Liberals converting the UN's inches into feet and yards took longer strides in the return to federalism.

And who knows that Rene Levesque, recovering from his flirtation with separatism, may not be next.

Odd thing is that the cause of it all, the new go-go prime minister has been saying and doing the same thing for six years, making the Quebec case for what since last spring he has been calling the "One Canada."

Not so oddly, few people in either French or English Canada were listening to him — certainly paying precious little attention anyway — until he made his run and won power as the leader of all the Canadians.

Much has been said and written about Pierre Elliott Trudeau's political preachments and positions — and not all of it favorable or flattering — in his pre-Ottawa years.

Straight through, until recently the public spotlight always seemed to veer away from what now emerge as his most important words of all — his spelling out in the plainest language possible, his position on separatism.

His words, which must give comfort to all Canadians now that he is in supreme authority, are found in his essay, "Fi ve Treason of the Intellectuals" carried in the Cite Libre six years ago.

Some of the prime minister's writing in that publication, usually regarded as anything but a conformist magazine pleading the cause of the federal establishment, have come under critical examination since.

But not this essay in which his intellectual contempt for the advocates of separatism comes on so clear and strong.

It could be entitled "Separatism Is for Losers," and in part this is what he wrote:

"In truth, the very concept of sovereignty (for Quebec) must be starkened and those who proclaim it for the nation of French Canada are not only reactionary, they are impetuous.

"French Canadians could no more constitute a perfect society than could the five million Sikhs of the Punjab.

"We are not well enough educated, not rich enough, nor, above all, numerous enough, to man and define a government possessing all the necessary means for both war and peace.

"The fixed per capita cost would ruin us."

He had an answer then for the sophistry of Rene Levesque, long before that semi-separatist presented it.

It was as if, back in 1963, Pierre Elliott Trudeau had peered into the future to forecast Levesque's formula for separatism involving withdrawal from Confederation by Quebec followed by a return to the federal fold on the province's own special terms.

Trudeau's answer-in-advance to that:

"Such abstraction covers a multitude of sins. It is a serious thing to ask French Canadians to embark on several decades of privation and sacrifice, just so they can indulge themselves in the luxury of choosing 'freely' a destiny more or less identical to the one they have rejected.

"But the ultimate tragedy would be in not realizing that French Canada is too culturally anemic, too economically destitute, too intellectually retarded, too spiritually paralyzed, to be able to survive more than a couple of decades of stagnation, emptying herself of all her vitality into nobler but ever vaguer, the mirror of her nationalistic vanity and 'dignity.'"

And for those who since have contended that separatism would release a great store of pent-up, hoarded national initiative guaranteeing an independent Quebec of progress and prosperity, Pierre Trudeau, antedating just such an argument, replied:

"They are resolving not one single problem by the exercise of reason and in setting up collective passions, they are engaging an unpredictable, uncontrollable and ineffectual mechanism."

Finally, flatly he declared that Quebec already had all the powers required to make French Canada a "political society affording due respect for nationalist aspirations and at the same time giving unprecedented scope for human potential in the broadest sense."

Isn't it astounding — or perhaps only to be expected — how so many Canadians, French and English, never see it and play it this way?

Indians and Negroes

'Nothing in Common' Says Mohawk

Letter to Montreal Gazette

Permit me through the columns of The Gazette to express my appreciation for the excellent manner in which the Canadian newspapers generally are reporting my opposition to a hasty revision of the Indian Act and my intense opposition to what appears to be a real estate scheme to cause the people of Caughnawaga to lose all their rights in their precious reserve.

I would very respectfully draw your attention to a misleading headline that appeared in The Gazette. I did not form a team with Stokeley Carmichael. I did not attack the white establishment. At Sir George Williams University Stokeley Carmichael appeared alone. In the next hour I appeared alone. I made a point to have no discussion with him and not to be photographed with him because Indians and Negroes have nothing in common and we do not sympathize or agree with their tactics of threatening violence and public misdemeanors, and all sorts of conduct which we believe will in the end gain very little for them.

What is fascinating is that the majority of students of Sir George Williams University were thundering their approval of threats by Negroes on their lives and all of the foreboding menace of Mr. Carmichael. Of course there are so very few Negroes in Montreal and Canada the students are acting out a fantasy. But when I spoke for Indians who are in number equal to Canadians of the Jewish faith, I was met with silence, real, and actual, and here, the anger and hostility to reality was amazing and some day you will see this on the television show that was filmed at that time.

The purpose of this letter is to make sure you understand we are not against the white Canadians, and we are not for Negroes threatening violence on anyone, and we have formed no team with any of them, at any time. In fact, it is the reverse.

Sex and the Olympics

Hamilton Spectator

Ever since the German athlete "Dora" broke the world's high jump record with a leap of 5 feet 7 at the Berlin Olympics in 1936, sports authorities have been concerned by the every female who does much better than they think a member of the weaker sex should do. (Dora incidentally, turned out to be a man.)

This year every woman competing in Olympic track and field events at Mexico City is supposed to be cleared by doctors before she can compete. If a girl is found to have too many male gonads or chromosomes she is declared ineligible on the grounds that she is a male pseudo-hermaphrodite. Thus, though she may have all the external characteristics of a female, she has enough of the male strength-giving qualities to give her an advantage over women who have the proper share of female gonads and chromosomes.

The compulsory examinations have infuriated many of the competing nations. Nevertheless the Olympics committee is right in demanding that they be carried out. History proves them right. For, according to an article on the matter, Dr. M. H. Stiles, a girl called Claire, who came third in the 100 metres at Oslo in 1946, is now called Pierre and is a father.

Furthermore, a French aviator named Leon was once called Lea and competed in the Olympics.

Finally, there is the well-known case of Erika Schinegger a famous skier who was forced to withdraw from last winter's Olympics because she couldn't prove she was all woman. Later she was operated on and left the hospital as Erik.

There are men, of course, who have too many female gonads and chromosomes, but none, to the world's knowledge, have ever competed in Olympics track and field events for the obvious reason that they would be at a disadvantage instead of an advantage.

The Senator said that he was commissioned to buy 2700 pounds of cheese at Franksville at 12½ cents and he was successful in getting 2800 pounds at five cents per pound. Mr. Noonman recalled that in 1870 he got six cents per pound for cheese and thought he was lucky. Mr. McVeigh stated that in 1907 cheese sold on the Perth Board at nine cents per pound. The price of the Perth Board on Friday last was 29 nine - sixteenths cents per pound."

Negro Militancy Upsets Counterparts in Canada

Montreal Gazette

During the recent Black Writers' Congress at McGill University, there was a marked division of attitudes between the black United States militants present and local Negroes, both Canadian and West Indian. For the local Negroes, in fact, the calls to violence and race war by the Americans caused more than embarrassment or disappointment; they caused dismay.

Six local Negro organizations have been pressured into a combined rejection of the programs presented by the Americans at the congress. The declaration rejects violence as a means to attaining equal rights, except as a last resort. It also rejects black isolation.

The Negro community here has legitimate complaints, but it obviously believes that progress can best be made in the manner in which it has been made in the past, in co-operation with the white community through legal processes.

Even within their own country, the Negro American militants are being overwhelmingly a minority of their people. Yet their actions and their attitudes are being accepted as representative of their whole race by a growing number of American whites. The result is a wave of "white backlash" which is evident in the support being given to the Alabama governor candidate, George Wallace.

White fears and resentments, produced by the militants, could produce a cutback in programs designed to help the American Negro. They could put a strong brake on the progress toward equal opportunity which has marked the postwar period.

Understandably, the Negro citizens of Montreal, who do not share the American militants' attitudes or the background which produced them, have no wish to share, either, the atmosphere of racial tension they are creating in the United States.

The white community of Montreal welcomes the dedication of the Negro community to a policy of peaceful progress. It must condemn, therefore, especially this attitude continues to be popular only because progress toward equality is being made. It must continue to be made.

Iroquois Indians attacked the seigneury of Verchieres, 25 miles northeast of Montreal, 276 years ago today—in 1692—when the owner and his wife were absent. Their 14-year-old daughter, Madeleine, assumed command and defended it for more than a week with two younger brothers, two soldiers, and an 80-year-old servant, until help arrived. Madeleine was distinguished in later life for the large number of lawsuits in which she was involved.

Sport on TV Keeps Those Crowds Away

Hamilton Spectator

Three hoarse cheers for the Ontario Jockey Club! And a tiger!

All this editorial commotion is a result of the Jockey Club's decision to allow the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation to telecast the running of the Queen and Sasster Stakes at Toronto's Woodbine race course last Saturday afternoon.

Oh, if football moguls were as kind and decent as the owners of the Jockey Club. If they were we'd be able to see the home team play at home without having to go to the football stadium. All we'd have to do would be to buy a six-pack of ginger ale, pull up the big overstuffed easy chair, turn on the TV, and sit down and relax.

The trouble is that football teams are in the business of trying to make large gobs of money in order to pay ever-rising expenses. If home games were televised, the fans would stay away in droves. That's why home games in Canada and the U.S. are blacked out in the home-viewing area.

The Jockey Club's generosity undoubtedly kept two or three thousand potential visitors away from Woodbine Saturday afternoon. Instead of going to the track to watch the race, they stayed home and saw it on TV.

No wonder the Jockey Club has to be partially subsidized by the Ontario government. As the old advertising agency saying goes, "they won't pay for it if you give it away."

Make a Fuss And Results Will Follow

Brockville Recorder and Times

A Toronto family of nine camped in the office of Mayor Dennison, in a recent attempt to get some kind of housing that would allow them to stay together.

They had been living in a hotel and with in-laws, since the city had nothing available. They were being represented by a lawyer in a city limousine to a house that miraculously appeared, upon the urging of an alderman, in Oshawa.

In Oshawa, a man and his family received permission to live in a private home, since the city of Oshawa and housing authorities could not find housing. They too, found their wants attended to.

When the pressure of adverse publicity is applied, officials seem able to quickly find what previously eluded them. And for this would appear to be a lesson for both citizens with the problem of uninterested officialdom and elected officials.

Rural Delivery Unchanged

Opposition Asks Committee Study on Postal Rates Hike

Postmaster-general Eric Kierans opened the debate on second reading of the Post Office Act amendments Monday with a long statement answering questions that have been fired at him by MPs on both sides of the House since the bill was first introduced Oct. 8. Mr. Kierans told the House six-day delivery for rural areas would be retained.

The Conservatives replied immediately with a demand that the bill be sent to a Commons committee for study before it gets second reading—approval in principle.

New Democrats and Creditistes supported the proposal and some time was spent debating the acceptability of the motion by Heath Macquarrie (PC —Hillsborough) to send the bill to committee.

The motion was allowed but the House adjourned before voting on it. A vote could come today when the Commons again will consider the postal bill.

Mr. Kierans said discontinuing Saturday delivery would cause "serious hardship" in rural areas.

The post office department defines as rural any community with fewer than 2,000 letter boxes. Those with more than 2,000 are classified as urban and receive letter carrier service.

Mr. Macquarrie argued that referring the bill to committee would provide an opportunity for those who want to air their view to do so.

He also wanted to have financial experts "not from the post office department" analyze the minister's financial statements.

Barry Mather (NDP—Surrey) said his party supported Mr. Macquarrie's motion. So did his party, said Charles-Arthur Gauthier. (Creditiste-Roberval).

Mr. Gauthier said the increased mail rates could wipe out 50 publications in Quebec.

Credit-ist Real Caouette said higher mailing charges would lend to stifle the distribution of information.

Mr. Mather, a newspaper man, suggested both second and third class rates should be raised before the first-class rates go up. After a year or two it might be found that the increased mail rate for letters would suffice.

Mr. Kierans said he was sticking by his proposition that the post office should pay its way, but he did not intend to eliminate the deficiencies of 17 years all at once.

Allowing a deficit to build up in the post office department meant taxpayers who do not use the postal service are subsidizing those who do.

"This I intend to stop."

He warned that the implications of the deficit are more important than the actual size of the figure indicated. Unless it was controlled "it will escalate out of sight."

Referring to the continued Saturday delivery to rural areas, he said the principle of equal government service for Canadians no matter where they lived is "as important as the principle that the user shall pay for what he uses."

The bill under debate raises first-class rates to six cents from five cents, eliminates the local delivery rate, and boosts the rates for Christmas cards, periodicals and books.

Wage increases following settlement of the summer postal strike cost the post office department $40,000,000.

Postal workers refused to subsidize users through low wages and a war bride in 1945.

He spent three years as an artillery officer between 1941 and 1946 in Britain, France, Holland and Germany. They have three sons and a daughter.

Mr. Benson is heavy-set and mostly bald, an inveterate pipe-smoker who likes an occasional drink of rye. He has a knack for explaining complicated problems in simple terms.

He is believed to favor an active fiscal policy to promote economic goals. But what he says tonight at 8 p.m. EDT may be a better guide than anything he has said previously.

"and I agree with them," Mr. Kierans said.

The new first-class mail rates would turn a forecast $28,700,000 deficit into a $12,400,000 surplus for such mail, the burden will fall mainly on businesses. Private citizens accounted for only 25 per cent of first-class mail.

Changes in second-class rates would contribute to $39,100,000 the forecast deficit of $54,000,000.

M. T. McCutcheon (PC—Lambton-East) said the bill is more the work of a new broom trying to make a dramatic clean sweep than a reasoned attempt to tackle the post office deficit.

He asked why the post office department was singled out to make a profit when railways, broadcasting and other public services are not expected to operate in the black.

Alexandre Cyr (L—Gaspe), chairman of a committee of 35 Liberal MPs who protested the five-day week plan, congratulated the minister for his decision to continue Saturday rural delivery.

He said the opposition call for a committee study was a publicity move. If the public were in favor of the new rates and the newspaper industry was well aware of what was proposed, he said.

Mr. Kierans said the subsidized mail rates for the publishing industry has cost the taxpayers $28,000,000 over the last 10 years.

Under the old rates second-class mail paid only 20.2 per cent of its cost. The new rates will raise that to 53.8 per cent.

Deficit Called "Subsidy"

OTTAWA (CP) — Postmaster-General Eric Kierans referred repeatedly in the Commons Tuesday to the post office's deficit on second class mail rates as "a subsidy to the publishing industry."

He said that even with the new rates to go into effect next April 1, the deficit, "or subsidy," will amount to $39,100,000 of the post offices total deficit of $40,000,000 in the fiscal year starting then.

"Over the past 10 years alone, the Canadian public has disburned a total of approximately $900,000,000 to publishers by way of a subsidy on second class mail rates, and all of this without debate — or with very little debate — by members of this House," Mr. Kierans said.

He said the post office is getting, in current rates on second class mail, only 20.5 per cent of the total cost of carrying second class mail.

"For some categories of publications—I cite weekly newspapers for example—we recover less than 19 per cent, 9.7 per cent to be exact.

"As a result of the changes incorporated in this bill, our cost coverage for all types of publications will rise to 53.8 per cent."

Calm, Conservative Benson on Liberal Hot Seat

Tonight, in a budget speech that establishes the "set" of the new administration, he must calmly square the rhetoric with reality.

He must cover the thumping costs of social programs without disturbing the theme of "fiscal responsibility" pronounced in a series of televised speeches.

In one step, in presenting his first federal budget, Mr. Benson will get more public attention than at any time in his six years of political life.

The story goes that in 1962 when he left his role as accountant and commerce professor at Queen's University to enter politics, Mr. Benson declared an ambition to become finance minister.

He won the Kingston riding by 3,229 votes, spent a year in opposition, and after the 1963 election became parliamentary secretary to Finance Minister Walter Gordon—the only secretary personally chosen by a minister rather than by the prime minister.

In 1964 he was named revenue minister, and in 1966 added a second portfolio as president of the treasury board.

Relaxed and comfortable in all these jobs, he introduced new techniques and cost management and turned up two settlements in collective bargaining with federal employees.

Mr. Benson concedes he is ambitious but not gregarious. Other ministers typically emerge from federal-provincial conferences and hold court with reporters; Mr. Benson tends to slide shyly away.

In a smaller group, the finance minister is an engaging conversationalist, retains other peoples' first names well, and likes to be called Ben.

"I don't mind debating," he said in a pre-budget interview. "And I don't mind appearing publicly and saying things if I have something to say.

"But I don't like glad-handing."

Weekends, Mr. Benson tries to get away to Kingston, 110 miles by road from Ottawa, to be with his wife, the former Marie Louise van Laar of Holland, whom he brought home as

Objections to Words

By SYDNEY J. HARRIS

Following yesterday's piece about words, I began pondering on the melancholy fact that people often object more to the words for certain things than to the things themselves.

This summer, a young husband of the Jeunesse doree was quarrelling with his wife about the purchase of a station wagon. With three small children, she wanted him to buy one so that she could cart children and packages around more handily than in their little coupe.

He refused to buy one, because a "station wagon" is middle class and suburban and connotes a great many things he dislikes about society and family life and so on. I happened to be present during the tiff, and suggested innocently that they buy a British-made station wagon.

"What difference would that make?" the husband inquired.

"Well," I said, "In England, it's called a shooting - brake, and its original use was for hunting over rough terrain during the social season, when is not called a station-wagon over there."

I could see this patrician idea taking hold in his mind, and refrained from saying anything further. Sure enough, this fall the family is the proud owner of an imported "shooting-brake," which satisfies the domestic needs of the wife and the snobbery of the husband.

This is merely a somewhat ludicrous and exaggerated example of what most of us are like in our relationship with certain words. We believe more in the magic of terminology than we like to admit, and many a man has swallowed a business demotion when it was sugar-coated with an impressive but meaningless title.

Until a year or so ago, no older son wouldn't eat cheese in any form, and wouldn't even consider eating anything that had cheese as one of the ingredients. Cheese made him sick to his stomach, he averred. Then, suddenly, he and his friends began patronizing pizza parlors and he came home demanding that we serve pizza for dinner some nights.

"What!" I said, "don't you know that pizza has a cheese base, and that you abhor cheese in all its forms?" He looked appalled for a moment then recovered: "Well, I still don't like cheese—but pizza has the Italian kind of cheese that's different from the rest."

We acquire a notion against a name, and then treat the thing like the name. In medical science, the outstanding example has been the word "leprosy," considered a revolting and highly contagious disease since Biblical days — when, actually, the ailment is now most treatable and contractible. But "leper" maintains its ancient connotation, despite all efforts, including its change of name to "Hansen's disease."

Council Committee

Alderman Robin Jeffrey sided with Ald. Orr, stating she was ashamed of what is going on in this council today. I am tired of all this bickering and I hope (the industrial commission) are not listening."

She said that only council had the right to question the industrial commission "and we chose to let it live."

Alderman Wonald Williams said industrial activity was being made the victim of poor public relations.

"If we want industry to come to this city we will have to change our attitude," he said.

At the same time he commended the industrial commission members for their efforts stating they had given their best.

Alderman Orr said he echoed Ald. Williams statement and sometimes wondered why commission members stayed on the job.

"Last week we pledged our co-operation to the commission yet within hours of our meeting the head of council was taking an oblique shot at the commissioners."

Asked by Mayor Scott what oblique shot he was referring to, Ald. Orr proceeded to read The Intelligencer account of a Belleville and District Labor Council meeting in which a statement attributed to the mayor was included.

"If we are going to support the industrial commission, then let's not talk about it — he said.

But Mayor Scott denied making the statement. "Those words are not my words," he said.

Mayor Scott then blamed Ald. Orr for the troubles between council and the industrial commission being publicized.

He said the problems were being handled quietly through meetings until it was proposed by Ald. Orr that there be a meeting between the two bodies.

"You are the victim of your own circumstances," he told Ald. Orr.

Ald. Douglas Boyle came to Alderman Orr's support.

"In view of the mayor not attending industrial commission meetings it is difficult to find the mayor passing the buck to Ald. Orr," he said.

"I attended most of the meetings and had the trouble pretty well ironed out," returned the mayor.

In the end Ald. Orr went along with the amendment stating that "all I want is for a committee to report back to council."

The mayor's amendment then was carried unanimously.

Burning Hulk Closes Seacoast

EASTBOURNE, England (AP) — Salvage operators came under bitter attack today for hauling a blazing Norwegian tanker into shallow Jake, only a half a mile from Eastbourne's seafront hotels. The coast guard called the ship "a potential floating bomb."

Three miles of the seafront were closed by police as the 15,500-ton tanker Sitakund lay close to land, belching smoke and flames.

Three of its crew were feared dead and two were injured by a series of crippling explosions aboard the tanker in the English Channel Sunday night.

Salvage men said the fire was under control and would be out within 24 hours, but residents of this south coast resort watched in anguish as seas around the tanker were set ablaze by gases spurting through its ruptured hull.

Gladys Eases Wind Force

HALIFAX (CP) — Once potent Hurricane Gladys almost blew itself out overnight, giving Newfoundland a reprieve today from destructive winds that lashed wide areas of the Maritimes Monday, causing at least one death.

The disturbance, little more than a moderately strong storm this morning, was expected to brush southern Nes. Jundland with occasional rain and wind gusts no higher than 40 miles an hour on her eastward path from near Cape Breton, N.S.

Electric Motor Is Subject

How many electric motors is the average Canadian home equipped with? Anything up to 60, according to Al Summerville, general manager of Superior Electric in Belleville.

Mr. Summerville said that 150 million home appliances were manufactured in Canada in 1966. Of these, some 90 million contained motors.

In a historical note, Mr. Summerville said Thomas Edison installed the first generating system in Canada at a plant in Cornwall in 1883, replacing water wheel power. He also installed the first water generator in St. Catharines the same year.

Mr. Summerville said production at the local plant had reached "a plateau." However, he anticipated continued need for such equipment.

WEDDINGS

MR. AND MRS. ROBERT A. FORD

Ford – Cassidy

Foxboro United Church was the scene of the October 12 wedding when Rev. A. Parsons united in marriage Donna Marie Cassidy, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Cassidy, of R. R. No. 1, Foxboro, to Robert Allen Ford, son of Mr. and Mrs. Irvine Ford of R. R. No. 1 Highgate, Ontario. Appropriate selections were rendered by Mrs. Dorothy Reilly while the soloist was Mrs. Rita Hough.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a floor length sheath of nylon over Swiss organza, and the lovely neckline was outlined in Venetian lace, the same lace which framed the skirt. The cape style cathedral train featured a stand up collar, accented by additional lace and long sheer sleeves. The crystal and pearl crown attached to the shoulder length veil of silk illusion was complemented by the bouquet of pink and white carnations and roses which she carried.

Maid of honor was Miss Monna Cassidy, twin sister of the bride. She was attired in a floor length empire waisted sheath of aqua organza over taffeta with a matching headdress, completed by a corsage of yellow tinted carnations. Bridesmaids were Mrs. Gordon Sproat, sister of the bride, and Miss Stephanie Uchman, Toronto, friend of the bride. Their gowns were identical to that of maid of honor, and both carried similar bouquets.

Attending the bridegroom was Murdy Dennis of Toronto, and the ushers were Ken Cassidy, brother of the bride and Doug Ford, brother of the groom. The ringbearer for the ceremony was Dean Cassidy, nephew of the bride.

For the wedding reception held at Foxboro United Church, the mother of the bride chose a chocolate brown lace ensemble over taffeta with matching accessories, completed by a corsage of yellow and gold mums. Assisting her the mother of the bridegroom was attired in a jade green wool dress and matching coat with black accessories. Her apparel was complemented by a corsage of yellow roses.

For the wedding trip to Niagara Falls and points West, the bride donned an emerald green two-piece wool suit with black accessories and a corsage of yellow sweetheart roses. Upon their return, the couple will reside in Don Mills.

MR. AND MRS. JOHN F. RAWSON

Rawson – Lee

Rt. Rev. J. P. Sullivan officiated at the double - ring ceremony, in the Church of St. Michael the Archangel, Belleville on Saturday October 12, 1968 at 11 a.m. when Elizabeth Margaret Lee, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Lee of Belleville became the bride of John Frederick Rawson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Rawson of Belleville. The organist Miss Dorothy Grant played the traditional wedding music and accompanied the soloist Adrian Vogt.

Given in marriage by her father the bride wore a semi-fitted gown of Spanish brocade with long sleeves and a self attached full chapel train. The high wedding ring collar was jewelled with pearls and crystals. A high satin head piece held the long silk illusion veil in place. The bride carried a cascade bouquet of double orchids surrounded with stephanotis and ivy.

Mrs. George Flynn sister of the bride was matron of honor with Miss Linda Rawson and Miss Margaret Adam as bridesmaids and Miss Debra Schrieder as junior brides maid.

They were similarly attired in two toned green long sleeved satin dresses. The empire waist was accented with a dark green belt. Double bows of the same light and dark green satin were worn as headpieces. Each bridesmaid carried a fan bouquet of white mums and fern with long white velvet ribbons.

A reception dinner was held at the Sun Valley Motor Inn where the bride's mother greeted the guests in an American Beauty rose A-line dress and matching coat with orchid corsage. She was assisted by the bridegroom's mother who wore a taupe colored satin empire styled dress with matching accessories and an orchid corsage.

Upon their return Mr. and Mrs. Rawson will reside at 49 Thorncliffe Park Drive, Toronto.

MR. AND MRS. WILLIAM C. FISHER

Fisher – Shay

Rev. Amy solmenized the October 12 wedding ceremony at the First Baptist Church, Delhi, when he united in marriage Carol Ann Shay, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Russell Shay, formerly of Delhi, to William Carl Fisher, son of Mr. and Mrs. N. C. Fisher, Belleville. Readering appropriate nuptial selections was Mrs. J. Spence; while the soloist was Miss Pamela Spence.

The bride, given in marriage by her brother, George Shay, wore an empire waisted A-line gown of lagoda featuring a scooped neckline with lace down the front sleeves. Her two-tier hand rolled veil was of silk French illusion, and her wedding ring band headdress was trimmed with matching lace. The floating watteau chapel train was complemented by two bows. Her bouquet was of white orchids and white roses.

Maid of honor, Miss Susan McClatchie was attired in a hot pink floor length gown with an empire waistline, in A-line style in Arnel crepe, complemented by a rosette headdress. Bridesmaids, Mrs. Marilyn Brade, Miss Norma ean Fisher, sister of the groom, and Miss Barbara Hoover, were attired identical to the maid of honor. All carried cascades of raspberry roses and pink carnations.

Attending the bridegroom was Ted Dyke, cousin of the bridegroom. The ushers were George Fisher, Murray Campbell and Bill Lightfoot.

For the wedding reception at Mil-Mar-Manor in Courtland, Ontario, the sister-in-law of the bride received the guests attired in a soft green silk brocaded dress and coat ensemble with matching accessories, completed by a corsage of yellow roses. Assisting her, the mother of the bridegroom wore a burgundy crepe with an accordian pleated criss-cross bodice and loose front panel. Her outfit was further enhanced by a burgundy and pink flower pill box hat, matching accessories and a corsage of pink roses.

For the wedding trip to points in the eastern United States, the bride chose a matching dress and coat in purple with a silver grey mink collar, matching hat and with black patent accessories. A corsage of gardenias with pink sweetheart roses completed her ensemble. Upon their return, the couple will reside in Don Mills Ontario.

Local Association Hosts Annual Banquet

NAPANEE — "There are only three physical disabilities more common to men than mental retardation — these are cancer, mental illness and heart failure."

This frightening statement was made by John Haddad, executive director of the Ontario Association for the Mentally Retarded, speaking at the annual banquet of the Lennox and Addington branch of the Association.

The recent banquet was prepared and served by the ladies of St. Thomas' Anglican Church in Morven and is sponsored annually by the Lennox and Addington branch. The aim is not to raise revenue, but to publicize the work the Association is doing, and the need for more and more effort on the part of more people.

Every six minutes, somewhere in Canada a child is born mentally retarded, or one who will become so during his lifetime, Mr. Haddad stated. At the present time, the speaker informed his audience, mental retardation is ten times more common than diabetes.

The province of Ontario appears to be the leader in this speed in providing training for the mentally retarded. Today it has 12 associations, half of those in all Canada.

Mr. Haddad looked into the future. The Association plans more recreation, with facilities that would give more individual care to its patients.

Fritz Jukkinson, president of the local association, both introduced and thanked the speaker, while Mrs. Gerald Benn, recording secretary, thanked the ladies of St. Thomas' Church.

In his welcoming remarks, Mr. Jukkinson stated that although the program is taking ove in full the education of the mentally retarded in January — from school age until 18. Plans are fired on providing a workshop for the use of those over 18. Also, the Association must provide for the care and training of the pre-school children.

Private speaker was introduced Garnet Brooks, who acted as M.C. led a singsong with Rev. E. Irvine Johnston of Trinity Church, at the piano. Vice-presidents of this Association are Mrs. Joan Hinch, Mrs. Mary Miller. Corresponding secretary is Mrs. Jean McCutcheon, while Mrs. Pat Bell is recording secretary. Treasurer is Mrs. Bernice Pringle.

Noted among the out-of-town guests was John Rose of Belleville, president of the Hastings County Association.

Legion Auxiliary Holds Meeting

Last month's meeting of the Royal Canadian Legion Ladies Auxiliary was well attended.

Several items of business were discussed. Final plans were made for the Hallowe'en dance to be held Friday, October 25. It is hoped those attending will come in costume. Comrade Bolger, who is convening the event, reveals there are several prizes to be won.

The annual bazaar and tea will take place Wednesday afternoon, October 23 in the Legion Hall. A Madame Zelda will be in the tea rooms to add a mysterious attraction.

Comrade Edna Semmens reported on the banquets held in the month of September, and gave dates for several more to come, including the Legion Bantam Baseball Team Banquet on Nov. 2.

A donation was given to the Canadian Mental Health Association. Also three bursaries will be awarded to high school students.

The members will be "tagging" on Nov. 8 and 9 for Poppy Day. The sale of poppies is very good to date. A combination banquet for all veterans will be held at the Armouries on Nov. 11. Comrade Grace Merry will place a wreath at the cenotaph, escorted by comrades J. Bradford and Mary Lewis.

Senior Citizen Gives Advice to Girls

By DORIS CLARK

Dear Doris: Letters from Miserable and Depressed have prompted me to write. They want desperately to know how they can "get a boy" back again. Want to know whatever caused said boy to tire of them.

I am a senior citizen. I was blessed with four brothers; also, later on, several sons and grandsons.

The pattern is the same. I was amazed during my youthful years to hear my eldest brother suddenly declare he did not wish to go to any more social affairs if I always had to have a certain girl chum with me. How I was sure this couple were meant for each other; so was the girl.

My brother took off for a while, found a job away from home circles; but the girl wrote letter after letter which was not answered.

Then one of my sons simply dashed about with Lena. At every excuse had to see Lena. Could we have Lena over a week end? At Christmastime other girls were about, new friendships occurred and said boy never looked at Lena again. Even avoided her at a dance.

I sense the same attitude with this young fellows today. One of my grandsons stated, "Why do the girls want to go steady right off? We fellows don't want to be tied down for a few years yet." Gists, take notice. — Senior Citizen.

Dear Senior: Ain't it the truth! It seems to be feminine human nature to dream of engagement and marriage shortly after the first date.

* * *

Dear Doris: I just read the letter from Double Trouble and I think it is the worst garbage I have ever read. I have never heard of anyone being so selfish. My mother is 54 and I don't think that is old at all.

They don't stop to think that the reason for their mother's taking hand-me-downs is to have more for them. As for their Mom not being able to talk right sometimes, do they ever think about the times they are hoarse with a cold and can't talk right or if they sprain their leg and limp? Is their Mom ashamed of them then?

If she was a tramp or a drunk, then they could complain. But I know of a lot of kids that would love to have a mother like that. Am I right? — Also Fourteen.

DORIS CLARK

Dear Fourteen: Bless you for putting in your two cents' worth. That's exactly what needed to be said. I hope these Double Trouble boys are reading this.

* * *

Dear Doris: I love animals, especially horses and dogs, and they seem to take to me. Isn't there some sort of training I could get so that I could make a career of working with them?

I am not very good at school and I don't think I could make it right through college, so veterinary is out. Besides, we can't afford a long college course for me. — Ginger.

Dear Ginger: Are you going to make it through high school? A two - year course calling for grade 12 diploma might be just the ticket.

This is a new course, for animal technicians, offered by the Ontario Department of Agriculture and Food. Designed to provide personnel to assist veterinarians in the testing, treatment and diagnosis of animal disease and general care of animals.

Topics studied include: animal ethics, chemistry, anatomy, microbiology, genetics animal nursing, medications and laboratory techniques. Write for details to Western Ontario Agricultural School, Ridgetown, Ontario.

Ann Landers

Member of Family Molests Little Girls

DEAR ANN LANDERS: We have just learned that a member of our family has molested every little girl he could get his hands on. All of us have been blind to his hideous ways and nobody suspected a thing. Parents warn their children about strangers, but who would think to warn children against a close relative?

ANN LANDERS

I became suspicious yesterday when my 8-year-old niece came running into the kitchen — a look of terror in her eyes. I asked what was wrong. She said, "I can't tell you. I promised," and began to cry. I finally dragged it out of her. I immediately called her mother and she was shocked. This relative always insisted on taking the little girls to movies or for a ride, one at a time — "to make them feel important." Each of us recalled a few incidents which at the time had no meaning. Suddenly the pieces fell together.

Our husbands are incensed and plan to see a lawyer about the best course of action. Please print my letter and alert the mothers in your reading audience to this danger. Also, any advice to prevent this sort of thing from happening would be very much appreciated. — NO NAME.

* * *

DEAR NO NAME: "This sort of thing" is more common than you think. The best safeguards are as follows:

Be alert for undue attention to both little boys and girls.

Always ask for a report on any and all outings. Be alert to signs of excess attention paid to a child by an older member of the family. If you have any suspicions, do not allow the child to be alone with the relative — ever.

* * *

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Six weeks ago my husband asked me if I would go to work for him. He owns a small machine shop and I am a bookkeeper and telephone girl. I turned him down.

We have four small children and good household help is hard to get. Also, I should be honest and tell you I don't particularly enjoy office work. Today I learned his wife took the ukely enjoy office work. Today I learned his wife took the ukely enjoy office work. Today I learned his wife took the job. I'm sure nothing out-of-the-way is going on. We are very much in love and I know too much about their past to think they are cosing it up. Furthermore, she has a boyfriend. Still, I don't like the idea of my husband and his ex-wife being together all day.

That job is beginning to look awfully good to me. How do I get it without looking like a jealous woman — which I am? — GREEN EYES.

* * *

DEAR EYES: Tell your husband you trust him implicitly but you'd feel better if he hired someone else.

Offer to do the books at home and come in part time to handle the phone. And start scouting around immediately for replacement.

Good Recipe for Coconut Squares

By MARY MOORE

When a little box arrives in the mail from a reader I open it with a wary eye. Sometimes limp pickles are inside with a note saying, "These pickles shrivelled. Where did I go wrong?" Today's mail brought a box containing a Saran-wrapped square and a note: "I hope you can give me a clue how to make these as we are fond of them". Hilda M. G. had bought it at a local bakery. It was a 2 x 1" bar with soft pastry top and bottom and cake batter containing raisins and coconut between and I could taste and smell a delicate almond flavor and aroma.

I was nonplussed. My friend in need Home Economist sister Peady burst through the door as I was contemplating this challenge. Together we sat down and picked it apart and each of us wrote out the ingredients of both parts of the square as we guessed at them. Then we made and baked and tasted them. They were good and a pretty fair facsimile of the tiny sample.

I decided lots of you would like them too. So here are the squares for Hilda M. G.

PASTRY ENCRUSTED COCONUT CAKE SQUARES
(will freeze)

Pastry:
2 cups sifted all-purpose flour
2 tablespoons icing sugar
1 teaspoon salt
two thirds cup shortening
3 tablespoons butter
1 tablespoon ice cold water

Batter:
3 eggs
1 cup sugar
½ cup plus 2 tablespoons all-purpose flour
¼ teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon baking powder
1½ cups desiccated coconut (divided — see below)
½ cup light raisins
1 teaspoon almond extract
1 egg (for brushing top)
fruit sugar (for sprinkling top)

To make Pastry cut butter and shortening into flour, salt, and icing sugar with pastry blender until size of peas. Drizzle cold water over tossing with fork. Press into ball between palms. Divide in half. Roll out one half to fit 9x9" square pan with a little surplus to line sides. Roll out second half to fit top and reserve it.

To make Batter break 3 eggs into beater bowl, add sugar and beat for 5 to 10 minutes or until very fluffy and increased to double volume. Remove beaters. Sift together flour, salt and baking powder and sift over egg mixture and fold in. Fold in 1 cup of the coconut and the almond extract. Pour over pastry in pan. Sprinkle remaining ½ cup coconut and raisins evenly over top. Cover with second half of pastry. If it does not fit exactly do not worry. Beat the 1 egg with 1 tablespoon cold water to mix and brush top with it all over. Sprinkle lightly with icing or fruit sugar. Bake at 425 deg. Fahr. for 10 min. then reduce heat to 375 deg. and bake 20 to 25 min. longer — about 35 min. in all. Cool in pan and cut into 2 x 1" squares.

Mother: "You'll have a good time there. There are lots of boys in the playroom and the nurses will give you ice cream for lunch."

Don't mislead a child who is to be hospitalized by painting a picture that's too rosy. Help him understand what is happening and that it is necessary. He'll be able to accept discomfort and pain if you encourage him to do so.

Robards Sets Scene

NEW YORK (AP) — The Spain about which Ernest Hemingway wrote romantically and hauntingly was shown with perception and great beauty in an ABC special program Monday night.

A travelogue, perhaps, but it was disguised handsomely by the technique of quoting descriptive passages while the camera's eye travelled the mountain, village street or vista as if seen by the author as he wrote.

With Jason Robards setting the scenes from Hemingway's books and with Rod Steiger reading the prose warmly, the program often had a poetic quality.

First—and typical of the whole—there was the story of the hero's death blowing up the bridge in For Whom the Bell Tolls. We saw the bridge and the trees, serene in summer sunlight as Steiger's quiet voice told the story of men and death in civil war.

Through all the hour, Hemingway's — and Spain's — preoccupation with death ran like a major theme. And, since bull fighting was Hemingway's passion and the subject of some of his most vivid writing, much of the program focused on the animals.

Although the narrator explained that it was not a sport but an enactment of a tragedy and although the camera showed the grace and daring of a celebrated matador, a bull ring sequence climaxed by the killing of a bleeding, bewildered animal was an unpleasant experience for some viewers.

The quiet parts—when there was beautiful camera work to see and some of Hemingway's best prose being read—were the best.

Earlier, NBC showed a half hour animated version of the Babar the Elephant stories, narrated by Peter Ustinov who used a wide variety of voices and accents.

This was strictly for the young viewers, a simple, imaginative animal story. The animation, while rather primitive, were carbons of the drawings in the original De Brunhoff books.

NBC moved into a slim lead in the Nielsen ratings race in a report on programs shown between Oct. 7 and 13. NBC built up a rating of 18.1, with CBS—a head in earlier weeks—second with 18.5, and ABC, 15.2.

Top 10 programs were, in order: NBC's Rowan and Martin's Laugh-In, CBS's Mayberry R.F.D., NBC's Julia, CBS's Gomer Pyle and Family Affair, NBC's Bonanza, CBS's Here's Lucy, movie review Glass Bottom Boat and Beverly Hillbillies and NBC's Ironside.

Turbine for Trucks

This British gas turbine engine can develop up to 400 horsepower, yet weighs under 1,000 pounds — half the weight of a comparable diesel engine. Shown at a recent motor show in London, it was developed by British Leyland Motor Corp. It can operate in the 40-ton truck range at speeds around 70 miles an hour. Engine life expectancy is about 12,000 operating hours, the equivalent of 300,000 or more miles. (CP Photo)

Forest Reserves Limited

MONTREAL (CP) — Canada is not a country of boundless forest resources as a commonly believed, Don Lockhart, general manager of the Canadian Lumbermen's Association, told a federal housing inquiry Monday.

Mr. Lockhart said the building industry faces serious lumber shortages and offered th's as a reason for rising prices in building materials.

He was answering a question from inquiry chairman Paul Hellyer, minister responsible for housing, who wanted to know why the price of wood had risen "scandalously" in recent months.

Mr. Lockhart said it was wrong to believe that Canada has inexhaustible supplies of timber. "You must associate price increases with the current shortage of wood."

The brief submitted by the lumbermen's association recommended a complete overhaul of the tax structure to eliminate the 11 per cent federal sales tax on building materials. The brief also said municipalities will one day have to look more favorably than they now do upon factory-built homes.

Addition to Hillcrest Public School --Part of A New Concept in Education

By HARRY MULHALL
Staff Reporter

These days, youngsters at Hillcrest school have a new distraction at playground recess.

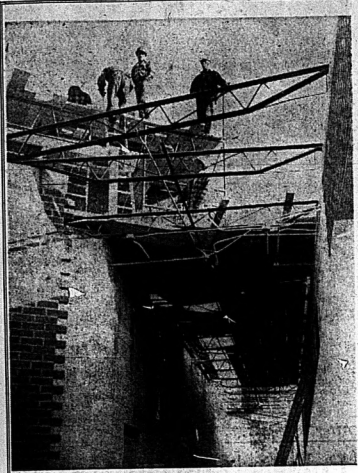
The works program— an addition to the school — also is being viewed expectantly by adults, with hopes the project may prove an exciting new venture in local education.

It's plainly to be seen the Hillcrest addition is something different. Its octagonal outline contrasts abruptly with the standard square design of the older school building.

It's a pilot project, introducing Belleville to an educational scheme already in vogue in many urban — and some rural — teaching areas.

The building is designed for what school authorities call open - area instruction — grouping several classes on common ground.



This is in sharp contrast to accepted practice. One teacher, one classroom — each instructor operating in a self-contained unit.

Among its benefits: It permits three teachers to work together in one place, sharing responsibilities.

The Hillcrest addition began in June. But the youngsters still will have their exciting recess distractions for a while yet.

Present deadline for completion is January.

Airmen Compete In Para-jumps

TRENTON — The noise of planes filled the air at Mountain View this morning, as 15 of Canada's top para-jumpers competed in the annual competition for Canadian Forces Bases across Canada.

The action began at nine o'clock with Lieut. Col. F. M. Murphy, Commander of 425 Squadron at CFB Trenton, officially opening the jumping tournament.

Conditions were described as fairly good by a base spokesman. The winds were almost negligible and except for a slight chill in the air, jumping conditions could be described as very good.

Eighteen live jumps were made, but as yet, points have not been totalled. It is expected that later this evening, after the afternoon sea rescue dropping that points will be totalled and a leader for the day's activities will be established.

The five teams from across Canada will be looking at the ground from 2,000 feet up for the rest of the week. On Friday, all points will be totalled and Brigadier General D. R. Adamson, chief of staff, will present winning trophies.

Police Still Seek Hit, Run Driver

Belleville city police are still following leads every day in their search for a blue station wagon which struck down two 15-year-old girls on Bridge St. west lat Friday night.

Linda Oliver and Madelaine Bates, both of 73 Highland Ave. were taken to Belleville General Hospital with injuries.

Both girls said it was a blue station wagon that hit them, apparently not new, but that was all the information they could give police.

Sgt. Ralph Petrie said this morning that every lead is being followed up.

"We are getting many phone calls from the public who have read the paper and heard radio broadcasts telling us about blue wagons."

"Each report is being followed up as soon as possible," he said, "but so far we still don't have much to go on."

The girls were struck on Bridge St. West near Cedar St.

Any help that the citizenry can give the Belleville police in their search for the car, is welcomed, said Sgt. Petrie.

Students Tour Niagara

Last week, two bus loads of grade 10 Centennial students spent a day in Ottawa and listened in to a lively Parliamentary debate involving John Diefenbaker.

The field trips are financed in part by the $1 per student allocated to each school for the purpose by the board of education, and in part by the students themselves.

Convention Speakers

Mrs. Dorothy E. Banting, principal of a Barrie public school, A. G. McKay, superintendent of Barrie public schools, and Dr. Joan E. Bowers, provincial supervisor of special education were speakers at the teachers' convention held in Murray Centennial School Monday. About 190 teachers from Sidney, Thurlow Frankford, Batawa, Ameliasburg and Murray township heard lectures on the continuous progress plan in education, open schools and child dcvelopment.

naut to make three orbital trips - and says it is his last. At 45, he says, he is too old to wait two or three years for another flight.

Schirra's last hurrah was as good as his first 4½ all of which were perfect missions. His sigma 7 Mercury flight in 1963 was classed as the first "textbook" flight in the U.S. program. In 1965 he piloted Gemini 6 to an historic rendezvous with Gemini 7.

The voyage, during which the astronauts described Apollo 7 as a "magnificent flying machine," covered 163 circuits of the globe and 4,500,000 miles.

It was history's second longest man-in-space flight, following Gemini 7's 14 days. It ranks first in total man hours in space —330 for the three men, more than 534 logged by all nine Soviet cosmonaut flights. It raised total U.S. man-hours in space to 2,774.

A Soviet ship equipped with radar and other electronic devices was near the landing area, presumably to gather re-entry and landing data. The navy identified it as the converted trawler Ekholog and said it also was nearby when Apollo 7 rocketed away from Cape Kennedy Oct. 11.

There has not been a Soviet man-in-space shot since Col. Vladimir Komarov died during re-entry from orbit April 24, 1967.

The three started their return to earth at 6:42 a.m. by firing a blast from their spacecraft motor 263 miles above the Pacific Ocean. It slowed their 17,500 mile-an-hour speed by 300 miles and enabled earth's gravity to take hold and tug them out of orbit.

"We're burning right on the mark," Schirra reported as the engine flashed to life, starting Apollo 7 on a 30-minute glide that dug deeper into the atmosphere as the ship headed for its landing target.

Searing heat of up to 5,000 degrees Fahrenheit blistered the craft on its downward plunge, but the temperature in the heat shield-protected cabin remained a comfortable 70 degrees.

When the cabin section separated as planned from its equipment section about two minutes after the engine burn, Schirra commented on the jolt: "It's a slap in the face."

"Tell the carrier we'll be coming down his stack," Schirra said.

"We're flying a pink cloud," Schirra added as re-entry heat began to glow on the craft.

During the most severe part of re-entry, forces about three times normal gravity pressed the astronauts back against their couches as they flew heads-down to keep an eye on the horizon.

The main parachutes opened at about 10,000 feet to drop the spacecraft through cloudy skies into the gentle three-foot Atlantic waves.

The wheels are down and locked," Schirra reported in Navy parlance as the astronauts dropped to a landing.

In pushing man's exploration of space to new horizons, Schirra, Eisele and Cunningham proved the Apollo ship can fly to the moon and set the stage for a possible around-the-moon flight on Christmas Day by the three-man Apollo 8 crew headed by Col. Frank Borman.

As Schirra, Cunningham and Eisele swept into their final hours in orbit, they thanked the ground crews at many of the worldwide tracking stations.

In a conversation with Eugene Krant, a flight controller at the Mission Control centre in Houston, Schirra said:

"We want to thank you and the team for the good show. It was a real professional job."

Cunningham added: "We think this is a magnificent flying machine. But we couldn't have done it without the magnificent job of you people on the ground."

Soviet Coach Clutches Crying Towel

"It is unfair to hold the Games at this altitude," said the bespectacled, round-faced Korobkov, whose teams have battled the United States for athletic supremacy for more than a decade.

"Most of the world lives downstairs. They hold the Olympics upstairs. The Games are thrown out of balance."

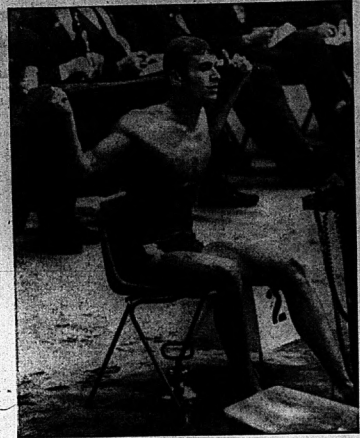
The normally powerful Russians were something of a dud in the track and field competition in this city 7,400 feet above sea level. Their over-all performance was matched by tiny Kenya.

The Soviet women, who have dominated field events in the past, failed to win a single gold medal. The men won three golds, one silver and three bronze.

The United States, on the other hand, collected 12 golds in men's track and field, five silvers and seven bronze, while the women won three golds and a silver.

The Kenyans, with only 35 track and field athletes, won three gold medals, four silvers and two bronzes.

Korobkov, a big, pleasant man who speaks English well, said the African nations are improving because of their new freedom and social structure.



The Soviet coach said the Kenyans' outstanding showing is due to the fact that athletes come from high altitudes.

"The Russians, for instance, always have been strong in distance events and those requiring stamina and strength. We naturally suffered here. It did not hurt the Americans so much. They are better in short speed races."

"You won 12 black medals—I mean gold-colored medals—and we won three white ones," he told an American reporter.

"It was not a slip of the tongue but a wry reference to the superiority of American Negro athletes. "The American black men are the best runners in the world," Korobkov conceded. "It will take a long time to catch them."

Korobkov said the Russians began rebuilding their team after the Tokyo Olympics four years ago.

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — Leroy (Satchel) Paige, a baseball pitching legend whose age is believed to be beyond 60, was removed from the Atlanta Braves' active roster Monday and made a coach. The Braves signed Paige last summer saying they wanted to help him complete the 158 days on a major league roster necessary for him to qualify for baseball's minimum pension. However, he never pitched in a National League game for Atlanta. Players can qualify for the pension either on the field, on the coaching staff, as a manager or as a trainer.

TORONTO (CP) — An additional $20,000 is needed to send the Canadian team to the Wheelchair Olympics near Tel Aviv Nov. 4-13, the president of the Canadian Wheelchair Association said Monday. Dr. Robert Jackson of Toronto said he hopes the necessary funds can be raised by donations. It will cost about $40,000 to send the team of 18 men and six women to the Games at Ramat Gan, Israel.

It broke apart and Martin, who remained inside his safety roll cage and the restraining harness, was thrown several feet from the car.

Waples, 44, won by 4¾ lengths with Bombay in the third race and Lota Bomb in the ninth. Only seven other drivers have reached the 2,000-win mark. Meanwhile, Ron Pierpoint is within $2,100 of the $1,000,000 mark in career purse earnings with a first-race win with Homer Hy.

SAN JOSE, Calif. (AP) — Tommie Smith and John Carlos, the sprinters expelled from U.S. Olympic team after a Black Power demonstration on the award stand, have returned home, grim and silent. Neither Smith, who won the 200-metre race in Mexico City last week in world record time, nor Carlos, who came third, would answer any questions in Los Angeles, where they arrived from Mexico City Monday, or here. They are considering a lawsuit against the U.S. Olympic Committee. Smith, who ran the 200 metres in 19.8 seconds, two-tenths under his own world mark, and Carlos saluted with black gloves during the award ceremony and stared at the ground during the playing of the U.S. national anthem.

NHL Expansion Clubs Finding Things Tougher

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Players and coaches of Gordie Howe's expansion teams in the National Hockey League probably would like to turn the clock back a year.

When the NHL expanded to 12 teams from six last season, everyone thought the established teams would subject the expansion teams to all kinds of indignities.

But it just didn't work out that way. The Western Division of expansion clubs won 40 games and tied 18 against Eastern Division opposition in the 144 interlocking games.

This season, however, the established teams appear determined to shop their superiority. In 13 interlocking contests, the Western Division has only two wins and two ties.

Tonight's schedule gives the Western Division teams a chance to improve upon their record. There is only one game on the program and that involves two expansion teams, with Oakland Seals visiting Minnesota North Stars.

Four games are scheduled for Wednesday night, all of them interlocking. Montreal Canadiens visit Los Angeles Kings, St. Louis Blues are at Toronto against the Maple Leafs, Oakland meets the Rangers in New York and Chicago Black Hawks face the Penguins at Pittsburgh.

Expansion clubs likely will finish the season with pathetic records if they continue their lack of success against Eastern Division clubs.

This season, each Western Division team plays each Eastern Division team six times. Last season there were only four interlocking games with each club in the other division.

Mikita Chases Third In Row

MONTREAL (CP) — Stan Mikita, Chicago Black Hawks all-star centre, is off to an early start in his bid to capture his third consecutive National Hockey League scoring title and become only the second player in league history to accomplish the feat.

Mikita earned eight points in Chicago's three games last week, and statistics released by the NHL today show him as the early scoring leader with 12 points on three goals and nine assists.

He has won the Art Ross Trophy as the league's top pointgetter four of the last five seasons and scored the other title in 1958-59 would duplicate the accomplishment of Gordie Howe, Detroit Red Wings' great right winger. Howe won eight straight titles in the early 1950s and no one else has won three straight.

The Hawks so far have four wins and one loss in their first five starts to share first place in the Eastern Division with Boston Bruins, dominate the top 10 names in the scoring race this week.

Chicago defenceman Pat Stapleton has 10 points on one goal and nine assists, while right-winger Jim Pappin, obtained by Chicago from Toronto Maple Leafs, is the league's top goal-scorer with six. Pappin has added two assists for his eight points.

"Diplomacy" In a Basket

The basis to judge Canada's basketball comedians, the Harlem Diplomats, will be a Quinte Secondary School squad composed of teachers and senior ball players.

Teachers turned-ball players will be: Bob Dunn, Wally Uhrynuk, Steve Wilson and Barry Fraser. Augmenting this quartet will be senior players Steve McKeown, Paul King, Eric Emerson, John Myvaert, Doug Shorey, Leo Baker, Mike Finnigan and Wayne Castleman.

Officials for the Diplomats' first Belleville performances will be Moira's Gord Smith and Quinte's own Rick Locke.

The contest is a fund-raising project of the Quinte Secondary School's Boys' Athletic Association.

Albert Feet Falter

Albert College won one game in the Ontario Intercollegiate Soccer Tournament held at Newmarket on Saturday. Competing in Division D the local kickers lost 3-1 to Saugeen of Port Elgin, and entered the consolation round. In this round Albert defeated Pickering College 2-0, but lost the Division D consolation final to Collingwood by a score of 2-1.

Teams from 32 Southern secondary schools competed in four divisional championships. The winners of each class were declared Ontario Champions.

Pollock Lost to CAHA

WINNIPEG (CP) — Lloyd Pollock of Windsor, Ont., has resigned as president of the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association.

In a statement issued by the CAHA's national office here, the association's past president, Fred Page of Vancouver, said he had received the resignation Monday with "deep regret."

Pollock's resignation was said to be for business reasons.

"It is with great regret that I resign the office of president," Pollock was quoted as saying in the statement.

"Through the years I have enjoyed many fine, and I hope lasting, friendships through my association with amateur hockey, and will continue to remain most interested in the greatest team sport in the world."

Pollock served 15 years as an executive member, vice-president, president and past president of the Ontario Hockey Association before becoming second vice-president of the CAHA in 1964. He was first vice-president of the association in 1966 and became president this year.

The statement said Pollock found it too difficult to carry out the responsibilities of president because of business reasons, and that a few months ago his position in business life had been changed from Windsor to Chatham.

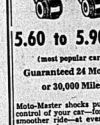
Awards Announced

HAMILTON (CP) — Larry Fairholm of Montreal Alouettes and Toronto Argonaut lineman Dave Knechtel Monday were named winners of two 1968 Canadian football awards.

Fairholm was chosen winner of the Eastern Conference sportsmanship award and Knechtel was named outstanding rookie.

Fairholm, 26-year-old defensive back, won the Jeff Russel Memorial Trophy as the EFC player who possesses the "highest qualities of courage, fair play and sportsmanship". The award commemorates Jeff Russel, a former Montreal player killed in a 1926 hydro accident.

Knechtel, a 230-pound defensive tackle and a native of Kitchener, came to Argonauts from Waterloo Lutheran University.



Both awards were earned on a vote of EFC sports officials.

Needy of Speed ?

Mo-Hawk "Kid Line" Could Pack Punch

By MAURICE SWITZER
Sports Editor

Belleville Mo-Hawk opposition in upcoming Senior "A" encounters may find themselves confronting what might be called an experiment in speed.

For the past several Mo-Hawk practices, playing-coach Davey Jones has been working a line comprised of centre George Godson, right-winger Wayne McConnell, and left-side man Ron Riley.

"I'm toying with the idea of playing the kids together, but I want to let them get deeper in practice a bit longer before I decide anything definite," says Jones.

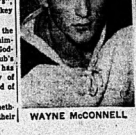
The "Kid Line" would, in effect, place the three youngest, and fastest members of this year's Mo-Hawk lineup on the ice together.

Godson, playing his second season with the club at 23, is the undisputed "fancy dan" of the Mo-Hawks. Making the trek from Peterborough for Mo-Hawk games since signing with the club's steer their first game, the lightweight (5'-7", 155 pounds; centre has already been the playmaker on a number of important Belleville goals.

With four years' junior hockey experience in Peterborough and one IHL season at Muskegon under his suspenders Godson came to the Mo-Hawks last year and finished the dish last year and finished third in and 22 assists.

Although only 22, right winger Wayne McConnell is a charter member of the Mo-Hawks entering his third year with the club. The six-foot, 165-pound Picton native appears finally to be playing up to his senior hockey potential, and goals in each of last weekend's Mo-Hawk victories came at a critical time in the young, up - to - then, disappointing season for the club.

McConnell's two-year Mo-Hawk production has totalled 25 points, 17 of them goals.



The trio's heavyweight member is Ron Riley, a 20-year-old BCI grads (a student who hails from Montreal. Wearing Mo-Hawk red and white for the first time, Riley saw some service in a couple of winters ago with the Quinte McFarland Jr. "B"s", and has played Jr. "A" hockey in Montreal and London.

At 6' and 180 pounds, the hustling left winger finds himself the beefy allex of the Godson line sandwich. In the club's four games to date, Riley has appeared anything but shy of the rough-house senior brand of hockey.

Coach Jones isn't sure whether the Kid Line will make their debut in this weekend's important pair of Mo-Hawk encounters — Friday night at home against Barrie's league-leading Flyers, and a Sunday road game in Orillia — but he's definite about one thing — "they'll have plenty of time to play together."

Medal-less Canadians Stand 29th in Games

MEXICO CITY (CP) — Ralph Hutton of Ocean Falls, B.C., who says he would rather swim than walk, helped push Canada's freestyle team to fourth place in the men's 800-metre relay final at the Olympic Games, missing a medal by only 1.8 seconds.

Stephen Tupper of Vancouver sailed his yacht Mia IV through seven races in the nine-day regatta at Acapulco and placed fourth in the final standing of the Dragon class.

Thirty-five countries have at least one medal with 96 of 172 events completed. But Canada still is looking for its first.

However, the Canadian team has surpassed its points performance of the Rome Olympics eight years ago. At Rome, Canada garnered only 11 points but had one medal—a silver by the University of British Columbia eights.

In the 1968 Games, Canada has 14 points—nine in swimming, four in yachting and one in shooting, good for a 29th-place tie with Tunisia among 45 countries who have scored a point or more.

In the 1964 Games, Canada finished 26th among 55 with 40 points and four medals—a gold in rowing, two silver in track and judo and a bronze in rowing.

Swimming coach George Gate of Montreal said the freestylers took the loss in the 800 hard. "Each boy is blaming himself." But Gate insisted "we're in this league. Only three countries in the world can beat these boys.

"But we're thin. We are a shoestring operation. We are one of the smallest teams and one of the top swimming powers. We have to overload our swimmers."

The United States won two of the three swimming finals including the 800 Monday and added two more gold in the Dragon and Star yachting classes. Russia won two gold in the team sabre fencing and the Finn yachting.

The Americans lead the Russians in medals 66 to 39 and in the gold column have a 28-to-13 edge.

In team points, the U.S. has more than a 200-point lead over the Soviet Union with a total of 527 points.

France swept four of the five cycling golds and is third in gold with seven. Britain and Australia moved into top seven, along with East Germany and Japan, each with four gold.

Britain did well in the yachting and equestrian events and Australia won its second swimming gold of the Games.

Britain won a medal in the equestrian Three-Day Event for the first time since the 1936 Berlin Olympics, taking a team gold.

Jean-Jacques Guyon of France, riding Pitou, captured the individual gold in the gruelling event that combines dressage, cross-country riding and jumping over a three-day period.

The Canadian team was eighth and Robin Hahn, a 25-year-old farmer from Belle Plaine, Sask., was the top Canadian in the individual competition, placing ninth.

In yachting, Americans George Friedrich and Lowell North won gold in the Dragons and Stars respectively; Rodney Pattison of Britain won the Flying Dutchman fold, Ulf Sunderlin of Sweden the 5.5 metre and Russia's Mankin Alestin the Finn.

Canadian Flotilla Accounts for Four of Team's "Puny" 14-point Total

ACAPULCO, Mexico (CP) — Canada's yachtsmen once again have failed in their quest for Olympic medals—but they made things interesting in three of the five classifications.

Steve Tupper, 27, a Vancouver teacher, was fourth over-all in the Dragon class, and Stan Leibel, 41, president of a Toronto real estate firm, was sixth in the 5.5-metre group.

Bruce Kirby, an Ottawa-born Chicago magazine editor, was 15th over-all in the Star class and Paul Henderson, a Toronto engineer, 20th in the one-man Finn dinghies.

In years, of trying, Canada has only won two Olympic medals, a silver and a bronze back in 1932—the days of the big yachts which no longer are on the Olympics program.

All but one of the five gold medals here had been wrapped up Sunday, based on each competitor's best six races. The other gold, in Flying Dutchmen, was captured by Rodney Pattison and Iain MacDonald-Smith of Britain with a second-place finish in Monday's seventh race. Tupper was third.

The Britons had failed to clinch their medal earlier because they were disqualified on a protest by the Green brothers.

Ulf Libor and Peter Naumann of West Germany took the silver medal in the Dutchman and the bronze went to Conrad Reinaldo and Burchhard Cordes of Brazil.

The United States won two golds, in the Dragon and Star classes. The three Sundelin brothers of Sweden, ULF, Jorgen and Peter, captured the 5.5-metre competition and Russia's Valentin Mankin won the Finn gold.

Californian Lowell North was the winning Star-class skipper. Peder Lunde of Norway won the silver and Franco Cavallo of Italy the Bronze.

New Orleans stockbroker Buddy Friedrichs and his two-man crew got the Dragon gold. Although Friedrichs and North had clinched their medals Sunday, both raced Monday and placed first.

The Dragon runner-up was Aage Birch of Denmark, while the bronze medal went to Paul Borowski of East Germany.

Mankin won the final Finn race, although he had clinched his gold medal earlier. The silver medal went to Hubert Raudaschl of Austria and the bronze to Fabio Albarelli of Italy.

French Cavalryman Throws Party for Mount

"Pitou can have two meals tonight—or maybe three if he wants to," said the beaming cavalry officer.

Man and horse together had won the gruelling Three-Day Event in Olympic equestrian competition.

The Frenchman wound up with the individual gold medal while Britain grabbed the top team award in this initial event in the equestrian program at the 1968 Games.

The competition began last Friday, with 49 horses and riders starting out on a rugged test of skill involving dressage, a brutal cross-country endurance run Sunday, and show jumping Monday.

Thirty-five riders and steeds survived to the end, including the four Canadian starters.

Major Derek Allhusen of Britain took the individual silver medal and Michael Page of the United States the bronze.

Behind Britain, whose last team medal in this event was a bronze at the 1936 Games in Berlin, came the United States and Australia.

Despite a ninth-place individual showing by Robin Hahn, 35, a farmer from Belle Plaine, Sask., the Canadian team finished eighth and last in the team standings.

Guyon, 35, completed the three stages of competition with only 38.86 penalty points, to 41.61 for Allhusen and 52.31 for Page.

The British team had a substantial margin over the runner-up U.S. team, 175.93 penalty points to 245.87.

Norman Elder, a Toronto artist, finished 31st in the individual standings. Barry Sonshine from King City, Ont., 33rd and Allan Ehrlick of Toronto 35th and last among the survivors.

Czech Gymnast in Narrow Lead

MEXICO CITY (CP-AP) — Defending champion Vera Caslavska of Czechoslovakia held a slight individual lead and Russia owned a 5lim team advantage over the Czechoslovaks as the compulsory round was completed Monday in the Olympic women's gymnastics.

As expected, Miss Caslavska, winner of three gold medals in Tokyo in 1964, was hard pushed by Russia's Natalia Kuchinskaya and a surprise Soviet performer, Larisa Petrik.

Jenny Diachun of Toronto, only 15 years old, turned in the best performance of the five Canadians who competed in the compulsories, finishing 50th overall with 35.45 points.

A georgeous brownetie, Miss Diachun is one of Canada's medal hopes for the future.

"I was really nervous out there, especially during the floor exercises. I'm the 96-pound high school student who says she wants to become a physical education teacher.

Suzanne Cloutier, 21, of Ste. Therese de Blainville, Que., had 34.20 points. Teresa McDonnell, 14, of Toronto, 33.75 points and Marilynn Minaker,18, of Toronto, 33.65.

"I'm really satisfied with the way the team performed," said coach Marilyn Savage of Toronto.

"We don't have a hope of winning a medal during these Olympics, but we hope to end up about 10th place in the team standings. The 1972 Olympics are the ones we are aiming for. Girls like Jenny will give us the medals then."

Hungary Remains Unbeaten in Pool

MEXICO CITY (CP) — Hungary won its fifth water polo contest without a loss in the Olympic competition Monday, but at least five countries are riding close herd on the defending champions.

Russia, with a 4-1 record in A division, is pressing the Hungarians, while in B division Italy has five wins and a draw and East Germany, Yugoslavia and Holland all have 4-1-1 records.

Hungary dumped Brazil 8-2 Monday, Yugoslavia trounced Greece 11-1, Russia defeated the U.S. 8-3, Holland tied 3-3 with Italy, Japan defeated Mexico 5-3, Cuba edged Spain 4-3 and East Germany trounced Egypt 19-3.

There is also a close race in men's volleyball. Czechoslovakia is in front with a perfect five-win record, while Japan, Bulgaria and defending champion Russia are close with 4-1 records.

Czechoslovakia defeated Bulgaria 3-2 Monday, Russia outscored Japan 3-1, Poland blanked Brazil 3-0, Belgium edged Mexico 3-2 and East Germany blanked the U.S. 3-0.

In women's volleyball, defending champion Japan and Russia each have perfect five-win records. Russia defeated the U.S. 3-1 Monday. Japan was idle. In the only other game South Korea blanked Mexico 3-0.

To Your Good Health

Flatulence May Be Air Swallowing

By Dr. Joseph G. Molner

Dear Dr. Molner: For some time now I have been bothered by what I believe is "gas building" up in my system. I belch from morning until the time I go to bed without letup. This belching is a constant source of irritation not only to me but also to my co-workers who must sit and listen. I am hopeful that you will be able to offer a solution. — R. M.

Somebody once said something about answering a question with a question, so I'll ask you now: why? Why do you have the bubble-burp?

You call it a "gas build-up." Maybe it is. Maybe it isn't. But there has to be a reason.

Flatulence to the degree you describe could well be a matter of air swallowing. This is more common than is generally recognized — although it is common enough so that one research group even went to the lengths of gathering a group of chronic burpers, catching the "gas" that they burped, and analyzing it. It was plain air!

The air - swallower, you see almost never is aware of what he is doing it. He eats fast. He gulps his beverages. He is nervous and tense. When talking, he takes a little gulp of air and swallows it. When not talking, he is never at rest. Among the other constant movements he is making, he opens his mouth, takes a mouthful of air, tenses up, swallows. Swallows what? Air. Once he has swallowed a fistful of air, he burps. And starts over.

Now, Mr. R. M., I am not foolhardy enough to say that this is the reason for your objectionable belching. I'm just saying that it is one likely cause.

You have to inquire into the possibility of organic causes— gallbladder disease, stomach disorders (particularly a spastic stomach or one given to spasm), food allergies.

Your diet obviously annoys both you and your fellow workers. You want to get over it. Have your doctor check you over. He will justifiably want some X-ray studies before he can rule out physical possibilities. Some dietary history to decide whether food allergies are involved is in my opinion, equally wise.

If he can't find any organic reason for your "gas," then consider air-swallowing. It's usually the last thing a patient will consider, but very often the first that a doctor suspects, if the circumstances fit.

Friend R. M., are you a tense, conscientious individual? Do you have a "brain job" rather than a job demanding physical activity? Does your burping stop when you finally relax at bedtime? And not start again until after you've gotten up in the morning and begun wrestling with the day's problems? If so, give more than a passing thought to my suggestion that you may be an air-swallower, and learning to relax just a little and to slow down just a little m a y help you a lot.

* * *

Dear Dr. Molner: I wrote to you last fall to ask you about starch and is there any way to stop it? I eat it daily, but am sick of eating it. — A. J.

I don't know what makes people eat starch, but it is known that quite a few women get into the habit. Would I not be reasonable for me to turn the tables and ask: why do you eat starch?

Most people's daily food contains all the starch they need and usually more. Such odd cravings may mean a deficiency of some sort. Clay eaters need calcium; ice eaters were found to be anemic. You might benefit from a physical examination.

* * *

Dear Dr. Molner: Please explain the significance of a pelvic horseshoe kidney. What precautions should be taken?

— Mrs. B. V.

Horseshoe kidney is a malformation in which the kidneys in while the kidneys are joined at one point instead of being completely separate. There is little you can do about this, except that if infection is present prolonged treatment is essential.

Dr. Molner welcomes mail from reader mail, but regrets that, due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in his column whenever possible.

Overseas Sales Restrained

U. S. Economic Buoyance Pumps Up Canadian Exports

MONTEBELLO, Que. (CP) — Jean-Luc Pepin, federal industry, trade and commerce minister, says Canadian exports to the United States are up $1,200,000,000—or 25 per cent in 1968 to date.

He told the 25th annual meeting of the Canadian Export Association Monday night the dominant factor in Canada's strong export performance this year has been the "exceptional buoyance of the United States economy."

"Canada overseas exports are up only slightly this year compared with 1967—partly as a result of a smaller movement of wheat. In addition, severe demand restraint in Britain and external payments difficulties in Japan have restrained sales in Canada's two largest overseas markets."

About 150 representatives of export industry banking, transportation and government are attending the association's two-day convention which winds up tonight.

Mr. Pepin said Canada is well on its way to its largest merchandise trade surplus in post-war years. The surplus was expected to be $1,000,000,000.

He said "a further growth in Canada's exports within the range of five to 10 per cent should be a commendable achievement for the coming year."

During the first nine months of 1968, merchandise exports had reached $9,900,000,000 up $1,600,000,000 or 18.4 per cent from the same period last year.

Imports had risen by $811,000,000 or about 10 per cent, a slower pace which combined with the quick growth in exports would give a much-improved over-all balance on current transactions, thought to be still in a deficit position.

Mr. Pepin said about two-fifths of this year's export gain consists of automotive products. This gain results from the Canada-U.S. auto pact.

He also announced that parliamentary approval will be sought for the establishment of an export development corporation to administer, in succession to the Export Credits Insurance Corp., new and expanded facilities for export credits and credit insurance.

Mr. Pepin said he will ask Parliament to authorize the new corporation to insure Canadian investment in developments in tries against "certain non-commercial risks" both to encourage private participation in Canada's external aid effort and to improve the position of Canadian companies in world markets.

Parliamentary approval will also be sought for legislation to establish a corporation to handle the marketing of fresh water fish in the Prairie provinces, the Northwest Territories and possibly, in Northwestern Ontario.

"This is an export-oriented in dustry where investment holds significant possibilities for the betterment of the people, including many Metis and Indians, who are engaged in it."

Separatist Movement to Coalesce If Bourgault's RIN Dissolves

MONTREAL (CP) — Quebec's second-largest and pioneer separatist party will vote this weekend on whether to dissolve itself in a move that could lead to the unity of the province's once-disabled separatist forces.

Pierre Bourgault, leader of the Rassemblement pour l'Independance nationale, told a news conference Monday that delegates at the party's annual congress will be asked to vote on dissolution in favor of joining Rene Levesque's new Parti Quebecois.

If fusion is approved—and Mr. Bourgault expects it will be—it could add about 10,000 to the 20,000-member Parti Quebecois, born last week when Mr. Levesque's Mouvement souveraineté-association united with Gilles Gregoire's Ralliement nationale.

The RIN, a militant separatist movement when formed seven years ago, became a political party in 1965. It claims about 13,000 members, but many are believed to hold Parti Quebecois membership cards as well.

Mr. Bourgault said he is recommending fusion to avoid a split in the possible separatist vote which "could retard and even compromise the achieving of Quebec independence."

"Neither party alone can get the electoral majority, but maybe together we can do it," the separatist leader said.

In the 1966 provincial elections the RIN did not manage to seat a representative in the legislative assembly, but the party culled about seven per cent of the vote.

If RIN members decide to dissolve their party, it will open the way for a second round of talks on the subject of fusion with Mr. Levesque's political organization.

Negotiations last spring between Mr. Levesque's MSA and the RIN broke down largely over the problem of education rights.

The RIN always has supported a unilingual French-language policy for the planned republic. Mr. Levesque has said he will guarantee English-language education rights.

No conditions would be laid down for RIN entry into the new party if fusion was chosen.

Magistrate Has Misgivings Over Verdict in Case

MILTON, Ont. (CP) — A Halton County magistrate, sentencing a 21-year-old man to 15 years in prison on armed robbery and kidnapping charges, said Monday he had "grave misgivings" about whether a lone magistrate could adequately serve the ends of justice in cases involving psychiatric disorders.

Magistrate K. M. Langdon, sentencing Gary Wayne Bloye of Toronto, said it might be better for a panel of experts to deal with cases involving psychiatric disorders.

The court was told that a psychiatric report on Bloye, described as having superior intelligence, contained a history of anti-social behaviour and associations with alcoholics, drug addicts and prostitutes.

Bloye, a bartender, received 10 years for the armed robbery of a general store at nearby Hornby June 5 and five years consecutive for kidnapping Lucille Dlotokbali, 19, of Kitchener. He also drew two years concurrent for auto theft.

Defence counsel Peter McWilliams said Bloye was not a drug addict but was under the influence of drugs during the armed robbery. He said Bloye should not be sent to penitentiary, but should be committed to an Ontario Hospital for treatment and rehabilitation.

Magistrate Langdon said he had "no alternative" to pronouncing sentence on evidence of the psychiatric report. The report had state rehabilitation would be impossible because of Bloye's anti-social history.

Quebec Legislature Back In Session

QUEBEC (CP) — There will be a relatively new face on the Quebec legislative assembly when it resumes its work today after a 108-day summer adjournment.

Most salient change is in the ruling Union Nationale party, which will be led through the brief session of the 28th legislature by Premier Jean-Jacques Bertrand, successor to the late premier Daniel Johnson who died Sept. 26 at Manicouagan.

The legislature itself will have a new speaker in the person of Gerald Lebel, Union Nationale member for Riviere du Loup, who replaces Remi Paul.

Premier Bertrand has named Mr. Paul provincial secretary succeeding Yves Gabias, who has been given the new portfolio of financial institutions, companies and co-operatives.

More changes are in order after Dec. 4, day of two byelections in the ridings of Montreal-Notre - Dame - de - Grace and Bagot, the latter formerly represented by the late Mr. Johnson.

The Union Nationale party association in Bagot has named Education Minister Jean-Guy Cardinal as its candidate in the riding Mr. Johnson represented for 22 years.

The Notre-Dame-de-Grace riding was left vacant after Eric Kierans, finance and health minister in the former Liberal government of Jean Lesage, resigned from the provincial party following his election to the House of Commons as a Liberal June 25.

While Rene Lévesque will return to the legislature as independent member for Montreal-Laurier, he will also take his seat as leader of the separatist Parti Quebecois, born recently in Quebec City out of the merger of his Mouvement souveraineté-association and Gilles Gregoire's Ralliement national.

President Gets New Limousine

WASHINGTON (AP) — A long, black, glass-roofed limousine with the latest in bomb and bullet-proofing features, rolled into the White House grounds Monday to be the new U.S. presidential limousine for parades and ceremonies.

The specially-built Lincoln Continental was shown to President Johnson at the White House by Rodney W. Markley Jr., a Ford Motor Co. vice president.

Reports from Detroit have put the cost of the new limousine as high as $500,000, but spokesmen for both the secret service and Ford said that figure is completely out of line. They gave no figure of their own.

Jeane Dixon's Horoscope

For October 23

Your birthday today: You tend to walk through the coming year completely unaware of pitfalls on all sides. Life takes on theatre-like drama. Enjoy it fully, Today's natives are generally strong-willed, good-natured or humorous, but often misled by advisers.

ARIES (Mar. 21 — Apr. 19): Mobilize your resources for a move up. Deliberately check every detail as you go. New people in your life may turn out to be strong allies later. Romantic expressions thrive this evening.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 — May 20): Co-operation depends on your desire for it. You and your crew may add quite a bit to your capabilities by putting in a full day. This evening pursue affairs of the heart.

GEMINI (May 21 — June 20): Your skills — show them off today. The public sees you in a better light. Congenial family life is available now. Romantic interests are favored this evening.

CANCER (June 21 — July 22): There is a high premium on original thought today. Unexpected assistance arrives (if you are deeply involved). Press your personal creative enterprises, day and night.

LEO (July 23 — Aug. 22): Continue yesterday's line of action, but be cautious about possible misunderstandings at home. Most of the people around you are ready to respond in kind to whatever you propose. Speak right up!

VIRGO (Aug. 23 — Sept. 22): Personal fulfillment comes alive today as all around you there is exuberant response to your own emotion. Romantic interests are favored now.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 — Oct. 22): Confusion messes up some good luck in your life. On the course of some short trip you find a person or event that makes all the difference imaginable. The day: a happy one in general.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23—Nov. 21): Your ventures require more effort, as everybody gets distracted by their private lives. Affairs of the heart, however, do thrive both day and night.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 — Dec. 21): Minor miscalculations of time and place mar the otherwise perfect day. Business matters go smoothly. Romantic experiences are also favored.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 —Jan. 19): The time is propitious as your luck is going to build through the rest of the month. First your friends: be sure they understand what you want them to do.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20 — Feb. 18): Care pays off now — you start a ten-day campaign to improve earnings. Following well-confirmed principles is the best course. Your chosen friends provide a good base.

PISCES (Feb. 19 — Mar. 20): Self-improvement is your watchword. Travel if you can. Enlist the projects succeed best. Lovely nuances all around you in other people . . .

Sault Votes On Open Hearing

SAULT STE. MARIE, Ont. (CP) — City council Monday night voted in favor of open hearings for Lois Beckett, a female employee of the Sault Ste. Marie police department, if she wants it.

The hearings, scheduled to start Wednesday, are to determine Miss Beckett's rate of pay, her right to membership in the all-male police association and her right to wear a uniform.

The council's action resulted from a submission by a newly-formed women's rights group which collected 1,000 signatures to a petition asking for an open arbitration hearing.

Earlier, George Ferguson, a Toronto lawyer and chairman of the three-man arbitration board, said the issue of a public hearing will receive "full and careful consideration."

Mayor Alex Harry said people often take the position, the less publicity the better, but added that the hearing of Miss Beckett's complaints is likely to be an exception.

Miss Beckett's arbitrator at a commission hearing tonight will be Willard Esty, a Toronto lawyer. Lloyd J. Sadbury of Sudbury was nominated by the city, the police commission and the police association.

Arbitration was ordered in June by the Ontario Court of Appeals after Miss Beckett appealed a Supreme Court decision which dismissed her charges of discrimination because of sex.

Explanatory Note

By-Law No. 8580 is a by-law dealing with zoning in that part of the City of Belleville prior to annexation in January 1968. As zoning is at present in this area it appears that the Council has no control over the establishment of a use not listed in the section to those zones where it is listed. However, provision is made whereby uses can be established in "P" Districts provided certain criteria as set down in the public Health Act are met.

If and when an industry, carrying out a noxious use, wants to establish in the City, then no matter can be dealt on its merits and if approved, some category can be established permitting that certain noxious use; subject to regulations and requirements that will satisfy the safety of health of the surrounding people.

TAKE NOTICE THAT any person interested may within fourteen days after the date of this notice, file with the Clerk of the City of Belleville notice of his objection to the passing of the said By-law together with a statement of the grounds of such objection.

Dated at Belleville this 18th day of October, 1968

City Clerk.

Milroy Ends Civil War Testimony

OTTAWA, (CP) — The Commons external affairs committee hopes to finish its discussion of the Nigerian civil war today after it hears testimony from Maj.-Gen. William A. Milroy.

Gen. Milroy, Canada's representative on the international military observer team in Nigeria, is scheduled to appear before the 30-member committee investigating charges of genocide in the West African nation.

He returned from Lagos Monday.

Committee Chairman Ian Wahn (L—Toronto St. Paul's) said Monday night he believed Gen. Milroy will be the last witness before the committee writes its report to the Commons.

Before the committee is a motion that an all-party group of MPs go to Nigeria to see the situation first-hand.

In developments Monday:

1. Prime Minister Trudeau told the Commons the International Red Cross has not been able to get clearance for Canadian transport planes to fly relief supplies to the starving thousands in Biafra, the breakaway Nigerian province.

2. Defence Minister Leo Cadieux told Creditiste Leader Real Caouette in another Commons exchange that the 2,600 bottles of beer aboard one of the three Hercules carrying relief supplies was for 71 Canadian airmen. The reason—lack of drinking water in Nigeria.

3. Davis Lewis, the NDP parliamentary leader and Edward Broadbent (NDP—Oshawa-Whitby) met Mr. Trudeau to discuss the problem and then held a news conference to say that the Canadian government simply isn't interested in bringing the Nigerian war before the United Nations.

4. The external affairs committee met for 4½ hours to hear and question Dr. Cleyne Swabherd, an Edinburgh doctor who said the Red Cross ran into trouble flying supplies into Biafra because of red tape thrown up by Nigeria.

In the Commons, opposition MPs hurled a barrage of questions at Mr. Trudeau about the three Canadian Hercules aircraft which have been unable to get permission to bring tons of supplies into Biafra.

Mr. Trudeau replied that the government has expressed strong concern to Nigeria about the situation. But while the Red Cross was doing its best, there was no assurance the relief flights would be made.

Mr. Lewis suggested the planes be made available to the World Council of Churches but Mr. Trudeau said the government couldn't ask the Red Cross now to give up the planes.

Replying to Opposition Leader Stanfield, Mr. Trudeau said Nigeria is a friendly state and the government's position not to get involved in a civil war is the only realistic one it can take.

Mr. Lewis told his news conference he is not impressed with Canada's efforts to bring the civil war before the UN.

Mr. Broadbent, just returned from the UN General Assembly where he was a Canadian observer, said 10 African countries and some European countries would support a Canadian move to bring the matter to the UN.

Dr. Shepherd, who has worked 12 years as a medical doctor in Nigeria, most of it in territory now held by the rebel Biafran forces, said he thought Canada should work just as hard to bring relief supplies to Biafra as it should to bring about a ceasefire.

He said some elements in Nigeria and he pinpointed peered to have genocide as a policy for Biafra.

It would take several years of medical work after a ceasefire to repair the damage to the people there, he said. It would be up to 20 years before Biafran hospitals and other buildings were brought back to pre-war levels.

Onassis Yacht on Recent Visit to New York

Honeymooners Await End Of Mediterranean Storm

ATHENS (AP) — Caroline and John Kennedy headed back to New York and school today, but bad weather still kept their mother's honeymoon yacht tied alongside her Greek stepfather's island.

The children were expected to leave Athens today for London and possibly spend a day or two there with their mother's sister, Princess Lee Radziwill.

It was assumed they would set out on his palatial yacht soon for pleasanter points. But the storm that raged through their wedding Sunday on Skorpios Island kept up through Monday and into Tuesday.

The wedding guests flew to Athens Monday and spent the night in a downtown Athens hotel.

The homeward-bound group also included the only adult members of the Kennedy family who attended the wedding, two of the late President's sisters, Mrs. Stephen Smith and Mrs. Peter Lawford.

At the Vatican, an official comment was made on the wedding of the Roman Catholic Mrs. Onassis to a divorced member of the Greek Orthodox Church.

Denying a report by an Athens newspaper that an accord had been made by the Orthodox patriarchate of Istanbul for Roman Catholic approval of the marriage, Rt. Rev. Msgr. Fausto Vallaine the Vatican press spokesman, declared:

"Jacqueline Kennedy has reached the age of reason—that is, to be able to know what she wants. She knew at the moment of her marriage with Onassis what the Catholic Church's law was on marriage with a divorced man."

"Mrs. Kennedy is not a child and therefore she must know perfectly well what are the laws of her church," he said.

"Therefore if she is not a child and not out of her mind she must have known that she could not legally marry Mr. Onassis."

Msgr. Vallaine denied categorically that there was collusion between the Roman Catholic and Greek Orthodox Churches to get around Onassis's divorce.

"The Roman Catholic Church is a serious institution and it cannot change its laws for private individuals," he said.

Onassis is a member of the Greek Orthodox Church, and a priest from the church officiated at the wedding Sunday at his Ionian Sea island of Skorpios.

The church's canon law forbids such marriages for Roman Catholics under penalty of excommunication from the church. Priest-lawyers in Rome who interpret canon law said the new Mrs. Onassis incurred this penalty—which bars her from the sacraments—and would have to go through a long legal process if she hopes to gain Vatican approval of her marriage so she can re-enter full Catholic life.

City Tenants' Rights Law Advocated

MONTREAL (CP) — The federal housing inquiry wound up a hectic day late Monday listening to a barrage of complaints from citizen groups opposed to urban renewal.

After spending close to 12 hours listening to a dozen recommendations, the inquiry was told developers should keep hands off so-called deprived areas.

Four local tenants' associations expressed fears over having their properties expropriated to make way for urban renewal projects.

Joseph Baker, an architect and spokesman for the Liaison Committee of the City of Westmount, said expropriation should be used sparingly "when everything else has failed.

"By very, very careful of destroying old buildings, especially when they can be repaired and can go on being used for years," he said.

His feelings were echoed by Ronald Moores, spokesman for the Jeanne Mance Citizens Committee, who said that people in his "older area" of Montreal "lived there because they liked it."

"A lot of people don't like stereotyped high-rise buildings. . . ."

"What we need in this city is a city tenants' rights law similar to a law already in existence in Michigan," he said.

Mr. Moores said tenants he had interviewed were opposed to having "the sun blotted out by skyscrapers."

Al Fisher, who represented the Westmount Tenants Association, asked: "Why should a man who has lived in his house 35 years have to give it up?"

"And having given it up, why should he have to fight to get properly paid for it?"

The Committee of Bots St. Martin said that if renewal had to take place it should be done after consultation with the people involved.

In earlier briefs the housing inquiry was told that "true housing reform would come about if property taxation were applied to the value of land sites, not the value of buildings.

Harry Payne, research officer for the Canadian research committee on taxation, said site value taxation is designed to discourage land speculation and encourage development.

This form of taxation would also prove a deterrent to slum landlords, who often take excessive profits from run-down properties because these are relatively lightly taxed, he said.

Albert Gagnon, past president of the Montreal and District Home Builders Association, said the rising costs of building could be reduced if the federal government guaranteed contractors minimum loans for the financing of year-round projects.

Kenneth Cross, vice-president of the Alcan Design Homes Ltd. said there would be a rebate on the 11-per-cent federal sales tax on building materials to stimulate house construction.

All seven inquiry members, including Transport Minister Hellyer, the chairman, attended Monday's session.

The inquiry ends its mission here Tuesday with a tour of Montreal's two public housing schemes—the Jeanne Mance Habitation project and the Bots St. Martin. The inquiry goes to Winnipeg Oct. 28 and Regina Oct. 29.

And the Tax Goes Up

Budget Steps

Finance Minister E. J. Benson descends stairs in House of Commons Tuesday to present his budget.

News Briefs

QUEBEC (CP) — The third session of the 28th legislature resumed Tuesday with introduction of a bill to establish a provincial immigration department. Premier Jean-Jacques Bertrand noted in introducing the immigration bill that the majority of Quebecers are French-speaking and said the new department will attract immigrants "better adapted to the French culture."

* * *

TORONTO (CP) — The provincial Liberal caucus will meet with Ontario members of the federal caucus in Ottawa Nov. 13 in an effort to improve liaison between the two groups, Ontario Liberal Leader Robert Nixon said Tuesday night. "We are determined that the exchange of ideas on a continuing basis is the only way to protect the taxpayers' interest in future and to secure effective government," Mr. Nixon said in an Interview.

* * *

KITCHENER, Ont. (CP) — University of Waterloo students, tired of the university's refusal to give them control of the campus centre, slept in the campus director's office for the second consecutive night Tuesday.

B-B Leak Disloyalty -Gagnon

MONTREAL (CP) — Jean-Louis Gagnon, co-chairman of the royal commission on bilingualism and biculturalism, said Tuesday leaks of parts of a forthcoming report by the commission were due to "disloyalty" on the part of "one or more employees of the commission."

Mr. Gagnon said in an interview an excerpt from the third part of the commission's report, Tuesday was authentic

The excerpt, dealing with "economical aspects of the two cultures," stated that French-Canadians were virtually excluded from the upper echelons of big business.

One of its main conclusions was that French-Canadian industry does not measure up to other industry in terms of productivity, markets and wages.

Deficit Irks PCs

OTTAWA (CP) — Conservative Leader Robert L. Stanfield accused the government Tuesday night of deceiving the Canadian people on the size of its deficit.

His reaction to Finance Minister Edgar Benson's tax-raising budget earlier in the evening was one of the sharpest among opposition critics, although others described the budget as "vicious" and "idiotic."

Mr. Stanfield said he was "shocked" by Mr. Benson's admission the country had a budget deficit this fiscal year of $675,000,000.

"We knew the people had been badly deceived before, when the —revised—estimates were tabled. Now a deficit of some $600,000,000 is forecast for this year."

The new taxes, on top of the increase imposed last winter, would put a heavy burden on the people.

"And we are in a position of continued inflation, too much unemployment, higher taxes and, of course, gross deception on the part of the government through the winter and through the election campaign.

"All in all, I'd say it's a mess."

While Conservatives concentrated on the size of the deficit, Max Saltsman, the NDP financial critic, criticized the government for not spurring the economy to deal with unemployment.

He said the government's budget-balancing drive was "almost certain" to lead to a recession.

Conservative financial critic Marcel Lambert, the only opposition member to speak in the Commons after Mr. Benson's budget speech, said Canadian taxpayers were being required to make up a "horrendous" deficit.

In his Commons speech, Mr. Lambert called the budget savage. Outside the House he tagged it as vicious.

The "idiotic" label came from Mr. Saltsman as he took an opposite stand from Mr. Lambert by opposing Mr. Benson's move toward a balanced budget.

Despite the size of the deficit, Canada has the highest unemployment rate in recent times, he said.

Hees Asks PM Heed McLuhan

OTTAWA (CP) — Conservatives twitted the government in the Commons Tuesday about the seminars communications adviser Marshall McLuhan is conducting with cabinet ministers and Liberal party officials.

Gerald W. Baldwin, Conservative House leader, suggested that the best way for the government to communicate with Canadians is for ministers to reply to questions in the Commons.

George Hees (PC—Prince Edward-Hastings) asked what Prime inister Trudeau's problem la in the delay of appointment of a new president for Air Canada.

Mr. Trudeau laughed but made no reply.

Tax Change Dates Set For Budget

Oct. 25—Estate tax changes exempting all amounts left to a surviving spouse and setting a $10,000 exemption for each child while increasing some rates by as much as 50 per cent.

Oct. 23—Reform of gift tax to apply progressive tax rate scheduled to cumulative total of future gifts, except between husband and wife.

Dec. 1—Companies to accelerate tax instalments by two months, starting with companies whose taxation year begins in December.

Jan. 1—New social development tax of two per cent on personal taxable income, with maximum of $120 a year.

Jan. 1—Corporate income taxes to be extended to life insurance companies.

Jan. 1—Medical expenses for income tax purposes to exclude amounts paid on a taxpayer's behalf by a provincial medical insurance plan.

Envoys Clash

PARIS (AP) — American and North Vietnamese peace envoys traded charges today of aggression in Vietnam without providing any detactable sign that they might be nearing agreement on terms for halting the bombing of North Vietnam.

There had been speculation that Hanoi might reply in this 27th session of the conference to Washington overtures about ending the aerial attacks.

Ambassador W. Averell Harriman and Xuan Thuy clashed in the 2½-hour meeting over who is entitled to speak for the South Vietnamese people.

Cost Spiral Budget Target

OTTAWA (CP) — A new two-per-cent levy on taxable personal income shapes up as a key weapon in a tough anti-inflationary bid outlined by rookie Finance Minister Edgar Benson Tuesday night in his first budget speech.

The tax, effective next Jan. 1, carries a maximum limit of $120 a year for any taxpayer.

Mr. Benson forecast a token surplus of $5,000,000 in the next fiscal year starting April 1, but opposition members promptly attacked the budget as shocking, idiotic and vicious.

"In the broad field of economic policy the most urgent need now is to check further the continuing increase in prices and living costs," he said.

"There appears to have been some easing of inflationary pressure in recent months. But there is little evidence that the damaging upward spiral of prices and costs has been effectively broken."

In addition to the two-per-cent personal tax increase in this anti-inflation campaign, he announced plans to have corporations speed payment of their taxes and to collect an estimated $95,000,000 in new revenues from the hitherto little-touched life insurance industry.

Inheritance Tax Changed

In a different vein, he sought to eliminate what he called a deeply felt grievance by exempting from taxation all amounts left to a spouse. He also plans to end taxation of gifts between husband and wife.

In all, the proposed tax changes will add $53,000,000 to government coffers in the current fiscal year ending March 31, but that will soar to $845,000,000 in the following 12 months, Mr. Benson predicted.

But, despite the higher revenues this year, the expected deficit will total $675,000,000 on spending of $10,780,000,000 against revenues of $10,105,000,000. This compares with the peacetime record deficit of $792,000,000 in the fiscal year ended last March 31.

Next year's anticipated small surplus would come from revenues of $11,675,000,000 and expenditures of $11,670,000,000.

Deficit Produces Whistles

News of the deficit forecast this year brought low whistles from opposition benches as the 45-year-old Kingston, Ont., chartered accountant — wearing a yellow rose in his lapel — read through his 11,800-word speech.

Mr. Benson made it clear in his budget speech and at a later news conference that the changes in estate and gift taxes and the move on life insurance companies are the beginnings of a major tax-reform program.

He told the news conference he hopes to have a thorough program of reform ready by next spring, but he does not anticipate having a rebuilt tax system operating before 1970.

Life insurance companies, which paid less than $3,000,000 in taxes in 1967, should be taxed generally the same as any other industry, Mr. Benson said.

He proposed a 15-per-cent tax on life insurance companies' investment income, and also taxing income received by a policyholder who sells or cashes in a policy.

The recommended speed-up of corporation tax payments means in effect that companies will pay 12 months' tax in 10 months.

In another move on business taxes, the finance minister proposed cutting by half the amount that banks and mortgage loan companies could move tax-free into reserves.

These companies now can exempt up to three per cent of the base on which these reserves are calculated. Mr. Benson said 1½ per cent is enough to be tax-free.

Mr. Benson warned taxpayers that the growing use of computers will make it tougher for them to avoid...taxes which might have been overlooked in the past.

Checking by computer will make it possible to trace interest and dividend payments as small as $10, he said.

Benson Says He's Willing To "Soak the Rich"

OTTAWA (CP) — Finance Minister Benson said Tuesday night after presenting his new budget to Parliament that he was prepared to "soak the rich" with his new two-per-cent social development tax.

But he added at a news conference that he put a $120 limit on what each taxpayer would pay because that has been the basic limit on similar taxes in the past.

Mr. Benson said there will be a major tax reform measure before Parliament next fall, to take effect in 1970.

"I wanted to do as much as I could do now, without getting too far into the whole subject of tax reform."

He said the $120 and similar ceilings on individual tax payments probably would be part of the tax reform considerations.

Among other subjects touched on in the news conference:

—He is not going to try to tell the provinces now to run their own budgeting, but as a citizen he has a right to wonder how they might do things differently;

—In tax reform the negotiating on tax-sharing agreements with the provinces, the federal government has a right to decide what taxes it is willing to share with the provinces, and what ones it will not;

—It's not possible to say now whether there will be another budget next spring, at its usual time, because we have developed to the stage where there is no longer any usual time for budgets."

Budget Startling Example Of How Spending Grows

OTTAWA (CP) — Finance Minister Benson's new budget reveals in dollar-dramatic terms the rapidity with which federal government expenditures are multiplying.

Barely six months ago, Mr. Benson was saying the government would hold its spending to $10,300,000,000 this fiscal year and balance the budget with a few minor tax adjustments.

A month ago, the government tabled revised spending estimates for the year totalling $10,670,000,000.

Tuesday night in his budget, Mr. Benson said spending would increase to $10,780,000,000, or 4.6 per cent more than his target of six months ago.

Federal spending in the new fiscal year starting next April 1 now is projected at $11,670,000,000. That's 8.2 per cent more than the current forecast for this year, and 13.3 per cent more than the original target for this year, $10,300,000,000.

Looking at it in dollar terms, federal spending this year is already $480,000,000 more than the target six months ago. And next year's spending is another $890,000,000 on top of that.

What do these figures mean in relation to total spending programs of $10,780,000,000 and $11,670,000,000?

The increase this year—$480,000,000—is more than $33 for every person in the labor force.

Next year, the government will be spending the equivalent of $817 for every person now in the labor force, or $96 more than its target six months ago.

Budget Highlights In Brief

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Social development tax of two per cent on taxable personal income imposed effective Jan. 1, with annual maximum of $120.

No changes made in tobacco or alcohol taxes or in general sales taxes.

Estate tax reformed to exempt bequest to surviving spouse and to set exemption of $10,000 per child. Other rates increased to bring in same over-all revenue.

Corporation income tax extended to life insurance companies, hitherto almost wholly free of federal tax.

For Story See Page 27

Gift tax reformed to apply progressive tax rate to cumulative total of all future taxable gifts, with total exemption on gifts between husband and wife.

For Story See Page 25

Companies required to accelerate tax payments by two months, paying an extra $350,000,000 in 1969-70.

Tighter personal income tax enforcement promised, with computer check on interest and dividends down to 10.

Tax-deductible reserves allowed banks and mortgage companies to be reduced by half.

Target date of 1970 set for implementation of reformed income tax system.

For Story See Page 28

Medical bills paid under approved medicare care plans excluded as exemption for income tax purposes.

Tax changes mean increased revenue of $53,000,000 in current fiscal year and of $845,000,000 in 1969-70.

Government plans to continue severe restraints on economic, seeking "effective cooperation" of provinces.

His purpose was to prepare students for the performances they will see when the company visits Belleville Nov. 4 and 5. Assisting him is OSD teacher Mrs. Judy Mann, who wrote his words on an overhead projector for students to view.

Assaulting Police Officer

Picton Picketter Is Fined $25

PICTON (Staff) — A Picton man was charged with assaulting a police officer although the magistrate passing sentence commented that the case was one of the mildest assaults he had ever encountered.

Magistrate T. Y. Wills fined Larry William Aman, 21, of R. R. No. 3 Picton $25.

The assault arose Aug. 8 when Mr. Aman clashed with a police officer at the picket line before Proctor — Silex plant. Two other men faced charges yesterday in magistrate's court.

They were Peter D. Fiddler of R. R. No. 1 Milford and James Roland of Picton.

Mr. Fiddler was charged with assaulting a police officer as well, but Magistrate Wills decided that not enough evidence was available to prove the charge.

Mr. Roland, charged with wilful damage under $50, faces a delayed sentence.

Picton police chief, George Pitt, testified he saw Mr. Roland deliberately scratch the door and fenders of one of several cars passing through the picket line.

However, the owner, Mrs. Emily Middleton of Picton, could not quote damage costs. The matter ' to be investigated and sentence will be passed Wednesday when she returns to court with the estimate.

Mr. Roland will pay the repair costs and face a court sentence.

Belleville and District Obituaries and Funerals

JOHN SMITH MacKENZIE

He was born at Beaverton, a son of the late Mr. and Mrs. John MacKenzie and 44 years ago came to Belleville.

He established MacKenzie Feeds in Front Ward and for 43 years conducted the business and retired a few years ago, the business being continued by his son.

Mr. MacKenzie was a member of Christ Church. Fraternally he was a life member of Moira Lodge AF and AM No. 11, Moira Chapter No. 7 RAM, King Baldwin Preceptory No. 6 and Rameses Shrine of Toronto.

Surviving are his wife, the former Ella Lyons, and one son, Orville MacKenzie of Belleville. Another son, Flight Lieutenant John (Jim) MacKenzie, was killed in action with the RCAF.

Also surviving is one sister, Mrs. Ida (Rena) Mooney of Port Perry, one brother, Harry MacKenzie of Dartmouth, N.S. and six grandchildren.

Mr. MacKenzie is resting at the Grant Funeral Home, North Front Street. Service will be held in the chapel on Friday, October 25 at 3:30 p.m.

Interment will be in Belleville Cemetery with Canon R. B. Wright officiating.

MRS. HEDWIDGE KIRKEY

In failing health for some time Mrs. Hedwidge Kirkey, formerly of 31 Colborne Street, died Tuesday evening in Belleville General Hospital. She was in her 70th year.

Daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Omay Berthiaume, she was born at Upton, Quebec, but had lived in the Belleville area most of her life. She was a member of St. Michael's Church.

Pre-deceased by her husband Samuel Kirkey in March of this year she is survived by 11 children. Family Services Property

Tax Exemption in Question

Should city property owned by the Hastings County Family and Children's Services (Children's Aid Society) be tax exempt.

Provincial statutes rule this is the case, but members of city council are not so sure the ruling is a fair one — especially when the CAS takes in the entire county.

The matter came up for discussion at Monday's council meeting when a list of tax write-offs totalling $1,444.47 was presented for consideration. Of the total approximately $800 was for CAS properties on Highland Ave. and Victoria Ave.

The court of revision — reason for recommending the tax write-off was that the properties were tax exempt and this was born out by the city assessment commissioner.

Alderman Enos David drew attention to the matter stating that he was surprised as the properties were not solely city owned.

And Mayor J. R. Scott agreed completely.

He said the city would be prepared to accept its share of the tax write-off, but claimed the county and the town of Trenton should pay their share.

The tax write-offs on the two properties were tabled for investigation.

Apollo Drama

Those were certainly anxious minutes that furnished such an atmosphere of drama, not to mention anti-climax, following the splashdown of the Apollo space capsule yesterday morning.

Tension and a sense of foreboding were only too apparent on the faces of ground controllers. That something might have gone wrong at that point was unthinkable. And yet . . . ! Well, all's well that ends well. The capsule with the astronauts safe and well inside was finally sighted. But not before those 20 nerve wracking minutes of lost radio contact had elapsed.

One wonders if even the controllers and scientists responsible for the flight had not anticipated such an eventuality. Obviously they had (the faulty entry into the water by the capsule was righted by ballast bags provided), and yet at such a moment of triumph it could easily have eluded their thoughts. Man is still a fallible creation, and he will always be so. That so much that he sets out to accomplish is realized in its entirety — as in this Apollo flight — is all the more creditable.

Meanwhile, something must be done to improve the accuracy of the splashdown. Delays in picking up the astronauts have occurred before, but this one seemed longer than most. A Soviet radar vessel inevitably had been observing the entire proceedings. It would have been the height of irony if it had been closer to the landing scene than the U.S. vessels and had radioed its position to them — perhaps with a tongue-in-cheek suggestion that "we do better." Soviet spacecraft, of course, make landfalls rather than coming down in the ocean. Somehow the U.S. operation seems the safest, although as we have noted, coming down near the target area is presenting a problem.

In any event, the moon race is on again, with another two exploratory flights scheduled within months — and then a possible manned flight to the moon itself next year.

City Accidents

Two accidents in Belleville last Friday night had distressing consequences. That such mishaps are rare enough make these ones all the more unfortunate.

In one a young Belleville man was fatally hurt by a car while walking along an east end street with his girl friend. The accident occurred late at night in rain and fog as the couple crossed Herchimer Avenue.

In the other, two 15-year-old girls were left lying on Bridge Street West after being struck by a hit-and-run driver. This type of accident is all too common and must be condemned in the strongest possible terms. Had it not been for a passing taxi driver who spotted them, the two injured girls could have been struck again by other vehicles with probably fatal consequences.

Hours of daylight at this time of year are restricted. It is a time when extra care is essential. Any accident is to be deplored, but hit-and-run accidents are inexcusable.

Brave Young World

Where young people are concerned today, there are still any number around who have a sense of purpose in life.

There are young people too with the spirit of adventure, like those who work for the Duke of Edinburgh awards. Still others exhibit the kind of community responsibility so lacking in many of their generation.

Two teenagers and one just out of her teens who have proved their worth in differing spheres have come to our attention. All three are girls and the achievements of two of them in what is usually a man's world — flying — consequently are all the more remarkable. Both 17, they are Donna Sidor of Trenton and Carole Evans of Ottawa. Miss Sidor is the youngest pilot in the Trenton Flying Club. She received her gradual certificate recently, as did Miss Evans, whose father is a department of transport airways inspector in Ottawa.

The third young woman is Ellen Knudson, a comely freshman at Waterloo Lutheran University. With hallowe'en approaching Miss Knudson dressed herself up as a witch recently. Even her long hair, broom and black hat could not hide her good looks as she toured hospital wards with bags of candy to help a service club fund raising project for victims of cystic fibrosis. And she was a big hit with the children in particular.

All this is evidence of youthful endeavor of the kind being performed every day, in adventurous undertakings such as learning to fly or in doing voluntary work on behalf of those in need.

Student (Women) Power

In B.C. the Pendulum Swings Toward Responsibility

Vancouver Sun

University of B.C. students have become bored with the headlines and publicity given to strikes, sit-ins and violent demonstrations, according to new student council secretary Isobel Semple.

"Students here no longer believe demonstrations are an effective way of solving the problems on our campus," she said.

The third-year nursing student made this explanation of why she swamped activist Stan Persky in an election for the position of secretary on the Alma Mater Society council.

Student - power advocate Persky, who only last year won the president's position on the AMS council but was forced to step down because of a technicality, could muster only 1,324 votes.

Miss Semple campaigned by making the rounds of lecture rooms and telling students to vote for responsible government.

Persky campaigned by putting his photograph on notice boards and by advertising himself as "a Communist, bi-sexual, dope-smoking, Jewish, hippie, poet, human being."

In a recent interview, Miss Semple said the support given to Persky shows that many students are questioning the way decisions are made at the university.

"But the support given to me indicates that many more want to consider carefully the actions taken to bring about change here," she said. "They don't want to jump into the fire."

There is a lot of UBC's motto "Tuum Est" (It's Up to You) in Miss Semple's outlook.

So she played down the common complaints about overcrowded classrooms and indifferent professors.

"The university is not here to give anybody anything," she said. "It is here to help people who take the initiative to get a good education."

She said UBC's faculty is unfairly maligned by students.

"Some of the professors may be tied to tradition, but essentially all of them want for us the thing we want for ourselves — a good education."

Because she has faith in the faculty, Miss Semple is not too keen on the idea of the "democratic university," where all students have a voice in decision making.

"There will always be a hierarchy based on experience," she said.

"I feel that only students with knowledge and interest should have a say in the university affairs. New students shouldn't have any say at all because they are not qualified to."

"I was one of the apathetic mass the first few years I was here," she said, "but after seeing what has been going on lately I decided to take an interest and play a part."

At Bells a third year nursing student, she plans to bring a brisk, no-nonsense manner to the job of secretary.

She admitted to being an "aggressive type" who will push her ideas in council. And her first aim will be to speed up decision making.

"There are two elements on council, the left and the right," she said, "and I have found the discussions between them fascinating.

"But there comes a time when discussion must come to an end and decisions must be made. I want more quicker and more effective decisions."

Miss Semple's interests cover such things as student housing, food, services and parking on campus — bread - and - butter issues that affect the daily lives of students.

"I realize there are three inhibiting factors — but think positively, man — think positively!"

Rules Balk Baker

Watertown (N.Y.) Times

An old-fashioned country baker has found that baking in old fashioned quarters isn't the thing to do anymore, no matter how good her goods are. And good they were, too, at least for the Roosevelts, the Trumans and the Eisenhowers.

The trouble for Miss Mary Buxton of Silver Springs, Md., developed when the Washington D.C. health department ruled she could no longer sell her bread, pies and cakes in the District of Columbia because the items were baked in her "living quarters".

Apparently among the rules instituted in the capital city's health department bureaucracy is an inflexible one which confirms a kitchen that has a bedroom next to it. If Miss Buxton walls off the kitchen from the rest of the house, why that would be all right, of course.

Was Miss Buxton's cooking good? It must have been. Presidents and their families with the exception of the Kennedys have been eating it since the 1930's.

If a woman can't cook in her own kitchen, what is she to do? At 69, Miss Buxton isn't anxious to go into debt. Who can blame her?

Trees And Paper Go Together

Bell Telephone News

Some 400,000 trees are missing from Canada's forests. But they are easily found. They're in your telephone directory — literally.

According to the Pulp and Paper Research Institute 400,000 trees would be needed to make the paper for Bell Canada's 848.69 directory issue.

More than 10,000,000 copies of Bell Canada's directories will be printed during the next year on some 12,000 tons of paper. By comparison the fall and winter catalogue published for Canada's largest mail-order house requires only approximately 3,500 tons of paper.

An Invasion Of Privacy

The Trentonian

It is typical of our times that the mere fact that the photos of Her Majesty The Queen in bed were officially requested not to be published caused them to be promptly published in every major newspaper in and out of the Commonwealth.

Not that there was anything salacious about the photos. And one does recognize a certain public interest in the head of the Commonwealth. But there must surely be limits upon this prurient curiosity. Invasion of a person's privacy to such an extent is something worse than bad taste.

It is degrading that the human species is so given to this abuse of freedom. One newspaper even talked lofitly about doing its public duty!

Invasion Aftermath

Soviet Union Loses Face in Eastern Europe

How has the Soviet-led invasion of Czechoslovakia affected East Europe? An Associated Press reporter with long experience there has just completed a swing through the region, starting in Prague and going on to Belgrade, Bucharest, Budapest and Sofia. Here is his report:

By HANNS NEUBURGER

BELGRADE (AP) — Two months after the Soviet-led invasion of Czechoslovakia it is evident that Moscow has lost prestige in Eastern Europe.

This correspondent, after reporting from Prague the first weeks of the invasion, has visited Romania, Hungary, Bulgaria and Yugoslavia.

Even in the countries ruled by orthodox Communists there seems to be widespread agreement that the intervention will have a lasting impact. Many people found the invasion irrational, and some suggest it was ternational Communist movement.

All this does not necessarily mean the United States image has improved in Eastern Europe. Many people seem convinced that the two superpowers have secretly agreed to respect each other's sphere of influence.

"No denial from Washington can shake this belief," one sophisticated Romanian observed. "It is fertile ground for Chinese propaganda."

There is also talk, with no confirmation, about a power struggle for power in the Kremlin.

No matter what Moscow's motives in moving in Prague, Yugoslavia and Romania are taking few risks.

The Yugoslavs, who broke away from the Soviet-led Warsaw pact alliance 20 years ago, have become a prime target of attacks in the Moscow press. Concern has mounted among Yugoslavs that they could be next on the list of dissidents whom the Russians might like to force back into the fold.

Any invasion, the Yugoslavs made plain, would be fought in Vietnam style guerrilla war, the kind of warfare in which they proved experts during 400 years under Turkish occupation.

"The Yugoslav borders are peaceful today," said Mika Tripalo, a regional party secretary in Croatia. "Anyone who crosses them by force, either from East or West, will be the protagonist of a new catastrophic war of annihilation."

Possibly in response to such tough talk impressed Communist officials. Party membership applications increased. Problems that weighed heavily in the past, such as student unrest, complaints from minorities, and economic discontent, faded away.

Fear that the Soviet Union might take armed action against Romania has abated after both sides concluded a ceasefire in polemics.

The armistice followed a dramatic week at the independent-minded but tightly-ruled Balkan state, packed with anti-Moscow protest rallies, glowing newspaper reports about Czechoslovakia's brave stand against the invaders, and military muscle flexing.

There has been a lot of speculation why President Nicolae Ceausescu pulled in his horns. Not everyone agrees with the oft-cited view that it was the result of massive Soviet pressure.

Diplomatic observers agree there is no indication that Ceausescu has abandoned his basic independent line. Among the party members and non-Communists Ceausescu has gained a popularity that is believed without precedent for a Communist leader in Romania.

Bulgaria, a model child in the Soviet-led family, poses no such problems for the Kremlin. But it's many well-behaved kids, it seems not to feel happy about its role.

French and Italian Communist party dailies, which hardly found buyers in the past, now sell well in Sofia because of their anti-invasion stand.

In Hungary, the party goes out of its way in stating that siding with the Soviet-led orthodox drive in Czechoslovakia does not herald an end to a liberalized domestic line.

Even, non-Communists concede that Hungary's party chief, Janos Kadar, tried hard to mediate a Prague-Moscow settlement averting an invasion. The last of multiple private and official contacts was a secret meeting with Czechoslovakia's Alexander Dubcek in the Slovak town of Komarno Aug. 17, 72 hours before the Soviet tanks were on their way.

"Dubcek was not impressed when Kadar recalled the Hungarian experience," one well-informed Hungarian said. "He thought we were just trying to undermine his whole liberalization program.

Quinte Area Appears As Potential Gold Mine

TRENTON — The Ontario Development Corporation must see the Quinte area as a potential gold mine of future development, with Trenton the centre, as almost one and a half million dollars in forgivable loans have been granted in the past few months.

Trenton is the scene of the latest grants with Moore business forms and Crane Canada Ltd. receiving $509,000 loans for the construction of manufacturing plants.

Moore's two and one half million dollar development near the MacDonald-Cartier Freeway will begin production early next year and employ, for a start, 56 persons.

Meanwhile temporary offices have been set up on Dundas Street where Moore officials interview applicants for the immediate work force.

The Crane plant will employ about 90 area residents and construction has already begun on their 140,000 square foot plant.

Trenton Gold Storage Ltd. received $75,000 to finance construction of an additional 9,000 square feet of floor space to house specialized machinery for the production of bakery products and 23 new jobs will be created by the expansion.

Fabrico Manufacturing here was given almost $200,000 to help in their $700,000 expansion project. The expansion will increase production of specialized wire and cable creating some 75 new jobs.

In Belleville American Optical received a grant of almost a quarter of a million dollars for the expansion of its local plant. The total cost of the development will exceed $800,000 by which the company will undertake the manufacture of bi-focal lenses now imported from the United States. This will add 30 new employees to the plant.

This brings a total of more than $1,493,000 from the Ontario Development Corporation to help industry in the Quinte area.

At the beginning it will mean an increased employment of some 284 people in the Quinte area — 254 of them in Trenton. In the next five years another 200 jobs will be available as a result of this industrial growth.

'Forum' Presents Play

The lights go up tomorrow night on a package deal of intimate theatre in Belleville. The Forum now enters its third active season with a pair of one-act plays produced in the auditorium of St. Thomas' church hall.

Both presentations are comedies.

Sharing the opening bill are The Public Eye, by Peter Shaffer, and a Sean O'Casey farce, Bedtime Story.

The productions will run three nights, ending Saturday.

City Council Agrees -- Only One Tax Notice

Belleville taxpayers get but one tax notice next year — with the levy for school purposes listed separately from the municipal tax.

This has been agreed by Belleville city council after city treasurer J. J. Grohn pointed out that separate tax billing for school purposes would cost an additional amount of close to $2,000.

Mr. Grohn told council that under Bill 88, municipalities had the choice of issuing separate tax bills for school purposes or issuing single tax notices clearly indicating the taxes for school purposes.

He said there appeared to be an overwhelming evidence for using the single tax notice.

Not only would there be additional costs, but separate tax bills would double the number of cash receipts entered and create longer lineups at the treasurer's office.

Also separate notices would increase the chance of error or one of the bills becoming lost, which in turn would require additional staff to issue duplicate notices.

Council members raised the question of tax apportionment in cases where there was non-payment of taxes.

However, Mr. Grohn felt this should result in little problem as the school portion of unpaid taxes could be easily determined.

"We don't anticipate any great difficulties," he said.

Alderman E. A. Orr summed the matter up by saying the city would be providing the tax collection service for the school board but without assuming any responsibility.

Mental Health Association Sponsors 'Gone with Wind'

Gone With The Wind is breezing back to Belleville — this time bearing benefits for a vital community organization.

The Nov. 13 premiere of the movie classic's rerun involves the city branch of the Canadian Mental Health Association.

Returns from the initial showing will be partially donated to the organization.

Gone With The Wind is the all-time maker and breaker of film records, and with time, apparently has become the perpetual holder of audience sentiment through two generations. So much so that the film even today, is still popularly identified with its initials — GWTW.

Completed nearly 30 years ago, the four-hour classic based on the U.S. civil war, has only been off the movie circuit once in all that time. That was for recranking from the more cramped techniques of the 30s to contemporary widescreen and stereophonic processes.

Its cast was a galaxy of movie greats, headed by Clark Gable and Vivien Leigh.

The mental health association now is selling advanced bookings on the showing here, hoping to glean funds for its local projects.

The CMHA is a voluntary citizens' group working to combat mental illness and advance mental health.

It strives to improve community mental health services provide re-assurance to the mentally disabled and promotes public education in the area of mental illness.

In Belleville, the local association was instrumental in organizing the first mental health clinic with a resident psychiatrist.

For funds the group traditionally has relied on public entertainment for needed money. It established a trend years ago by sponsoring the first showing of Spring Thaw in Belleville.

Ann Landers

Letter from Teenager Makes Day Brighter

ANN LANDERS

DEAR ANN LANDERS: My problem is that my mother understands me and I have a father who cares.

We live in a modest but comfortable home. My wardrobe is adequate and I have just about everything I need. There are rules and regulations around here and I am expected to obey them. There are also some great privileges.

My mother doesn't work and my father doesn't drink. When I do something wrong I get punished. When I do something good I get praised.

I'm a 16-year-old boy and I ask you — with a problem like that, who needs a solution? — JUST PLAIN HAPPY.

DEAR J.P. HAPPY: Thanks for the day-brightener. Letters like yours make my work easier.

* * *

DEAR ANN LANDERS: My mother always told me, "You never know a man until you live with him." How right she was.

Hank is 24. I am 23. We have been married two years. I don't know how to say this but I'll do my best. It's a gamey subject. Hank can go for two months without a shower. He never washes his hair because "water will make it fall out." I have bought him three different kinds of deodorants but he never uses them. He never brushes his teeth.

I have told him a thousand times I can't tolerate his carelessness. He gets mad at me and doesn't speak for two days. Last week I slept on the couch because I couldn't stand to be near him. What more can I do? I told him I was writing to you and we are both waiting your reply. — CLOTHESPIN NOSE.

DEAR NOSE: You can call it carelessness if you want to, Honey, but the experts call it sick, sick, sick. An adult who has the personal hygiene habits of a goat demonstrates two things. First, a total disregard for others. Second, some mighty kinky notions about himself. Your husband needs professional help. Tell the doll you are sleeping on the couch until he gets it.

* * *

DEAR ANN LANDERS: My husband is in Vietnam. Lloyd and I have been planning and saving money for a reunion in Hawaii next month when he gets his Rest and Rehabilitation leave.

Yesterday his mother told me she and her husband are planning on flying to Hawaii to join us. I nearly died.

I don't want to make any family trouble, but I've been dreaming night and day about seeing Lloyd during R. and R. We have been married six years and have been apart nearly half the time.

Lloyd's mother reads your column religiously. Can you say something to keep her and her husband home? — NO CITY PLEASE.

DEAR NO CITY: It is not my place to discourage your in-laws — nor yours. It's up to your husband. I suggest he write to his parents and ask them to come over for three or four days. Don't forget, they miss him and love him, too.

Successful Living

Middle-aged Husband Doesn't Understand Women

By DORIS CLARK

Dear Doris: My wife and I are in our late 40's. We run a general store in a village. Some time ago two men came in to see if they could service a vending machine we have and we said o.k.

As time went on I found my wife was losing some interest in me. She was doing her hair up every night, looking in the catalogue at dresses and so on, which she never did before.

Then she asked if we could have the men for a meal when they came, and I said no. I stopped them coming at all, and then I saw I was doing her out of something in her life.

We quarrel over little things now and she calls me selfish and jealous, and says I don't let her have any friends.

All of a sudden I don't know women or how to handle this situation. — A Straw in the Wind

Dear Straw: It's distressing and you evidently care a lot for your wife.

But the way she feels about these two men is only a symptom of a deeper disease: a yearning for male admiration. You don't solve this by putting your foot down harder.

You love her; you woo her; buy her the new dress before she asks for it; take her to the best restaurant in town for an evening out. And when men are around show her you trust her with them.

The other boys can only compete when your offering of attention and gallantry is inferior.

* * *

Dear Doris: I would appreciate any ideas you may have on planning a Spring Tea.

We have set the date for March, 1969, and would like to build the Tea around some theme that would lend itself to decorations, refreshments, home cooking, but not have it seem like a bazaar.

What we need is a new and different idea to draw the crowds. — Hospital Helper

Dear Helper: I gather yours is a town of mixed nationalities, and this suggests an International Tea. Provides lots of scope for food and decorations.

Have the ladies bake teatime goodies from the traditional recipes of their assorted countries. There could be Polish sausage rolls, chili con carne, sukiyaki, German egg custard soup — play it by ear, according to the national origins represented in your group.

Could they dress in national garb, and produce flags and other decor to carry out the theme? A stamp or coin collection, a display of old country handcrafts — what could be more intriguing?

Just let yourselves go!

Homemade Doughnuts for Hallowe'en

By MARY MOORE

The decision went against me. I wanted to make yeast doughnuts for Hallowe'en celebrators but Shirley said, "More girls will make baking powder doughnuts than yeast doughnuts. If you want your readers to make your recipes give them baking powder doughnuts."

So there were doughnuts all, over the kitchen and they were so good I ate three. When your visitors shout "Anything for Hallowe'en" give them a doughnut wrapped in Saran.

Be prepared to follow the rules below, particularly the ones regarding chilling dough and emperature of oil or fat.

HOMEMADE DOUGHNUTS
(Baking Powder — 30)

2 med. - large eggs
½ tsp. nutmeg
⅔ cup sugar
¼ cup oil or fat
2½ tsp. grated orange rind (about 1 med. orange)
2¾ cups sifted all-purpose flour
4 tsps. baking powder
1 tsp. salt
½ cup milk less 1 tbsp.

In mixing bowl beat together the eggs, nutmeg, sugar, oil and rind, 2 or 3 min. Remove beaters. Sift together sifted flour, baking powder and salt and sift over egg mixture alternately with milk until batter is blended. Scrape down sides of bowl, cover and chill thoroughly one or two hours. Heat oil or fat in 8" pan at 1" depth to 375 deg. Fahr. (A 1" cube of bread will brown in 40 second...)

On well floured board that can be carried to stove, roll out half of dough (leave remaining half in refrigerator) to ¼" thickness. Cut out three at a time with well floured doughnut cutter. Carry to preheated fryer and lifting with egg lifter carefully slide in. If you are a fast worker you may have time to cut out three more but be very cautious, do not burn any. Turn each over as bottom becomes gold and fry other side. Have at your right hand a large tray or platter covered with paper towels and transfer cooked doughnuts to it with slotted spoon. Continue until remaining half is rolled and cut. Collect scraps and roll them and cut them too. If you want to, fry all little balls cut from centres instead of including them in scraps. Your very small Hallowe'en callers will like them better. Sprinkle all are fried. Or if desired, when cold dip the doughnuts in Glaze made by blending ¼ cup soft butter, 1-3 cup corn syrup, ½ tsp. vanilla, ¼ tsp. salt, scant 2 tbsps. milk and 1 lb. sifted icing sugar over when sifted icing sugar over.

NSA Quinte Chapter Holds Impressive Installation

By LINDA GELDART

An impressive candlelight ceremony marked the installation of charter members and officers of the Bay of Quinte Chapter of the National Secretaries Association last night at the Quinte Hotel.

After welcoming remarks by His Worship Mayor J. Russell Scott, and O. F. Bradley, of the Belleville Chamber of Commerce, the 50th chapter in the Canadian Division officially recognized its new officers.

The Association, which is nonprofit, nonunion and nonpartisan, was founded in 1942. It became international in 1954 with the installation of the first Canadian chapter. Total present membership in the more than 580 chapters is approximately 25,000 strong.

The main objective of the organization is to elevate the standards of the secretarial profession by uniting for their mutual benefit men and women engaged in a continuing program of educational and professional development.

A "must" for membership is that the applicant must have at least two years' experience in secretarial work, to have been actively employed as a secretary at the time of applying for membership.

On May 4, 1968, the Kingston Chapter of the NSA held an introductory meeting for the Bay of Quinte area secretaries. A follow-up meeting was held on May 28 at which the following chapter officers were appointed: president, Mrs. Verona Meades; vice- president, Mrs. Mary Elizabeth Magee; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Helen Worrell; recording secretary, Mrs. Gabrielle Watkins; treasurer, Mrs. Phyllis Graham.

These officers form the executive committee of the Chapter. Its officers are elected annually by ballot at the meeting in May.

The actual installation candlelight ceremony was both rich in symbolism and beauty. Forming a semi-circle, each charter member held a colored candle. These were lighted by assisting installation officer Mrs. Shirley Pothier, Chairman of the Chapter Procurement Committee, of the Kingston Chapter.

As Mrs. Barbara Williams, secretary of the Canadian Division read out the duties of each officer, the candles held by each member and officer were lighted by Mrs. Pothier.

Each membership candle was enclosed with a red rose, the official flower of the National Secretaries Association. Mrs. Williams admonished the new members: "just as the rose unfolds its petals in loveliness, may your membership blossom into a fellowship joyful and beautiful for both you and the Bay of Quinte Chapter."

After the ceremony a most informative film, "CPSO — the emblem of excellence" was shown. It dealt with the status achieved by successfully completing a two-day, six part examination, which tests every facet of secretarial technique and knowledge.

The secretarial status of this standard is probably the highest honor and professional certification that any secretary can receive.

Now that this association of highly qualified professionals has a chapter in the Quinte Area it is felt they will undoubtedly be the better for it.

MR. AND MRS. RICHARD W. LYNCH

Lynch — Walsh

St. Joseph's Church, Belleville was the scene of the recent wedding when Patricia Maureen Walsh, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James L. Walsh Belleville was united in marriage to Richard William Lynch, son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas J. Lynch, also of Belleville. Rt. Rev. J. A. Carley officiated at the ceremony and organist was Sister Mary Avila who accompanied the soloist Bob Burke.

Given in marriage by her brother Edward Walsh, the bride wore a fine corded silk A-line gown featuring a fitted bodice with appliques outlining the neckline and the front of the gown, as well as the regal train. A floral headdress was caught to a four-tier tulle veil. She carried an orchid centred cascade bouquet encircled with white miniature carnations and white pom poms.

The maid of honor Miss Colleen Walsh, sister of the bride wore a floor-length Empire styled gown in gold chiffon over taffeta. The bodice was enhanced with matching venetian lace and the back of the gown was highlighted with a floating chiffon panel in coat effect extending from the shoulders. Bridesmaids were Mrs. Larry Lynch, sister-in-law of the bridegroom and Mrs. Edward Walsh, sister-in-law of the bride who were identically attired to the maid of honor. All carried bouquets of miniature orange and pumpkin shades of carnations.

At the reception of Club Canara, the bride's mother greeted the guests wearing a cocoa brown 2-piece dress of crimp knit with matching accessories and a corsage of yellow roses. The bridegroom's mother assisted wearing an emerald green silk velvet one-piece dress with scooped neckline, matching pillbox hat and accessories and a corsage of pale pink roses.

For the wedding trip to Atlantic City and Washington, the bride wore a two piece deep violet suit in wool crepe with multi colored turban, black accessories and a white orchid corsage.

On return the couple will reside at 248 Bridge Street East, Belleville.

B and P Club Holds Meeting

Thanksgiving came a week late for the Belleville Business and Professional Women in the form of a pot luck supper in the home of Mrs. Marion McFaul at Ameliasburg. After grace and a bountiful meal the business meeting was started. The first motion of the evening to pass was the donation of a $25 award to be given to the Theatre Guild to be awarded to the high school that presents the best play.

The Hilda Collier bursary was presented to three outstanding students graduating from local high schools who plan on entering the nursing profession. They are as follows: Miss Karen Boyle, Nicholson Catholic College; Miss Susan Brewster, Moira Secondary School and Miss Marie Herrington, Quinte Secondary School.

The other motion passed for the evening was a donation to be given to one of the schools for a needy student in university in the field of nursing. The meeting continued with reports from Mrs. Dorothy Brown on the National Convention in Quebec City and from Miss Jeane Stephenson on the leadership seminar at the York University in Toronto.

The club is to hold a membership drive in the next meeting to increase the number of its present membership to over 37 which is the roster at the moment. The meeting is to be held at the Sun Valley Nov. 18 with Barbara Cameron, district vice-president as the dinner speaker.

Child: "I want my dessert now. I don't want any vegetables."

Coaxing and bribes do not stimulate a 2-year-old's small appetite. If he doesn't eat his vegetables, he still needs fruit, but it should not be served as a special treat or reward — simply as part of the meal.

Mother: "Here are your peaches. I'll save these green beans for your dinner. You'll be hungry for them by then."

Three Million Dollar Corporate Farm Still A Possibility

By DON MacKENZIE
Staff Reporter

The same man who scrapped Prince Edward County as a location for a $3,000,000 corporate farm is putting the area back on the map.

C. W. McGee, a consulting economist with Resources Development Consultants, of Toronto said yesterday that because two of his principals have taken a renewed interest in the area, he will look again.

"It has been suggested that the potentialities of Prince Edward County be re-appraised, and so the area is re-entered for more detailed studies and comparison of cost against benefits," he said.

"I might have missed something."

Preliminary comparisons for establishing the 6,000 acre corporate farm included potential costs and benefits of establishing in one of four locations.

Two in Ontario, and two in other provinces. Two locations in the U.S. were also considered.

Three of the locations were eliminated after first inspection and study, said Mr. McGee.

By process of elimination, then, Prince Edward County stands in an excellent position to be the site of the beef farm which Mr. McGee said could eventually bring $3,000,000 of annual revenue to the area.

First, a detailed study of the potentialities of the area in comparison with other sites will be made by Mr. McGee and Resources Development Consultants.

"It is a matter of comparing all the detail and criteria involved in establishing the productivity ability of the land for each $1,000 invested in it, he said.

In cases where rehabilitating marginal land is necessary Mr McGee said that every essential is a critical element.

"Most farmers realize the margin of profit is narrow," he said, "and there is no room for speculation."

The type of operation that may be established would try to produce at least 50 per cent of its feed and stock requirements.

Outside requirements purchased can exceed $100,000 per 1,000 head of cattle per year.

However, some local farm authorities feel that it would not be economically feasible to try and raise stock in this area and they also pointed out that the land in the Point Petrie area is dry and rocky.

Nevertheless, the land will again be studied and Mr. McGee said he was taking a motel room near the area and would be conducting the survey every Tuesday and Wednesday.

Crackdown on Interest Planned

OTTAWA (CP) — The federal government will scrutinize all but the smallest interest and dividend payments and will reduce by half the tax-free reserves and banks and mortgage loan companies, Finance Minister Benson announced Tuesday night.

His budget speech lifted the changes almost whole from the report of the Carter royal commission on taxation.

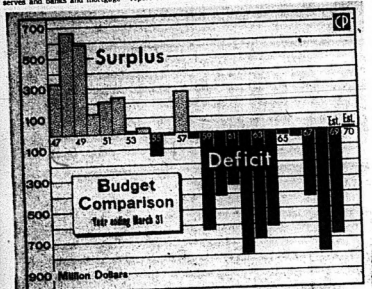
Several hundred million dollars in bank interest goes unreported and untaxed annually in the current system, but it is not clear how much of this would be taxable or at what rates if it could be traced.

In future, banks and other institutions paying interest on deposits will be required to file returns on all amounts of $10 a year or more paid to depositors.

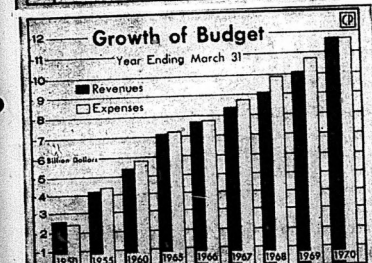
The previous limit was $100 and the information slips were hand-matched by revenue department against tax returns.

The same limit of $10 will apply to corporations on reports of dividends paid.

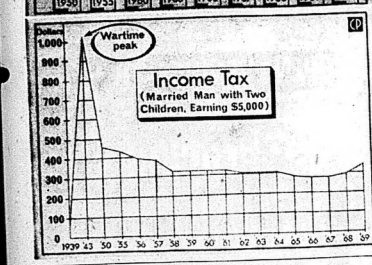
The revenue department data centre will move over the next few years to 100 per-cent computer matching of the slips against returns.



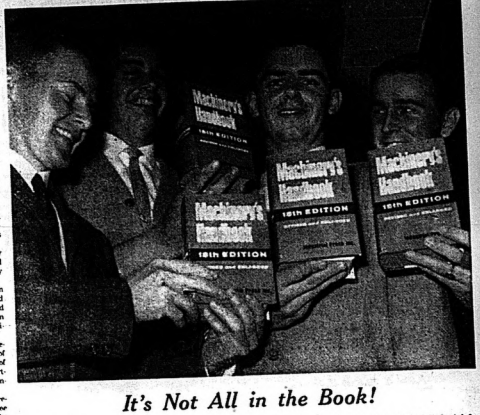
It is believed that relatively little of the total interest paid depositors has been admitted by taxpayers in the past.



The Carter commission termed excessive the so-called "inner reserves" banks and some other institutions maintain as a contingency against possible losses.



Mr. Benson proposes to reduce to 1½ per cent the limit of three per cent of the value of outstanding conventional mortgage loans that mortgage companies may hold.



Banks, whose permitted reserve has been more than three per cent of assets, will also be limited to 1½ per cent.

It is understood that the government will eventually recover about $100,000,000 in annual tax revenues by the changes.

It's Not All in the Book!

There's more than manuals involved for these Deloro Stellite apprentices. Under company training scheme they must attain wide knowledge of plant operations. For good measure however, machinist handbooks were presented at Industrial Management club meeting last night. From left, they are Murray Lockwood, Gary Cox, Wayne Morrison and Lou De Jong.

Deloro-Stellite Apprentices Graduate

Members of the Belleville Industrial Management Club last night learned how one such dilemma was solved by a local industry — Deloro Stellite.

Deloro has unique tooling and machine processes. Manning such machines is aggravated by often-extreme shortages of skilled manpower.

To solve the situation, explained general manager J. C. (Pat) Houston last night, the company initiated its own apprentice-training program in 1951.

The government registered apprentices are rotated through the various levels of the Deloro organization — its shops and laboratories — and must attend night school to further their formal education.

The result is a graduate who is "a very desirable and suitable employee" with a well - rounded knowledge of company operations, explained Mr. Houston.

Since the scheme was launched, six graduates have been absorbed on to company technical and administration echelons.

The club members — all representatives of local industry — met a platoon of current apprentices during last night's meeting at Columbus Hall.

The apprentices later were presented with tools and machinist handbooks — marking night school achievements during the past year.

40 Employees Working

Proctor-Silex Turns Down Arbitrator

PICTON (Staff) — Proctor-Silex Ltd. Tuesday rejected a suggestion by union officials to use an arbitrator to end a strike by 100 workers which began three months ago.

George Hutchens, international representative of Local 585, International Union of Electrical, Radio and Machine Workers, made the suggestion after conciliation talks broke off last weekend.

He was told Tuesday in a letter from James Findlay, plant manager, that the firm would not agree to arbitration.

In part the company's reply says, "If the parties have not been able to work out a solution to their difficulties after the passage of 10 months and the diligent and sincere efforts of William Dickie's office as conciliator, it is difficult to see how a third party who is not familiar with the many issues involved would be able to recognize the significance of the various considerations supporting the respective parties' positions."

Mr. Hutchens had suggested Judge Wilfred Lane of Picton or Judge J. C. Anderson of Belleville as an arbitrator.

The firm's rejection of the union's proposal was expected. Today, union spokesmen in Picton were unavailable for press contact.

Mr. Hutchens said on the weekend that if the company did not adopt its arbitration plea, that the union had other methods up its sleeves.

He said the union will appeal to the public through mass meetings and television commercials to boycott company products.

He described the rejection of arbitration as "vicious and arrogant" and said the company was "obviously out to break the union."

"If the company wants to fight to the death, we die very slowly and with some dignity," he said.

Meanwhile there were only two pickets on duty in front of the plant yesterday morning and the usual bus load of non-union workers entered the plant at 7.30 without incident.

The union is restricted by an injunction to six active pickets.

Another section of the Proctor-Silex plant was re-opened to manufacturing on Monday after being shut down since the strike started July 17.

The new section, called the saint plant, with its opening brings adequate indication that the daily influx of strike-breaking labor to the plant is on the increase.

Mr. Findlay has declined to say how many workers are reporting daily. Estimates suggest the number to be 40.

Mr. Findlay announced yesterday, however, that the hourly rate for women at his plant will increase by Jan. 1 and it will have no relationship to the strike difficulties.

He was responding to questions which pointed out that the $1.25 an hour minimum paid women at the plant since last month, will not measure up to provincial minimum wage requirements.

The province-wide increase to $1.30 an hour from $1 an hour as a minimum wage level was announced recently at Queens Park. The new minimum rate takes effect Jan. 1, 1969.

Mr. Findlay said that he and his head office already have the matter under consideration and something will be done to increase the company's schedule to conform to or exceed the province's minimum.

The striking union at Proctor-Silex wants a basic rate of $1.60 hourly for women and $1.80 for men. Under the old contract, women made $0.2 cents hourly plus an incentive bonus, with a guaranteed minimum of $1. Basic rate for men was $1.21.

Limited production of toasters and irons at the plant has resumed since Mr. Findlay advertised for workers several weeks ago.

National Research Council

Application of Science in Canada 'Alarmingly Unbalanced'

OTTAWA (CP) — Application and use of science in Canada "is alarmingly unbalanced" and threatens economic potential 10 or 20 years from now, the National Research Council said today.

In a brief to the Senate science policy inquiry, NRC urged much greater commitment in new technology in areas selected for special support and encouragement on a priority basis.

"Possible areas which should be considered include transportation, telecommunications, building materials and building technology, environmental pollution, metal physics and metallurgy, marine sciences, food technology, energy and power technology, northern development and specialized computer technology."

The committee was to hear testimony from NRC President Dr. W. G. Schneider, Dr. K. F. Tupper, scientific vice-president; Professor Louis-Philippe Bonneau, Laval University's vice-dean and a member of the council; Dr. W. H. Gauvin, also a council member and manager of Noranda Research Centre, Pointe Claire, Que.; and Dr. A. Brewer Hunt, a council member.

The NRC brief said Canada has not achieved a sufficient roading of research and development in the industrial sector nor has existing research and development gained enough momentum to assure the future welfare of advanced industrial technology.

"Our present industrial climate, structure and resources are not sufficiently favorable to induce industry to undertake major long-range R and D programs."

Industrial research and development had concentrated mostly on short-range programs likely to produce immediate returns. Usually this effort was concerned with extending or elaborating existing technology rather than with developing promising and new technology.

While both kinds were essential, development of new technology is more likely to provide the challenging opportunities in industrial laboratories which will attract highly-gifted and creative scientists and engineers.

"Our deficiences in these respects today will increasingly compromise our economic potential 10 to 20 years from now."

Gazette, Southam Exchange Shares in Strengthening Move

MONTREAL (CP) — The Gazette announced Tuesday it will join the Southam group of Canadian newspapers. The announcement said The Gazette will retain responsibility for its editorial and news policies.

The transaction involves exchange of shares held by the principals in the Montreal enterprise, family-owned for almost 100 years, for shares in Southam Press Ltd., one of Canada's major printing and newspaper publishing companies.

A front-page statement in today's edition of The Gazette said "controlling shareholders of the company have agreed to accept an offer for their shares from Southam Press Ltd. as a result of which they will become shareholders of the Southam company."

The statement said present officers of The Gazette Printing Company Ltd., which operates a commercial printing business as well as the 140,000-circulation morning daily, will remain unchanged.

It added:

"The Gazette editorial and news policies will continue to be the responsibility of the present publisher and his staff."

Charles H. Peters, president of The Gazette, said the transaction was the result of study leading to the conclusion "that the longer term future of family-owned businesses of medium size will be difficult."

"With the company in sound shape at present we decided to make a move for future security and progress," he said.

Mr. Peters is a grandson of Richard White who with his brother, Thomas, bought The Gazette in 1870. The newspaper, now in its 191st year of publication, was founded during the period of the American revolutionary war.

The Gazette's announcement described the Southam firm as "a Canadian company with broad interests in newspaper publishing, printing and other communications areas in Canada."

The statement said that under its agreement with the Southam company, The Gazette would "continue to operate as a separate entity with its own president and board of directors and with its two divisions—newspaper publishing and job printing."

The statement added:

"For The Gazette, this transaction will mean more opportunity and security for its employees who number nearly 1,000 and will open up new avenues of service to the public for both divisions of the company.

"For Southam's, the acquisition will add a newspaper and another printing plant in Montreal to those it already operates with high standards in other parts of the country."

A SHORT STORY!

nevertheless, it's one we think is of interest to you.

Our story is about A&P's short-cut, prime Ribs of Beef, and the fact that we remove the excess Short Ribs and sell them separately at the lower Short Rib price.

That's not all, though.
We remove the excess wasteful chine bone.
For easier carving, we remove the back-strap, too.

As a matter of fact, on an average four-rib roast we trim up to 1½ lbs. of excess fat and bone.
At Rib Roast prices, that adds up.

Another thing that keeps you from being short-changed on value:
We buy only No. 1 Grade, choice Red Brand Beef.
A&P Rib Roasts are cut from the first four ribs only...

Our short story even has a happy ending...
your family will enjoy every morsel.
That's guaranteed...or your money back.

Pat Peurrl Of Non-Fiction

The Taming Of The Canadian West. By Frank Rasky.

Sweeping from the Cypress Hills of Alberta to the mouth of the Mackenzie River, this book tells — often in the words of the pioneers themselves — how Canada's explorers, traders, saints, and sinners, adventurers and empire builders blazed across the continent to establish a nation coast to coast. The early Indian massacres and the savage reprisals, the internecine warfare over the riches from the Northwest, the brief rebellion of 1885 . . . these are evidence enough that the "great lone land" had to be tamed by iron men.

Great Cathedrals focuses its attention on the greatest cathedrals in France, England, Germany, Spain, and Italy: the dazzling facade of Reims; the bold thrust of Salisbury's towers, the intricate often bizarre sculptured figures covering Autun. There is a particularly graphic account of the work that went into getting the massive stones from quarry to cathedral site and into position.

This is the awesome story of the missing "ghost ships" of the Great Lakes, the big freighters and ore carriers of yesterday and today that disappeared, often in complete mystery, never to be seen again. The author in his research has scanned thousands of microfilm frames of old newspapers and shipping journals. He has read hundreds of letters from relatives of lost skippers and their crews; and has checked shipping company reports and files.

The Horseman's Companion by Dorian Williams.

An exciting collection of the best writing (fact, fiction, and verse) about horses, horsemen, and horsemanship. Mr. Williams' selections are varied and lively with authors ranging from Dickens to D. H. Lawrence to Daphne du Maurier, and topics ranging from horse breeding to great races to hunting with hounds. The Horseman's Companion will delight all lovers of horses and riding.

When Betty Wason, home economist and well - known cookbook author, decided to have a house built to her own specification, she found to her surprise that doing so is nearly an impossible undertaking, as costs inevitably go far beyond original estimates. She gradually became her own expert, suffering many wounds along the way. Combining her own experience with that of others, she has written a guide for the unwary, full of humour, anecdotes, and good solid practical advice.

Champion Dogs Of The World, by Col Sir Richard Glyn.

All dog lovers will find this handsome book something to enjoy for the beauty of its presentation as well as for its value as a source of reference. It describes all the generally recognized show breeds but also illustrates, by full-colour photography, some of the finest champion dogs in the world.

ABOUT REAL ESTATE

"What's Your Problem?" by Don G. Campbell

Frustration can be as basic as a puppy encountering its first stick of chewing gum, or as complicated as a would-be home buyer finding himself $2,000 shy of meeting the price on the house that he simply must have. Both puppy and human are hung up on a problem that can't be swallowed.

Dear Mr. Campbell: I never thought I would be so illogical as to fall in love with a house to the point where — if I can't have it — I'm just not interested in any house. But it's happened and while my husband says I'm being silly, I know that he really feels almost the same way.

Naturally, the trouble has to do with money. The asking price for the house was originally $27,500, but the seller, who, I am convinced, wants to sell just as badly as we want to buy, says that he absolutely cannot go lower than $25,000. This would be all right with us except that the best mortgage money we can find is $19,000 and we were counting on not having to put up more than $4,000. An extra $2,000 would completely wipe out our reserves, which we are going to need desperately for redecorating.

Our broker has suggested a second mortgage, but we've heard so many unfavorable things about second mortgages that we are a little afraid of getting involved. Or have they become respectable, somehow? — Mrs. F. S.

ANSWER: There is nothing either complicated or disreputable about the second mortgage, as such, but — like anything else in life — there is always someone lurking in the shrubbery ready, willing and able to misuse it.

Many people shy away from the second mortgage because they remember the 1930s when there were thousands of defaults on them and, more recently, they may have read of unprincipled lenders using the second mortgage as a lever to force exorbitant fees from financially strapped people who have no solid assets except the equity in their homes.

In this letter writer's case the broker is simply suggesting that the couple post a second mortgage as collateral for a short-term loan of $2,000 to make up the difference between what Mr. and Mrs. F. S. are prepared to pay down on the house and what the seller requires.

If the seller is really as anxious to sell as they believe that he is, then a very practical solution presents itself in the form of a second mortgage which the seller, himself, might accept. True, he wouldn't get $2,000 of his required $5,000 down payment, for, say, five years (the standard term for a second mortgage), but he would be getting his asking price and collecting interest on the $2,000.

There are always pitfalls in anything of this nature, of course, but if you make sure the agreement is scanned by your lawyer first, there's no reason why the broker's second mortgage idea shouldn't prove a practical way to get this dream house.

* * *

Dear Mr. Campbell: Being pretty new at this game of owning a home, I have no idea of whether our monthly household expenses are in line, or not. There are five of us, my take home pay is about $600, and I figure our incidental household expenses at about $90 a month — or just about equal to our mortgage. Is this out of sight, or isn't it? — Mr. P. L.

ANSWER: It's a shade high, but not seriously so. According to the U.S. National Consumer Finance Association, someone in your position should reconcile yourself to about $83 a month for fuel, light, gas, telephone and other general maintenance. Maybe you're dribbling away too much in licorice whips.

Mr. Campbell welcomes your letters and comments. Unfortunately, he is unable to enter into personal correspondence with readers, but will attempt to answer as many letters as possible through his column.

Bottles Prime Topic

Garbage Useful, Pollution Conference Told

HAMILTON (CP) — A United States pollution control expert suggested Tuesday that the only satisfactory solution to the problem of non-returnable bottles and cans will be development of "bio-degradable" containers.

Paul Haney of Kansas City, Mo., president of the U.S. Water Pollution Control Federation, said scientists should be doing more research into containers which would dissolve in a natural habitat after a "normal" shelf life.

He made the suggestion after a four-member panel at the annual conference of the Canadian Institute on Pollution Control agreed that throw-away containers pose a major threat to environment.

Another delegate to the conference wondered whether science might not eventually come up with edible containers which would completely eliminate the "throw-away menace."

One of the panelists, Prof. Norman Pearson of the University of Guelph's geography department, said a basic objective of pollution control officials must be to change the public's deeply-rooted belief that garbage is something to be thrown away.

Observing that in Japan garbage is used as a building material and in parts of Europe much garbage is sorted for a variety of end uses, he said the public should realize that fortunes can still be made out of refuse.

The professor said government housing authorities should study the possibility of using garbage incinerators to heat housing developments.

Panel moderator Ronald Stoltz, deputy engineer for Chinguacousy Township, west of Toronto, said hoped-for federal government participation in the panel had not materialized because a letter to Prime Minister Trudeau July 16 had never been answered.

Beer Can Flip Top Rings Prove Bugaboo to Parking Meters

TORONTO (CP) — That froth on the top of a can of beer is nothing compared with the froth on the mouth of a serviceman who tries to repair a jammed parking meter.

That little ring on the top of a flip-top beer can is causing nothing but headaches for parking meter companies, says Hugh Oswald, whose firm makes and services meters in the borough of York.

Apparently the whole problem goes back to one person who discovered the ring fitted into a meter and jammed it, says Mr. Oswald of Central Parking Meter Co. in nearby Woodbridge. Then everyone started to get in the act and his repairmen were kept hopping.

It's a big problem in the United States, says Mr. Oswald, but it has only started to crop up in Canada. Summer is always the worst time.

"As the temperatures rise, we find more and more meters jammed. People will always try to beat a machine and when the press plays it up, I think it encourages people or at least gives them the idea."

But Canadian can manufacturers are investigating the problem.

Kenneth Bethune of American Can Co. says his investigators have been keeping close watch on the American problem, but "we aren't aware yet of any major Canadian problem."

Andrew Downie, purchasing manager of Canadian Breweries Ltd., says his company buys the flip-top cans from both Continental and American Can companies, but has had no complaints from major beer agencies.

Continental Can Co. says, however, it is worried about the jamming mushrooming in Canada and plans a change in its rings.

A spokesman said in an interview that by January the company hopes to introduce a ring with dents on each side, making it impossible to fit into a meter.

As the can companies work to nip the problem in the bud, Mr. Oswald has one cheery note. In the hot weather, when kids buy popsicles, his servicemen find more popsicle sticks jammed into meters than beer can rings.

HILDA'S COLUMN

"Getting the most for my money" is what many shoppers are looking for these days. And Loblaws is trying to help you do just that. Spending money is always painful (especially for those of you with larger than average sized families), but Loblaws hopes that by lowering prices and at the same time maintaining the high quality of products and service, you will get the most out of your food dollar.

Hilda Wilson

P.S. a big "thank you" to the people of Cornwall who helped open the newest link in the Loblaw chain last week.

Creativity Amazing

Czech Film Industry Survives Loss of Top Directors

ROME (AP) — Despite the Russian repression and the departure of five top directors to the West, the Czech film industry seems likely to continue its amazing creativity.

For five years the film-makers of Czechoslovakia have astounded the movie world with a series of carefully-wrought features that have captured festival prizes and attracted audiences in many countries. When the Russians and their allies invaded Czechoslovakia in August, film observers feared that flow of highly original films would end.

Such fears seemed to be confirmed when famous Czech directors began turning up in foreign capitals.

Among them were:

Jan Kadar, who directed the popular Shop on the Main Street. He had been in Czechoslovakia filming an American co-production. The company escaped to Vienna, and Kadar now is in New York.

Milos Forman, noted for Loves of a Blonde. He is also in New York and is reported planning a film about American youth.

Ivan Passer, director of Intimate Liking. He was in Paris at the time of the invasion and returned to Prague to find his father, only to discover that the father had escaped to Paris. Now Passer has returned to Paris and is reported in a deal for a British-French production.

Jan Nemec, who directed Diamonds of the Night and Report about the Party and the Guests, which appeared last month at the New York Film Festival. Nemec, who filmed scenes of the invading Russian tanks, got the footage out of the country. He has been in New York.

Jiri Weiss, director of Romeo, Juliet and Darkness. He was in Italy, where his Murder Czech Style won an award at the Taormina Film Festival. He chose to remain in Italy and now is working as consultant on a large film

Jiri Menzel, whose Closely Watched Trains won this year's Academy Award for best foreign language film, was making a movie in Prague at the time of the invasion. He remained in Prague but is scheduled to shoot a film in Italy this winter.

Evald Schorm—Courage for Every Day—also stayed in Czechoslovakia. Karel Zemen—Fabulous World of Jules Verne—had been at the Sorrento Film Festival but returned to Prague.

"The government has asked all Czech artists to return home," reports one of the emigres, "but there seems to be no resentment as long as we are working abroad."

Freedom is the quality that appears to have brought the Czech film into full flower. The turning point was in 1957 when the general manager of the industry, Alois Polednak, decentralized production into five groups, allowing directors more creative liberty than most of their Hollywood counterparts ever enjoyed.

The films sometimes ran afoul of government censorship. Then they were withdrawn for six months and sent to film festivals or re-released with minor cuts.

Now Czech directors are expected to be more careful. But insiders feel the quality of Czech films will not suffer appreciably, even if the absent directors do not return. The Czech system has spawned so many expert directors, including many promising young ones, that the supply of artistic films may continue.

Coverage of Apollo Excellent

NEW YORK (AP) — Television's big show of the week, the coverage of the return of the Apollo 7 astronauts, started Tuesday morning on the three major United States networks before most people were awake.

The live, color program ming provided by the pool coverage was excellent. The big television moment came when the helicop ter landed on the flight deck of the USS Essex and the astronauts stepped out. They moved almost immediately to the car rier's sickbay and out of sight.

During the descent period, there seemed to be little infor mation coming from the mission control spokesman.

In earlier missions this was a time of tension. This time the nervous period was after splash down. The TV reporters on the Essex seemed to have little information for a time, and they were just beginning to fret openly about the men's safety when word came that they had been located by the helicopters.

After that, it seemed, it was only minutes until the planes landed and the men emerged, a tired but and a little wobbly from long confinement. Later, we saw them again briefly, talking with President Johnson by ra dio telephone.

NBC's first made-for TV fea ture film of the season, "Istan bul Express," on Tuesday night was like a reunion with an old friend whose demise has been erroneously reported.

Who would have thought that in the age of the jet plane and the end of the glamorous trans European luxury trains, we'd find Gene Barry, a U.S. secret agent disguised as an art dealer, traveling in Edwardian style and pre-Second World War clothes and dagger danger?

Every familiar device of the train drama was used: the ran sacked compartment, the doped drink, the fight in th ehaggage car, the comedy conductor, even the sniffly British spinster. And there were the mysterious messages, the code words and dead bodies at frequent inter vals. The result was pretty tired stuff played by stock characters Barry?

It was busy but it left all sorts of loose ends. How did Gene Barry arrow himself the injec tion of truth serum to foil the villains? Why did the security man from the train happen to turn up in a dark garage just as they were about to kill Gene

Deficits A Disgrace: Bennett

Leaders Criticize Benson's New Budget

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

With few exceptions, business and political leaders across Canada sharply criticized Finance Minister Benson's budget tabled in the House of Commons Tuesday night.

Premier W. A. C. Bennett of British Columbia said the social development tax of two per cent on personal taxable income is designed "to prevent the provinces from having their legitimate revenue."

He said the expected revenue of $440,000,000 from the new levy during the next fiscal year will go entirely into federal coffers.

"Not at all impressed," was Alberta Treasurer Andera Aalborg's reaction to the budget.

"It gives no signs of coping with the financial problems of the country," and stepped-up corporate taxes will only increase costs and "in a short time will be reflected in higher prices."

However, Saskatchewan Treasurer D. G. Stuart said he was pleased that the income tax was not hit harder.

He said the decision to tax life insurance companies, hitherto almost exempt from federal taxation, was a "move in the right direction."

Finance Minister Gurney Evans of Manitoba said the increase in personal income tax leaves that much less for the provinces and municipalities.

Ontario Treasurer Charles MacNaughton said the federal government ignored the needs of provinces and municipalities for financial relief.

He also said the budget, preceding the federal-provincial meeting on finances Nov. 4 and 5 in Ottawa, has largely nullified efforts to find new approaches on solving national fiscal problems.

Premier Joseph Smallwood of Newfoundland said the budget would impose new taxes "painlessly" upon the Canadian taxpayer.

The federal government "had to have more money . . . and had to get it by taxation, but the taxation is so distributed as not to be too much of a burden on those who will pay."

Roy Atkinson, president of the National Farmers' Union, said the two-per-cent social development tax is "retrogressive at a time of recession and inflation" which has hit the major sectors of the population.

But he was in favor of taxation on life insurance companies and said that a clamp-down on depletion allowances in mining was long overdue.

K. R. MacGregor, president of the Canadian Life Insurance Association, said he was shocked and surprised at the way the insurance industry was singled out for taxation.

A. W. Anderson, executive vice-president of London Life Insurance Co. of London, Ont., said "basically it seems to me that this tax on the life insurance industry will be borne by the policyholders."

John L. Bonus, managing director of the Mining Association of Canada, said that any tightening of regulations on depletion allowances for gas, oil wells and mines would weaken the ability of the Canadian mineral industry to compete on an international level.

Gordon Milling, Canadian research director for the United Steelworkers of America, said:

"The government has once again reached into the pockets of those whose pockets are easiest to pick."

Dennis McDermott, director of the United Auto Workers, predicted that the development tax will spur unions to press for higher wages as a means of easing the tax bite.

S. E. Nixon, president of the Investment Dealers Association of Canada, said the budget is "a second-best effort" to control inflation.

E. P. Neufeld, professor of economics at the University of Toronto, said the budget contains no proposals designed explicitly to cope with inflation at a time of relatively high unemployment.

L. F. Wills, first vice-president of the Canadian Manufacturers Association, said:

"Industry and the individual taxpayer . . . are once again required to bail the government out of the deep water in which it finds itself as a result of the inexcusable overspending of all levels of government."

A favorable view came from Douglas Sherbaniuk, director of the Canadian Tax Foundation, who said the budget "makes impressive use of the government's fiscal armor."

". . . the finance minister . . . has proposed practical measures which accord with an equitable tax."

A. W. Purdy, president of the Canadian Construction Association, criticized the budget for "ignoring" the 13-per-cent federal sales tax on construction materials.

G. Arnold Hart, chairman of the Bank of Montreal, said the budget, in an over-all sense, meets the "over-riding concern" of bring "inflationary pressures under control."

No Relief in Sight

Defence Spending Nears Post-war High

OTTAWA (CP) — Defence spending shot up $114,000,000 in the last fiscal year to $1,754,000,000.

This is just $5,000,000 under the post-war high of 1956-57.

And no relief appears in sight despite original governmental arguments that unification of the armed forces would save $100,000,000 a year for five years in a row, or a total of $500,000,000.

Finance Minister Edgar Benson in his budget speech Tuesday night estimated defence spending in the current fiscal year at $1,746,000,000 or $8,000,000 under the 1967-68 figure.

Only a month ago, the government forecast defence expenditures in the current fiscal year at $1,714,000,000 or $32,000,000 below the dudget figure.

Early next year, the government will present a 1969-70 defence budget which may be a peacetime record.

Defence Minister Leo Cadieux has already said there will be a new increase for the armed forcesnow numbering about 100,000 personnel compared with 123,000 five years ago—on top of the 14-per-cent boost granted in the last two years.

Moreover, the North Atlantic Treaty Organization and in particular two of its members, the United States and Britain, are putting pressure on Canada not to reduce its military strength, especially in Europe.

Informants say this pressure has become so intense that External Affairs Minister Mitchell Sharp will interrupt his Latin American tour for a few days next month to fly to Brussels for a special mid-November NATO ministerial meeting.

The Atlantic Treaty Association at its annual assembly in Lisbon last week called on Canada to maintain its military strength, in Europe: Some 11,000 men in an infantry brigade and six-squadron air division.

The association is a private group but tends to reflect official thinking in most or all 15 NATO countries.

The Canadian defence department has already announced closing of one of Canada's three bomber bases in West Germany next summer. The two squadrons on the base may be disbanded rather than incorporated into the remaining four, informants say.

Canada is considering, however, whether to enter a NATO consortium for development and production of a new fighter-bomber.

Informants say the initial co would be small but would guarantee a Canadian share in the production of an estimated 1,000 planes.

Federal Government Retains All Levy

OTTAWA (CP) — Personal income tax goes up Jan. 1 by an extra two cents on the taxable dollar to a maximum increase of $120 a year under budget proposals announced Tuesday night by Finance Minister Benson.

The new two-per-cent levy on taxable income, christened social development tax, would go entirely into federal coffers rather than being shared like basic income tax with the provinces. It would raise an additional $140,000,000 in a full year, the minister estimated.

Starting with payroll deductions in January, for example, the single taxpayer earning $5,000 a year and paying $739 in tax now will be docked an additional $78 in a year of $1.50 a week.

The married taxpayer earning $5,000 annually and with two dependent children, assessed for about $376 in annual tax now, will have to pay an extra $46 a year or 88 cents a week.

The maximum levy of $120 a year for social development tax comes into play at an annual income of about $7,500 for the single taxpayer and at about $10,000 for the married taxpayer with or without dependents. Incomes any higher would only be assessed $120 for the new tax.

In effect, the new tax will be parallel to the present old age security tax of four per cent up to a maximum of $240 annually on personal taxable income.

Although the federal government will retain all the new tax, it will be part of general revenue rather than being put into a special fund like the old age security tax.

"I recognize that provincial governments will be concerned about Parliament using any form of income tax at this time when clearly the provinces would like to get a larger share of it," Mr. Benson said.

"I believe however that the total income tax including this addition and the higher rates of provincial tax applicable in Manitoba and Saskatchewan is within the capacity of Canadians to bear," he added in what seemed a suggestion that other provinces would still have leeway to increase taxes.

Mr. Benson included the social development tax under the heading of changes to help close the gap between spending and revenue that will result from such developments as the scheduled expiry at the end of 1970 of the three-per-cent income tax surcharge imposed last spring.

He said he considered instead increasing the present federal sales tax of 12 per cent, but concluded the new direct tax would be "fairest and best," keeping in mind a desire to keep down prices.

New Levy Tax Table

OTTAWA (CP) — Following tables illustrate the effect on three classes of taxpayers of Finance Minister Benson's social development tax of two per cent on taxable income.

In each table, columns of figures show:

Second, present combined federal and provincial tax, including temporary surtax and old age security tax, in all provinces except Quebec, Manitoba and Saskatchewan. The taxpayer is assumed to be taking the standard deduction of $100 for medical expenses and charitable donations.

Third, proposed surtax.

"...and that's Harriet's younger sister—she always wanted contact lenses, but she was positive she'd have to have her eyes pierced first."

We're Now Paying For Kisses: MP

OTTAWA (CP) — The tax increases in the federal budget came after plenty of warning.

Former finance minister Mitchell Sharp laid down the government financial line almost a year ago, saying the government would have to trim its spending to arrest its borrowing and pay for new programs out of new taxes.

Prime Minister Trudeau, before becoming Liberal leader and during the election campaign, said that in the final analysis the taxpayers had to foot the bill for government programs.

And harking back to the kisses bestowed by and on the prime minister during the campaign, Creditiste Leader Real Caouette said Tuesday night: "We're going to have to pay for all those kisses from now on."

Finance Minister Benson now has put the earlier warnings and assertions into terms of dollars. Taxes will be increased $55,000,000 in the balance of this fiscal year, which runs to next March 31, and $845,000,000 in the next fiscal year.

The latter figure is the biggest increase in federal taxing in any single year, including the years of the Second World War.

Mr. Benson contends, however, it is not all new and additional taxes. Some $330,000,000 of it represents speeded-up payment of corporation profits taxes, without a change in the rate of company taxes.

Out of the total increase, $440,000,000 comes next year in the two-per-cent special tax on taxable income, up to a limit of $120 for each taxpayer, starting next Jan. 1.

Mr. Benson called this a social development tax, but the funds go into the general revenues of the government for any use—not necessarily for social development alone.

There is a principle of modern economic thought on government financing called cyclical budgeting. The idea is that when times are good, taxes can be raised and spending cut to dampen down an overheated economy. When times are bad, taxes are cut and spending is increased to encourage more economic activity.

Some political cynics offer another interpretation of cyclical budgeting. It is to raise taxes right after a general election so that they can be lowered just before the next election, and entice voter support.

Busy Day Ahead

Finance Minister E. J. Benson has a spot of breakfast and reads the morning newspaper in his office on Parliament Hill, Ottawa. He introduced his first budget in the House of Commons last night. (CP Wirephoto)

Property to Widow: No Tax

Reforms Made in Gift, Estate Taxes

OTTAWA (CP) —Immediate sweeping reforms in estate and gift taxes were announced in the budget speech Tuesday night by Finance Minister Benson.

The change of greatest importance extends completely property passing outright to a widow or widower upon the death of the spouse, no matter which one of every four estates.

The new provision replaces the existing exemption of $60,000 when there is a surviving widow or a surviving infirm widower with a dependent child.

The major exemption and a series of others mean that fewer persons will pay the two taxes. Revenue to the federal and provincial governments will remain about the same because higher rates will apply to property and gifts still ruled taxable.

For example, the new top rate of gift tax will be 75 per cent instead of 28 per cent.

One other important exemption will apply in certain cases where property is transferred at death in the form of a trust.

This would include a trust under which only the spouse has the right to use the property or the income from it. Such property has been subject to tax on the death of the person leaving the trust.

However, trust property exempted on the death of the first spouse will be included in the estate of the surviving spouse when he or she dies.

Under the new gift tax, gifts from a person to his spouse will be exempt, the meaning of "gift" will be broadened, rates will be increased, and a cumulative concept for additional gifts will be applied.

The changes in the estate and gift taxes are, in effect, a rejection of the Carter royal commission's contention that gifts and property transfers should be included in income like other items.

* * *

New estate tax exemptions will also apply to children, as follows:

—An additional $1,000 a year for each healthy child for each year until the child reaches 25. The maximum under this provision is $25,000 and amounts are reduced if the child earns more than $5,000 for each of three years.

—An additional $1,000 a year, with a $30,000 limit, for an infirm, wholly dependent child until he reaches 71.

Existing exemptions are $15,000 for an orphaned child and $10,000 for each child when there is a surviving widow or infirm widower. There is no exemption for children when there is a surviving, healthy widower.

Because of the new exemptions, the general exemption applying where there is no surviving widow or infirm widower is reduced to $20,000 from $40,000.

The taxable value of an estate is affected immediately by any gifts made after tonight—one of the links that will bind estate and gift tax provisions more closely.

A transfer of property by a husband during his lifetime to a simple trust paying income to his wife will be exempt of gift tax.

However, the assets in the trust will be included in the wife's estate on her death. The same provisions apply to transfers from a wife to her husband.

The gift-tax rates of up to 75 per cent will be graduated to make gift taxes about the same as the estate taxes otherwise payable at death.

Stops for Haircut

Minister Pores Over Budget

OTTAWA (CP) — Finance Minister Edgar Benson spent most of Tuesday alone in his office before entering the Commons at 8 p.m. EDT for his budget speech, the first of the Trudeau administration.

From his arrival at about 9:30 a.m., until going to the Commons for his speech, Mr. Benson didn't stir from his Parliament Hill suite.

He ate all three meals there and aside from his own staff and family, saw no visitors during the day.

An aide said the chartered accountant from Kingston, Ont., took much of his time going over his speech.

Mr. Benson stopped for a haircut on his way to the office Tuesday morning. Once behind his desk, he had an instant breakfast consisting of a vanilla-flavored powder in milk and a fried-egg sandwich.

It was sandwiches again for lunch and supper. His wife, Marie Louise, came down from Kingston to join him for the late meal in his office.

His three sons also arrived in the capital to watch Mr. Benson make his speech.

No 'Baby Budget' --It's A Monster

OTTAWA (CP) — Low whistles drifted across the green carpet of the Commons Tuesday night as Finance Minister Edgar Benson, wearing the "yellow rose of taxes" in his grey lapel, delivered a tough budget speech.

Intent, well-dressed lobbyists, some college boys and a few average Joes sat silently in the filled public galleries as Mr. Benson rolled out the big federal figures in a husky but clear voice.

About 80 of the 264 MPs were absent as Mr. Benson began speaking. It took him 86 minutes to read the 11,800-word address.

"I think it will be obvious to all that this is no baby budget," he said towards the end.

"It's a monster," replied a Conservative.

But there was little heckling. Applause broke his delivery only six times.

A low incredulous whistle came as Mr. Benson spoke of this year's deficit, before his new taxes, of $730,000,000.

There was more whistling as Mr. Benson outlined the cost of federal-provincial programs in education, health and welfare.

Members applauded the finance minister as he spoke of government determination to carry out the medical care insurance program that went into effect last July 1.

Mr. Benson outlined his tax changes, breaking the good news about estate taxes first, going on to plans to tax insurance companies next, and leaving the least popular—a two-per-cent tax on taxable income—until the end.

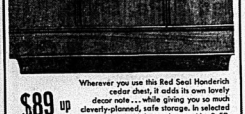
Mr. Benson, who appeared self-conscious as he entered the House, quickly hit his stride.

Two Quebec Colleges Still Not Operating

QUEBEC (CP) — The Quebec legislature's committee on education was scheduled today to discuss the province's student revolt which began to fizzle out Tuesday after two weeks of strikes and sit-ins.

All but two junior colleges in the provinces were operating normally Tuesday as the legislature resumed its sitting after a 109-day recess.

At the height of the protests Oct. 10 of the provinces 23 junior colleges were occupied by students.



In the Montreal area—were Education Minister Jean-Guy Cardinal had set Monday as a deadline for students to return to class, threatening to force them to start the term over again if they remained on strike.

The students claimed there is not enough French-language university accommodation for them when the first graduates leave the junior colleges next year.

They also have complained about cutbacks in scholarship money and increased interest rates for student loans.

The Benson Bite

Life Insurance Taxes Would Gross $95 Million

OTTAWA (CP) — Special tax concessions that permit the life insurance industry in Canada to pay far lower taxes than other businesses should be ended, Finance Minister Benson said Tuesday night.

He proposed in his budget speech that the life insurance industry be taxed in general the same as any other industry. However, he specified a number of suggested rules to take into account the companies' responsibilities to policyholders.

He also proposed that policyholders who make a profit by cashing in or selling a policy be taxed on this additional income. It would apply only to income accruing to the policy after today.

Mr. Benson noted that the life insurance industry now is taxed only on amounts set aside for shareholders during the year.

This was only a small fraction of the business income of shareholder-owned companies, and it allowed mutual companies and fraternal organizations to escape.

The proposed changes—and the industry is to be consulted in drawing up some of the regulations—would increase total revenues in the next fiscal year by about $55,000,000, including $10,008,000 for the provinces.

In 1967, the companies paid less than $3,000,000 in taxes.

Mr. Benson admitted that applying income tax rules to the industry may cause a "moderate increase" in premium rates of new policies and a "moderate reduction" in policy dividends to be paid in future on many outstanding participating policies.

"On balance, however, the gain in revenue to us and to the provinces and the gain in equity in treating different channels of savings more fairly would outweigh the disadvantages."

The changes could even help the industry, he suggested, by removing the uncertainties about its tax situation which has been hanging over its head for years.

"It could lead to new combinations of basic insurance protection and savings in various forms, perhaps making more effective use of the provisions for registered retirement savings plans."

These proposals mark the first implementation of recommendations in the 1967 report of the Carter royal commission on taxation.

Mr. Benson said a change is needed in handling the case of a policyholder who cashes in or sells his policy before he dies because this return can represent real investment income.

The amount which would be added to his taxable income would be the proceeds from the policy less what it cost the holder.

For policies already in existence, the taxpayer would be able to use as his cost to date the cash surrender value of his policy on its next anniversary.

That would ensure that the tax would apply only to investment income earned on the policy after today, the finance minister said.

He proposed special rules to cover bringing the industry under corporation tax regulations because of problems in measuring its income.

One would deal with deductions to be allowed the companies to provide for their policy reserves.

These reserves are made up of amounts set aside from premiums received from policyholders to build up funds to pay benefits.

Details on how these reserves are to be computed are to be set out in regulations drawn up with the help of the industry.

Companies would be allowed to deduct policy dividends in computing their tax, provided they were paid out of profits from the participating life insurance business.

Mr. Benson said it would be hard to find a practical way of taxing policyholders for investment income which benefits them by reduced premiums or increased dividends, so he proposed a 15-per-cent tax on the companies' investment income.

Vigorous Co-operation Expected

OTTAWA (CP) — The federal government will seek "vigorous co-operation" from the provinces in holding down the growth of jointly-financed programs, Finance Minister Benson said in his budget speech Tuesday night.

These costs are among the hardest to control and are part of the reason the government substantially underestimated the growth of expenditures this year, he said.

Mr. Benson noted that he will meet provincial finance ministers next month and probably health ministers as well in an effort to hold down costs.

Economy and efficiency were also needed in the field of higher education, but major policy issues had to be considered.

First Steps

Tax Reform Evident in Budget

OTTAWA (CP) — The first elements of thoroughgoing reform in Canada's tax system arrived with the budget delivered Tuesday night by Finance Minister Edgar Benson.

Stepped-up taxation of insurance companies, banks and mortgage loan companies, changes in gift and estate taxes, and more complete reporting of interest and dividend payments all spell a different tax approach.

But as Mr. Benson said Tuesday night, the various changes "stand on their own."

The reforms to be presented as a draft bill early next year will be inseparable.

They will deal primarily with corporation and personal income taxes and the way they will be "shared" by the federal and provincial governments.

Mr. Benson hinted at a post-budget news conference that some form of "single taxes" may wipe out tax-sharing as it now is known.

John Diefenbaker, the former Conservative prime minister, and Mitchell Sharp, Mr. Benson's predecessor in finance, both tried to reinterpret the tax-sharing concept in a way to suggest that the federal and provincial income taxes are separate levies.

Mr. Sharp said each level of government should be responsible for its income taxes and for adjusting them as necessary to meet expenditures.

The provinces have demanded that the federal government continue to make "tax room," reducing its corpdrate and personal income taxes to permit provincial increases without adding to total taxes levied.

This is the area of toughest political sledding for the government next year, and Mr. Benson is not counting on getting his new system in effect before 1970.

But he is likely to accept few more of the major Carter commission recommendations on taxation in view of the government's announcement last Nov. 30 that it will work from the existing system in its changes.

Tuesday night's reforms accept Carter tips on tax-free reserves of banks and mortgage companies and on unreported interest and dividend payments. But they run an independent course on insurance-company taxation and the gift and estate taxes.

Year of Restraint Ahead

OTTAWA (CP) — Finance Minister Benson Tuesday night pledged another year of severe restraint on federal government spending to check inflation.

In a fiscal review leading up to tax change proposals in his budget speech, Mr. Benson said 1969-70 budgetary spending will increase by $800,000,000 or only 5½ per cent with the exception of a $335,000,000 bill for medical care insurance.

He promised other market borrowers he would not compete with them to find revenues to meet budgetary commitments.

Mr. Benson said the economy is expanding, but it is a case of "prosperity with problems."

"We do face serious problems . . . in organizing our economic advance and expansion, in managing it and in financing it."

A generally buoyant outlook was marred by problems facing prairie farmers and by unemployment in Quebec and the Atlantic provinces. A damaging upward spiral of prices and costs had not been broken.

Firm anti-inflationary policies would be necessary in 1969 to prevent a new round of increases.

The finance minister forecast a gross national product, or total output of goods and services, of $67,000,000,000 in the calendar year 1968, up eight per cent from 1967.

About 3½ per cent of the gain would be illusory, in the form of price increases.

For 1969 he forecast a GNP growth of between seven and eight per cent, with a better price performance.

But he added:

"I think we shall continue to face a situation where both the level of unemployment in some areas and the rate of increases in prices will give us concern."

Mr. Benson directed a strong plea to the provinces to "recognize our problems."

He compared the growth in spending by all levels of government, Between 1957 and 1967, this total grew by $12,500,000,000 to $23,200,000,000. Eliminating various transfer payments in the provinces, Ottawa's share of the increase was $4,000,000,000.

Programs financed jointly by the federal and provincial governments, such as aid to post-secondary education and hospital insurance, were among the fastest-growing.

Mr. Benson said the federal government borrowed a net $628,000,000 in the Canadian capital market between April 1 and Oct. 16. Further borrowings in the fiscal year would depend "importantly" on the Canada Savings Bond campaign, in which the government anticipates a record sale.

He said that next year the government would borrow $600,000,000 to $700,000,000 for housing, nuclear and special power projects, the St. Lawrence Seaway, Air Canada, the CNR and other crown agencies.

But these borrowings "alone will pre-empt most or all of what we should expect to borrow next year in competition with other borrowers in the capital and credit markets."

Tanner to Fight for First Canadian Medal Tonight

Tanner Churns Toward Record

17-Year-Old Swimmer Set Mark Twice Already in Backstroke Event

MEXICO CITY (CP) — The chips are down tonight for Elaine Tanner in the pressure-packed Olympics.

She has a little more than a minute to make and complete her play in a winner-take-all bid for fame.

The 17-year-old Vancouver-born swimmer, now living in Winnipeg, is the hottest woman backstroker in the Olympic pool.

She set a Games record for the second time within a week Tuesday in the women's 100-metre backstroke, then announced that tonight, her next time out, she will be after the world record.

Last week, Elaine lowered the Olympic backstroke mark of 1:07.7 for 100 metres to 1:07.6 in the opening leg of the 400-metre medley relay.

In two winning heat efforts Tuesday, she equalled the mark and lowered it again to 1:07.4.

The Canadian team hasn't a medal to show for its 10 days of competition, but it got a couple of more points in swimming Tuesday and now has a total of 16.

Ralph Hutton of Ocean Falls, B.C., led all the qualifiers into today's 400-metre freestyle semi-finals and in women's diving Beverley Boys of Pickering, Ont., was in a good position for a medal-off the high board.

Five gold medals were awarded Tuesday—three in swimming, one in shooting and one in fencing.

Debbie Meyer of the United States led an American sweep in the women's 200-metre freestyle in 2:10.5, the fifth U.S. sweep in the swim...

But Roland Matthes of East Germany, the world record-holder in the men's 100-metre backstroke, won his specialty in 58.7. Americans Charles Hickcox and Ronald Mills, were second and third respectively.

But the surprise of the swimming meet was Felipe Munoz, 17, who won Mexico's first-ever swimming gold medal in the men's 200-metre breaststroke in 2:28.7, edging Russian world record-holder Vladimir Kosinsky. Brian Job, 16, an American, was third.

It was only the host country's third gold medal in Olympic history and the first in these Games for Latin America.

Hornets Grab First

GALT (CP) — Galt Hornets jumped into first place in the Ontario Hockey Association Senior series Tuesday with a 7-4 victory over Woodstock A's.

Howie Dietrich and Vance Millar led a 48-shot assault on rookie goalie Sunny Pennington by scoring a pair of goals each. Joe Hogan, Pete Brennen and Bob Ertel were the other scorers.

BELLEVILLE, ONTARIO, WEDNESDAY, OCTOBER 23, 1968 29

by Maurice Switzer
Sports Editor

If Bobby Hull put the same muscle into signing his new Chicago Black Hawk contract as he had Saturday night behind a slapshot that shell-shocked Toronto goalie Al Smith, no amount of carpentry skill could ever restore Billy Reay's desktop.

That slapshot, from just inside the Toronto blueline in the third period of a 2-1 Black Hawk win, was actually caught by Smith, but was literally too hot to handle and kept right on going between the pipes.

Hull's blast from the blue was just an indication of what his new term of employment holds in place for Chicago fans. The Golden Jet saw power play and penalty-killing duty and it was almost as if Black Hawk management wanted to prove to the hockey world that here, indeed, WAS a player worth a $100,000 salary.

That infamous Oct. 10 "retirement" announcement, Hull's detractors now claim, was nothing more than a threat to pry his salary demands from Hawk management — either he'd get the pay cheque he wanted or he'd never play in a Black Hawk uniform again.

And, in a way, that isn't a totally incorrect assessment of the issue.

But the key to the "retirement or bargaining" quandary lies in Hull's own words . . . like those in his brief, 67-word press statement bombshell saying " . . . It is with a great deal of regret and much sadness that I face the fact my contribution to the Black Hawks and hockey is a matter of dispute."

Or those in a telephone conversation, which smacked of genuine disappointment as Hull said " . . . when the Black Hawks don't think I'm worth what I ask of them, I guess it's time to quit."

If we can go by the opinions of those who know Hull as a gentleman on or off the ice, it's absolutely realistic that hockey's most exciting player meant exactly what he said.

And why would anyone in Hull's position have to resort to double talk? He knows his abilities, his popularity, and his value to the sport that capitalizes on both those assets.

Everybody makes money using Bobby Hull's name, so why not Bobby Hull?

As for a retirement at career-peak, Hull startled the hockey world a few years ago when he said he would have no qualms about leaving his sport. It was like any other job, he reasoned.

This was too much for the diehards who think once the dizzy heights of the NHL are attained, a player is obliged to uphold the tradition of skating into his arthritic years.

Don't think the Black Hawks didn't take Hull seriously — they'd have thrown a herd of Herefords into his new contract if he'd asked for it.

Juniors Put 5-2 Clamps on Kingston

By MALCOLM JOHNSTON
Staff Sportswriter

The Belleville Morrison's Junior "B" hockey club is happy today that young John McConnell turned down other hockey offers to join their line-up this winter. Last night in Kingston, McConnell and linemates Ray Summers and Floyd Baverstock sparked the locals to a 3-2 victory over the Kingston Junior "B" Frontenacs, which evened the Morrison's record at a win, a loss and a tie.

McConnell was a late cut of the O.H.A. Junior "A" Kitchener Rangers, after attending their training camp for a week and a half. John then returned home to Picton, turning down offers to play Junior "A" hockey in North Bay and Intermediate hockey in Picton, in order to play Junior "B" in Belleville.

"I want to play junior hockey while I can," McConnell said. "I can always play intermediate later." The 17-year-old left winger has two years of junior hockey eligibility remaining, and last night the Morrisons were glad he decided to use them.

McConnell opened the scoring at the 3.5 second mark of the first period in a scramble and less than a minute later, Baver-stock made it 2-0 for Belleville. Tracey got one goal back for Kingston just over two minutes later, but exactly one minute passed before McConnell made it 3-1 for the Morrisons. Ross of Kingston rounded out the first period scoring when he narrowed the count to 3-2 at the 7.06 mark, while Greg Burkitt was sitting out a cross-checking penalty.

The second period saw the locals bombard Kingston goalie Clyde Harris with 20 shots, many from in close. But Harris stopped McConnell on a breakaway and robbed Baverstock twice, as he shut out the Morrisons in this stanza.

Young Wayne Brown gave Belleville an insurance marker at 11:14 of the final period with Brennan off for hooking and cantain Ray Summers put the icing on the cake with the Morrisons fifth marker at 15:35 of the last period.

Summers set penalty-killing when he stole the pass-out in the Kingston end and banged the puck past Harris.

Coach Floyd Crawford was pleased with his club's performance. "We're always happy to win a game on the road. The club played the way I wanted them to. It was a very fine team effort, and I'm more than satisfied with the result."

Afternoon at 2:15 against Peterborough. Of this game coach Crawford said: "I'm looking forward to another good team effort in what should be a good, close game."

Seals Shade Stars To Pace Division Teams

By SCOTT BUTTON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Just when Oakland Seals crease some excitement, Gordie Howe comes along and yanks them right out of the spotlight.

The Seals were a resounding failure last season when they made their debut in the National Hockey League. They finished last in the Western Division, and fans at Oakland stayed away.

But the Seals have arrived. They defeated Minnesota North Stars 3-2 Tuesday night to move into first place in the Western Division with their second win in a row.

It was the only action scheduled in the NHL Tuesday night, and it looked as if the Seals had stolen the show. Then, the word came that Howe had inked a new two-year contract with Detroit Red Wings.

The new contract gives Howe, a headliner in the NHL for more than 20 years, an increase in salary of at least 75 per cent. The 40-year-old right winger had started this season on the second year of a two-year contract.

Swarbrick's goal, his first of the season, came at 15:59 of the final period and was the winner before a crowd of 9,548 at Minneapolis.

North Stars goalie Gary Bauman replaced starter Cesare Maniago after the first period because Maniago had a case of "nerves". Minnesota manager-coach Wren Blair said.

The victory gave the division-leading Seals five points, one more than Minnesota and St. Louis Blues.

Howe had asked general manager Sid Abel of Detroit if his contract could be renegotiated because of the increased number of games in the NHL. The schedule jumped to 74 games from 70 last season and to 76 this year.

Howe also was offered a vice-presidency in Olympia Agencies Inc., by Red Wing president Bruce Norris. It is a corporate insurance company owned by Norris.

"Insurance arrangements have not been finalized, but I am very interested as I do not know how many more years I will be able to play," Howe said in an interview Tuesday night.

Dartmouth Paddler in Final After Placing Third in Canoe Singles

MEXICO CITY (CP) — Chris Hook of Dartmouth, N.S., paddled his way into an Olympic final with a strong third-place finish Tuesday in the Canadian singles heats.

He was the only Canadian to advance directly to the finals as heats were run off in all seven kayak and canoe events. The others get a second chance in the repechages today:

Ivan Patzaichin of Romania won Hook's heat in four minutes 28.3 seconds. Ove Emanuelsson of Sweden preserved his lead over Hook to take second in 4:34.4.

The fastest three in each race moved ahead, while all others have to enter the repechages, or second-chance heats.

Qualifiers for the Canadian singles final were Patzaichin, Emanuelsson, Hook, Detlef Lewe of West Germany, Tibor Tatai of Hungary and Jiri Cevertecka of Czechoslovakia.

Hook's time was 4:34.9.

The 21-year-old Dartmouth salesman, Canada's top canoeist for the last two years, had a comfortable margin over Russia's champion, Vitaly Galkov. The Russian was fourth and must try to fight his way back through the repechages.

Lewe won the other Canadian singles heat in a fast 4:24.5. He beat Tatai, who was timed in 4:25.5 and moved into the final along with Evertecka.

Galov Joe of Toronto came fifth in his heat in the kayak singles, while Arpad Simonyik of Montreal and Jean Barre of Quebec City were sixth and last in their heat in the kayak pairs. Badly outraced, Simonyik and Barre trailed even the Ivory Coast, a novice in Olympic paddling.

The Canadian kayak four, made up of Simonyik, Wolfgang Ruck of Toronto, Joo and Barre, was also sixth and last. A closing sprint failed to overtake fifth-place Mexico.

In the women's kayak doubles, Claudia Hust of Ottawa and Betty-Ann Gowans of Montreal wound up fifth after making a spirited bid for fourth spot in their heat.

Fourth was taken by the U.S. boat. The Canadian girls had a good lead over last-place Mexico.

Marjorie Homer-Dixon of Port Credit, Ont., was sixth and last in her heat of the women's kayak singles.

The men all paddled 1,000 metres, the women 500.

West Germany's 1964 gold medallists in the women's kayak doubles, Annemarie Zimmermann and Roswitha Esser, provided the most impressive triumph of the day with a sparkling 1:59.5 in their heat.

Other countries passing directly into the final in this event were Romania, Russia, Hungary, East Germany and Holland.

Passing to the finals in the women's kayak singles were Ludmila Pinaeva of Russia, Anna Pfeffer of Hungary, Iva Vavrova of Czechoslovakia, Viorica Dumitru of Romania, Renate Breuer of West Germany and Mieke Jaspies of Holland.

In the men's kayak fours, Romania, Norway, Finland, Hungary, Russia, Poland, Austria, East Germany and Sweden passed to the finals.

Sports On All Fronts

(CP) — Cincinnati Royals rallied in the second half Tuesday night to dump Los Angeles Lakers 107-103 in National Basketball Association action. Oscar Robertson paced the Royals with 28 points while Jerry Lucas chipped in with 20. Elgin Baylor had 34 points for the Lakers, tops in the game at Cincinnati. At New York, Cazzi Russell exploded for three baskets in the final two minutes to lead New York Knicks to a 117-111 win over Philadelphia 76ers. Walt Bellamy of the Knicks and Chet Walker of Philadelphia each had 21 points. Joe Ellis scored 14 third-quarter points and led San Francisco Warriors to a 109-101 decision over the visiting Phoenix Suns. Rudy LaRusso and Nate Thurmond had 22 points for the Warriors. Suns' Gail Goodrich had 29.

* * *

TORONTO (CP) — Jim Evenson of British Columbia Lions has become the first Canadian Football League player this year to gain 1,000 yards rushing. CFL statistics issued Tuesday show the Western Conference star with 1,047 yards on the season on 210 carries. Evenson has a five-yard average and leads the conference in rushing.

* * *

MEXICO CITY (CP) — Evgeny Petrov of the Soviet Union won the Olympic gold medal for skeet shooting Tuesday, after a shoot-off with Romano Garagnani of Italy and Konrad Wirnhier of West Germany. Garagnina won the silver medal, Wirnhier the bronze. All three finished the regular competition with a score of 198 out of a possible 200. Petrov won the first 25 shots of the shoot-off with a perfect 25. Garagnani and Wirnhier each scored 24.

After Delay

Court Clowns Prove Entertaining

The Harlem Diplomats knew not how to find their way to Quinte Secondary School last night, and were late arriving for their exhibition game.

But they knew very well how to find their way around the court in an entertaining and highly successful manner.

The all-Negro basketball stars defeated a Quinte Secondary squad of teachers and students 56-32 in a game sponsored by the QSS Boys' Athletic Association.

High scorers for the Diplomats were Goose Tatum Jr. with 20 points and "Jumping Jack" Cook with 12.

* Leo Baker led the Quinte attack with 12 points.

The attendance was 480 and the Quinte Secondary School Boys' Athletic Association raised $166 as their share of the gate receipts.

The Diplomats play exhibition games across Canada and also abroad and as Quinte's Ricke Locke, a game official last night, said: "It was an amusing and successful night as the Diplomats' antics were enjoyed by fans and opponents alike."

Hawks Could Be Tops In This Year of Upsets

By GEORGE H. CARVER

Benny's Hideaway, that downtown watering place, has been the home of the blues since the St. Louis Cardinals found eighth-innings Tigers in their tanks.

But the majority of the hoipolloi, the suds-imbibing peasantry of the south-side bank of the oasis, rang the welkin with foam-topped salutes to the comeback tiger cubs from south of the border down Windsor way.

But as the buxom dowager said when she discarded her ten-year-old girdle, "off with the old and on with the new".

Following the interment of the Cardinals with certain ritual, and messages of tongue-in-cheek condolence to the wallet-stricken members of the upper echelon, the "O" board of strategy went into solemn conclave to decide the NHL situation and give their annual prediction of what is to be — or should be.

There were O'Heavers; O'Hills; O'Mears, O'Mahoney and O' Cook at the panel table. Former public relations chief O' Carver took in the proceedings by remote control from a special office in the men's powder boudoir.

The meeting was quiet-well as quiet as usual — punctiated by occasional hand-smothered burps. Hackles rose and fell at times but with a minimum of noise since long hair and sideburns are out according to the verbal constitution.

A toast was given to the absent O'McGee but his vote was not needed since the majority raised their glasses in the 1968-69 NHL champions, repeaters from Mayor Drapeau's pulla-de-puck down Montreal way.

Goblets of pea-soup were raised in silent toast to the "memory" of Toe Blake former Canadiens coach and to the Habs in general.

Sad of mien and long of face was the lone "holdout" to the majority opinion, Pat O'Meara, whose loyalty to the Chicago Black Hawks for so many years has been rewarded by the Windy City club naming a stockyard after him.

When the majority voted in favor of the Habs to cop the Stanley pewterware this season, he defiantly hurled a salt-shaker over his left shoulder and muttered something that sounded like "Thell wid yes all".

"Listen you guys" said O' Mush, "I'll go along with you that the Canadians will take it all. With their strength and bench, they need a coach like Santa Claus needs an extra reindeer. Their cart is drawing the horse. And all respect to Claude Roel. But. . .

"Remember this is the year of the big upsets. The proud Cardinals cost their backers plenty. The Green Bay Packers look like an ordinary football team. The Toronto Argonauts could surprise the proud Ottawa, Rough Riders and Hamilton Tiger Cats. Tennis titles have changed hands. With Bobby Hull back the Hawks will be the next upset champs.

"So there!"

Howard Made Coach

NEW YORK (AP) — Elston Howard, a former Most Valuable Player, and Dick Howser have been named coaches with New York Yankees, general manager Lee MacPhail announced Tuesday.

Howard, who won the MVP award with the Yankees in 1963, announced his retirement as an active player Monday. He spent the 1967 season with Boston Red Sox, hitting .241 in 71 games.

Howard, who will be the Yankees' first base coach, becomes the second active Negro coach in the major leagues. Jim Gilliam of Los Angeles Dodgers is the other.

Generals Score in Trade

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont. (CP) — Led by Tom Foxcroft, Oshawa Generals of the Ontario Hockey Association Junior A Series have earned an early-season profit from their off-season trade with Toronto Marlboros.

Foxcroft, one of five players acquired from Marlboros in exchange for Dale Tallon, has 14 points for a share of the series scoring lead with three other players.

Also tied for first place are Bob Walton and Phil Roberto, both of Niagara Falls Flyers, and Pierre Jarry of Ottawa 67s. Roberto is tied with Skeeter Teal of St. Catharines Black Hawks for the most assists, 10, and Don Tannahill of Niagara Falls leads in goals with nine.

Rick Kessell, tied for second place with 13 points, and Bob Kelly, four points behind the leaders, are two other Generals' players involved in the Toronto-Oshawa trade.

Jim Rutherford of Hamilton Red Wings, the leading goal-tender, has allowed only six goals for a 1.29 goals-against average. Pete Kostek of Peterborough Petes is next with a 3.20 average for five games.

Vehicles Have Improved; Drivers Haven't Kept Pace

DETROIT, Mich. (CP) — Vehicles have been improved in recent years, but drivers have not, Irwin Haskett, Ontario transport minister, told a conference of car-safety experts here Tuesday.

"We have not made substantial progress in improving the driver," he told a luncheon meeting at the 12th Strapp Car Crash Conference. "He still does things wrong.

"Until or unless this situation changes, we are not going to get a real breakthrough in achieving a greater level of safety."

"There is often a vast difference between measures that would be good for safety and measures that are acceptable to the public.

"Fewer collisions would occur if the maximum speed on highways was 30 miles an hour, but the public would not accept that restriction," Mr. Haskett said.

Canada Council Grants Questioned

OTTAWA (CP) — The Canadian Council was called on Tuesday to justify grants to a separatist and an axe-swing artist when the Commons' ... mittee on broadcasting, ... and the arts met to consider the council's spending estimate of $20,500,000 for the current fiscal year.

Ralph Stewart (L—Cochrane) wanted to know why the council had given a grant to separatist Francois Dorlot. Mr. Dorlot, who was given $4,500 to study at the Sorbonne in France, has been linked to French "agitator" Philippe Pierre Rosilion and to Rene Levesque's separatist movement.

Council director Jean Boucher replied that the council had no way of knowing that Mr. Dorlot was a separatist when they gave him the grant. He had applied in a competition along with almost 2,500 applicants.

Mr. Stewart also wanted to find out about avant-garde artist Ralph Ortiz.

In August, the council gave the New York artist a grant of $284 to pay his air fare to Vancouver where he publicly performed Mission Destruction. The destruction centred on a record player and a piano draped with plastic bags of cow's blood which the controversial artist demolished with an axe.

Can't Muddle Along

Women Spend 80 Cents of Dollar

WINDSOR, Ont. (CP) — The influence of women is increasing and expanding in many fields, speakers at a conference for women agree Tuesday.

The conference, sponsored by the women's advisory committee to the Ontario trade and development department, drew about 500 Windsor women.

Mrs. Lilah Lymburner, chairman of the department's women's advisory committee, said that of every dollar, women are responsible for spending 80 cents.

Women's demands in consumer goods create jobs, she said. But they must be aware of why they buy things, and must shop carefully. "You've got to be informed people today. You can't muddle along the way you used to."

Jean Douglas, a representative of A.C.F. Management Ltd., spoke on savings and how women can increase the amount of money they control. She said women must have a plan for independence.

Of every dollar, a woman should save 10 cents for herself, she said. Seventy cents would go toward living costs, and debts could get 20 cents.

Mrs. Lita-Rose Betcherman, director of the Ontario labor department women's bureau, said that in Ontario there are almost 1,000,000 working women, with an average age of 37.

Partisanship A Political Drawing

By SYDNEY J. HARRIS

Not a few readers keep writing in to inquire why I don't write more about politics. While I appreciate their trust in a political judgment, it is simply not my schtik.

I have never believed that politics as such can solve any of our basic problems, and any political positions I take are based on much deeper moral attitudes that go far beyond the political realm.

Indeed, one of the chief reasons I was so enthusiastic about the candidacy of Eugene McCarthy this year was his relatively apolitical posture — a posture that apparently appealed to millions of Republicans and independents as much as to Democrats.

McCarthy is perhaps more of a poet, a teacher, a philosopher, than he is a politician in any conventional sense of the word. And what I think this country needs is a man — of either or no party — who can surmount partisanship and sectionalism and see the country (and the world) as more than a set of political or legal institutions.

In a way, McCarthy was too good for us. We are not yet ready for his kind of man: someone cool instead of hot, someone who would genuinely like to reduce the political power of the presidency in order to enhance its moral power, someone who refuses to make wild claims, engage in extravagant promises, or repeat the tired cliches of his party.

There is no other such man on the scene today, and has not been for a long time. All the other candidates, and their running-mates, seem to me like ventriloquist's dummies, made of plastic and manipulated by strings, mouthing the same stupid accusations and counter-attacks, playing upon the basest fears and greediest motives within us.

It is no accident that Wallace is attracting so many followers, and frightening both Humphrey and Nixon with his popularity. The politicians of both parties have failed to educate the electorate, failed to set an example of dedication and devotion to the needs of the country as a whole, failed to grasp the mood and the worries and the frustrations of the great mass of "little people" who are capable of reacting either with calm goodness or hysterical anger.

What the nation needs is an educator, and an example, more than it needs a mere administrator or power-broker. This was the role McCarthy admirably conceived for himself, and refused to compromise with. He knew that to be politically effective and relevant today, you must go beyond politics — as Wallace is going beyond politics, but in the wrong direction, to the emotional nerve-centre of the people.

Clemenceau said long ago that "War is too important to be left to the generals." Today's apothegm might be: "Politics is too important to be left to the politicians," as November will show us.

Guinean Officials Can't Be Found

Hercules Still Require Biafran Clearances

OTTAWA (CP) — The first Canadian transport plane assigned to mercy flights for victims of Nigeria's civil war arrived on the African scene 10 days ago. But no relief runs have yet been made.

External Affairs Minister Mitchell Sharp told the Commons Tuesday that clearance has not yet been obtained from Biafra and Equatorial Guinea for flights from Fernando Po, the Guinean island off the coast of Nigeria, into the secessionist territory.

The Guinean officials empowered to grant clearance cannot be located, Mr. Sharp said.

And he added that mercy flights cannot yet be made within Nigerian-held territory because of difficulties with forward airfields.

Meanwhile, the Commons external affairs committee is scheduled to complete today 2½ weeks of hearings on the needs of the war victims and how Canada can help provide relief.

Gen. Milroy arrived Sept. 27 in Nigeria, which invited Canada, Britain, Sweden and Poland to send observers to check on charges of genocide.

Gen. Milroy said the team feels "very strongly" that there is no evidence of genocide against the Ibos of Biafra.

He said the Nigerians seemed to be doing everything they could to provide food and medical care for refugees.

The general would not be shaken in this assertion under stiff questioning by David Lewis, NDP parliamentary leader, and Andrew Brewin (NDP —Toronto Greenwood).

Gen. Milroy said Canada asked the team to investigate reports from Biafra by two Canadians—Charles Taylor of the Toronto Globe and Mail and Stephen Lewis, NDP member of the Ontario legislature for Scarborough West—that Nigerian troops had massacred more than 500 civilians in the village of Urua Inyang.

He said the team could find no village by that name in the location given by Mr. Taylor and Mr. Lewis.

However, it had later found a Urua Inyang in another region and the observer team now was investigating the atrocity allegation.

Mr. Brewin said there had been a "mis-statement" in Mr. Taylor's report about the location of the village.

Government Is Not Responsible: Red Cross

TORONTO (CP) — The federal government is not responsible for any delay in flights of food to Biafra aboard Canadian Hercules aircraft, the director of the Canadian Red Cross said Tuesday.

"There is nothing more the Canadian government can do," Maj.-Gen. Arthur Wrinch said, commenting on reports that the three Hercules transports are stalled awaiting Nigerian clearance to fly to Biafra.

It is "tremendously disconcerting" and disappointing to have Nigeria refuse permission for the flights, he said.

Dief Urges Canadian Stand

ORILLIA (CP) — Former prime minister John Diefenbaker said Tuesday Canada should take a stand on Biafra, the breakaway country of the Nigerian republic.

Mr. Diefenbaker told a Rotary Club district convention that Canada should bring some form of humanitarian resolution before the United Nations and back it up.

"Here we are with supplies of food beyond computation," Mr. Diefenbaker said. "There in little Biafra they starve by the hour.

"They die and we talk."

500 Biafrans Killed

We Couldn't Find Town: Milroy

TORONTO (CP) — Two Canadians reporting on the war in Nigeria quoted witnesses earlier this month in describing the massacre of hundreds of Biafran civilians by Nigerian federal forces.

Stephen Lewis, New Democratic Party member of the Ontario legislature, wrote about the reported massacre in a dispatch that appeared Oct. 9 in the Toronto Star.

Mr. Lewis said the community involved was at the southernmost tip of Biafra" in Annang province. Mr. Taylor said it was 16 miles south of Umuahia, 11 miles from the Ikot Umo Essien area: Umuahia is about 80 miles north of Nigeria's Gulf of Guinea coast.

Maj.-Gen. William A. Milroy, Canada's senior representative on an international observer team in Nigeria, said the team could not locate the town where the two Canadians reported the massacre had occurred.

He told the Commons external affairs committee in Ottawa Tuesday that there was no town of the name and location given by Mr. Taylor and Mr. Lewis.

Mr. Lewis, in an interview, described the general's statement as "incredulous and illogical."

A. E. Bassey, district commissioner of Annang province, was quoted by both Mr. Taylor and Mr. Lewis. He told Mr. Taylor:

"Nobody stopped to count the bodies, but after piecing togeth-er all the reports, we're sure that many more than 500 people were killed, and hundreds more were wounded."

The Associated Press in a story from Umuahia Oct. 6 said: "Refugees said Sunday that 500 persons died Saturday night in the shelling of a Biafran town and refugee camp at Urua Inyang, south of Aba. They said Nigerian troops entered the town Sunday morning."

Abolish Catholic Tribunals U. S. Priest Tells Society

TORONTO (CP) — A United States priest told the Canadian Canon Law Society Tuesday that the tribunals of the Roman Catholic Church are un-Christian and suggested they should be abolished.

But a section of the audience of about 50 canon lawyers who are priests and now are judges or advocates in the church's tribunals disagreed.

Rt. Rev. Stephen J. Kelleher, tribunal in the archdiocese of New York, told the society:

"My own reaction is that the tribunal is anti-social, un-Christian, and hostile to the Christian community. What we have today is a travesty of the law and a horrible social reality."

Msgr. Kelleher was removed from his position of presiding judge by the Archbishop of New York after he had published his views last month in the Jesuit magazine America.

Rt. Rev. Vincent Foy, assistant presiding judge of the Toronto tribunal, asked: "Human nature being what it is, would not marriages become trial marriages?"

Msgr. Kelleher replied: "I think if lay people made their own decision, they would do as well in making judgments as we do now."

We've been told a PERFECT SLEEPER® mattress can iron out the kinks, make you purr, with contentment, and even forget you forgot to put the cat out.

All we promise is something great to sleep on.

You'd be surprised how many unforgettable things get forgotten on Perfect Sleeper Imperial mattresses. Unless, of course, you already know about the amazing, sleep-inducing features built into this one-of-a-kind mattress.

Features such as patented Sertaliner construction, TwinEdge® design, an extra layer of polyurethane foam in the quilting and a scientifically designed, matching box spring foundation.

Features that are designed to help you forget your troubles by giving you a great night's sleep. Choose firm or extra firm, innerspring or foam latex.

Evenson First Lion to Gain 1,000 Yards

TORONTO (CP) — Jim Evenson of British Columbia Lions has become the first Canadian Football League player this year to gain 1,000 yards rushing.

CFL statistics issued Tuesday show the Western Conference star with 1,047 yards on the season on 210 carries. Evenson had a five-yard average and leads the conference in rushing.

Evenson is also the third-best receiver of the Lions to have achieved 1,000 yards or more in a single season. Hub Beamer performed the feat in 1962 and 1963 and Bob Swift, now a guard with Toronto Argonauts, did it in 1954.

In the WFC scoring race, meanwhile, Ted Gerela of the Lions maintained his lead. He has 14 converts, 26 field goals and nine singles for 98 points, 13 more than Larry Robinson of Calgary Stampeders and 27 more than Bill Goods of Saskatchewan Roughriders.

Reed is second in rushing behind Evenson with 936 yards on 202 carries and Jim Thomas of Edmonton Eskimos has 758 yards on 146 carries.

Herm Harrison of Calgary is the WFC's top pass receiver with 58 catches for 1,165 yards and a 20.1-yard average. Bob McCarthy of the Lions has a 16.7 average on 55 catches for 919 yards.

To Your Good Health

Digitalis Important to Weak Heart

By Dr. Joseph G. Molner

Dear Dr. Molner: Is there any way to strengthen a weak heart? I have to take digitalis every 12 hours; else I do not get enough oxygen and I get fluid in my lungs, feet, and legs. I am 55 and work five days a week. — A. J. M.

I think you have answered part of your own question.

Digitalis is the most important and single drug we have to help a wounded heart. It strengthens the intensity of the heart beat and stabilizes rhythm, then causes the heart to work more efficiently.

It should be kept in mind that the dosage has to be correct and has to be adjusted to suit the individual. In your case two doses every 24 hours allows you to work five days a week. Dosage may be altered as needed, diuretic drugs are important in helping the body get rid of excess fluid.

Finally, rest is important. "Rest" does not mean doing nothing. It means taking appropriate rest periods from time to time. It means stopping to rest whenever pain or shortness of breath indicate that you are demanding more of the heart than it can do. It means getting adequate sleep at night.

The heart can't be splinted like a broken bone. It has to keep working. But it is inherently a very powerful muscular organ. Helping it strengthen it depends on medication in part, and the rest of the program consists of relieving it of unnecessary strain.

• • •

Dear Dr. Molner: My husband has emphysema. Could I get it from kissing him? I endure 25 cents and a lot of self-addressed un-stamped envelope plus 6 cents for your booklet. How to Control Emphysema. No, kissing or other comma. — Mrs. J. B.

Your check does not transmit emphysema, and the reason will be clear after you read the booklet.

• • •

Dear Dr. Molner: A friend who is about 70 has had diabetes for 10 years and takes pills. For some time she has been having two to six highballs or cocktails every other evening. She also uses honey to sweeten fruit. Her doctor is unaware of this. Would appreciate comment as to what harm she would be doing to herself. — Mrs. H.

I'll bet her doctor doesn't know it! Both the alcohol and the honey (which is essentially sugar) are the very things she must ought to avoid. Her doctor is probably wondering why it is so hard to keep her diabetes under control.

• • •

Dear Dr. Molner: I have arthritis, and the bottoms of my feet swell and hurt so I can hardly walk on them. Is this arthritis or something else? — Mrs. G. M.

Arthritis can make joints swell but not the bottoms of the feet. Your swelling I think must be something else — varicose veins or other circulatory interference, possibly a blood clot in the leg. Better see your doctor to track down the cause.

• • •

Much heart trouble is preventable. Write Dr. Molner, in care of the Chicago Sun-Times Syndicate, P. O. Box 158, Dunder, Ill., for your copy of his booklet, How to Take Care of Your Heart, enclosing a long, self-addressed, unstamped envelope and 20 cents in coin plus 6 cents for postage, to cover cost of printing and handling.

TORONTO STOCKS

TORONTO (CP) — Industrials posted small losses in active mid-morning trading on the Toronto Stock Exchange today. Base metals and western oils were steady.

Brokers said the initial reaction to the budget was mild, although the insurance stocks reacted to the proposal to subject them to income tax.

Utilities fell 1.43 to 178.23. The three other major indexes also were lower. Declines outnumbered gains 225 to 207.

Brokers thought that weakness in New York and an element of uncertainty prior to the Canadian budget contributed to the market's poor performance.

Imperial Oil dropped 2 to 78¾, While Inco and Yukon 1¼ to 46¾, Bow Valley 1⅛ to 25, Noranda 1¼ to 57 and CPR 1¼ to 70¾.

Versatile Manufacturing was up 2¼ to 16¾, Unas Investments 2 to 18¼ and Peel Elder 1¼ to 46¾.

Among the heaviest traders, National Containers was up ¾ to 9¾ and Great Northern Capital ¼ to 10⅛. Donlee slipped ¼ to 22¼.

Southam advanced ¾ to 54 after announcing plans to acquire the Hamilton Gazette. Livingston gained ¾ to 29¼. The controlling shareholders have agreed to sell 75 per cent of their interest to Allnak Products Ltd. of Toronto for $30.00 a share.

Allpak said it will extend an offer to other shareholders to buy 75 per cent of their shares at the same price.

Among mines, and western oils, Wayne Petroleum rose ¼ to 7½, Pacific Pete ¾ to 23 and Campbell Chibougamau 20 cents to $8.00. Patino lost ¼ to 37½ and Bankeno 30 cents to $4.85.

On index, industrials fell .33 to 177.90 and golds 1.61 to 202.79. Base metals rose .35 to 114.09 and western oils .27 to 229.26.

Volume by 11 a.m. was 974,000 shares compared with 1,166,000

OFF THE RECORD — BY ED REED

Nixon Says Humphrey Guilty Of Loose Talk, Switching Stand

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Richard M. Nixon accused Democratic opponent Hubert H. Humphrey of loose talk and position-switching today and said Humphrey as president would create a "great risk of miscalculation on the part of our adversaries."

Humphrey, meanwhile, was being hailed as a political miracle worker for uniting at-odds Texas Democrats behind him. He heads for California late today to try to repeat the feat.

And third-party candidate George C. Wallace—hit by an apple core thrown along with eggs and tomatoes Tuesday—said leaders of both major parties have "kowtowed to anarchists" and ignored average citizens.

Nixon said today the present Democratic administration has not been able to keep the peace, has not kept up military strength or American prestige, "and now it cannot restore peace."

"To this dismal record, my opponent brings the fastest, loosest tongue in the nation and the fastest switch of positions ever seen in American politics," Nixon said in a statement.

"Mr. Humphrey has shown a constitutional inability to treat the Vietnam war and the Paris negotiations discreetly or, for that matter, understandably, ever since this campaign began."

An aside said Nixon's statement that the present administration cannot restore peace was based on what has transpired on the public record and did not reflect any secret information about current peace efforts.

"You don't gain any strength staying in bed," Dr. Grondin said. Mr. Therrien, father of eight children, was visited by two of his teen-aged sons Monday.

He greeted them with a wave of his hand and announced: "We're pretty lucky. Everything's all right and I feel fine."

Mr. Therrien's operation followed Canada's sixth heart transplant at Toronto Western Hospital Saturday. It was Toronto's first heart transplant operation. Five of the seven Canadian heart transplant patients still survive.

Montreal Heart Patient Walking in 6 Hours

MONTREAL (CP) — Yvon Therrien, a 45-year-old Quebec City garage operator who became Canada's seventh heart transplant patient early Monday morning, was out of bed and walking only six hours after the operation, it was learned Tuesday.

"Mr. Therrien is doing very well, walking around and eating," said Dr. Pierre Grondin, who headed the medical team that performed the transplant operation and who also was in charge of Canada's first five heart transplant operations, all at the Montreal Heart Institute.

Reports Given At Red Cross Meeting

DESERONTO — Although the actual membership of the Deseronto branch of the Canadian Red Cross society is small, it manages to enlist the help of outsiders, and so accomplishes a lot of work. Reports given by committees at the October meeting last Thursday are proof of this.

The loan cupboard is well supplied, with new items added as needed. In her report, Mrs. Charles Griffiths stated that new sides for the hospital beds and new brakes for the wheel chairs had been ordered. One bed is now being used by a child as a baby cot waiting for spinal surgery. Canes and crutches had been borrowed during the month.

Annually, the Red Cross entertains senior citizens in Deseronto, and former citizens now out of town who are able to attend. A tea has been planned for this year, the tentative date, November 13. Mrs. Kay Hoad reported the plans which had already been made, and a committee was set up under convener Mrs. Michael Ryan who formerly headed the Senior Citizens' Committee, but whose health now prevents this. Many in the town contribute in some way to this annual event which gives such joy to old folk who see each other only on that day.

Members had sent flowers, personally, to Mrs. Howard Reid following her broken hip. Mrs. Reid is now home from hospital and is confined to bed. Cards were sent to a member who is a shut-in, and to another member of their immediate family passed away.

Much of the fall women's work, sewing and knitting, has been completed and hundred in all, Miss Ruth Boyd stated. This includes both tropical layettes and boys' outfits for Canada, as well as Arctic. However, a new supply has been received, and the society is calling for volunteers to help them do the sewing.

Jeane Dixon's Horoscope

For October 24

Your birthday today: Fresh ideas and energy become available to you this year. Your use of these will most likely be conventional. You tend to seek a haven or to confirm possession of a home. Today's natives often possess executive abilities.

ARIES (Mar. 21 — Apr. 19): This is the time to find answers to private puzzles. Medical advice is pertinent; follow it literally. What you actually manage to do today is not nearly so important as what you can plan for when conditions are more favorable.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 — May 20): Problems related to health must be given priority today. Defer any major purchase. Attend to the management of older people's resources; catch up with your own accounts.

GEMINI (May 21 — June 20): Personal conflicts have to be contained now. Consider a treatment of other people produces good results. Avoid becoming critical of family tonight.

CANCER (June 21 — July 22): With nearly everybody suffering impatience, hold your calm! Somehow. Jumping to conclusions is particularly liable to cause errors.

LEO (July 23 — Aug. 22): Original planning is rare today. Your intuition and logic are at work hand in hand. The most likely problem is one of emotion. Pride bruised can upset you.

VIRGO (Aug. 23 — Sept. 22): Take a good look at the feelings welling up today. You may spoil relationships with criticism or self-righteous postures. Financial deals continue (somewhat) favored.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 — Oct. 22): Expect everybody to be reckless; stay out and keep your effectiveness as a peacemaker. Sound decisions can be made today, but are not to be pushed into immediate effect.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23—Nov. 21): Fresh proposals are mainly raids on your finances. Your friends are expensive, but their advice is priceless in the long run. Right!

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 — Dec. 21): Discipline your energy and get rolling for yourself as well as anyone else. Critical correspondence deserves your answer today. Do something for your love interest tonight.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 — Jan. 19): Your efforts are more likely to succeed if kept confidential. Family problems and your local community are both affected by your work today. Make use of institutions freely.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20 — Feb. 18): Today you are the adviser for older people, friends, and relatives. Do not get yourself entangled in their affairs, even if they promise material reward. The education you get from the matter should be helpful later.

PISCES (Feb. 19 — Mar. 20): The business end of your daily life looks good from all angles. There is help from every side. Catch up with correspondence.

Stirling

The Catholic Women's League of St. James Church, entertained the ladies of the district to a Fellowship Day on Thursday, in St. John's Anglican Parish Hall.

Bob Reynolds of Dover, Kent, England, has returned home after a three week visit with his brothers, William Reynolds and Mr. and Mrs. Ted Reynolds.

The Senior Citizens Club re-elected Fred Heasman as president and Rev. A. L. Crook as vice-president. At the October meeting, Alice Shoquist was tendered a birthday party in honor of her 80th anniversary before she returned to her home in Kamloops, B.C.

Ker C. Curtis, Orillia, District Governor of District 730, paid his official visit to the Stirling Rotary Club. He congratulated the club on their excellent attendance record.

Charles Nix, son of Mr and Mrs. Carman Nix, won a trophy at the annual rifle shoot of the Peterborough Police Department. He was a runner-up with a score of 459.

Mrs. Harry Clarke spent the weekend with Mr. and Mrs. Roy Windsor.

Mrs. Earl Eggleton entertained Mr. and Mrs. G. McGregor, Beamsville, for the weekend.

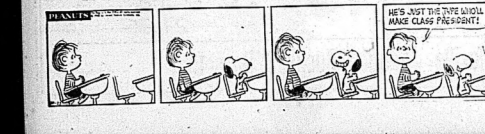
Laymen In Charge Of Service

NAPANEE — Rev. Guy W. Case, minister of Grace United Church, had the rare experience Sunday morning of sitting with his family during a service. The service was conducted entirely by laymen, with every organization in the church represented. The theme was "The Urgent Fellowship," and the leader was Gale Rogers, chairman of the Board of Stewards.

The responsive Psalm was read by Betty Case, a C.G.I.T. girl, and Mr. and Mrs. William Humphries, joint presidents of the Couples' Club, read the lesson. Grant Hoyck, counsellor of the Hi-C's, offered the pastoral prayer. Susan Gilbert of the Hi-C's, told the children's story. Mrs. William Hunter (U.C.W.) gave the offertory prayer.

A panel discussion, with James Eadie as moderator, took the place of a sermon. Mr. Eadie representative of the session, was chairman of the committee which organized the service. Panelists were: Mrs. Mae Storey (Sunday School) discussing "Fellowship in our community"; Wayne Parks (Young School and choir), with "World Fellowship"; and Mrs. Carman Hyland, representing the session, Sunday School superintendent, and member of the committee with "Fellowship with God."



Ushers were members of the U.C.W.: Mrs. Clifford McTaggart, Mrs. Clayten Woodcock, Mrs. Lorne Verabioff, Mrs. Donald Reid, and Mrs. George Chambers.

Under the direction of Mrs. Grant Seasmith, leader and organist, the choir sang a selection.

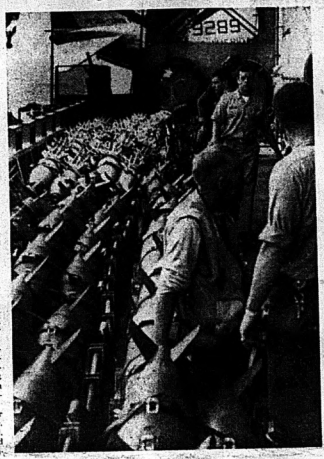
Deaths Upset Bonn

BONN (AP) — Police spread a dragnet Wednesday for Gerhard Boehm, an obscure defence department clerk whose disappearance and possible suicide sharpened a security scandal emerging from the recent mysterious deaths of four high West German officials.

Newspapers denounced the government's handling of the apparent suicides of three senior military officers and an economics ministry official.

Boehm, 61, vanished Monday leaving suicide notes with his office and his family.



Police said his briefcase containing personal items had been found under a Bonn railway bridge.

A defence department spokesman said Boehm, due for retirement, had had no access to secret defence papers "apart from carrying documents from room to room in sealed containers."

But in the last 15 days Rear Admiral Hermann Luedke, Maj.-Gen. Horst Wendland, Lt.-Col. Johannes Grimm and Hans-Heinrich Schenk, economics ministry assistant, apparently took their own lives. Federal Prosecutor Ludwig Martin said Luedke might have worked for a foreign intelligence agency.

Luedke, 57, just retired from a senior NATO post, was found dead in a forest with a gaping gun wound Oct. 8. Wendland, 58, deputy head of the federal intelligence service, was reported to have fired a pistol bullet into his head in his office near Munich the same day.

Grimm, 57, security officer and member of the alert and mobilization section of the Bonn defence ministry was said to have shot himself in the head in his office Oct. 18. Schenk, 40, apparently hanged himself in his Cologne home Oct. 15. His death was announced Tuesday.

Action Irks Group

By ROBERT AVERY
Staff Reporter

TRENTON — The residents of Pine Acres subdivision last night received the long-awaited letter from Murray Township Council concerning action on Riverview Speedway only to find out it reaffirms council's stand "it is too late to get rid of the track".

The letter was received by William Ellis, president of the Pine Acres Association, and contained comments from R. A. Gazely, council solicitor, who stated that since there is no by-law to prohibit the operation of race track then any action to remove the track would not succeed in court.

As a result the council added its action now would be to draft a bylaw to license the track and to regulate the racing.

The original demand, brought up by the residents of Pine Acres in the form of a petition four weeks ago, was to close the track because it was making living conditions "intolerable in our own homes."

However, council's action is a far cry from this demand and those who have been voicing opinions against the track are anything but satisfied.

Dr. Douglas Bunt, vice-president of the association, declared:

"No we are definitely not satisfied with council's action. "There could be some real fireworks at the next Murray council meeting.

We will be taking further steps and some are currently under way, but we're not saying anything until the time is right.

James Day, a long time rival of the council and a past member claimed:

"This move by council is just a bluff. The whole idea is ridiculous. There has to be protection for one half million dollars worth of homes.

Treading on Political Toes...?

Political footwork is a necessary talent for any parliamentarian. But, at first glance, Dr. R. T. Potter, MPP Quinte, seems to have overstepped himself. He looks poised to tread on the toes of Mines Minister Allan Lawrence. But — in true political tradition — things are not what they seem. The MPP was making way for the minister to address a Conservative meeting at Sidney township hall last night. (Details, Page 2.)

Highway Study Gives Glimpse Into Quinte Area of Future

Eastern Ontario Municipal representatives had a peek into the future last night, courtesy of the department of highways, and here's what they saw.

- The total population of the area is expected to increase by 131,861 people in the next 25 years.
- Employment figures in the same area will increase by 40,000 people.
- Belleville's population will increase by 17,348.
- Belleville's employment figures will increase by 4,321.
- Trenton's population will increase by 11,351 and its work force by 2,631. Picton will grow by 1,771 people and its work force by 337.

The "seance" drew representatives from Trenton, Belleville, Marmora, Kingston, Brockville and Carleton Place. The purpose of the meeting was to disclose a 25-year plan for developing highways throughout 5,200 square miles of Ontario.

The plan is based on a study which the department of highways began in 1965 with a traffic survey and takes into account the socio-economic capability of the area.

The plan was the eighth and one of 20 such plans being instituted for Ontario.

The total population of the area is expected to increase from 304,139 in 1965 to 436,000 in 1990. Employment is expected to increase from 79,000 to 119,000 over the same period.

Douglas MacFarland, planning studies engineer, outlined the workings of the study and mentioned statistics for Belleville, Trenton and Picton.

Peace Possibility Rekindled

WASHINGTON (CP) — Fresh reports of an impending breakthrough in President Johnson's latest Vietnam peace probe swept Washington today but the White House maintained a business-as-usual attitude.

Johnson was reported to have met with State Secretary Dean Rusk, Defence Secretary Clark Clifford and Gen. Earle Wheeler, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff.

Reports say it was held just a few hours after a North Vietnamese spokesman in Paris went further than ever before toward meeting the American requirement of reciprocity for a total halt to bombing of North Vietnam.

"Let the United States stop the bombing. Then there will be something new immediately."

Johnson is reported to have offered a package deal to Hanoi promising a complete bombing halt in return for a trustworthy indication that Hanoi will not take advantage of it.

Another part of the package was said to be the inclusion of South Vietnam and the National Liberation Front in expanded peace negotiations.

All Night Liquor Sale Broached

TORONTO (CP) — Provincial Secretary Robert Welch was reported today to be in favor of keeping some Ontario liquor stores open all night and permitting hotels or grocery stores to sell beer for home consumption.

At present, beer for home consumption must be bought from retail outlets administered by Brewers Warehousing Co., or from the breweries.

News Briefs

CAPE TOWN (AP) — Heart transplant pioneer Christiaan Barnard was reported in satisfactory condition today after being admitted to hospital with internal bleeding described as a "mild gastroduodenal hemorrhage."

TORONTO (CP) — Transport Minister Irwin Haskett announced Wednesday that after Nov. 1 all motorized snow vehicles operating in Ontario must be licenced. Other new regulations saw drivers operating the vehicles on highways also must carry insurance. The vehicles must have lights front and back.

Union Sues Minister for $200,000

PICTON (Staff) — A Picton minister has been served writs of libel and slander each claiming $100,000 damages.

R. E. Nourse, attorney for Rev. Robert Stewart said the issue is definitely going to be contested.

He said there was no foundation for the writ of libel. However, Ian Scott of Toronto, attorney for the claimant, International Union of Electrical, Radio, and Machine Workers, refuted the statement.

The statements objected to most strenuously by the union referred to "Mafia tactics" and claim "let the Mafia get out of Picton and return to Italy!".

Bombarded with Cheques

THE WEATHER

Synopsis: More scattered showers and unsettled are forecast for Northern Ontario today with increasing cloud cover and some shower activity across southern and central regions. Friday will bring considerable sunshine to the south.

Soden Expects Early Meeting to Settle Industrial Dispute

Alderman Kenneth Soden, chairman of the special committee of council appointed to meet with the Belleville Industrial Commission doesn't feel there are any great problems to be ironed out.

"As far as I am concerned there is no great rift between the two bodies — I feel it is more a lack of liason, with council and the commission getting further and further apart," he said.

Ald. Soden said he and his committee would meet with Mayor J. R. Scott and the city manager on Saturday to clear up terms of reference and to learn the scope of its meeting with the commission.

He expects the meeting of his committee with the commission to be called early next week.

The meeting with the commission would be behind closed doors so that everyone can speak freely and air any problems.

Fred Deacon, acting head of the Belleville Industrial Commission, said he was pleased that Alderman Soden had indicated an early meeting.

"I feel it is in the best interests that the meeting be held as soon as possible."

Also he felt it was appropriate that two of the special committee members — Ald. Soden and Enos David — were members of council four years ago when the Industrial Commission was formed.

"Both these men will know the background," he said.

Asked about Ald. Soden's feeling that the meeting of his committee with the commission should be behind closed doors, Mr. Deacon said if this was the desire of the committee he had no objection.

He said it possibly would be best to have the meetings in camera as this would allow more frank discussion of problems.

Could Lose Election

Lethargic PC Party Needs Changes: Lawrence

"We can't count on the incompetence and ineptitude of the opposition much longer," mines minister Allan Lawrence last night told the annual meeting of the Quinte Riding progressive conservative association.

Even though Lawrence told the group that the opposition was in far worse shape in cohesion, leadership and organization" he still admitted the possibility of losing the next election if the "lethargic" Tory party in Ontario was not built up.

Then mines minister Lawrence turned the meeting to the floor for questions.

And the large attendance at the meeting had plenty of them.

"Civil servants are now running the government" accused Belleville Alderman Gerald Joyce.

"Decisions in many cases are left up to some yahoo who (as a taxpayer) I am paying and I wonder who is in charge at Queen's Park."

Mr. Lawrence told Mr. Joyce that the way to get things done was by going straight to the top. "Take the beef to the cabinet minister himself."

If action is not forthcoming, Mr. Lawrence said that there was still the prime minister's office and failing all else — the public.

The pipeline between the constituents the government must always remain the minister said.

Answering another question, Mr. Lawrence said he thought we were about to go through a period of great revision in parliamentary laws.

"Many of our procedures are antiquated and outdated dating back when the government wasn't as interfering in the economy as it is now."

Mr. Lawrence explained many of the committee systems of the house and also though there are some flaws he said that the system worked and was not impractical.

When questioned on the proposed church property taxation Mr. Lawrence said that it was not government policy yet.

He admitted though that the idea to tax churches was recommended by experts and that the government has its back to the financial wall."

"The government is being forced to take a long hard look at the whole taxation system."

Before Mr. Lawrence was introduced to the floor the organization held its election of officers for the coming year.

E. M. (Ted) Parker was re-elected president with Gerald Joyce as first vice-president.

Harry Wickson is second vice-president and Mrs. Agnes York holds the third vice-presidency. Dr. Harvey Bronson was elected as treasurer.

Tax Incentives Required For Mines Says Minister

MARMORA — Increased mining development could provide a badly - needed boost to Eastern Ontario's economy, Mines Minister Allan F. Lawrence believes.

So much, the provincial government may program for increased exploration of the region's natural resources, he said here yesterday.

This could be achieved through tax incentives to the mining industry, he conjectured.

The minister, recently appointed to the mines portfolio, was on a snap tour of the big Marmoraton Mining Co. iron ore and smelter here — part of a self-imposed familiarization course of the industry.

The closeup of one of the Quinte area's biggest economic props saw Mr. Lawrence enthusiastically projecting the experience as a possible prosperity pattern for the region.

"I just wish we could have two or three mines in Eastern Ontario like this one," he reacted. "We badly need it."

The region's economy, downgraded in contrast to booming metropolitan and Western Ontario prosperity, is reflected in the gaunt landscape hereabouts.

But that sparseness could be a boon, the minister apparently indicates. The countryside is on the fringe of the resource-rich Canadian shield. What's needed is a stock-taking of the treasure house.

"It's got the geology — there's no question about that," said Mr. Lawrence. "And we really believe the minerals are there. The big question is whether they are here in economic quantity or not."

"We hope to turn more and more attention to this part of the province," he forecast.

What is needed, said Mr. Lawrence, is stimulation to industry to explore the region's potential and "very active consideration" is being given such ideas at present.

Among possibilities under discussion are means of using the tax system "to provide incentives to encourage exploration."

"I am impressed that the potential is here for mining far more than it is for other types of resource industries," said the minister.

Next Quinte-area tour for Mr. Lawrence will be in North Hastings. He says he wants to inspect Bancroft uranium sites.

Three Kingston area representatives gather before the evidence compiled by the Department of Transport to discuss highway changes in the next 22 years.

Peak Into Quinte's Future

According to Mr. MacFarland it be estimated that Belleville's population would increase from 33,742 in 1965 to 52,000 in 1990, an increase of 18,579 to 15,900.

Trenton, including surrounding townships and CFB Trenton, in the same number of years, was expected to grow from 21,649 to 32,000 with its employment ranging from 5,019 to 7,650.

Picton's population figures were expected to grow from 6,036 to 7,810 with its employment figures increasing from 1,334 to 2,270.

Mr. MacFarland said the department conducted 82,000 interviews at 104 different locations.

Traffic and land use information, along with motor-vehicle ownership statistics, were used to forecast the direction and volume of future travel demands.

The study results have indicated that there are three basic corridors of traffic: An east-west corridor running parallel to Highway 7, another east-west corridor roughly following the Macdonald-Cartier Freeway and a third route from the Quinte to Ottawa are the three corridors.

Another planning studies engineer, H. Johnson said that in 1963 there was no problem but in 1990 there would be congestion if there were no changes made.

He said that it would be expensive to widen Highway 7 to four lanes. An alternative it was decided that there would be recommended as an arterial roadway — one which with limited access with low-level intersections with no access from plazas and farms etc.

Highway 401 has been recommended to remain a freeway with controlled access.

Recommended to be retained as collector's highways or ordinary highways were Nos. 37, 62, 14, 33, 49, 38, 41, 32, 121, 29, and that section of Highway 2 between Gananoque and Kingston.

Representatives at the meeting were told, however that the rest of Highway 2 would not be ignored and changes to it would result from negotiations with various municipalities.

The priority of implementing the recommendations will depend on needs as they develop and the ability of the department to budget the cost of those works with other priority projects throughout the province.

Prisoner Commits Suicide

A suicide last night took the life of a prisoner at the Belleville police station.

Franklin Sedore, 22, of Belleville was found hanging in his cell around seven o'clock last night when constables checked the cells.

He had only been in custody an hour and had been charged with having liquor in a place other than his residence.

Other prisoners in the cell block said that they did not know anything was wrong and that they thought Sedore was sick.

As soon as he was found he was taken to Belleville General Hospital but did not respond to treatment.

An inquest under coroner Dr. William Beattie will be held but a date has not yet been set.

Death Accidental: Jury

TRENTON — A coroner's jury last night concluded that the death of a 30 year-old Trenton man which occurred on Sept. 13 was the result of unavoidable accidents.

The jury attached no blame in the death of Francis Dennis Kidd Avenue when he was hit by a car driven by Gary Phillips, 24, of Bellville.

The collision was assessed as unavoidable due to the poor lighting at the intersection coupled with thick foliage and the fact that Ostrom was wearing dark clothes.

The jury made no recommendations.

Beer Protest Irks the Airmen

TRENTON — Those who should know, the officers and men at CFB Trenton, are tired of hearing protests concerning the shipment of beer on an air transport Hercules which is going to Biafra.

Their reason — not all of the story is being told.

However, the shipment has been the subject of several verbal barbings. Opposition leader, Robert Stanfield, had said previously that the Canadian people would be disgusted to learn that the relief plane carried beer for the ground and air crews of the mercy flight.

And David Lewis, NDP parliamentary leader, joked that the shipment one of "criminal stupidity" which would shock and disgust Canadian citizens.

Personnel at the base become infuriated at the mere mention of these comments. A base spokesman emphasized that the shipment was going to Tent City at Fernando Po and not to Biafra and Nigeria.

He said the reason for the shipment was that the water on the island where the 71 men are stationed is undrinkable.

Also stressed was the fact that the beer did not take the place of any medical supplies on the flight. The supplies are already in Lagos and it is from there that the planes will pick them up, take them to the starving thousands of the war-torn Biafra.

The shipment consists of 3,500 cans of beer to last a month and it is currently at Brazil waiting to move on to Fernando Po.

IN MEMORIAM

BELSAW—In loving memory of our dear father and grandfather, Edward Belsaw, who passed away October 24, 1962.
Sad as a dawn, cold as the sod,
Just plain like the wind, the sea and the sky.
We think of you know he is gone But we think of you just the same.
Too dearly loved to be forgotten by sons, daughters and grandchildren.

KUNTZE—In loving memory of our father, Wm. F. Kuntze who passed away October 24, 1966.
Just a year ago we saw him leave his home,
In memory we see him ever the same.
In our hearts he is lying yet,
We love him too much to ever forget.
Always remembered by his Mom and Dad.

SPRACKETT—In loving memory of our dear husband and father and grandfather, Ira Sprackett who died October 24, 1966.
Gone from us but leaving memories
Death can never take away.
Memories we hold so dear and linger
While silently we kneel and pray.
Sadly missed by wife Grace, daughter Joyce, son-in-law Rev. Ev. Edith and Austin and grandchildren Steven and Wendy.

BELNAP — In memory of a dear husband who passed away October 24, 1962.
Though years in my eyes do not glisten
And my tears is not always sad,
There is never a night or a morning but I think of the husband I had.
Not a day do I forget you,
In my heart you are always near,
For I loved you and I miss you,
As memories linger here.
Memories return to recall the past.
Lovingly sadly missed by wife Alice,

Mayor Receives Award

More than 30 years service to St. John Ambulance for Belleville Mayor Dr. J. Russell Scott will be recognized Thursday afternoon at Government House in Ottawa when he will be invested by Governor General Roland Michener, as a Serving Brother in the Order of St. John.

Dr. Scott's service to St. John began in Hamilton during his student days.

Following his return from overseas duty in World War II he became divisional surgeon of the Belleville Nursing Division, subsequently assuming the same role with the award winning Cadet Nursing Division in 1948.

Admission to the Order of St. John by Her Majesty carries with it the designation Serving Brother of St. John.

Killough Promoted To Post

W. S. Killough, public relations officer for Ontario Hydro's Eastern Region, has been appointed supervisor of field services for Hydro's public relations division.

A resident of Belleville for the past six years, he has been active in a number of community projects serving as public relations chairman of the Belleville United Appeal and most recently as publicity chairman for Belleville's Centennial Celebrations Committee.

WILLIAM KILLOUGH

Mr. Killough has completed 15 years service with Hydro joining the provincial utility at Niagara Falls in 1953.

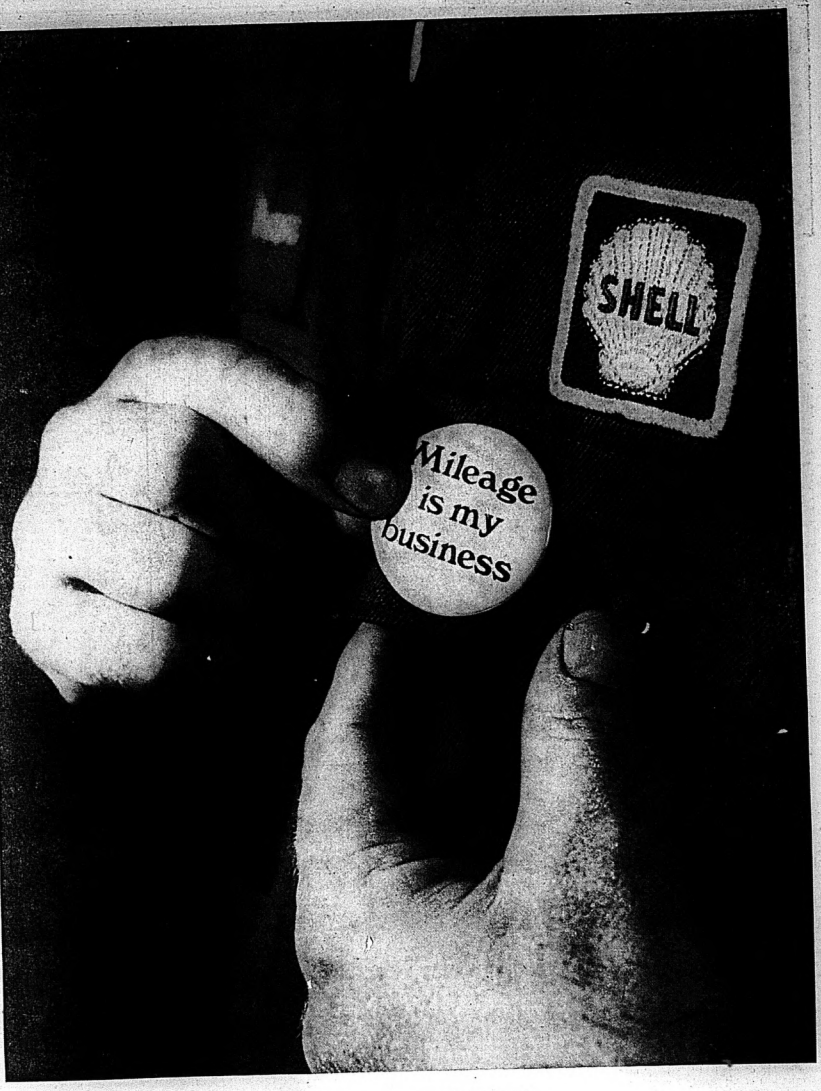
He was subsequently posted to Cornwall, Toronto and, in 1959, to Ottawa for three years before being transferred to Belleville.

He will commence his new duties at Hydro's head office in Toronto on Nov. 15.

Council Invites Suggestions

The invitation is out for Belleville residents who feel they might like to serve on city boards or commissions next year.

City council normally makes appointments to such bodies at their first meeting of the year and the city manager has suggested that a committee be appointed to go into the various applications.



Council this week went along with the idea of a committee but it was felt its role should be that of a nominating committee only with its recommendations for appointments to be approved by council. Setting up of the nominating committee would not rule out nominations from other council members.

Alderman Robin Jeffrey stressed the need for capable candidates to fill positions on the various boards.

And it was felt that candidates should be appointed only to the board or committee which he or she had a personal interest.

Also at this week's meeting council passed the required by-law setting Nov 18 as the date for the nomination for the new county school board.

And here again Alderman Enos David stressed the importance of the highest possible people being elected to ble calibre people being elected to school board positions.

Any questions?

The more you know about mileage, the lower your gasoline bill is likely to be. Speak to your Shell dealer. Mileage is his business. He can answer all your questions on the subject. Here are a few you can start with:

"If I'm going to be stopped for a couple of minutes, should I switch off or let the engine idle?"

"My car creeps ahead when I take my foot off the brake. What's wrong?"

"Can one worn spark plug really hurt my mileage?"

"How much air does my engine need for every gallon of gasoline?"

"Somebody told me not to leave the engine idling to warm up. Is that right?"

He'll know the answers. Because it's his job to know. It's his job to help you go as far as possible on every gallon of gasoline. And that takes more than just Super Shell.

He knows all the secrets

Shell's good mileage secrets are in a book, appropriately named 32 Secrets. Your dealer will give you a free copy. And he'll help you correct any problems with your car or your driving habits.

Then when he fills your tank, Super Shell can really show off.

Super Shell for good mileage

Super Shell gasoline has five mileage ingredients:

(1) Platformate contains extra-energy petroleum molecules.

(2) TCP works to keep spark plugs from misfiring.

(3) Butane helps you start quickly. And the quicker you start, the less gasoline you use before you get going.

(4) A detergent fights deposits that can build up inside the carburetor. These deposits reduce mileage.

(5) Mixed Pentanes help your engine warm up quickly to prevent misfiring, bucking, coughing and wasted fuel. Whatever the weather.

You'll get good mileage from these five ingredients in Super Shell. You'll get even better mileage from our sixth ingredient—our dealer.

Ask him some questions—if you'd like to go farther.

Another Deficit

The means a government takes to increase its revenues are largely academic. Whatever their specific source the funds remain public funds — they represent taxation. It is the old business of there being nothing so sure as death and taxes.

And in this respect, Finance Minister Benson's budget is no different from any other that went before. Once again the taxpayers, sorely pressed as ever, are being called upon to hand out more to a government whose own economies seem minimal compared with the enormous sums it is seeking for future projects.

Ottawa is even becoming affected by the modern tendency to dress up, or obscure, terms that fall ill upon the ears of the public. The new two per cent Social Development Tax is in effect an increase in the regular income tax under a new name. Educational and other programs will benefit from the $55 million this tax will raise. For the individual taxpayer, it will impose up to a maximum of $120 a year on each taxpayer. Another new source of revenue is a corporation tax on life insurance companies and this inevitably will result in an increase in the cost of insurance premiums.

Mr. Benson admitted that a balanced budget was once again far out of reach. He said he could not raise taxes enough to balance the budget this year without damaging the economy. As it is, Ottawa sources said this will be the largest one-year increase in revenues ($845 million) as a result of tax revenues in Canada's history. And still the country will be facing a deficit of $675 million.

The government needs the revenue, but it is obvious it must accomplish many more economies of its own. That it is not doing so is evident. Ottawa correspondent Richard Jackson draws attention to this once again in his column today.

Nor can we overlook the emergency programs for Czechoslovak refugees and aid to Biafra. These are two areas the public must understand are matters of beneficence — but they also cost money, and it is the public which must pay for them.

Busy Council

And yet, if the hours were long, and members had their ups and downs, the meeting managed to cover a lot of ground. Extra remuneration for members of the traffic and light committee . . . new lights for the city's two main bridges . . . a boost to about $2,200 in a city grant to Hillcrest Ratepayers' Association for work on a new community centre . . . a change in rates for Sidney township users of the city sewer system . . . a progress report on the Bay Bridge Road overpass (whether it opens this fall will depend on the weather) . . . these were all routine matters dealt with by council.

Two other matters of considerable urgency discussed by council had to do with the establishment of a special committee to review the policy of the Belleville Industrial Commission and declining attendance at the city's day nursery.

There is enough evidence of what one councillor has described as "bickering" over the operations of the industrial commission that any further controversy can only worsen an already delicate situation. What is needed, ideally, is a sincere effort by both council and the commission to combine in efforts to bring new industries to Belleville. Another councillor put it well when he said industrial activity was being made the victim of poor public relations, and if the city wanted new industry then there would have to be a change of attitude on the part of all concerned. In other words, the two bodies should complement each other.

The day nursery is the other problem that is causing anxiety. Conceived amid controversy, the nursery's operations this year have been marked by declining attendance. The September enrolment was reported as 16 children — less than half of the centre's capacity.

Now it is being suggested that Hastings County Welfare Unit take over the administration. If the county turns this down the centre may be forced to close. Should this occur the city will be left with a modern, empty building, but one for which some other use could likely be found. But first, a further effort should be made to keep the centre going. At the moment, though, it looks as if this will be economically feasible only if children are accepted from outside the city limits.

Ottawa Offbeat

Administrative Affluence Belies Economy Program

By RICHARD JACKSON

OTTAWA, — Some of his admiring Commons Conservative colleagues and not-so-appreciative Liberals have a nickname for Robert Carman Coates, the honorable member for the Nova Scotia riding of Cumberland Colchester North.

It is "Hound-dog."

And it fits.

There he is, lean and keen, mentally padding through the government's newly - revised federal Estimates and the Public Accounts, sniffing the spending wind for traces of waste and extravagance.

He is pretty sure he has caught the politically ready scent of what any self-respecting opposition likes to call "squanderma nia."

Flip through the 40 or more pages of questions in the Commons Order Paper and you discover that "Hound-dog" Coates appears to have picked up the trail of what he terms "reckless spending" in Ottawa's mid-town patch of mushrooming high-rise towers.

Into them the government has been moving scores of its offices — even whole federal departments — with new rugs, drapes, furniture and equipment to match the glitter of the shining glass towers.

Some of these offices, including entire departments and complete crown corporations, have left federal buildings where the government, of courses, itself is the landlord, to occupy cushy new quarters at rents matching the high altitude of the leased towers.

Sample of the "Hound-dog's" sniffing is a brace of questions about the expansive way Canadian Transport Commission Chairman John Whitney Pickersgill has been setting up shop.

"Is the commission moving into new quarters, and if so how many floors are being leased, at what cost?"

"Are all new appointments, rugs, drapes, furniture being provided and at what price?"

(The answer to the first question is plainly apparent to anyone who cares to look into one of the new mid-town office towers — Mr. Pickersgill and his staff are leasing 18 floors.)

He is hot on the trail for individual example of Trade and Industries Minister Jean-Luc Pepin with "half page of questions asking why the department moved out of its very own building into 22 towered floors of the Capital's handsomest high-rise, . . . and more important, at what cost to the taxpayer in rents and "fancy office fittings."

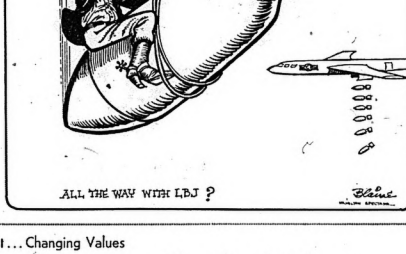
One by one he has been sniffing out each member of the cabinet, and to make sure he has overlooked nobody, there is his "omnibus question," as he terms it:

"Which ministers have had their House of Commons offices redecorated in the Centre Block and their departmental suites moved or renovated and at what cost in each case, to the federal treasury?"

Coming up is another question, says believes Bob Coates, to catch the taxpayers' eye: "How many acres of new carpet have been bought for newly-decorated government offices?"

Maybe, barks the "Hound-dog" he should be asking his rug question in dimensions of square miles not mere acres.

Then he has still another waste-hint going with richest ministers' cars the quarry.



"Do the ministers get car allowances," he asks, well knowing that they do — at $2,000 per.

"Do any of them have vehicles and drivers assigned?" he further enquires, knowing equally well that seven have chauffeured Cadillacs at their personal beck and call.

What is his waste-chase really all about, and what is the object of the hound-dog game?

"I just want to know," he grins, "where seven shining Cadies all in a row, whole towers of luxury offices, acres of rugs and all this bureaucratic affluence fits into the government's supposed economy program and the Just Society."

Anyone betting on answers to that one?

Unrest . . . Changing Values

The Great Educational Dilemma

(The Globe and Mail)

Can a dictatorship teach democracy? Some such dilemma faces principals and teachers in Ontario's school system. The issue was pinpointed earlier this week by an advertisement in The Globe and Mail through which the Ontario Secondary School Teachers' Federation enjoined all citizens to back its members' "attempts to educate responsible citizens for a democratic society".

The advertisement, apparently published without members' canvassed permission by the OSSTF executive has drawn sharp denunciation. Students, liberal-minded parents, even many teachers regret the advertisement's suggestion that recent unrest in the high schools has been due essentially to "the irresponsible conduct of a few students, trustees, parents and organized pressure groups". Some of the same observers seem to regard the OSSTF reminder of the principal's statutory in loco parentis power to maintain "proper order and discipline in the schools" as a repugnant synonym of the current American code-word for blind repression, "law and order".

And yet the debate on dictatorship and democracy in the schools need not be cast in such stark antagonisms. A report just prepared by four Etobicoke high school principals paints a more finely shaded picture of the unrest.

With sobriety, perception and a strong sense of justice, the four principals analyze the malaise of discipline in learning under four headings. Their outline of existing or probable future sources of student-staff tension is a lucid catalogue of grievances, composed without subjective judgment: dress and grooming, smoking privileges, censorship of student newspapers, a voice in school administration and curriculum, the right to rate teachers are but a few.

Then follows an understanding, even sympathetic description of the "small group of activists. . . behind the movement — often very intelligent, good youngsters". A third section reviews the reasons for student unrest, laying the burden of blame on the environment students are born into and, willynilly, educated into: permissiveness of parents and society, a decline in family dialogue leading to feeble skills in social dialogue, the decline of religion as a factor in "mental health and spiritual maturity", alienation from nature, soul-destroying industrialization, conflict between society's materialism and school's less tangible values.

More pungently still, the principals lay blame on our society's general lack of fraternity: "Too many people lack a capacity for love." The "phoniness" of adults who go on "preaching one standard and practicing a different one" also stirs revolt, as do university protests and, ironically enough, the very emphasis of modern teaching: ". . . when students are encouraged to think for themselves, they may become inclined to challenge practices in the school".

But the report's most challenging and civilized observations thought about those less fortunate than myself. Now that I find myself more affluent than at any other point in my scholastic career, I think it is about time that I started giving.

"Since so many people have been so kind to me and have provided so much, I feel the only way I can repay this kindness is by attempting to help those, who through no fault of their own, are much less fortunate than I.

"I have selected you as my means of helping somebody because I know you will do as I request and that somebody will benefit from the labour off. I believe generosity and sharing begins at home.

"I hope you don't think I'm foolish or crazy for doing this but it is just my way of expressing my attitude to a society that has given me a loving home, kind friends, a university education and a terrific future."

The citizens of Belleville and community will be pleased to know the above letter was written by a university student who was born in Belleville and received his elementary and secondary school education here.

Editor,

The Intelligencer,

So much publicity has been given to student power, success un-rest, university sit-ins and bombs that one might be led to believe most university students are a disgruntled and unappreciative lot with the attitude, "the world owes us a living." Fortunately for the future of this country, they are a very small, noisy, vocal minority.

A local businessman has received the following letter with a cheque for $50.00. It reads:

NATO Evaluates Threat

Soviet Navy Plays "Imperialist" Game on Seven Seas

by ARCH MacKENZIE

WASHINGTON (CP)—The growth of the Soviet fleet—military, merchant, fishing and research and intelligence—is "one of the most remarkable transformations since the Second World War," says NATO's Atlantic command.

Its view is that top priority by NATO in response should be on improving anti-submarine forces, including aircraft and the research needed to stay abreast of keeping tabs on the Soviet navy as the world's most powerful, under or atop the ocean, after the United States.

This opinion confronts Canada, among other NATO members, with some expensive decisions and is being sounded by NATO spokesmen for the NATO Atlantic command, with headquarters at Norfolk, Va. Anti-sub warfare has been the Canadian navy's special role in NATO.

The NATO analysis was given a North American premiere here Monday with stress on the Soviet expansion as a force into the Mediterranean as one by-product of the Arab-Israeli war last year.

Soviet vessels have been courting French-African countries, says NATO, aside from the Egypt and other Arab countries.

"They are playing the 'good old pre-war imperialist game and doing a good job of it," says Rear Admiral Peter Compston, a Briton serving as deputy commander of the NATO forces in the Atlantic.

Ninety-nine per cent of the Soviet forces afloat have been built in the last 20 years, compared with 29 per cent of American forces, says NATO.

The NATO forces remain larger and contend they have more efficiency "but the Soviets are getting better at it."

Soviet graduation annually of some 1,150 oceanographers, marine engineers and naval architects surpasses that of all other countries combined.

The Soviet research fleet of Intelligence—or spy—vessels, oceanography and satellite and missile tracking is the world's largest and newest—larger than the rest of the world's combined.

The fishing fleet, closely allied with military and intelligence, is the largest and newest in the world, says NATO.

The Soviets are said pointed toward a merchant fleet tonnage of 27,000,000 by 1970 and seem well within reach of it. That would surpass Britain's merchant fleet.

The Soviet navy—divided into Northern, Baltic and Black Sea fleets, although spread around the world and practising "active harassment," against all NATO vessels—has 22 cruisers, 111 destroyers, 407 submarines and even 220 landing ships, a new development.

This is one the basis of Western intelligence evaluated within the last three weeks.

Canadian naval service helicopter carriers, at least one in the Mediterranean. It is feared they soon may be using vertical takeoff and landing planes too.

"It appears most unlikely that the Soviet Union will attack any NATO member," Admiral Compston says.

But NATO's fear is still that the Soviets seek to outflank it via non-aligned countries and that this is the new purpose of Soviet sea power.

The Soviets have built up excellent capacity for support-ship use far from home but still are moving access to non-aligned ports.

Is the Soviet naval might defensive or offensive in nature?

To the Soviet Union, maintaining submarines for long periods within 1,000 miles of North America may seem defensive.

To North Americans, it does not.

Despite masks, there's no hiding this family's message. Come Hallowe'en the children of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Ralph, Humewood Drive, will be canvassing for UNICEF children's fund. Mrs. Ralph is organizing door-to-door canvass among city's West Hill school children. That's Mrs. Ralph at the rear. The rest of the family prefers to remain anonymous — just interested in public response.

Kids Canvass for UNICEF

This country may still need a good five-cent cigar. Other countries just need the nickel.

Next week brings Hallowe'en — and the UNICEF youngsters' canvass.

That five cents, says UNICEF statistics, will buy enough vaccine to protect five children in underdeveloped countries from tuberculosis.

The boxes will be distributed at schools in the city and surrounding townships. Then the children go out petitioning the adults to share a smile of the Hallowe'en favors with mop-pets in less-fortunate countries.

Yearly, UNICEF aims at raising $36 million. It is distributed in more than 100 countries, from Algiers to Afghanistan, Aden to Antigua.

Insurance Men Hear Tax Expert

Guest speaker at last night's public relations dinner of the Bay of Quinte Life Underwriters Association was Jack W. Chivers, district manager of Industrial Life Insurance Company in Quebec.

And the topic, taxation, especially with the recent release of the government's budget was of interest to everyone.

Mr. Chivers discussed many areas of taxation and how they affect the individual. He especially referred to widows and retired men and concentrated on disability incomes, pension plans and wills.

For peace of mind Mr. Chivers said "do it now." He told the group that there are people who can help such as lawyers, accountants and even life underwriters but sometimes their knowledge is not taken advantage of.

President of the local association, Eugene Harrison, also addressed the group and made the presentation of the national quality awards after Mr. Chivers speech.

Mothers Form Auxiliary

TRENTON — At a meeting held last evening at 704 Air Cadet squadron headquarters, a mother's auxiliary was formed.

Members of the newly-formed organization will consist of mothers who have sons in the squadron.

The officers elected were Jean Noland as president, Margot Brimwood as secretary, Marcelle Pederson as treasurer and Miss Rosemary Fulton as social convener.

The auxiliary will spring into action this Saturday to help with the squadron's walkathon project.

Industrial Dispute

Labor Council Supports Mayor

The Belleville and District Labor Council has come out flatly in support of Mayor Scott in the industrial commission dispute.

The stand is taken behind the mayor in a statement issued by council president Ray Bradshaw today.

"The mayor has stated that he has lost confidence in the industrial commission," said Mr Bradshaw. "He is not alone in his convictions. Thousands of our city residents of the business and general public back his stand and demands for a revised commission that would justify the needs of our community."

The statement also criticized Ald. Arnold Orr who queried the mayor on newspaper reports of Dr. Scott's remarks to the labor council Oct. 15.

"We feel that when the public elected Ald. Orr last December they did not expect that he would go to city council meetings with clippings of the local newspapers, with expectations of chastising and criticizing our mayor."

"This action we wouldn't condone in our children," said Mr. Bradshaw.

The labor group also singled out Dr. Scott and Ald. Arthur Keegan for "taking positive action in the interests of the taxpayers."

"We feel that above all other members, those two gentlemen stand up and represent the people of this city — and often under severe criticism from other members of council, the most recent time being Monday, Oct. 21 at the regular council meeting."

Belleville United Appeal Passes the $100,000 Mark

Belleville United Appeal organizers jubilantly confirmed today their 1968 fund drive has passed the $100,000 mark.

The campaign is now confidently striding down the homestretch to its $118,000 goal, its enthusiasm fired by today's announcement.

"We're well over the $100,000 mark — and we expect to reach our total objective shortly," enthused campaign chairman Mrs. Arthur McFarlane.

Most significant increases in campaign contributions this year have come from commerce.

"Merchants on Front Street and elsewhere in the city have made larger increases in their contributions," reported Ben Corke, downtown business-man in charge of the Appeal's commercial division. "And a number of new donors have been added to the fund."

Last year, the fund totalled $8,500 from commercial sources. This year, Mr. Corke expects, more than $20,000 may be donated.

Industrial and service workers also have surpassed previous donations. Big increases are reported at Mead Johnson, Black Diamond Cheese and Oshawa Wholesale. Northern Electric Company contributed $3,500 while its workers have given almost $6,000.

Another $3,100 is expected from the Appeal's selected names list. This includes 2,500 retired citizens, pensioners and travelling salesmen, not canvassed in factories or offices.

Mrs. McFarlane says campaign workers expect to go the $118,000 top "within several days — and certainly within a week."

The 1968 campaign also may set a record for speed.

In 1966 it took 56 days before the United Appeal was declared closed.

"We expect to take at least 10 days off that — if not two weeks," says the campaign chairman. We're planning our victory celebration now."

Thurlow Plans Polling Changes

Foxboro will have a minor polling change for the upcoming municipal and school board elections in Thurlow Township December 2.

At a special meeting of the township council last night, clerk-treasurer, E. M. Dafoe, told councillors that the polling division in Foxboro was responsible to over 600 voters while the other polls had the required number of 350 voters.

Mr. Dafoe suggested that the Foxboro poll be divided into two separate polls with a deputy returning officer and poll clerk for each one.

The new set-up will leave the township with nine single polls and one double poll.

Also with the up-coming election, councillor Fletcher Reid mentioned that some polling districts were hard to describe to the voters.

Township official will have advertisements in local newspapers to assist voters in locating their voting area.

Eligible voters include tenants and home-owners — not boarders. A tenant is described as a person who has a self-contained living quarters where meals are cooked and where the person sleeps.

Ratepayers Still Irked

"I believe the track must be moved and it is the laxity of council that started this mess and it is their laxity that is keeping us in it."

Mr. Day suggested harsh regulations "so tough that the track would have to move".

"Council is continually letting the people of Murray Township down and this won't stop until they're out of office", concluded Mr. Day.

PANASONIC

Royal Canadian Legion Ladies' Auxiliary Holds Successful Autumn Tea and Bazaar

Somewhat cloudy skies did not dampen any of the enthusiasm when the Ladies' Auxiliary to Branch 99 Royal Canadian Legion held its annual bazaar and tea in the Legion Hall on Wednesday afternoon.

Upon entering the hall a profusion of autumn blooms was much in evidence with the mum green and golden rod yellow color scheme carried throughout. Large baskets of colorful maple and oak leaves interspersed with cedar bows were placed at strategic points around the hall, as well as adorning each of the windows. Adding to the decor were vases of bronze and golden yellow 'mums.

The attractive tea table with lace covered cloth and centred with an artistic arrangement of yellow and bronze 'mums interspersed with crimson oak leaves and gold sprayed fernery. Equally attractive were the quartet guest tables with white luncheon cloths bearing the Royal Canadian Legion crest — each centred with crystal rose bowl containing solitaire red rose.

Receiving guests at the entrance were Hope Begley, president, now residing in Toronto and Dorothy Rashotte, past president. Also making the guests welcome were the convener Dorothy Purdey and co - convener, Lillian Cummings. Throughout the afternoon tickets were taken at the door by Auxiliary treasurer, Daisy Jeffs.

The various sales tables were arranged in a square effect around the hall enhanced with moss green and yellow streamers in keeping with the decor. All were laden with an abundance of items and these included a candy table conversed by Anabelle Hardwick and Hatty Vickers; white elephant by Loretta Dennis; country store, Evelyn Farrow; aprons, Edna Semark; novelty, Olive Hanson and Grace Merry; bake table, Liz Hunter, dining room Mamie Spencer and Olive Gerow; kitchen, Evelyn Taylor and Marion Watt.

Tickets for a draw on a wall clock were in charge of Muriel Little and six other items at a draw table were in charge of Elsie Armstrong.

The various draws were made by the acting president Gwen Hughes. Winners were: Ralph Boomhower (clock), also Stella Cleaver, Marie Duquay, Hilda Brookes, Elsie Armstrong, Marg Carson and Mildred Taylor.

An innovation this year was the Madame Tea Cup Reading booth, where guests following a refreshing cup of tea, could have their fortunes told at a minimal charge.

But whatever shall I choose? This question rang out over and over again as decisions of what to buy had to be made at the St. Columba Tea and Bazaar, held Wednesday afternoon. As shown, choices had to be made concerning the fast-approaching Christmas season, too.

Colorful Fall Decor Highlights St. Columba Tea and Bazaar

Smiling scarecrows, plump pumkins and baskets of colorful orange and yellow 'mums formed a warm welcome to the Harvest Harmony Tea and Bazaar held at St. Columba's Presbyterian Church Wednesday afternoon.

Further welcoming the guests, Mrs. Margaret Gentle and Mrs. June Dansmore, added to the friendly atmosphere by greeting and inviting the many patrons to have a cup of tea.

The friendliness of the invitation was equally matched by the imaginative autumn decor. Small baskets of bright 'mums lined the walls, while a split -rail fence and a relaxed scarecrow composed the entrance to the tea room. Convenor and co-convener of the event were Mrs. Doreen Hackett and Mrs. Trudy Smit.

The theme was carried into the decor on the main tea table, as well as each individual tea table. Cloths of bright orange were offset by a small centrepiece of tiny pine cones, dainty asters and large candles. And, of course, there was a plate of delicate sweets placed invitingly on each.

The main tea table, also covered by an orange felt cloth, featured an unusual centrepiece. A multitude of autumn fruits and vegetables and a host of colorful 'mums formed the seasonal and unique centrepiece, was flanked by a silver tea service. The decorators, Mrs. Maggie Carlson and Mrs. M. Debolin did an admirable job.

Each corner of the room was improved upon by the presence of a relaxed and happy-looking scarecrow, attired in a cheerful plaid shirt, among other things and they stood on guard over the many tables overflowing with all kinds of good things to be bought.

And many good things, there were, too.

At the gift and novelty table, presided over by Mrs. Barbara Grieves, there was a variety of articles. Doll clothes, slippers, mittens, centrepieces or even a shoe bag — all attractively displayed.

Quite unique was the "jewellery tree", its branches gaily hung with a varied assortment of baubles, bangles and beads. Helping each guest to choose that special something was Mrs. M. Oliver. Nearby, the children's table was filled with delightful things, kazoos, horns, coloring books, and buttons that said things like "I hate school," just made to please. Here, Mrs. Maggie Carlson was in charge.

Both the white elephant and book tables had a great variety of items for sale, presided over by Mrs. Lois Baldwin and Mrs. Fern Weldon. The apron table, with aprons of every design and color was convened by Mrs. Marie Macpherson. Delicious baked goods were sold by Mrs. Barbara Ashley.

Selling Christmas cards was Mrs. C. Vos, and the Christmas cake, Mrs. L. Steir. Kitchen convener was Mrs. Audrey Blatchford; while presiding over the tea room were Mrs. Trudy Smith and Mrs. Sylvia Bushard.

As a special attraction, tea cup readings were given by Marisha. Several enjoyed tea in the present, and had their future read at the same time — which added up to a pleasant afternoon, well spent.

Salmon Omelette with Tasty Sauce

By MARY MOORE

The letter from my sister-in-law said "We will arrive in time for Sunday brunch."

That was fine but I much a Hi-C group from 10 to 11 on Sunday mornings so had to have the brunch ready before leaving for the church.

I had been keen to try a salmon omelette after a famous chef in a famous hotel had served it at a large breakfast party. Before leaving the house I made the Salmon Sauce which goes over (and between if desired) the omelette and set the table.

SALMON OMELETTE (serves 6)

Sauce:
one 7¾-oz. can B. C. salmon, not drained
2 tablespoons butter
2 tablespoons flour
¾ cup whole milk or 10 per cent cream
1 tablespoon chopped chives (or freeze-dried)
1 tablespoon chopped parsley
½ teaspoon nutmeg

Omelette:
6 eggs
½ cup cold water
¾ teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon Tabasco (optional)
2 teaspoons Worcestershire sauce
about 6 tablespoons butter

To make Sauce melt butter, blend in flour, then stir in milk or cream until thick. Add salmon including liquid, chives, parsley and nutmeg and heat through stirring until salmon is broken up and sauce is thick.

To make Omelettes in a bowl beat eggs until mixed and slightly foamy with water salt, Tabasco (if used) and Worcestershire sauce. Each omelette should be cooked one at a time in a heavy sloped-sided omelette pan. (Mine is cast aluminum and measures 8½" in diameter at top and slopes to 6½" in diameter at bottom.) Melt 1 tablespoon butter in it until bubbly and beginning to brown. Immediately add a scant ⅓ cup of egg mixture and when bottom sets a little, tip pan, lift set portion to allow liquid to flow underneath softly set. Tip pan at sharp angle and with spatual or rubber scraper, roll cooked side near handle over to make one fold then holding pan vertically over warm plate roll it, once more, on to plate. A neat trick that you can master. Spoon generous portion of hot Salmon Sauce over and serve at once. Repeat until all omelette liquid is cooked and served with Salmon Sauce.

They said it alone was worth the 400 mile drive.

Many Queries About Extension Courses

By DORIS CLARK

Dear Doris: Letters about our extension courses by correspondence are coming in thick and fast from your readers.

This year I am cautioning your readers that the greatest benefits in taking these subjects come to those who are already working in the related fields (of human behavior), either as voluntary workers or professionals.

I found, last year that many of the applicants dream of taking a course of study that will lead to employment in those fields. It works far better the other way around, those presently employed are able to integrate the academic work with their previous experience and this often leads to promotion.

There are, of course, a number of people who just want to take the course to stretch their minds and increase their knowledge. — Director of Extension, McMaster University Hamilton, Ontario.

Dear Director: In other words, the extension work is not actually job training; but it is a help in doing work which involves people.

* * *

Dear Doris: I lost my husband after 25 years of happy marriage. I have kept busy raising the family I was left with and I dread the thought that next year I will be alone. I have a job where I do not meet people my age — middlefifties. Also I am now living in a large city and I find it hard to make new friends.

I have always been very suspicious of "friendship clubs", but there is a church-sponsored group I have read about in Blankstown. I have no special interest in getting married again, but I dread the years ahead if they are to be spent alone, and I don't want to sink too close to my family. They have their own lives to live.

Am I being foolish to consider enquiring into this personal acquaintance service? — Looking Ahead.

Dear Looking: By no means and if I had your address I would write you separately to recommend the group I think you refer to. Church-inspired friendship clubs are great places to get acquainted. And there are others.

* * *

Just beware of the commercial rackets which claim to match up people computer-fashion and charge unreasonably for what turns out to be poor information and no service at all.

* * *

Confidential to Flat As A Pancake: Women do worry about this — but what could be more feminine than nursing your children? No sense in feeling like "half a woman".

There is a breast operation by which an inert substance is injected in the breast area; and some dancers and actresses have had this done.

For most people I'd prefer the padded bra, accompanied by some exercises to develop the muscles of the chest and help posture. And leave it at that.

* * *

(We now have some understanding of why people act as they do. Write to Doris about your particular human problem enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope for private reply.)

Dad Writes Letter To College President

DEAR ANN LANDERS: My son left for college a few weeks ago. I would like to send the college president a letter but my wife won't let me, not even anonymously. Perhaps if you print it he will see it. Thanks. Just sign me — CONCERNED DAD.

ANN LANDERS

DEAR COLLEGE PRESIDENT: I am sending my boy to college because it is better than sending him to Vietnam. He is a good boy but I am worried because from what I hear and read, colleges aren't what they used to be. For example, our son says cars were not allowed on your campus but the kids decided they wanted cars and they told the administration to go jump in the lake. Your reply, Mr. College President, was: "We would prefer that students not bring cars but if they bring them the old rules will not be enforced.

I hope you have some faculty members of fine character who can inspire young people. From what I hear, several of your teachers line up with the students and make life hell for the administration. I also hear your dorms are "co-ed" till all hours and the students laughingly call the campus a bordello subsidized by the tax-payers.

Above all, I hope you will keep in mind that I can't support this kid for the rest of his life. Please give him some vocational training. — CONCERNED DAD.

* * *

DEAR DAD: Here's your letter but I doubt that you will be swamped with replies from college presidents. Will you settle for a student? If so, I'll print the best response.

* * *

DEAR ANN: I love my wife but I don't know what to do about her lying. I work her my paycheque and take a few dollars for myself. She is supposed to pay all the bills.

I'm a person who likes to keep my credit clean. My wife dribbles away money and lets the unpaid bills and dunning notices. When I call her on it she cries and says she "forgot."

What should I do? I hate to insult her by taking over myself. — RICK.

* * *

DEAR RICK: You won't insult her, you'll relieve her. She is clearly incompetent for this job and you're a boob to let her wreck your credit. Give her an allowance and pay the bills yourself.

* * *

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Our daughter is being married this fall and has decided she doesn't want children at her wedding or reception. She says too many weddings have been ruined by noisy kids and she is not going to allow anything to mar the beauty of her day. She is emphatic on the point that there will be no one under high school age.

I agree with my daughter's point of view but wonder how to tell people tactfully when they ask if their young children are included. — V.E.M.

DEAR V.E.M.: People of taste do not try to bring children unless the invitation specifically says "And Family" on the envelope. If someone asks, simply say, "Sorry, Sue does not want anyone under high school age and we are respecting her wishes since this is her day."

Hallowe'en Party Held By Kinettes

TWEED — The Tweed Kinette Club held their annual Hallowe'en dinner party at the Hotel Tweedsmuir on Monday, October 21th with 23 Tweed members in attendance and one visitor from Tweed, along with nine members from the Belleville Kinette Club, as an Inter-Club meeting. The dinner was of the traditional ham, with scalloped potatoes and pineapple, which was thoroughly enjoyed by all.

The costumes were both hilarious and original, and the prizes were awarded as follows: best dressed, Robin Hood, won by Kinette Marion Cope, most amusing costume, Snoopy, won by Kinette Lois Lindsay, and most original, Hippy, won by Kinette Marlene Spencer.

The Belleville Club as a Unit, initiated the members of the Tweed Club who had never previously been initiated, this was most impressing as well as being boisterously gay.

Final plans were made during the following business meeting, for the rummage sale (twice-yearly event always sponsored by the Kinette Club) to be held Saturday, October 26th, to be held in vacant store next to Kwan's Restaurant in Tweed.

The draw prizes for the evening, were won by two Belleville members: Kinette Lois Akey and Kinette Marjorie Jackson. It was deemed a most enjoyable evening, and the weathermen was most co-operative.

The president, Carol Bleeckr conducted the meeting.

Points for Parents

By MARY BRYSON

Mother: "You know you're not supposed to go out in the street. You're big enough to realize it's dangerous. You'll get spanked every time I catch you."

Don't trust a child of 2 or 3 to remember warnings. Even though he is aware of danger, he may be tempted to disregard it. If you can't confine him in a fenced-in yard, stay outdoors with him.

Mother: "Even though there's not much traffic on the street, I don't want to take a chance that Jimmy might get hit by a car. He's so little a motorist might not see him."

MR. AND MRS. ROBERT GRANT

Grant – Sinclair

Morningside Presbyterian Church, Toronto, was the scene of the October wedding when Rev. Kingston Lattimore united in marriage Linda Isa Sinclair, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Sinclair, of Georgetown, formerly of Belleville, to Robert Stephen Grant, son of Mr. and Mrs. John E. Grant, of R.R. 6, Belleville. Wedding music was rendered by the church organist.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a full length A-line gown with nylon over taffeta with lace appliques down the front and a stand up pearl collar. Long lace sleeves that came to a point and a full lace train further enhanced the gown. Her shoulder-length veil featured a flower headpiece. She carried a bouquet of red roses.

Maid of honor, Miss Carole Sinclair, sister of the bride, was attired in an empire waisted A-line gown, the bottom of which was of rose brocade, while the top was in white chiffon with ruffled cuffs. Her headpiece and veil were in rose. She carried a bouquet of white pom poms.

Bridesmaids were Joyce Grant, Margaret Uebele and Susan Sinclair, who were attired similarly to the maid of honor.

Flower girl was Andrea Sinclair, sister of the bride who was dressed in white and carried a basket of assorted flowers.

Attending the bridegroom was Bill Therriault, cousin of the groom. The ushers were Dave Beatty, Dave Spring and Allan Sinclair. The ringbearer for the ceremony was Richard Grant, brother of the bridegroom.

For the wedding reception held at Applewood Villa in Fort Credit, the mother of the bride received the guests wearing a reef blue French ribbon lace ensemble dress, cap sleeves and a princess fitted a-line box-pleated coat were also part of her outfit. Assisting her, the mother of the bridegroom wore a pink tie silk shantung dress and two piece ensemble with matching hat and contrasting feathers. Her corsage was of pink carnations.

For the wedding trip to points west in Ontario, the bride donned a coat and dress in green brocade with a green flowered hat. Upon their return, the couple will reside in Kitchener.

Uganda Speaker Highlights University Women's Club Meet

The University Women's Club of Belleville and District were honored Thursday to have as their guest speaker, Mrs. Mullndwa from Uganda. She was introduced to the club by Miss Handford, the Provincial Director of Eastern Ontario, C.F.U.W.

Mrs. Mullndwa described the location, climate, crops, resources and history of her country, then described family life and customs. She then showed how the choice of family ties and the customs of collecting dowories from men in exchange for the daughter's hand in marriage affected the girls' chances of being educated.

The fact that education is not free even at the elementary school level prevents 50 per cent of Uganda's children from getting any education whatsoever.

Mrs. Mullndwa's account of the very demanding role of being one of the few university graduates was interesting. The acceptance of various obligations of their positions is a great credit to Uganda's women. An amazingly high percentage hold positions of great responsibility.

Educated women take on the responsibility of encouraging further education for their youth in spite of limited funds. Some organize nursery schools and solicit funds from individuals and clubs to help university students.

If Mrs. Mullndwa's spirit and tenacity are typical, Uganda's women could not help but make a great contribution to the development of their country's progress.

Mrs. Marion Gray thanked Mrs. Mullndwa and presented her with a Sterling brooch with a maple leaf, and small token of the club's appreciation for a most stimulating talk.

Home and School Association News

SIR WINSTON CHURCHILL PUBLIC SCHOOL

At the first meeting of the year, Mrs. B. Stenson of Area Council spoke about the aims and objectives of Home and School. She brought to mind the importance of studying and discussing the Hall-Dennis Report. Also, she mentioned that all should make a concerned effort to obtain as many paid-up memberships as possible, and to maintain an active group, in order to influence the future course of their children's educations.

Mr. Summers introduced the teachers, and gave a resume of his feelings about this report and its effect on pupils, teachers and parents.

The possibility of forming groups to study "Living and Learning", and all the pros and cons of its application was discussed.

Next General Meeting will be November 25.

NOTICE OF APPLICATION to The Ontario Municipal Board by the Corporation of the City of Belleville for approval of a by-law to regulate land use passed pursuant to Section 30 of The Planning Act.

TAKE NOTICE that the Council of the Corporation of the City of Belleville intends to apply to The Ontario Municipal Board pursuant to the provision of Section 30 of The Planning Act for approval of By-law Number 8582 passed on the 7th day of October, 1968. A copy of the by-law is furnished herewith. A note giving an explanation of the purpose and effect of the by-law and stating the lands affected thereby is also furnished herewith.

Any person interested may, within fourteen (14) days after the date of this notice, send by registered mail or deliver to the Clerk of Belleville notice of his objection to approval of the said by-law, together with a statement of the grounds of such objection.

The Ontario Municipal Board may approve of the said by-law, but before doing so it may appoint a time and place when any objection to the by-law will be considered. Notice of any hearing that may be held will be given only to persons who have filed an objection.

The last date for filing objections will be November 7, 1968.

DATED at the City of Belleville this 24th day of October, 1968.

Adam S. Stalker,
City Clerk,
City Hall,
Belleville, Ontario.

SPECIAL NOTICE

ALL OWNERS of land abutting the Belleville City Limits and located in the Township of Thurlow and Sidney are hereby notified of the foregoing NOTICE OF THE ONTARIO MUNICIPAL BOARD UNDER SECTION 30 OF "THE PLANNING ACT".

THE CORPORATION OF THE CITY OF BELLEVILLE

BY-LAW NUMBER 8582

A BY-LAW TO AMEND BY-LAW NUMBER 7080, BEING A BY-LAW TO REGULATE THE USE OF LAND, THE LOCATION, BULK AND USE OF BUILDINGS, SIZE OF BUILDING LOTS AND THE DENSITY OF POPULATION.

COUNCIL OF THE CORPORATION OF THE CITY OF BELLEVILLE ENACTS AS FOLLOWS:

1. THAT By-law Number 7080 be, and it is hereby, amended by adding the following subsection to sections 9, 10 and 11 as subsections 9:20, 10:13 and 11:14 respectively:

Municipal Services

(i) Sanitary Sewer.

(ii) Municipal Water Supply

THIS BY-LAW shall not come into force and take effect until approved by The Ontario Municipal Board.

Read a first time this 7th day of October, 1968.

Read a second time this 7th day of October, 1968.

Read a third time and finally passed this 7th day of October, 1968

J. Russell Reid, MAYOR

(Sgd.) Adam S. Stalker
Adam S. Stalker, CITY CLERK

October 24, 1968.

EXPLANATORY NOTE TO BY-LAW NUMBER 8582

It had come to the Planning Board staff's attention that By-law Number 7080 specified and required certain municipal services for all types of residential accommodation except for those uses permitted in RM1, RM2 and RM3 Zones. In theory, therefore, one could erect an apartment building without the necessary municipal services anywhere in the 1958 annexed area of the City of Belleville.

The proposed amending by-law rectifies this undesirable situation.

Adam S. Stalker,
CITY CLERK

Excessive Aspirin Dosage as Drug May Result in Allergic Reaction

By Dr. Joseph G. Molner

Dear Dr. Molner: My husband has had three back operations and has a lot of pain. For almost a year he has been taking large quantities of aspirin, but now he is taking more than ever — 100 in a week, 250 in two weeks.

He now has splotches all over his stomach and a few on his face. He complains of blurred vision sometimes. Please print what will happen from this. Nothing I say seems to get through. — Mrs. C. S.

Aspirin, as I've said before, is a remarkable drug. It does an amazing amount of good with astonishingly little harm. This remark isn't original with me. Others have said it before me and others will say it after me, but it's true. Aspirin is one of the few potent drugs that are safe enough to sell without prescription.

Still, too much is too much. An extreme example is the young child who gulps a whole handful at once and becomes very ill. About once a week, some small child dies of it.

At the other extreme, millions use an aspirin or two for a headache without a second thought. And somewhere in between, how many sufferers with arthritis or other ailments use a couple of tablets every four waking "hours? Many!

When an adult goes too far, and this will vary from one individual to another, excessive aspirin begins to cause trouble. There may be an allergic reaction. There may be stomach irritation to the point of some bleeding. Or disorders of blood elements.

In the case of Mrs. S.'s husband, the skin blotches and visual disturbances suggest a toxic reaction. Of course, there may well be other factors of which I am totally unaware, so I'm not going to be pontifical about this. All I say is that at an intake of 100 or more tablets a week there could be some reaction — for some people.

There are other preparations which are effective for relief of pain. And here I am not talking about narcotics. Mrs. S.'s husband should inform his doctor about his symptoms, the skin and the eye changes. It may not be possible, without complicated tests, to determine whether these are aspirin reactions or something else, but switching for a time to some other kind of pain medication ought to provide a valid answer.

• • •

I certainly don't want to say anything to disturb the sane faith which we all have in aspirin, but too much of a good thing can be too much, and 100 tablets a week is getting up where some caution is wise.

• • •

Dear Dr. Molner: I have a teen-age son and one of the boys he runs with likes to show off. On a dare, he swallows goldfish, any size. The other day he almost choked on one. If he doesn't choke to death, what other effects could it have? Couldn't it make him very ill? — Mrs. L. W.

Thirty or so years ago there was a fad of goldfish-swallowing among college students. I don't know that it hurt any of them, unless some of them did happen to choke. Or unless maybe, the fish happened to be infested with worms. Anybody silly enough to swallow live goldfish is probably too silly to take any advice, so why bother?

• • •

Dear Dr. Molner: Several years ago I bought a juicer and drank a lot of carrot and celery juice. A year and a half ago I had a cancer operation. My sister-in-law said her doctor told her the juice of carrots could cause cancer. What do you think? — Mrs. E. J.

I think your sister-in-law must have gotten something very mixed up. While I don't set much store by the vegetable juice fad, I certainly know of no evidence that such juices cause cancer.

Parolees Earn $8 Million

OTTAWA (CP) — A national survey conducted by 20 national parole board offices shows that 1,943 paroled prisoners will earn more than $8,000,000 this year.

"This survey, the first of its kind, demonstrates a substantial financial saving to the communities by granting parole," said Solicitor-General McIlraith in a news release Wednesday.

The report says that if the 1,949 men and women remained in prison, it would have cost the Canadian taxpayer about $9,000,000 yearly plus additional public funds to support their 2,500 dependents.

George Street, the parole board chairman, said the paroled inmates are caring for 2,472 dependents. About 90 per cent of them will complete their parole periods of between two and five years without getting into any further scraps with the law.

Pearson Names Bank Committee

OTTAWA (CP) — Former prime minister Lester B. Pearson Wednesday announced the names of a select group of seven men, each from a different country, who will be members of his World Bank commission looking international development policy.

They include Douglas Dillon, former U.S. treasury secretary, and Sir Edward Boyle, former British minister of education.

The commission, established last August by World Bank President Robert S. McNamara, should report before the end of next year, with recommendations on the best policies to promote growth of the developing world.

Wednesday's announcement said the commission expects to meet "later this year" in Canada.

Besides Mr. Dillon and Sir Edward they are:

Roberto de Oliveira Campos of Brazil, president of Investbanco;

Dr. Wilfried Guth of West Germany, a member of the board of management of Deutsche Bank;

Robert E. Marjolin of France, vice-president of the European Economic Community until last year;

Dr. Seburo Okita of Japan, president of the Japan Economic Research Centre.

BELLEVILLE, ONTARIO, THURSDAY, OCTOBER 24, 1968

by Maurice Switzer
Sports Editor

In a city with 1100 boys in the 16-19 age bracket, only 100 have registered to play midget and juvenile house league hockey this winter.

And that, ladies and gentlemen, is a pretty damning indictment against something, and we don't mean the Belleville Minor Hockey Association.

President Hugh "Satch" Sutherland and his execs have been beating their skulls against the arena boards trying to get any and every eligible boy in the city out for a house league team . . . and to get sponsors for them.

"There's no problem with the younger age groups," Sutherland says, "but we only have 85 boys registered in midget (ages 15-17) and 20 for juvenile."

The dismal turnout for the juvenile (17-19) class came as a particular slap in the face to the minor hockey organizers.

Sutherland had been granted special clearance by the OMHA to permit city 20-year-olds to play in the juvenile house league, a commendable idea to provide playing opportunity for all those overage juveniles not talented enough to catch a junior club.

"Only three boys took advantage of our offer," Sutherland lamented, "and it looks like we're just not going to have a house league for that age group this winter."

(Last year, two city juvenile teams played in a house league against entries from OSD and Melrose.)

Granted, some of the missing midgets and juveniles are on the roster of the Morrison Junior "B's" this season, but according to city assessment department figures, there are still about 1,000 Belleville boys unaccounted for who are eligible to play hockey in these two classes.

We say "unaccounted for" because we assume that more than 9 per cent of the eligible midgets and juveniles WANT to play hockey, unless times have drastically changed.

And it's not as if they all had to be budding Bobby Hulls — the BMHA all-star teams skim off the cream of the house league crop.

The house league, meanwhile, provides an opportunity for young boys from six to 20 to play for a team, regardless of their ability.

This is precisely the type of situation that sets the elders fuming when teens come out with the "lack of available recreation facilities" gripes.

The BMHA executive couldn't be blamed for conducting a protest march about the situation, now could they?

Swimmers Win First Canadian Medals

Pair of Silvers To Disappointed Tanner, Hutton

QUICK BATH ON A HOT DAY — A friend tosses a pail of water on T. Magyar of Hungary during the Olympic 196 km. cycle race, concluding event on the Olympic cycling program....The race, won by Piere Franco Vianelli of Italy, was run under a hot sun. (AP Wirephoto)

MEXICO CITY (CP) — Canada had its first Olympic swimming medals in 40 years, and the first of the current Games, but they weren't gold.

Vancouver-born Elaine Tanner, bitterly disappointed at her second-place finish in the women's 100-metre backstroke Wednesday night, fled in tears with the silver medallion swinging from her neck.

Ralph Hutton of Ocean Falls, B.C., hung his head after he got another silver in the men's 400-metre freestyle, not because of disappointment at not winning.

"I was just too tired to hold my head up," he said afterwards.

Kay Hall, a 17-year-old high school student from Tacoma, Wash., got off to a fast start, made a beautiful turn and won the backstroke with a world record clocking of 1:06.2.

The night before the race, Elaine said she figured it would take a world record performance to win the gold and that she would be close after it.

The 17-year-old Winnipeg resident swam the fastest 100 backstroke of her career, 1:06.7, after setting an Olympic record of 1:07.4 in the heats.

Still she finished a metre behind the American, who clipped two-tenths off the world record of 1:06.4, set by Soviet South African Karen Muir earlier this year.

"I thought it would take a world record to win it," said Miss Tanner. "But I thought I'd be the one to do it."

Her coach, George Gate of Pointe Claire, Que., sent her to the dressing room after the medal ceremonies when she broke down and fled shortly before the press interviews.

"This is a fine athlete," Gate said.

"She feels she let Canada down by not winning the gold medal and she is wrong . . . She swam the fastest race of her life."

Hutton, the world record holder in the 400 freestyle, came second to Mike Burton of the United States. Burton swam a 4:09.0 time, an Olympic record, to Hutton's 4:11.7.

Elaine's silver is the first in swimming ever won by a Canadian woman although Irene MacDonald of Kelowna, B.C., took a third-place bronze in the springboard diving at the 1956 Melbourne Games.

Hutton's medal is the first individual medal in swimming by a Canadian in 48 years—since George Vernot of Montreal placed third in the same race in 1920.

Until Miss Tanner and Hutton did it, the last time Canada won a swimming medal was in 1928, when the 800-metre relay team finished third.

Hutton, a particularly close friend of Elaine's, said in her defence:

"Everybody had been expecting her to win a gold medal and she feels she blew it. The press should get off her back. She's still a little girl."

Of his own performance, Hutton said:

"I'm not displeased. I swam the best race I possibly could."

The Americans picked up six more gold medals Wednesday, including their first in sports other than track and swimming, andthe Russians began to make their move in gymnastics, in which 14 gold medals are awarded.

Clash with Saints

A Trojan Win Means Top Spot

By MALCOLM JOHNSTON
Staff Sportswriter

The Senior Trojans of Moira Secondary School hope the Quinte seniors live up to their name when they tangle with the Saints Friday afternoon in a crucial Class "AA" football game on QSS home grounds.

The first place Trojans are undefeated in four games thus far, but their last two victories have been single-point squeakers over Belleville Collegiate and Centennial Secondary School.

Moira needs a victory to move into undisputed possession of first place in the Class "AA" standings. But the defending C.O.S.S.A. champion Quinte Sainte want a victory to soothe their wounded pride. Their 2-2 record virtually eliminates any chance that Quinte will repeat as Bay of Quinte titlists.

Moira coach Gord Smith said his team had played well to date, but "we can play better, we've been lucky so far in that we've had no serious injuries and we've had a few breaks come our way."

Rick Locke's Quinte Saints have won two games and lost two so far, but the team has been plagued by injuries this year. Coach Locke agreed injuries have been Quinte's main drawback. "But I feel we're ready for a good game. Moira has played good football all year so I expect a hard-fought, close contest."

Belleville Collegiate is idle with a bye this week, but at present the Senior Collegians share first place with the Moira's Trojans. The possibility of a three way tie for first place exists if B.C.I. wins its last game, Moira defeats Quinte but loses to Trenton and Trenton defeats Centennial and Moira.

Int other Class "A" action Friday, both Junior and Senior games will be held, with Trenton High School travelling to Centennial Secondary School and Napanee playing at Picton against teams from Prince Edward Collegiate.

The standings are:

	G.	W.	L.	Pts.
Moira	4	4	0	8
B.C.I.	3	4	1	8
Trenton	4	3	1	6
Quinte	4	2	2	4
Centennial	3	2	3	4
Picton	4	0	4	0
Napanee	4	0	4	0

Prospects Come to Mo-Hawks

The Belleville Mo-Hawk star may not be shining yet, but it is starting to glimmer a little bit. And the glow of last weekend's wins over Kingston and Gall has attracted some bright new faces to club practice sessions.

Centre Andy Teeple and right winger Al Ferguson practiced with the Mo-Hawks last night, as did centre Paul O'Donnell from Peterborough. Teeple and Ferguson are from Trenton where they played Junior hockey before stepping up to the Brockville Braves of the Central Junior Hockey League.

Both players were named to the league's all-star team last year.

Teeple attended the Quebec City training camp of the Philadelphia Flyers this fall. He was kept on for two weeks by the Flyers, who asked him to try out for their Jersey City farm club in the Eastern Hockey League. However Teeple had already signed to go to Fort Wayne of the International Hockey League, from which he returned October 16th.

Teeple, who stands five feet eleven inches and weighs 160 pounds, wants to play for the Mo-Hawks because "It's the only good hockey around here," and says he'll continue to work out with the team.

Ferguson also had a tryout with Fort Wayne this fall and he too wants to catch on with the Mo-Hawks.

With or without new faces in the lineup, Davey Jones and his Mo-Hawks face two tough weekend encounters — a home game with the Barrie Flyers Friday night and a road game in Orillia Sunday.

Expansionists Get Shellacking

By SCOTT BUTTON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

If expansion teams in the National Hockey League rally want to beat the established teams, maybe they should listen to some advice from Jacques Plante.

Plante, 39, who came out of retirement this season to join St. Louis Blues, watched his team-mates lose 6-4 to Toronto Maple Leafs at Toronto Wednesday night. Then, he outlined some strategy expansion teams should use.

The advice might prove helpful to all teams in the Western Division because the established Eastern Division teams made a clean sweep of four interlocking games played Wednesday.

Chicago Black Hawks routed Pittsburgh Penguins 8-5 at Pittsburgh. Montreal Canadiens downed Los Angeles Kings 5-2 at Los Angeles and New York Rangers trounced Oakland Seals 6-1 at New York in the other games.

Plante, with many years service with Montreal and New York, said expansion teams make a mistake in trying to play wide-open hockey against the established teams.

"The expansion teams forgot how they should play against the old teams," said Plante in an interview. "The only way they can win is to play position-al hockey—defensive hockey and play for the breaks.

"You see Oakland wins two games in a row. Now they say bad, but they think they can play Chicago's game. No, Chicago has too many shooters."

Glenn Hall, who made his seasonal debut in the St. Louis goal, probably wishes Plante had offered the advice before the game against the Maple Leafs instead of afterwards. The Blues afforded Hall little protection and the Maple Leafs took advantage.

JACQUES PLANTE

'We can play hockey with these other guys and they try, but they can't. New York has too many shooters, so in a wide-open game, New York will win.

"Pittsburgh has tied Montreal and tied Toronto. They're not

OK for Football; "Unfit" For U.S. Army

VANCOUVER (CP) — Halfback Leroy Sledge has failed his physical examination for induction into the U.S. Army, British Columbia Lions said Wednesday night.

Reason given was the condition of Sledge's right knee. He underwent surgery on the knee for a cartilage condition in late May. Sledge also is due for surgery for severe bunions on both feet.

U.S. selective service officials in Seattle advised Sledge they would be in touch with him again in two months but did not say why.

Sledge reported for induction after being indicted in his hometown of Richmond, Va., for failing to report for induction June 27. He was told no action would be taken if he reported voluntarily.

Sledge underwent a 12-hour medical examination in Seattle Tuesday. He was then placed on a "medical hold" and the findings of examiners were given Wednesday.

The halfback reported for practice with the Western Football Conference Lions Wednesday.

The only way for a home-grown Canadian rent-a-car company to keep ahead of the competition is to give you a better deal.

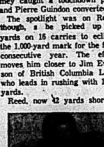
Bombers' Loss to Roughies A Stoic Experience for Coach

WINNIPEG (CP) — Coach Joe Zaleski was a loser Wednesday. Bombers was a loser Wednesday, but his team's performance kindled a spark of hope for the future.

"The way they were able to move the ball against the best team in Canada was encouraging," Zaleski said after losing 24-7 to Saskatchewan Roughriders in a Western Football Conference game.

Saskatchewan is on its way to solving up to Zaleski's assessment, moving three points ahead of Calgary Stampeders for the WFC lead. The Riders need only a tie in either of their two remaining games to lock up first place.



George Reed, Saskatchewan's fullback, was prominent with three touchdowns, two on one-yard plunges and one on a 13-yard run.

Jack Abendschan, with a field goal, and Bill Goods with a single and two converts added the other points for Saskatchewan.

The spotlight was on Reed, though, as he picked up 69 yards on 16 carries to eclipse the 1,000-yard mark for the fifth consecutive year. The effort moves him closer to Jim Evenson of British Columbia Lions who leads in rushing with 1,047 yards.

Reed, now 42 yards short of

GEORGE REED

Evenson's total, said after the game that he expects the rushing duel will go down to the last game in Vancouver.

Saskatchewan head coach Eagle Keys, "scared to death" going into the game, wasn't particularly happy with the performance of his quarterback, Ron Lancaster, who was good on just three of 15 pass attempts.

Winnipeg had 265 yards in total offence and Saskatchewan 226, but four Winnipeg passes were intercepted.

Bruce Bennett picked off two of them, one leading to a touchdown in the second quarter when Winnipeg was guarding a 7-1 lead. Interceptions by Larry Degraw and Ted Dushinski led to a field goal and touchdown in the last half.

Despite the interceptions, John Schneider compiled a good passing record with 12 completions in 23 attempts for 148 yards. His alternate, Luther Selbo who replaced Schneider in the third quarter, connected on five of nine tries for 96 yards.

Ramey was the workhorse for Winnipeg, carrying six times for just 14 yards and catching six passes for 98 yards.

Ramey had some kind words for Saskatchewan also calling them the "roughest, toughest" team he has played.

MEXICO CITY (CP)—Vera Caslavska, Czechoslovakia's gymnastics champion, successfully defended her Olympic all-around title Wednesday, but team honors again went to Russia. Soviet women have won the gymnastics team title ever since they entered the Olympic Games in 1952. The Czech team ended in the familiar runner-up position for the third consecutive Olympics.

QUEBEC (CP) — Fernand Simard, 30, Canadian junior welterweight boxing champion, Wednesday announced his retirement from the ring. Simard reached his decision after two consecutive defeats. He left the Canadian title vacant after losing a unanimous 10-round decision to Pablo Lopo of Mexico Monday night.

GLEN COVE, N.Y. (AP) — Marshall Cassidy, one of the foremost figures in thoroughbred horse racing until his retirement several years ago, died Wednesday in a nursing home. He was 76. He became identified with thoroughbred racing in 1914 as an assistant starter to his father at Juarez, Mexico and later he worked at Woodbine Raceway in Toronto.

CAMPBELLVILLE, Ont. (CP) — Ron Feagan passed the $1,000,000 mark in recorded career earnings Wednesday when he drove Attorney's Bob to victory in the third race at Mohawk Raceway. Career purse earnings have been tabulated by the Canadian Trotting Association since 1964, but Feagan, a 26-year-old native of Goderich, Ont., has been driving since 1959. Feagan, nearing his fourth consecutive 200-win season, also is eight short of a career total of 1,000 wins. He drove Attorney's Bob, a 14-year-old pacer from Petrolia, Ont., to a 2¼-length win over Port Wallis Boy. Superior Kaie and Ash Song combined for a $63.20 daily double. Driver Keith Waples won twice to move within five victories of a 2,000-win career record.

Pros Upset

Tennis "Opens" On Shaky Sneakers

DALLAS, Tex. (Reuters) — The two leading professional tennis tours said Wednesday that only three open tournaments in 1969 are assured of the presence of all 21 pros under contract to the two groups.

The National Tennis League and World Championship Tennis said in a joint statement that only the Canadian Open in Toronto, the Wimbledon and the New South Wales opens will have all of the pros as participants.

The statement underlined a growing bitterness among professional tennis stars over the newly-created category of "registered player," a quasi-amateur classification authorized early this year by the International Lawn Tennis Federation, the sport's ruling body.

Registered players may elect, in tournaments where prize money is at stake, to play for the money or to accept the per diem expenses that would normally be payed them by the tournament's sponsors.

The irony of the registered player category was dramatized at September's U.S. Open, when Tom Okker of The Netherlands and Virginia Wade of Britain, both registered players, won the top prize money in the men's and women's singles divisions.

Robert Briner, executive director of World Championship Tennis, said he and National Tennis League president George Maccall planned to concentrate on professional events, rather than open tournaments, during 1969.

Briner said the WCT and NTL players would compete at Wimbledon, which pioneered open tennis last summer, "because of the prestige of that tournament and to show our regard for what it has done in bringing about open tennis."

He said they would also play in the New South Wales Open in Sydney in January and the Canadian Open in August, because officials of those tournaments had expressed a willingness to promote major professional tennis.

Celtics Stave off Royals

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Boston Celtics opened their National Basketball Association season Wednesday night with a hard-fought 108-101 decision over Cincinnati Royals.

Lou Hudson's 36 points paced Atlanta Hawks to a 105-91 victory over the visiting Chicago Bulls. Joe Caldwell had 33 points for the Hawks while Jim Washington topped Chicago with 18 points.

Detroit Pistons offset talks of dissension among personnel with a second-half comeback that carried them to a 117-110 win at home over Los Angeles Lakers.

Willis Reed paced New York with 23 points while Milwaukee's Wayne Embry was high in the game with 26.

Al Tucker's two free throws with five seconds remaining in the game gave Seattle Supersonics a 118-117 decision over San Diego. Elvin Hayes of the Rockets was the games top scorer with 24 points while Seattle's Bob Rule and Lenny Wilkens clicked for 20 each.

Affiliation Goes Flat

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — Firestone Tire and Rubber Co., one of the oldest names in motor racing, confirmed Wednesday it is temporarily pulling out of championship and stock car racing.

"Until contract fees are more realistic Firestone will sign no contracts with drivers, mechanics or racing teams," a spokesman said.

Italian-born Mario Andretti, whose contract with Firestone expires in January, is the only driver now under contract to the company.

Firestone entered racing in 1909 and most of the world's leading drivers have been connected with the firm at some stage of their careers.

There is a kind of man who tries.

You have seen him. He limps a little when it's damp. Everything he does, he gives it the full shot. 100 per cent. My friend, there is a whisky like that. The full shot. Gold Stripe.

It will put 100 per cent full, laughing taste in your mouth with every sip. And quietly leave. Without biting. If you're not afraid of a little honest taste, maybe you should try Gold Stripe. And get the full shot.

Our "Elder" Equestrian Rides Sixth

MEXICO CITY (CP) — William Steinkraus of the United States, riding Snowbound, won the gold medal Wednesday in the Grand Prix jumping event on the Olympic equestrian program.

Marion Coakes of Britain, riding Streller, finished second and took the silver medal.

Another member of the British team, European champion David Broome, took the bronze medal on Mr. Softee after a jump-off among four riders.

Steinkraus is the first American ever to win the Grand Prix for jumping in the Olympic equestrian events.

In the jump-off for the bronze medal were, besides Elder and the successful Broome, West Germany's veteran Hans-Guenther Winkler, the Olympic gold medallist in 1956, and Frank Chapot of the U.S.

Chapot, riding San Lucas, got fourth place in the final standings.

Steinkraus and Miss Coakes, the first woman ever to win a medal in this Olympic event, were the only competitors who cleared the course without fault.

Only 16 others, out of a total of 42 riders from 15 countries, survived the first round with its 17 difficult jumps.

All four riders tied for third place and had faultless rounds in the jump-off. Their times, therefore, had to decide the

Grappling With Problem

MEXICO CITY (CP) — Canada's entries in Olympic Greco-Roman wrestling encountered nothing but disaster Wednesday, losing five matches.

It was only the opening round of Greco-Roman—in which all grips must be applied above the waist—so none of the Canadians was eliminated under the Olympic system.

Heavyweight Harry Geris of London, Ont., lost to Robert Roop of the United States by a fall after nine minutes 34 seconds.

Jim Day, 22-year-old car salesman from King City, Ont., tied for 13th with two other riders, each with 20 faults. Day is his good steed Canadian Club, familiar to patrons of the indoor circuit in Toronto and the eastern U.S.

The 34-year-old Elder, a refrigeration contractor, has a distinguished record in international competition.

On every Canadian equestrian team since 1950, he took the gold medal in the three-day event in the 1959 Pan American Games in Chicago.

He was on the Canadian team that took a bronze medal in the Olympic three-day event at Stockholm in 1956.

He has been international jumping champion three times at the Royal Winter Fair in Toronto.

At the Pan-American Games in Winnipeg last year, he was a member of the Canadian team that took the bronze medal in the Prix des Nations.

"Best Over-all" Diver, Boys Just Misses Medal

MEXICO CITY (AP) — Beverley Boys, the 17-year-old from Pickering, Ont., stood off some of the best divers in the world Wednesday night to come fourth in the women's tower diving at the Olympic Games.

"I'm satisfied," she grinned after the event. "Maybe I could have done a bit better, but I just couldn't gain that much ground on the three leaders."

Coach Jon Webb said her total of 97.37 points "was not a good one."

"She got a 107 in a meet five weeks ago and she chalked up a 103 in the Canadian trials. But she's the best over-all diver here. She got a seventh place in the springboard and fourth in the tower. That totals 11. No one else was that low.

"Both my girls—Bev and Nancy Robertson of Vancouver —gave it a run. They didn't give much ground."

Nancy, who will be 19 in December, says there is "no danger" of trading her diving for a boy friend.

"Even if I start meeting a lot of boys, it won't interfere with my diving."

Bev, who threw a final dive worth 22.04 points to qualify fourth for the final, dived steadily Wednesday. Her 22.04-pointer remained the one top dive of the Olympic competition.

Bev was in third place Wednesday for a time, until Natalia Lobanova of Russia, pulled off a dive worth more than 20 points to pull herself right up to a second-place silver medal.

Olympic Cheering Brings Back Memories

SEATTLE (AP) The sound of the cheers on the television set were muted but they echoed loudly in the ears of the viewer.

Her eyes dimmed by tears, Helene Madison was carried through a thousand yesterdays to the 1932 Olympic Games. There the tall 18-year-old from the Pacific Northwest won three gold medals that sunny, summer week in Los Angeles.

Now frail and fighting cancer, Helene Madison re-lived the glory Wednesday as she watched two girls from her area win two more medals for the United States.

Kaye Hall, 17, of Tacoma, Wash., set a world record en route to a gold in the 100-metre backstroke and Ann Peterson of nearby Bellevue won a bronze in platform diving.

Helene, who once held every world record for the 100-yard to the 1,000-metre, said she owes her thought of selling her collection of trophies, which includes the U.S. Sports Hall of Fame Trophy.

"But I'll never part with them, never," she said after Wednesday's moment of remembrance.

Should NHL Players Keep Up with Today's Styles?

By GEORGE H. CARVER

MUSHMOUTH REPORTS:

Dear ex-Boss:

There was a full turnout of the Uuks at the quarterly bull - sessions at the Eel and Clam Motel the other night with the chief topic being the to-be-or-not-to-be sideburns and turtle - necks for for professional hockey players.

The hair - today — and - gone - tomorrow debate was led on the affirmative side by Uuk MacBryl whose sideburns are so long he has to tuck them under his armpits at mealtime.

The negative or no - sideburn was headed by Uuk Q. Ball whose cranial characteristics have more than once qualified him as a stand - in for Yule Brynner.

The pros and cons ran wild well on into the night with the pendolum of victory swinging first one way and then the other.

Uuk Cutter - Sharp from England argued that the Duke of Wellington's troops like the boss wears sideburns. So did Napoleon's Guard but Old Nap didn't, and you know who won.

The jowls of General Custer's cavalry at the Little Big Horn were encased in hairy frames but Sitting Bull's warriors were clean - shaven. Nature ordered that all full - blooded Indians could never grow a beard, moustache or sideburn. And look what happened Custer, said Uuk Hawkeye from Sioux Falls.

And you never see a tar of the old Royal Navy sporting sideburns or moustache. It was all beard or none at all, said another.

However, boss, the consensus was that sideburns, as long as they did not reach standing - timber proportions, or turtle - neck sweaters worn socially, would not affect a hockey player's ability on the ice. In fact they might give some of the clutch-and-grab artists something more to reach for.

Anyway, boss, the uuks went into a huddle and came up with some suggestions as to what the hockey players of 1978 might look like, if changes in raiment and hirsute adornment came into being.

Here they are:

Toronto Maple Leafs: Lace-bosomed dinner shirts under Val Brynner pates.

New York Rangers: Jacquettes of Broadway brilliants with red, white and blue earlobe bangs.

St. Louis Blues: Hand-painted cotton-field open neck pullovers with wigs of cardinal red.

Aggressive Apartheid Said Threat to Peace

UNITED NATIONS (Reuters) — The United Nations apartheid committee said Wednesday that South African "aggressive policies and actions" now constitute a grave threat to international peace and a challenge to the UN.

The committee urged the UN to halt the escalation of violence by the assertion of its authority through urgent and energetic action.

A report by the committee was circulated as the UN General Assembly's special committee began its annual debate on apartheid (racial separation).

Maj.-Gen. Padma Bahadur said white-ruled South Africa is assembling a formidable military machine to intimidate opponents of apartheid and terrorize neighboring countries.

B.C. "Crackpot Haven" But Not Separatist: Keate

LONDON, Ont. (CP) — Stuart Keate, publisher of the Vancouver Sun, said Wednesday that contrary to some opinions British Columbia does not endorse the separatist notion.

He described B.C. as "the haven of crackpots, of religious eccentrics and the only place in Canada that boasts its own town fool," but it is no place for a separatist organization.

The separatist "fiction" arose from ambiguous statements made by some provincial ministers, Mr. Keate said in an address to the Canadian Club.

One Minister had said in a throne speech debate that British Columbia would be better off economically if it were not part of Canada, Mr. Keate said. The minister added that the province supported Confederation, "not because of any economic advantage," but because the principle established 100 years ago.

His reference to the town fool was Vancouver's self-proclaimed jester, Kim Fulkes, who this year received a $3,500 Canada Council grant for his activity. "Religious eccentrics" was an apparent reference to B.C.'s Doukhobors.

He did not explain what he meant by "crackpots."

He referred to remarks by W. A. C. Bennett, B.C. premier, as "the Bennett law of mutually contradictory statements."

He said the premier announced in one year that he believed in free enterprise and in the next nationalized the private B.C. electric system.

Canada Over-Governed Claims Earl Brownridge

VANCOUVER (CP) — Canada is the most over-governed country in the world, a former president of American Motors (Canada) Ltd. said Wednesday.

Earl K. Brownridge said the government is poking into all sorts of areas where it has no prospect of doing any good and no legitimate reason for intervention.

"It is trying to take over a greater role in the economy than a free nation's government should play," he told delegates to the Federation of Automobile Dealers' Association convention.

"It has led us into a situation where business has great difficulty obtaining credit for the kind of expansion that creates wealth simply because the government is using up too much of the available money in programs that dissipate wealth."

He said a country is built by men and ideas combined with financial resources. Canada has the men and the ideas but the financial resources are moving out of reach as government becomes a bigger factor in the economy."

Debate Begins

The Budget: Is It Inflationary?

OTTAWA (CP)—One of the arguments prompted by Finance Minister Benson's budget is whether it is inflationary or anti-inflationary.

He says its over-all effect will be to dampen unwarranted price increases.

One of the complaints voiced by interested parties has come from the life insurance companies. They say the new tax on much of their investment income will mean higher premiums on new policies and somewhat lower returns in the long run for investors and policy holders sharing in company profits.

One insurance executive said Wednesday the tax will add to a family's cost of living and that it is therefore inflationary. He said that to stem inflation, the government should tax spending power, rather than the things on which a family must spend its money.

The tax on insurance companies is expected to yield about $95,000,000 in the fiscal year starting next April 1. Of this, about $10,000,000 will be turned over to the provinces.

By way of comparison, the two-per-cent extra tax on personal incomes will yield about $440,000,000. All of this will go into the federal treasury for general spending purposes, though Mr. Benson has called it a social development tax.

The new personal income tax will add about 13 per cent next year to what the government expects to collect this year from all personal income taxes, $3,-310,000,000.

The $95,000,000 to be drawn from the insurance companies will add less than five per cent next year to this year's total receipts from corporation taxes, $2,020,000,000.

One of the background notes to Mr. Benson's budget shows that personal income taxes this year account for nearly one third—32.8 per cent—of all budgetary revenues. Corporation income taxes account for exactly one fifth, or 20 per cent.

A finance department official says the form of the personal income tax is truly an anti-inflationary device, since it is a tax on spending power. Payroll deductions will start for all salaried and wage-rated workers next Jan. 1, ensuring the money gets into the treasury and not into any shopper's purse.

Anglicans Discuss Regional Council

AUGUSTA, Ga. (CP) — Anglican bishops from Canada and the United States discussed Wednesday the formation of a North American regional council which would help the churches of the countries and the West Indies cope with joint problems.

The discussion took place during a joint meeting of the House of Bishops of the Episcopal Church in the United States and the Anglican Church of Canada —the first of its kind.

Most Rev. H. H. Clark, primate of the Canadian church, said Tuesday night the proposed council, composed of Anglicans from the three areas, would give advice and counsel.

He said it would not in any way conflict with current discussions on union between the Anglican Church and the United Church of Canada. It arose from a concern to meet social problems in the U.S. and Canada.

Rt. Rev. Stephen F. Hane Jr., deputy director of programs for the Episcopal Church, said earlier that establishment of the council may lead to a single church for all North America.

Planetarium Dome Screen for 4,500 Stars

TORONTO (CP) — The featured performer at the opening of the McLaughlin Planetarium Saturday will be a 13-foot, German-made projector shaped like a dumb-bell.

The Zeiss projector will allow visitors to see about 4,500 stars at one time projected on the planetarium's dome.

The $150,000 projector, which has 150 lenses, is equivalent to equipment at the Hayden Planetarium in New York, the world's largest says Dr. Henry C. King, curator.

The ends of the dumb-bell project the stars and the connecting bar contains projectors for the sun, moon and five planets. Twenty-three of the brightest stars also are shown by individual projectors.

Other projectors form constellation figures, moving clouds, compass points, horizon circles, eclipses, an artificial skyline, a shower of shooting stars and an earth satellite.

The Theatre of the Stars with its 75-foot wide dome is on the top floor of the planetarium. Below it are display areas demonstrating the history of astronomy from early Egyptian art to the latest in American space travel.

Jobs Said Top Priority

TORONTO (CP) — Maintaining high employment takes priority at present over increasing minimum wages, Dalton Bales, Ontario labor minister said Wednesday.

Mr. Bales told the annual meeting of the Knitters Association of Canada that a growing public desire to eliminate poverty will drive wages up in the future.

In his first public address since announcing new minimum wages and employment standards for Ontario, Mr. Bales said the provincial government is trying to provide 75,000 new jobs a year to meet the needs of its growing labor force.

He said while Ontario has a good employment rate, the growing public desire to end poverty will have a marked impact on wages and industrial relations in the future, while minimum wage legislation will be a comparitively minor factor.

Strictly Personal

Thoughts at Large

Events don't shape our opinions nearly as much as our opinions reshape events into forms that fit our preconceptions; what we see is largely what we expect to see, and thus most of what we call "experience" is circular rather than progressive.

• • •

To the skeptic, the question, "Why is there something instead of nothing?" is a meaningless one; to the mystic, it is the only question that has any ultimate meaning.

• • •

Politicians who feel forced to keep making public affirmations of their honesty, their decency, their patriotism, and so on, remind me of Emerson's comment on such a man: "The louder he talked of his honor, the faster we counted our spoons."

• • •

Sometimes the best way to keep a secret is to reveal a part of it that satisfies curiosity without fulfilling knowledge.

• • •

"History" is not so much what happened as it is what specific historians believed to have been important: in British "history" books, for example the American Revolution is a minor incident in the 18th Century course of Empire, and given a little space as we give the Boxer Rebellion in our history books.

• • •

Everybody is "against" war verbally; and the most passionate opponents of war are the generals who fight them and the statesmen who declare them — but the war they are against is abstract, while the one they are waging can always be rationalized as a necessary exception.

• • •

The citing of examples is not real evidence, much less proof: for every "disaffected" hippie one side cites, the other side can cite a "brutal" policeman — and no one is persuaded to change his mind, for all such examples merely deal in symptoms without trying to make any dispassionate analysis of causes.

• • •

Which reminds me of Macaulay's astute comment that "Nothing is so useless as a general maxim"; for such phrases as "the right to dissent" or "the need for law and order" are both useless and dangerous until and unless we understand the precise nature and limitations of such slogans.

• • •

Individually, people may know what they want; but collectively, as a public, people only know what they do not want — thus almost all votes are against rather than for, and thus the candidate who whips up the most irascible feelings is likeliest to succeed in times of tension, frustration and confusion.

Could Have Cost Two Billion

Canada Drops Joint Military Plane Project

OTTAWA (CP) — The government wielded its economy axe on a warplane project Wednesday before a Commons already pondering Tuesday's tough budget and debating financing for Prairie farmers and the post office department.

Defence Minister Leo Cadieux announced Canada will not join an international consortium to design and build an all-purpose military plane because of the cost.

Replying to Conservative Douglas Harkness, former defence minister, Mr. Cadieux said budget restrictions and the high risk in developing a combination bomber-fighter-support plane for the 1970s forced the government to withdraw.

Outside the House, he said first stages of development in concert with Britain, West Germany, Italy, Belgium and The Netherlands would have cost Canada about $10,000,000.

However, Canada would have been required to buy planes and the cost for an estimated 250 would have been at least $1,200,000,000 and possibly as much as $2,000,000,000 spread over seven or eight years.

Before and after the Cadieux announcement, Prairie Conservatives and New Democrats fought vain battles to initiate emergency debate on the situation—variously described as disaster and devastation—caused by wet harvest weather and unsold grain stocks.

Speaker Lucien Lamoureux (Bagot) said the bad harvest and slow sales of wheat would have "disastrous consequences," first for the Prairies and ultimately for the national economy.

John Burton (NDP—Regina East) said 40 per cent of the Saskatchewan's wheat crop remained unharvested and much of that gathered was wet and tough.

Otto Lang, minister without portfolio and member for Saskatoon, promised that the Canadian wheat board will see that "the greatest possible favor" is given to handling damp grain.

Trade Minister Jean-Luc Pepin said the board is suspending delivery of dry grain while a study is under way on how much damp wheat needs treatment.

In an outside statement, Agriculture Minister H. A. Olson assured farmers sufficient funds are available to cover claims under federal-assisted crop insurance is worth 43,000 western grain farmers are covered for $127,000,000.

During part of the debate about Prairie farms, a delegation of Prince Edward Islanders led by Premier Alex Campbell looked on from the Speaker's gallery.

Mr. Campbell was on hand to plead with the government to spare from the federal economy drive a project to link his island with the mainland by causeway.

After meeting Prime Minister Trudeau, he said a cabinet decision ws expected by the middle of next month. Mr. Campbel ended suggestions the project he already been scrapped and said it could cost less than the estimated $200,000,000.

Meantime, the opposition was picking away at the post office bill for the third straight day, pressing for referral of high postal charges and money-saving measures to study by House committee.

The Commons wound up its working day with the post-office argument unresolved. It is to return to the topic today.

The Senate, however, completed its work on a bill to limit the number of automatic appeals to the Supreme Court of Canada and thus added the legislation to the Commons' pending tray.

The amending bill, passed on to the Commons after Senate third reading, among other things would limit automatic appeals to the court on questions involving arguments on points of law alone, although the money at stake in the case was the requisite $10,000 or more.

The court would still take $10,000-plus cases involving issues of fact and could hear any case regardless of amounts at stake or the argument's nature if permission were granted by three judges.

Supreme Court Act

Senator Roebuck Continues Opposition to Bill

OTTAWA (CP) — The Senate gave third and final reading Wednesday to a bill amending the Supreme Court Act to limit the number of automatic appeals to the high court.

Senator Arthur Roebuck (L—Ontario), dean of the upper chamber who was Ontario attorney-general in the 1930s, continued his opposition to the bill to the end.

The amendments restrict automatic appeals to the court to questions involving law alone and in which the amount at issue is $10,000.

Senator Roebuck attacked the financial aspect of the bill, although the monetary limit was raised to $10,000 from $2,000 in 1956.

He said the act draws "an invidious distinction" between rich and poor.

The bill also restricts the supreme court to hearing appeals from the lower courts on writs of habeas corpus.

Senator Roebuck said the amendment to restrict applicants for habeas corpus-release for prison from applying to more than one judge was passed several years ago, but only because the Criminal Code allowed direct application to a Supreme Court judge.

The present bill "will destroy the protection we at that time so carefully guarded."

Kierans Authorizes Cigarette Warning

OTTAWA (CP) — Postmaster-General Eric Kierans told the Commons Wednesday he authorized the use of a postage cancellation mark warning against the use of cigarettes.

Replying to a written question from Bill Knowles (PC—Norfolk-Haldimand), a tobacco farmer, Mr. Kierans said he had considered the effects the cancellation mark would have on the tobacco industry and did not intend to withdraw it from use.

The mark reads:

Funds Are Available For Insurance Claims

OTTAWA (CP) — Sufficient funds are available to cover all crop insurance claims, Agriculture Minister Olson said Wednesday.

The minister, in a statement issued by the agriculture department, expressed concern that farmers may have misunderstood reports that payments this year may exceed provincial reserves.

Manitoba, Saskatchewan, Alberta and Ontario have re-insurance programs with the federal government. Each province pays 15 per cent of its total premiums into the federal insurance fund and 15 per cent of its own re-insurance fund.

Quebec Cracks Down on Student Revolt

MONTREAL (CP) — The crackdown against students who closed nearly half of Quebec's 23 junior colleges in a two-week revolt concentrated Wednesday on the last two colleges still shut.

There were signs that classes might begin Monday at Edouard Montpetit and Maisonneuve junior colleges, but under strict terms laid down by administrators.

Resumption of classes at the two colleges would end a student protest wave that started Oct. 8 and swept across the province, directly affecting 28,000 students in 19 of the 23 colleges at its height.

Meanwhile, students demonstrating in sympathy continued Wednesday to occupy Montreal's Ecole des Beaux Arts, a fine arts school, the social sciences building at the University of Montreal and the administrative offices of Laval University of Montreal and the administrative offices of Laval University in Quebec City.

Raymond Berault, principal of the Edouard Montpetit College in suburban Longueuil, said that college would re-open Monday. But he said remaining school holidays would be cut out and the Christmas holiday period cut short. Students also would have to promise not to hold meetings or study sessions during class hours. The penalty would be immediate expulsion.

Any student missing classes would forfeit his credit in that course. If he missed 50 per cent of classes, he would lose the term.

Asked if the students has agreed to these terms, Mr. Berault said:

"I'm not interested in talking to them. If they want classes they can attend Monday. If not, let them go elsewhere."

Student unrest in junior colleges started Oct. 8 when students took over Lionel Groulx College in Ste. Therese de Blainville, 20 miles north of Montreal, to draw attention to what they said was a need for reforms in Quebec's education system.

The demands included immediate government action to set up a second French-language university in Montreal, reversal of a government decision to reduce the amount of money available for student scholarships by $5,000,000 this year, reversal of a government decision to increase the annual interest rate on student loans to 7 per cent from 5½ per cent, and a study of the education system in general.

Students Urged to Quit School

VANCOUVER (CP) — Yippie leader Jerry Rubin Tuesday urged about 200 University of British Columbia students to quit school and get an education.

"Our schools are prisons where . . . students are introduced to the competitive capitalist way of life," said Mr. Rubin, head of the Youth International Party in the U.S.

He told students university atmosphere was repressive.

First of Its Kind

Ryerson Elects Students To Board of Governors

TORONTO (CP) —In an election billed as the first of its kind in Canada, students and faculty at Ryerson Polytechnical Institute Wednesday named two members of each group to the Institute's board of governors.

Students turnout was 50 per cent and faculty turnout 80 per cent. There are 5,778 students and 335 faculty members.

Gordon Jackson, one of the two student representatives elected, said the election showed students' rejection of excessive student power. He said the large turnout "shows the student body's responsible attitude."

In a statement, Ryerson President F. C. Jorgenson said the board of governors "is excited by the prospect of the contributions the new members can make to its activities."

Last Wednesday, only about 50 students—less than one per cent of enrolment—showed up at the school's theatre to hear candidates running for the board. Ten students candidates and eight faculty candidates contested the election.

Mr. Jackson and J. Richard Findlay, the two elected students, are both third-year business administration students. Faculty members elected were Ronald F. Shirtliff and James Peters.

FIDDLED TO JAIL

BUDAPEST (AP) — Hungarian customs officials examining the luggage of Aladar Zdakai's gypsy orchestra after a tour of Australia lifted their violins and found them "heavy as lead." False compartments in the instruments contained $12,000 in jewelry, police said. They were arrested for smuggling.

Waterloo Students End 'Sleep-in'

WATERLOO, Ont. (CP) — About 50 University of Waterloo students ended a two-night sleep-in Wednesday when agreement was reached giving control of the $2,011,800 campus centre to an autonomous student-faculty committee.

The students, protesting university administration of the non-commercial area of the building, removed the furniture from the office of Paul Gerster, campus centre director, and slept there Monday and Tuesday nights.

Under the agreement, the existing advisory committee will act as a management committee for the building which was opened last April. The new committee is comprised of faculty members, staff and students, who claimed the right of operation because of contributions to the building fund.

"From our point of view, they gave us all our demands," Brien Iler, president of the university's Federation of Students, said in an interview.

Mr. Iler said the protest leading to the agreement was mainly symbolic. An administration spokesman said the students "just wanted some publicity."

The immediate issue had been 24-hour opening of the building, the first recommendation of the advisory committee over which the administration had used its veto.

Chairman Refuses To Sign Contract

WINDSOR, Ont. (CP) — George Page, chairman of the separate school board, will refuse to sign a contract between the board and its teachers.

His signature is the only one needed before the contract is legal.

Mr. Page said Wednesday he objects to a clause in the contract that says all principals must have their B.A. degrees. Mr. Page said he will not sign until the teachers have agreed to the clause.

Cherney's FURNITURE WORLD

Czech Current Events Outlined

Anthony Cekota, a Czechoslovakian now living in Batawa, told the occupation's class of East Northumberland Secondary School in Brighton recently of the history of the Czech community at Batawa and commented on recent events from his homeland.

A panel of four pupils, Mark Orr, Lillian Kemp, Terry Harvey and Peter Downes interviewed Mr. Cekota about the founding of Batawa.

Mr. Cekota, born in 1898, was one of seven children of a Czech shoemaker. He left school at an early age to become successively a bricklayer, shoe factory worker, draftee in the Austrian army, deserter from that army and a volunteer with Czech forces fighting the Hungarians in 1918 for the liberation of Slovakia.

At the age of 26 he met the famous Czech industrialist Thomas Bata, who was then building his great plant capable of a daily output of 100,000 pairs of shoes and remodelling the old town of Zlin into one of the best industrial cities in the world.

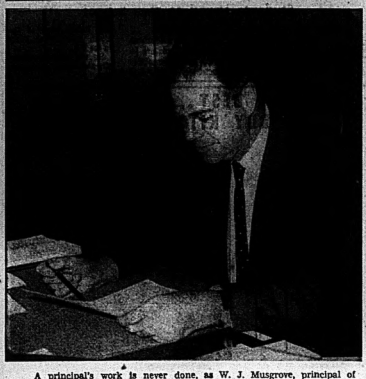
Mr. Cekota accepted an offer from Thomas Bata to publish a weekly newspaper for him. This soon developed into a large group of eight different papers and magazines with a large publishing plant.

As editor-in-chief and publisher, Mr. Cekota was one of the first persons in Zlin to be jailed by the Nazis when they came in the spring of 1939. Rather than become a party to Nazism, he accepted evacuation and left his native land. He arrived in Canada in the fall of 1939 with a group of Czechs and assisted in establishing, with Mr. Bata, the Bata Shoe Company and the village of Batawa.

The pupils asked why the suffix "wa" was added to the Bata name and Mr. Cekota said, "It sounded Indian. We wanted to make it sound as much Canadian as possible."

Their original work in Canada was done at the former paper mill in Frankford. Thomas J. Bata, son of the Czech founder, flew over this area in a plane and decided that Batawa would be his choice as it provided inexpensive land, railways and highways close by and plenty of water from the Trent River. Today 1,000 people are employed there.

The Czechs will not fight with weapons says Mr. Cekota. The minds of the people who don't want to live in slavery are in tune with human nature, it means nature means freedom. It may take generations to civilize the Russians. In the meantime Czechs and Slovaks are going to have a hard life, but with the exception of a few countries, and Canada is one of them, people have to find out how hard life is.



All 14 million Czechs and Slovaks never agreed to form a government willing to serve the Russians. Being highly civilized people, realists and idealists, they have not used physical violence in resisting the Russians.

"Instead, they shamed the Russians. The morning after the invasion, walks and windows were scratched with 'Ivan go home;" Mr. Cekota said.

Young Czechs talked to young Russians who said that they had come to liberate them. The Czechs speak Russian as it has been compulsory since the Communists took over 20 years ago. As the young Russians listened to the Czechs, they became enraged as they knew their government lied.

It was necessary to withdraw several divisions of young Russians and replace them with older soldiers.

Mr. Cekota believes that Czechs are the only people who can civilize Russians and who can get this stench of Mongolian heinyair and dictatorship out of their blood.

A principal's work is never done, as W. J. Musgrove, principal of Centennial Secondary School well illustrates. Of course, when he's not busy at his desk, he is working to maintain as much contact as he can with his students.

Principal's Task Heavy

By LINDA GELDART
(Staff reporter)

A day in the life of a principal. It may not sound intriguing — but it combines a complete spectrum of many things.

One of the best authorities in this occupation and spectrum is W. J. Musgrove, principal of Centennial Secondary School. He proved that as he gave this reporter a run down of a "typical day."

Most of his time is consumed, by, as he put it, "administrative trivia". Reports, letters applications, interviews, declars — and that is just the mail list. Although much of his work load is lightened by his secretarial staff, the majority of the items require his final approval.

Also, throughout the day, he talks out problems with teachers and dep a rtment heads. Or he could even end up trouble-shooting an electrical problem somewhere in the building, since any major problem in this regard is reported to him.

Mr. Musgrove admitted, rather sadly, that much of this "trivia", as he calls it, ties him to his desk. His vice-principal is his right hand man, and tries to relieve his load as much as possible. The vice - principal complements the work of the principal, taking care of general discipline, and much of the necessary clerical work.

"But," asserted Mr. Musgrove, "the vice principal is anchored to his desk as well."

Asked if the amount of his desk work has been reduced over the past few years, Mr. Musgrove explained that as soon as one item disappeared from his obligations, another appeared to take its place. He summed up the battle by saying simply, "win one, lose one."

To add to his regular duties was the added chore of coping with the organization of a new school, and a new school building (Centennial was completed in 1967).

More than one-quarter of a million dollars in new equipment had to be purchased for the new school, and the order for each item passed across Mr. Musgrove's desk. "I have two filing cabinets full of those things," he said.

Mr. Musgrove's contact with the students is often limited to "quick cruises" he makes around the building, sometimes dropping in on classes, or "sitting in" on full periods. When he can get away from his desk, that is.

He does maintain a formal contact with his students in the assembly held every week. And, he said, "my door is always opened to any student who just wants to drop in and talk over anything."

He summed up his more than 22 years in the education field, by remembering, "I was always teaching." His main memory of being a high school teacher is mainly that of "versatility" rather than the specialization that is demanded today.

What was his advise to youth concerning education? "The most important thing to learn is the technique of learning, rather than just mastering of a subject", he stated.

He dismisses Television as "canned imagination", and asserts the great need for the youth of today to have a "quiet time" — a time just to sit nd think. He maintains "it is difficult to be truly creative because often that creativity is a modification of what someone has seen on some television program."

"I enjoy the actual work in school- what I find frustrating are often limitations caused by bureaucracy. I enjoy working with students — but I find it most gratifying to see the children of my own one-time students now attending school"

You get the feeling principals like what they do.

Students Organize

By JUDY SCHREDER

If a group of people are aiming for a common goal they must possess an invincible unity. The Catholic high school students of Ontario, in their pursuit of educational grants equal to those allotted to the public schools, made a significant move towards unity last weekend.

A group of over 200 delegates representing 31,000 Catholic high school students in the province assembled at Michael Power High School in Toronto. Wayne Storms, student council president, Dennis Walsh, liter Anna Moran Moran (moderator) and I attended the convention. Two days of speeches, resolution periods and general assemblies resulted in the formation of the Ontario Catholic Student Federation.

The principal aims of the union, as set forth in its constitution, stress the idea of educating the people of Ontario as to the Catholic philosophy of education as well as seeking educational equality for all the students in Ontario.

The OCSF repudiates all physical expression of protest or displeasure with the current public and governmental situation, such as demonstrations and marches, as strictly contrary to policy.

The Board of Governors, composed of 28 students elected from the Ontario dioceses, is to keep the students informed of the workings of the federation, as well as to inform the president, Joe Redican (Michael Power High School, Toronto) of students feelings.

"I think the meeting was a success," stated Wayne Storms. "Now that we've laid the foundations, we'll be able to do something concrete."

Last Wednesday, the junior and senior girls' basketball teams showed a spark of that invincible unity as they defeated Tweed 40-18 and 26-19 respectively.

Magic Circle Described

By SUE BOARDMAN

There doesn't seem to be too much out of the ordinary going on at Quinte this week. Most of the students have been kept busy with club meetings, and the teachers are keeping us busy with projects and term tests. The grade 12s got their mid-term reports last week, and they're busy trying to make up excuses for that 'one' they got in English.

Last Wednesday the geography club put on the assembly. Mr. Deacon was the guest speaker and he told us about the plans for Belleville's Magic Circle and then showed us slides concerning this.

We also got our school pictures last Wednesday, so there is something else for us to spend our hard-earned money on.

This Saturday night will be our graduation. After the commencement exercises, there will be a dance with the music by Some People's Children for the graduates. Note — no one will be allowed in without an invitation.

That's all for this week. Remember to tune in next week, same day, same paper, but different news.

BCI Gains Three Clubs

By ANNE VARDY

There are three new clubs open to the students of B.C.I; the science club for those who are interested in having help with their science fair projects, the junior writer's club for aspiring writers in grades 9 and 10, and the audio-visual club.

The school newspaper hopes to have its first edition out very soon.

And finally, the B.C.I.V.S. commencement exercises will be held at Afterwards the annual graduation ball will be held in the gyms to the music of the Dixie 5.

Vancouver Operation
Recording Company 'Opens Its Doors'

VANCOUVER (CP) — A new company which seeks to attract top recording stars to Vancouver has opened its doors for business.

The International Record Corporation Ltd. is the latest creation of Donald Ferguson, a 31-year-old businessman who hopes to stem the west-to-east talent tide.

The new facilities, crammed with the latest recording equipment, will eventually have a daily production capacity of 200,000 records.

Mr. Ferguson, company president, said International hopes to draw its talent from across Canada and the U.S. and intends to distribute its products internationally.

"We want our recording artists to live and work here," he said in an interview. "It would cut out all the travel from west to east—they could cut their records right here in Vancouver."

Mr. Ferguson said his company will also cut costs for major recording companies, who will be able to reproduce records in Vancouver instead of having to rely on Los Angeles and Toronto.

"We plan to print records by all the major companies to start off with, but eventually we'll issue titles under our own label," he said.

Mr. Ferguson said that in the past, local entertainers who recorded had to make tapes for recordings and mail them thousands of miles to get records made.

"Now this isn't necessary."

General manager of the company is Peter E. Kidd, who said a major factor in selecting Vancouver as the site for the new plant is the temperature of the Fraser River, from where the company will draw its water supply for cooling the freshly pressed records.

The Fraser is 15 degrees cooler than the water record companies in California use, which allows International to cut its cooling cycle on production runs.

In addition to his venture into the record business, Mr. Ferguson and his 27-year-old brother Robert are the second largest shareholders in National Student Marketing Corp. of Washington, D.C.

The agency is the biggest marketing outlet in the youth market, with projected sales this year of more than $4,000,000.

IODE Chapter Regent Reads Interesting Letter

CAMPBELLFORD — Bemersyde Chapter I.O.D.E. held its regular meeting in the library of Knot Street Public School with 34 members and two visitors present.

A committee in charge of the bake table at Campbellford Memorial Hospital's bazaar on November 2nd asked for three additional members, the committee now being Beryl Hendricks, Pegy Grant, Dorothy Hoey, Pat Irwin, Shirley Drew, Pearl Rutherford.

A letter received by Regent Pearl Rutherford from James McMillan of Inverness, Scotland, was read. Mr. McMillan was active in the RCAF during the war and while stationed at Treston Air Base was one of a considerable number of flyers entertained for Christmas and other holidays in homes of Bemersyde Chapter members. Mr. McMillan was at the home of Douglas and Mrs. Maybee.

After the war Mr. McMillan kept in touch with Mr. and Mrs. Maybee and this year was a visitor at the Maybee home for about ten days. Now being retired from the Air Force Mr. McMillan said he would like to secure a civilian position in Canada and bring his wife and two boys here to live. He spoke in enthusiastic terms of Canada as a country.

In the letter to Regent Pearl Rutherford he said while he realized many service men could not write to the families where they had been entertained, many more could have and did not, and for those he apologized.

Miss Rosa Spry, Provincial Counsellor for the district, paid her official visit to Bemersyde Chapter and gave a report of the semi-annual meeting.

Mrs. Lillian Burgis, educational secretary, stated pictures of the Royal Family had been presented to public schools, flags were available for the Hillcrest School and the temporary high school. Mrs. Burgis had had a close contact with adopted school in Northern Ontario and has been able to meet the requirements asked for by the principal.

Miss Maureen Addison, B. Sc. N., head of the Northumberland and Durham Health Unit, gave a talk of a three-week stay in company with two other nurses at Moose Factory, an island off the coast of James Bay at Moosonee, during their stay the nurses conducted an immunization project on the Indian and Eskimo children.

The Florence Benor Memorial Award will be presented for the first time this year at the commencement exercises at C.D.H.S.

The Regent and five members plan to attend the district dinner in Picton, October 22nd, which is not an only district dinner but also 60th anniversary of Picton Chapter.

Apple Day Successful Scout-Project

NAPANEE — If anyone in Napanee did not get the chance to bite on a red juicy apple last Friday evening or Saturday, it was not the fault of the hustling Boy Scouts and Cubs of all three groups of the town. Rallying point was the firehall, with all the firemen, from Fire Chief "Pat" Patton to the latest volunteer giving good natured assistance. Maurice Rankin seemed to be particularly active.

The event was organized by the Third Napanee Group Committee, spearheaded by Dale Clark, but Scouts and Cubs of all three groups were on the job. Stuart Annas of the Third Napanee Scout Troop has all the earmarks of a supersalesman, turning in a total of $25.54. Adults to whom credit should be given include, also, Bill Ramsay, Karl Moreland and Bill Hodley.

Mr. Clark reports that collections for the day totalled $873.77 with expenses of $80.65, principally for apples and tags. The net returns, $213.32, split three ways, gave each group roughly $71.10.

PC Women's Association Plans Number of Events

The Progressive Conservative Women's Association of Belleville held their regular monthly meeting at the Kinsmen Centre on Monday October 21 with Mrs. Clifford Rendell presiding.

Mrs. Rendell, explained that there was a change in the meeting place of the Quinte Riding Association and the meeting would be held at the new Sidney Township Hall, Corner of Wallbridge Road and the 4th Concession of Sidney. The members were urged to attend as there would be several excellent speakers in attendence including the Hon. Allen Lawrence, Minister of Mines. There will be an election of officers for the riding at this time also.

The annual election of officers and meeting of District No 2, of the Women's Advisory Board will be held in the Kinsmans Centre Belleville Saturday October 26, at 12.30 p.m. A chicken dinner will be served. All interested men and women are urged to attend. There will be a panel of Federal and Provincial Members in readiness to answer questions.

Another meeting of great importance is the annual provincial meeting and election of officers, in Toronto November 3, 4 and 5, at the Royal York Hotel. Mrs. Rendell the president will be one of the delegates from Quinte Riding.

A report made by Mrs. L. Bennett and Mrs. Saunders that 100 dolls have been dressed so far, in readiness for distribution to the underprivileged children by the Kinsmen and Firemen's Christmas Project. A shipment of new dolls is expected any day now and volunteers to have them dressed are asked to call the president or Mrs. L. Bennett.

After the business portion of the meeting, a euchre party was held with many visitors and members taking part. The prize winners were, Mrs. A. Mitchell, Mrs. Burke, Mrs. Woodcock, Mrs. Goodfellow, Mrs. Quirt and Mr. A. Mitchell and Mr. W. Scrimageour. The door prize was won by Mrs. Marjorie Bowan. Mrs. M. McKenna and Mrs. Bessie Love and the women of Ward 1 were the conveners.

The November meeting will be in form of nearly new item auction, convened by the women of Ward 2, with chairlady Mrs. Max Smith.

99-year-Old Pastor Takes Part in Opening

TWEED — At the Verona Free Methodist Church, the W. H. Gregory Memorial Building, a new Christian education wing, was officially opened.

Rev. W. H. Gregory, in whose honor the building was named, was present and took part in the brief-ribbon cutting ceremony. Mr. Gregory is 99 years of age, he also took part in the sod-turning last May.

Opening ceremony was in charge of Rev. Lorne C. Ball. Rev. Ray Cameron, a former pastor, now retired and living in Verona, declared the new building open for use. Formal dedication service will take place January 12th, 1969 with Bishop Myron F. Boyd in charge.

A new brick church was built in Verona 14 years ago to replace the 63-year-old frame building. Since that time the Sunday School and Christian Youth Crusaders program (CYC) has grown to the point where more space became necessary.

In May of 1967 a building fund drive was launched and in May, 1968, construction was begun. The $35,000 building, 30 x 54 feet, has an entrance area, is built of concrete block, and brick to match the main church building.

There are two floors, each with access to the outside and to the church. The main floor and entrance are covered with beautiful blue-green, indoor-outdoor carpet, and interior walls are finished in soft, off-white. Floor to ceiling dividers are being used so that space can be adapted to various needs and uses. The total project includes a new well and complete, new washroom facilities.

So once again the Rev. W. H. Gregory, the 99-year-old retired pastor helps to open a memorial building.

Ask Uncle Ed

DEAR UNCLE ED

Last week, I got fired from my job, my wife left me, and when I went to your place at 5 in the morning, it was closed. What in the devil is wrong with the world anyway?

Yours Truly,
RATTLED

DEAR RATTLED —

I don't know. I guess the rest of us are just all out of step.

Yours Tenderly
UNCLE ED.

If you have a feel question to ask send it to Uncle Ed's Take-Out — Room of Dixie Lee Fried Chicken.

Special Cable Territories Discussed

REGINA (CP) — The question of whether there should be special territories preserved for each cable television system got an airing Wednesday at a public hearing of the Canadian Radio Television Commission.

Viewpoints on the question were invited by the CRTC as it listened to applications by 18 British Columbia cable operators for new licences, the first to be issued by the CRTC.

Until the new Broadcasting Act came into force this year, cable systems were operated under transport department regulations. Operators did not have to apply at public hearings to the broadcasting regulatory body to obtain licences.

R. Vincent Meilen of Davin Enterprises Ltd., operating a cable system in the Saanich area, put the case bluntly for the small operator:

"Without exclusivity I can't exist," he told the commission.

A cable operation serving a few thousand homes would be forced out of business if a competitor were allowed to come into its area.

Mr. Meilen said he would be willing to accept a CRTC-imposed ceiling on subscription rates the cable companies could charge in return for protection against invasion of his territory by another operator.

But S. W. Welsh, involved in cable operations in Quebec and Ontario as well as British Columbia, said he had some doubts about exclusive rights.

He said there have been some "Johnny-come-latelies" in cable TV who seek a licence while never intending to open up a service. Their idea was to get the licence and sell it to some one willing to set up an operating system.

Stipulating exclusive territories to be served by specific licensees would probably just encourage this sort of thing.

TORONTO STOCKS

TORONTO (CP) — Prices were fractionally up in moderately active mid-morning trading on the Toronto Stock Exchange today. Most sections showed little change.

In Industrials, Canary Power rose 1¼ to 25½, Peel Elder 1 to 47¾, Oshawa A ¼ to 40, Molson A ¼ to 27¾ and Life Investors ¼ to 8⅛.

Leigh Instrument lost ¼ to 4¾. Secondary Capital B ¼ to 15¼ and Inco ¾ to 40¼.

Among the heaviest traders, Seaway Multi gained ¼ to 2¾ and Lake Ontario Cement ¼ to 5¾. Consolidated Building slipped 5 cents to $3.25.

Dylex Diversified advanced 1¼ to 45¾. The directors will ask for shareholders' approval to reclassify each common share into three Class A participating preferred shares and one common share.

The company said this would provide a wider distribution of the shares and facilitate expansion.

Among western oils and mines, Dome Pete gained 1¼ to 17¾, Hudson Bay Mining ¼ to 73 and Agnico 13 cents to $1.03. Canadian Superior fell ¼ to 55 and Bethlehem Copper ¼ to 14.

Discovery Mines lost 4 cents to $1.50, while Rayrock picked up 6 cents to $1.06. Discovery said it has arranged to sell 730,000 shares in Rayrock to Empire Films Ltd. of Toronto for $2.20 a share.

On index, industrials gained 0.13 to 178.86, base metals 01 to 114.09 and western oils .63 to 228.59. Golds fell .02 to 203.70. Volume by 11 a.m. was 992,000 shares compared with 974,000 at the same time Wednesday.

OFF THE RECORD — BY ED REED

Decision Next Month

PEI Causeway Not Scrapped: PM

OTTAWA (CP) — The government of Prince Edward Island descended on Ottawa en masse Wednesday — and came away with assurances that its promised crossing to the mainland hasn't been "scrapped."

Premier Alex Campbell and eight of his nine ministers put the case for the Northumberland Strait crossing to Prime Minister Trudeau and left apparently encouraged.

The 34-year-old Liberal premier said Mr. Trudeau had assured them no final decision has been on the fate of the project, rumored to be a target for expense-cutting moves.

Works Minister Laing is preparing a final report to be presented to the cabinet early next month and a decision is expected about the middle of the month, Mr. Campbell told a press conference.

He felt that Mr. Trudeau "fully appreciated" the federal government's constitutional commitment to the project.

P.E.I. argues that "continuous communication" with the mainland was promised as a condition of the province's entry into Confederation and that federal governments have failed to fulfil it.

If federal government should decide it can't afford the crossing, "it then must face the pretty brutal realities of maintaining a ferry service," Mr. Campbell said.

A "reliable source" had told him the nine-mile crossing to New Brunswick could be completed for less than $200,000,000, including a rail link.

An improved ferry service would cost $13,000,000 a year for the next seven years and the government would then face the same choice of whether to provide more ferries or build a causeway.

Over 60 years, Mr. Campbell estimated, ferry service would cost about $1,000,000,000.

Health Unit And Homes In Test Case

BROCKVILLE (CP) — A dispute between the Leeds-Grenville-Lanark health unit and nursing homes in the three counties is a test case for the province, Allan Cooper, president of Associated Nursing Homes Inc. of Ontario said Wednesday.

Representatives of the 17 homes complained last week that inspector Barbara Thoms, wife of the medical officer of health for the three counties, was prescribing them by "enforcing the letter rather than the spirit of the law."

After hearing the operators' complaint, Leeds-Grenville county council voted its opposition to having husbands and wives working in the same department.

Dr. A. E. Thoms, head of the health unit, will be forced to fire his wife if the health unit executive, meeting to discuss the complaint Sunday, decides to honor the council policy-ruling.

Mr. Cooper, of Newmarket, Ont., said in an interview the association would support the 17 homes in their dispute with the health unit over strict inspections.

Jeane Dixon's Horoscope

For Oct. 25th.

Your birthday today: Much patience and detailed planning are demanded of you for prosperity in the coming year. Conditions already existing will require further attention. Today's natives tend to be egocentric but generous, and are keen observers.

ARIES (Mar. 21 — Apr. 19): You owe it to yourself to check all the facts before you go into action. Even trivial errors of haste can cause a disaster. Unexpected incidents possibly upset regular activities.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 — May 20): Your first response is not necessarily the most useful today. Give your mind time to review the situation before you plunge. Keep expenses at rockbottom; there are better uses for money coming . . . soon.

GEMINI (May 21 — June 20): Your share of responsibility includes saying "no" to proposals for spending family or group funds. The most important thing after that is being tactful, and sympathetic.

CANCER (June 21—July 22): Interruptions today are not to be taken personally, as they are forced by factors unrelated to your activities (This goes for family questions which arise this evening as well.) With an open mind, the questions answer themselves.

VIRGO (Aug. 23 — Sept. 22): Your plans depend on how smoothly you can present them. Your usual skill at being specific for once works against you. The worries are temporary.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 — Oct. 22): Your tact stands you in good stead. Haste and overconfidence spoil everything! Slow down a little! Driving is hazardous.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23—Nov. 21): If you let temptation, pleasure and an appetite for easy money can lead you far off your course. Routine affairs come unstuck today in the tide of events.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 — Dec. 21): Your energies are better focused on studies, meditation, and work which you can do alone today. At the moment you just don't have your way about anything.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 — Jan 19): You do yourself proud by sticking to what you organized earlier. Is your world having a mild tantrum? The simplest course is to put off your moves.

AUARIUS (Jan. 20 — Feb. 18): You impress people well now: so make the most of it! Caution with strangers and their urgent proposals is strongly advocated! Finances and friendship are not especially compatible.

PISCES (Feb. 19 — Mar. 20): Marital or partnership matters affect other areas of your life. Think, and follow your intuition closely, to solve this temporary hindrance.

Patients Need Talk From Nurse

KINGSTON (CP) — A clinical nursing specialist said Wednesday nurses should not only cater to the physical needs of patients but should also sit down and talk to them.

Rosemary Coombs of Ottawa, a former clinical nursing specialist in cardiovascular surgery at Kingston General Hospital, told a conference on coronary-care nursing that cardiovascular surgery nursing is specialized.

But the nursing specialist should not only have a comprehensive knowledge of intricate equipment, Mrs. Coombs said, she should also have time and knowledge to draw a diagram for a patient who wants to "know where my coronaries are."

About 300 nurses and student-nurses from across Ontario attended the conference, designed for nurses and other specialists in the health field.

MPs Ask Trudeau To Seek Ceasefire

OTTAWA (CP) — Conservative MPs want Prime Minister Trudeau to seek co-operation of other Commonwealth leaders in arranging a ceasefire in troubled Nigeria.

They made their plea before the Commons external affairs committee Wednesday but their formal motion was put over for debate at a later date.

The motion asks the committee to recommend to Mr. Trudeau that he enlist the help of other Commonwealth leaders for an extraordinary meeting of prime ministers to arrange a ceasefire in the civil war and an end to arms shipments to the country.

Another motion by R. G. L. Fairweather (PC—Fundy-Royal) called for External Affairs Minister Sharp to make Canadian forces Hercules trans port planes available to relief agencies flying from the Portuguese island of San Tome off the Nigerian coast.

Mr. Sharp told the Commons he expects the three Canadian Hercules will get clearance to fly for the Red Cross from Fernando Poo, another island, into Biafra.

The three aircraft remained grounded Wednesday night. They have been in position at different points off the African coast for the last 11 days.

Demonstrators Dragged Away

Sit-in At Sharp's Office

Group of 27 demonstrators begin sit-in in the office of External Affairs Minister Mitchell Sharp at Ottawa. The demonstrators, including nuns, priests and a university professor, said they had come to plead with the government to take the initiative in helping to end the Biafran-Nigerian war. They plan to fast for three days.

Protest Group Wants Canada To Lead Way

OTTAWA (CP)—About 50 protesters from Toronto and London, Ont., are expected to join 26 others already here to continue a peaceful demonstration today against "Canadian inaction" on Nigeria.

The first group arrived in the capital Wednesday from Toronto to begin a three-day fast after staging a sit-in at the office of External Affairs Minister Sharp.

The demonstrators were dragged from the Centre Block by Commons security guards after about three hours in Mr. Sharp's office.

About 15 members of the group slept outdoors on Parliament Hill Wednesday night, wrapped in heavy coats and blankets donated by local residents. Temperatures dropped to 40 degrees overnight.

"We hope people will realize this is a serious action now, not just a publicity stunt," said Jack Kimel, a graduate student at the University of Toronto.

He said the demonstration is aimed at encouraging the Canadian government to initiate action in the United Nations to bring about a ceasefire in the 17-month-old Nigerian civil war.

The neatly-dressed demonstrators included Roman Catholic priests, a minister, two nuns, a university professor and students.

Prof. Gerald Caplan, 30, of the Ontario Institute for Studies in Education, said UN action provided the only remaining "realistic" means of bringing a quick end to the war between Nigeria and Biafra, its breakaway eastern region.

"There is no excuse—no legitimate reason—why Canada should not take the initiative at the United Nations. The organization is there for that purpose," he said.

He described as "damn nonsense" Prime Minister Trudeau's recent warning that Canada could create another Vietnam in Nigeria by any action that might be interpreted as taking sides in the war.

"The United Nations forces are keeping the peace in Cyprus, so why should they not do the same thing in Nigeria"

He said all the protesters would "watch with interest" a ceremony on Parliament Hill today commemorating United Nations Day. Prime Minister Trudeau was to raise the UN flag in a ceremony on Parliament Hill.

At least seven of the protesters have spent some time in Nigeria, either with the Canadian University Service Overseas, the World University Service and other organizations.

Czech Girl Counsels Refugees

TORONTO (CP) — When Daniella Dandova, 24, of Czechoslovakia, arrived here three weeks ago and applied for a job at the Canada Manpower Centre, she soon found herself on the other side of the desk interviewing job-seeking countrymen.

She will become a job counsellor as soon as she becomes familiar with office procedure.

Educated at Charles University in Prague, she obtained a degree equivalent to a Canadian master of arts in languages. In her own country, she worked for Radio Prague, broadcasting in Swahili on programs destined for east and central Africa. She hopes to return to radio work.

Miss Dandova is among 1,000 Czechoslovakian refugees who have arrived in Toronto since Sept. 15. A Manpower official estimates that 350 are still seeking work, held back mainly by language.

John Rundle, a senior Manpower counsellor, said the education and training of the immigrants is generally high.

"Most of them were out of the country at the time of the occupation and those with the means to be travelling around would naturally be the business and professional people."

Cushing Disagrees With Vatican

Onassis was expected to fly back to Skorpios tonight to rejoin his bride.

After the rain and cold which accompanied the wedding Sunday, the weather was fair once more and temperatures were in the low 70s. But Onassis gave no indication they would take the Christina from her mooring for a honeymoon cruise.

Onassis is negotiating a $360,000,000 contract with the Greek government for an industrial development consisting of an oil refinery, aluminium plant and related installations.

At the Vatican, meanwhile, experts on Roman Catholic canon law said no matter what Richard Cardinal Cushing claims, the Roman church considers that the new Mrs. Onassis is living with another woman's husband.

Cardinal Cushing, the Roman Catholic archbishop of Boston and a close friend of the Kennedy family, said Tuesday it was "a lot of nonsense" to say that President Kennedy's widow had excommunicated herself by her marriage to a divorced member of the Greek Orthodox Church.

It is technically correct that she is not excommunicated, canon lawyers and marriage experts at the Vatican said, but they explained that her church regards the new Mrs. Onassis as a "public sinner" and as such she is barred from receiving the sacraments,such as confession, communion and extreme unction.

She may still attend mass, however.

These sources said the church does not consider the former first lady married to Onassis because it does not recognize his divorce and still considers him married to his first wife, the former Tina Livanos. The first Mrs. Onassis now is married to the Marquess of Blandford, a Briton.

Canon lawyers said there are two courses open to the former Mrs. Kennedy if she wants to get back in the good graces of her church: Leave Onassis and receive absolution, or get a ruling from the church courts that his first marriage is invalid and marry him in the Roman church.

There has been speculation that Cardinal Cushing arranged some sort of agreement for the Vatican to accept the Kennedy-Onassis marriage last weekend, but lawyers at the Vatican said they had no knowledge of any such agreement.

Nowlan Says Benson "Medal Winner"

KENTVILLE, N.S. (CP) — J. Patrick Nowlan, Conservative Member of Parliament for Annapolis Valley, suggested Wednesday that Canada's hopes for a gold medal at the Olympics in Mexico City may lie with Finance Minister Benson.

Mr. Nowlan told the Kings County Womens PC Association that Mr. Benson's budget, tabled in the Commons Tuesday night, indicated the finance minister would win the following Olympics events:

The bread jump—"He takes the biggest bite out of the Canadian taxpayer that has ever been taken by any finance minister."

The high jump—"He has produced the largest deficit in Canada's peacetime history."

And the pole vault—"He has done the greatest flip-flop of any finance minister in the shortest time."

Mercy Plan Hercules May Return Home

Rain Soaks Demonstrators

OTTAWA (CP) — Demonstrators against the Nigerian war took refuge in a church hall Thursday night when a steady rain forced them from Parliament Hill.

However, throughout the night, groups of four took turns on the Hill, circling the centennial flame with placards demanding that Canada act at the UN to promote a ceasefire in Nigeria.

There were about 50 demonstrators, mostly from Toronto and Ottawa. The protest and fast which began Wednesday morning was expected to end today.

On their first day, the demonstrators were thrown out of the office of External Affairs Minister Mitchell Sharp, where they had hoped to camp during their protest.

On Thursday, Mr. Sharp joined them on the Parliament Hill lawn and assured them Canada is doing all it can to halt the bloodshed in the beleaguered West African country.

But he could not reveal just what Canada is doing for fear of thwarting these efforts.

"Sometimes I wish I had the freedom you have to go around and talk," the 57-year-old cabinet minister said.

"Sometimes we wish we had the power you have," shot back one of the demonstrators.

The demonstrators, including two nuns, heard Mr. Sharp through and applauded briefly at the end of his remarks.

Gerald Caplan, 30, a professor of African studies at the University of Toronto, urged that Canada bring the issue before the United Nations.

Mr. Sharp replied he had been advised by UN Secretary-General U Thant that to do so would lessen chances of a settlement.

In a UN debate, countries would take sides from which they might find it hard to retreat later.

After a 20-minute talk, Mr. Sharp left but tentatively accepted an invitation to rejoin the group for a "teach-in" today.

His departure was followed by some bitter anti-government statements.

Mr. Caplan said Prime Minister Trudeau had been "close to immoral" in comments on the Biafra situation.

Mob Jeers And Cheers Wallace

NEW YORK (CP) — George C. Wallace, protected by the heaviest police detail assigned any presidential candidate this U.S. election year, received thunderous cheers in Madison Square Garden Thursday night from supporters who drowned out the boos of hecklers in a tumultuous rally.

At one point, mobs outside the arena pushed through barricades and pelted police with [illegible] tomatoes, rocks and bottles.

Police used nightsticks to break up the crowds of demonstrators, numbering about 3,000, who shouted "sieg heil, sieg heil" as Wallace spoke.

Nigeria Vetoes Airport Use

TRENTON (Staff - CP) — This may be the last place Canada's Biafra airlift ever got off the ground.

As yet, there is no official confirmation from the Canadian Forces Base here that air transports despatched for Red Cross relief flights in Nigeria will return home without logging a single mercy mission.

But indications from Lagos today are pessimistic that the Hercules aircraft which hopefully lifted from here two weeks ago will ever fly relief operations.

Ironically, the reports coincide with an appeal for a Hercules aircraft for use with Scandinavian - sponsored airlift operations.

The request was made informally Thursday to Pacific Western Airlines, owner of the only commercial Hercules in Canada.

It came from Axel Duch, 38, a former PWA pilot and now operations chief for Nordchurchaid — an interdenominational relief body in Denmark, Sweden, Norway and Finland now ferrying Biafra supplies in seven chartered aircraft.

But, Mr. Duch, writing to a Vancouver newspaper friend, says the aircraft are too small. The Hercules can carry up to 24 tons.

Meantime, in Nigeria, Edward Enahoro, No. 2 man in Nigeria's external affairs secretariat, dashed lingering hopes that a Canadian forces Hercules — idling near Lagos for the past 11 days will ever fly to Biafra.

Enahoro said in an interview that runways at Port Harcourt, Calabar and Enugu will not sustain operations by the big potbellied Hercules.

These are cities east and southeast of this Nigerian federal capital. They originally formed part of Biafra but have been regained by federal forces in the last year of the civil war.

The runways are big enough to accommodate the Hercules but Nigerian military authorities fear—and Canadian experts are reported to agree—that they would break up under repeated landings.

The three airports are vital to the flow of men, weapons and munitions to the front lines.

Enahoro raised the possibility of the Hercules, which came with a 25 man work detachment from 435 Transport Squadron based at Namao, Alta., operating between here and Kano 650 miles northeast of Lagos.

The idea would be to gather food stocks at Kano from areas of northern Nigeria where there is a surplus, and ferry them to Lagos where they would be placed aboard smaller aircraft for shipment into areas which have felt the impact of the war.

However, it appeared doubtful Canada would agree to this since the purpose of Hercules was to carry big payloads into places where people are suffering through lack of transport to bring in food supplies. There already is road and rail transport between here and Kano.

It was understood that in view of the dim prospects, the Hercules might pull out of here within the next day or so, possibly as early as Saturday.

The Canadian government is reported considering the possibility of supplying smaller aircraft to undertake the flights into areas where food is needed.

The three Hercules flew out of Trenton in mid-October.

An air force spokesman at Trenton said today there was no official word that the planes would return to Canada.

News Briefs

MOSCOW (AP) — A Soviet magazine says Jacqueline Kennedy decided to marry Aristotle Onassis so that she could "break with the merciless environment" of the United States. The magazine (New Times) says she wanted to escape the "notorious American way of life that killed first John Kennedy, then Robert Kennedy." Now, she is "beginning another life in another country, among other people," the paper says. Mrs. Onassis is described as a "beautiful, elegant, clever, educated woman with a sense of tact."

BONN (AP) — West Germany will buy $900,000,000 worth of Phantom and Starfighter jets from the United States and sell Leopold tanks valued at $140,000,000 to The Netherlands under terms of two big defence deals cinched Thursday. To appease opponents of the deal it tacked on conditions that the United States pledge a $125,000,000 share to West German industry in filling the order for 138 planes or award West German firms contracts "worth a minimum of $50,000,000."

"I've Got A Secret"

A six-year-old moppet at Prince of Wales School whispers her "treasure word" for Mrs. Marian Warden to write on a slip of paper. The secret word of the pupil's own choosing is hoarded in a "treasure box" for future independant study.

The teacher's secret? She's really teaching a lesson in vocabulary, reading, writing and spelling. For a look at Belleville's continuous progress teaching plan see first page, second section.

East Germany Jails Czech Sympathizers

BERLIN (AP) — East Germany has launched a series of secret trials of persons who objected to the Soviet invasion of Czechoslovakia in which East German forces took part, authoritative sources reported today.

The sources said that Horst Bonnet, stage director at the East Berlin Comic Opera, had been sentenced to 2½ years in prison for distributing leaflets protesting the invasion.

They said additional trials might involve 20 or more persons, among them the 16-year-old and 19-year-old sons of scientist Robert Havemann. The father lost his membership in the Communist party and his post at East Berlin's Humboldt University in 1966 for his independent views on how socialism should develop.

Sources in the Czechoslovak embassy in East Berlin say the Aug. 21 Warsaw pact blitz on Prague produced a wave of sympathy and other demonstrations of support by individual East Germans for the cause of liberalism in Czechoslovakia.

Worst Outlook in 17 Years

Prairie Farmers Pessimistic Over Chances to Beat Snow

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Prairie wheat farmers are in an odds-against race to harvest their crops before the snow flies.

Farmers moved back to the fields this week following a break in the cold, damp weather that had delayed harvesting for as much as six weeks.

And with many farmers facing the worst outlook in 17 years, the chances are a large amount of wheat will stay in the fields through the winter.

A Canadian Press survey Thursday showed that harvesting of a wheat crop estimated at 627,900,000 bushels is slightly more than half complete.

The Dominion Bureau of Statistics said the 1968 crop estimate compares with 592,900,000 bushels last year.

Long-range forecasts indicate a few days of mild weather for some areas will give farmers a last chance, and in a few cases the only chance, to harvest their crops.

Harry Strom, Alberta Municipal Affairs Minister, said many farmers are facing a serious outlook—for some the worst since 1951.

Mr. Strom, who operates a farm in southeastern Alberta, said the provincial harvesting average ranges from 35 to 40 per cent complete. Prospects in many areas, particularly west-central Alberta, are "really tough."

Two major problems facing Prairie farmers is dampness and lack of space in terminal elevators.

Damp wheat spoils quickly, lowering grades and farmer returns. But in the rush to complete harvesting, many farmers are ignoring dampness and hoping the wheat can be kept marketable.

Said H. A. Craig of the Manitoba agriculture department: "Everything is against us."

In the Red River Valley area, harvesting progress ranges from nil to 25 per cent complete.

A spokesman for Manitoba pool elevators said if snow comes, "we'll just have to wait until next spring to combine."

A Saskatchewan agriculture department spokesman said the province's wheat crop is about 64 per cent harvested.

The Canadian wheat board gives priority to shipment of damp grain, but this year the pressure has exceeded the ability of elevators to handle it.

Grain drying equipment is working at capacity. Few farmers own the expensive drying equipment because it is needed about once in five or six years.

Union Considers Action

Proctor-Silex Strike to Continue

PICTON (Staff) — The three month old Proctor-Silex strike will go on in Picton in spite of the total failure of all negotiations said one union official today.

Glenn Pattinson, vice-president of the Canadian branch of the International Union of Radio, Electrical and Machine Workers said yesterday. "We die slow."

He said the union had "plans up the sleeve that can't be disclosed."

An annual convention being held today in Toronto will air many of those plans, and consider new ones.

Mr. Pattinson did reveal that the union expects to buy time on the Kingston television station. The 15-minute program should be shown some time next week.

Pamphlets are to be distributed to labor unions throughout the province urging a boycott on all products being produced by Proctor-Silex. A list of the various manufacturing firms will be employed by the company will be distributed as well.

Financial support is being sought from other unions as well.

Already in Kingston efforts are being made to undertake a Proctor-Silex boycott. Robin Ryan, president of the Students for a New University, a Queen's University organization, said that his body, in conjunction with the Kingston Labor Council, would buy space in the Kingston and Queen's University newspapers.

A mass rally is being organized for some time next week in that city as well, he said, but added that final arrangements have yet to be made.

Of the original 99 workers who walked off their jobs on July 18, some 75 still remain on strike. George LeBlanc, local 585 president said that the 24 workers who have left the union did so early in the strike.

"A few have gone back to Proctor-Silex but the majority have sought other jobs," he said.

He added that 75 still on strike are determined to fight the battle to the end."

Said Mr. Pattinson, "If they think we're going to quit, they're crazy."

Official Plan Is 'Sidetracked!'

Belleville's official plan, "sidetracked" during changes in planning office staff, has not been shelved.

Belleville and Suburban Planning Board members were assured last night by their new planning director Bert Kemp that work on the official plan will go forward as soon as he completes "a total emmersion course in local conditions."

The subject was raised by Ald. E. A. Orr because of what he termed "a difference of opinion among some public officials" as to the length of time needed to prepare a plan and the amount of detail necessary.

Mayor Russell Scott, absent from last night's meeting and not mentioned by name, had criticized former planning director P. J. Beavis for the length of time he had taken in preparing the plan and the number of studies he had undertaken.

At previous meetings the mayor had described an official plan as a "simple matter" which could be drawn up in two or three months time.

At Ald. Orr's suggestion, board members last night were presented with a chart of the procedures required by provincial government authorities in the preparation of an official plan.

"Some people questioned how complete an official plan should be, and thought it should be accomplished in five or six weeks," he told the board.

He added that the chart showed that planning board staff had proceeded correctly in preparing the plan and complimented assistant planner Frank Solomans "and anyone else involved".

"I agree," retorted Mrs. Margaret Orr. Mr. Beavis proceeded in the right way in making the necessary studies."

Planning director Kenny told the board Mr. Solomans has worked feverishly on the official plan" until Mr. Beavis resigned last July.

When Mr. Beavis left he took over the current work, then was saddled with a babe-in-arms when I arrived this week," he said. "When I am finished with the office and community, work will begin again on the official plan.

He said he has begun study of documents already prepared by Mr. Beavis and had just completed one historical introductory sections. He promised members that the transportation and utility services studies, prepared by Mr. Beavis before he left, would be brought to the board for review at an early date.

Pointing Out Some Features

Janos Lukacs, owner of the Atelier art gallery in Montreal, looks over two of his paintings that are presently on display at the Hotel Quinte. The paintings are by A. S. Piamondon and C. A. Gagon. Mr. Lukacs' exhibit, his sixth in Bellville, contains works by famous young and old Canadian artists as well as European contributions.

Parks Committee Takes Bus Ride

The main purpose of the meeting was to give committee members a first hand look at park improvements in the West Park Village area.

But they also took a look at the various projects presently under the park planning study for the north end of the city and also viewed the sites for many of the outdoor rinks proposed for this winter.

Members got a first hand look at the vacant land south of Progress Ave in the West Park Village area for which Charles W. Lambert and Almo Developments Ltd. have an application in for rezoning to allow construction of apartment blocks.

The area currently is zoned for light industry and residents have objected to the zoning change, claiming that allowing apartment construction would increase traffic movement on the only access road from the area.

There is no provision for parks in the area and children are forced to play on the street.

The planning board recommended refusal of the rezoning application at this time but city council early in October recommended it be referred to the special traffic committee and the Board of Control for further study before consideration, and report back to council.

Leaving in yesterday's tour were parks administrational staff, board chairman Ald. Gerald Goodman, committee Aldermen Paul Russell, Donald Williams and Richard Elsie.

The lone non parks board member taking in the parks tour was Alderman Enos Duvid.

Chamber Pays Tribute To Commanding Officer

Brigadier-General D. R. Adamson, chief of staff, operations and plans, transport command was paid a farewell tribute by 140 persons who attended the annual Trenton Chamber of Commerce dinner.

On Nov. 1, 1968 he will take up his new post in Ottawa, of director general operations air, a move which was described by Mayor James MacDonald as "a move to better things on his own merits."

Robert Carleton, president of the chamber, held the air force in high regard as he said "it is an integral part of the community of Trenton."

"It would be hard to picture Trenton without an air base but we must remember that it is the people of the base who make it the great asset it is."

He said Gen. Adamson has "always been a great friend of the chamber" and there was "nothing he wouldn't do to aid good relations between the town and the base."

In his remarks Mayor MacDonald labelled the night's guest as "the epitome of what a commanding officer should be.

"We of Trenton have gained from the air force as it has become part of us and we have felt the keen responsible for much of this."

Gen. Adamson said he was "deeply touched" and stated he has "enjoyed my stay in Trenton which I consider to be the best posting for members of the air force."

While here he said the events which he prised most were being commander during ceremonial parades and with seeing the emergence of the Centennial Sing Out group.

"But I will remember tonight as a highpoint of my Trenton career", he concluded.

Youngster Injured -- Tractor Upsets

HAROLD — A 13-year-old RR 1, Harold youth was taken to Belleville General Hospital late yesterday afternoon after he was pinned beneath a tractor at his home.

Hospital officials this morning said that Harold James Morrison, son of Mr. and Mrs. Morris Morrison, was suffering from concussion. He is in the intensive care unit at the hospital and the full extent of his injuries are as yet unknown.

The youth's mother stated this morning that the incident occurred about 4.30 yesterday afternoon.

Harold had taken the tractor to go and get the cows. Mrs. Morrison and her father, James McDonald of Bancroft, heard the boy's screams and they found him pinned beneath the tractor.

He was taken to hospital by ambulance.

The youth's father, Morris Morrison, was in the Belleville General Hospital at the time suffering from pneumonia.

Harold was just released from hospital only days ago also suffering from pneumonia.

Quinte Milk Producers Satisfied with Policy

Prince Edward County milk producers seem to be satisfied with the policy decisions of the Ontario Milk Marketing Board.

At least they are not turning up at county milk committee meetings to voice any complaints.

At the last meeting of the committee held expressly to allow producers to question OMMB directors on any problem, only two of the producers besides the committee turned up.

County Milk Committee official W. R. Wright in his report of the meeting says that from lack of attendance it appears that farmers have full confidence in the OMMB and that they are content with the present Group No. 1 pool price for milk and the industrial milk price, and that they are in complete accord with new milk quality regulations.

Alan Ketchenson, OMMB director, outlined the proposed Group 1B (industrial) milk marketing plan which features plant supply quotas. Under the plan the milk board would buy and sell all milk with farmers receiving a pooled price.

Another feature of the plan would stimulate depletion of pick-up trucks in favor of transportation costs.

CARDS OF THANKS

I wish to express my sincere thanks to all my friends and relatives who remembered me with flowers and cards during my stay in hospital and on my return home to my family. A special thanks to Rev. Ferguson, Rev. Masters; to Rev. R. Veasey; to Dr. J. D. Marshall, Dr. Hamilton and Dr. Dr. Mackie and the staff of Belleville General Hospital.—Mrs. Jack McLaren.

IN MEMORIAM

MALLOY — In loving memory of Stewart Malloy, who passed away Oct. 25, 1966.

Two years have passed since dear Stewart was taken away,
A sad loss to our family True,
And memories remain with you.
And because Heavenwards was your way,
There are memories that will always remain unchanged
Our love and our memories of you, Stewart
Which will be beautiful as autumn's hue.
Dearly remembered by Mom, Dad and children.

MALLOY — In loving memory of a dear brother, Stewart Malloy, who met an accidental death Oct. 25, 1966.

Today recalls the memory
Of a dear brother taken away
Two years ago on the 25th of October.
Are those who loved him best.
For his memory we shall ever cherish
May neither end decay,
Nor time dim the love that we have for you.
Will never fade away.
Sadly remembered by Doug, Catherine and family.

MALLOY — In memory of Stewart Malloy, who met an accidental death Oct. 25, 1966.

Two years in Heaven now,
We think of you often, and will do
In the years to come,
Memories together by some you
Are gone,
But dear to our memory you ever
Always remembered by friend Harry Lewis.

MASTERSON — In loving memory of a dear mother and grandmother, Mary Ann Masterson, who passed away Oct. 25, 1964.

God put your arms around her,
And said, come home dear child,
We miss you more than you know,
Make up for all she suffered,
And all she went through,
Then place a kiss upon her brow,
Forward with a million tears,
And tell her that she is loved and adored you Mom.

Sadly missed by daughter Peggy, husband Bill and grandchildren Linda and Billy.

MASTERSON — In loving memory of a dear mother, Marjorie Irene Masterson, who passed away Oct. 25, 1959.

My time cannot tell how I miss her,
My heart cannot tell what is sad,
God only knows how I miss her,
In the hearts that loved her most.
Deeply remembered by daughter Doreen, son-in-law Sherwood, grandchildren Sherwood, Lawrence, Janice, and Kenneth.

MASTERSON — In loving memory of a dear mother, Marjorie Masterson, who passed away, Oct. 25, 1959.

Always a hand when one was needed,
Always kind, thoughtful and kind,
Always a heart to share our joys and sorrows.
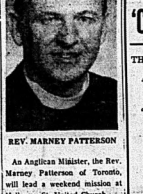
—Never forgotten by daughter Mae Gilbert and son-in-law and children.

MASTERSON — In fond memory of our dear sister Marjorie Masterson, who passed away, Oct. 25, 1959.

Loved back with memories,
Missed more each you loved,
We know the hours we had with you
Were the best you could do,
It broke our hearts to lose you
But you did not go alone,
For part of us went with you
The day God called you home.
—Sadly missed by sister Mae Gilbert and family, Edna, Helen, George and Ruth, sisters and families and brothers.

MALLOY — Stewart Simon Malloy who met an accidental death Oct. 25, 1966.

Two years have passed since that day,
You walked out forever,
Memories are all we have left,
You had gone before we knew it,
Only God knows why.
—Sadly missed by the Richardson family.



MALLOY — In loving memory of Stewart Malloy, who met an accidental death Oct. 25, 1966.

Oct. 25, 1966,
Sad day that blights like a picture,
Of a friend laid to rest,
Memories of him are the best,
Sweet memories that will never
fleeten,
And the face is not always red.
There is never a night or morning,
That I do not think of him,
He is always in my heart,
In my heart you are always here,
Not in sight but always near.
As it ends the fourth year,
Memories together by some you
Are gone,
But dear to our memory you ever
Always remembered by friend Larry Lewis.

Belleville's $75,000 Urban Renewal Study About to Get Under Way in Earnest

Following a delay of nearly two months in the approval of agreements from the two senior levels of governments, Belleville's Urban Renewal Study is about to get under way in earnest.

Last week federal government approval for the study was finalized and this week the agreement with the provincial government was ratified by city council.

Cost of the study will be approximately $75,000 of which the federal and provincial governments will pay 75 per cent.

Earlier in the year Proctor, Redfern, Bousfield and Bacon, Toronto planning consultants were retained by council to do the urban renewal study but until the two agreements were approved have been unable to proceed except on an unofficial basis.

City manager J. R. Reynolds said the work so far done by the consultants had been confined to "paper work".

"This is what we have been waiting for, now the study can go ahead," commented Mayor J. R. Scott when the last agreement came before council this week.

In preparation for getting the study under way, representatives from the planning consultant's office were in the city and met with Chamber of Commerce and Industrial Commission officials.

One of the topics of discussion was the Chamber of Commerce "Magic Circle" proposal, presented last year, which set out exciting urban renewal possibilities for the city's downtown area.

Under the proposal the city's Front Street business area would be turned into a mall from which all vehicular traffic would be barred.

Traffic would move around the mall area by way of the "Magic Circle" along Pinnacle Street and down a riverside drive at the rear of Front Street stores.

The consultants will take the Chamber of Commerce proposal into consideration and after evaluation of its merit may include parts in the preparation of their urban renewal scheme.

However, it was out of the Chamber of Commerce "Magic Circle" proposal that came the suggestion for a complete urban renewal study. Later city council directed that the city's Foster Ward area south of the CPR railway be included in the study.

The planning consultants have indicated to city officials that they are now prepared to commence field work on the study almost immediately.

Included in the study will be the collection of information on population growth estimates, shopping habits of people in Belleville and the surrounding area and traffic movement information.

Questionnaires regarding the above matters will go out to Belleville and district residents.

In addition to the shopping and traffic survey, an industrial survey will also be under taken.

Acting Industrial Commission head Fred Deacon said every co-operation will be given.

"We believe in what the consultants are doing and will give every co-operation," he said.

Mayor Scott said a letter from his office would be mimeographed and would go out with the questionnaires asking co-operation in providing the required information.

O. F. Bradley, Chamber of Commerce secretary manager, said his office would co-operate by acting as a receiving point for the replies.

Once the survey gets under way, Belleville residents will be kept well informed as to progress.

Mayor Scott said he would invite the appointment of what he termed a "citizens' committee" comprised of about 50 members to ask as a public relations body in disseminating information and to offer suggestions.

Such committees had proven invaluable in other centres where urban renewal studies had been made, he said.

The committee would include representatives from downtown merchants and older civic bodies.

A preliminary report on the urban renewal study is expected from the consultants some time in December with the completed scheme hoped to be ready by midsummer of next year.

If the scheme is approved by federal and provincial authorities, the cost of land acquisition and the necessary demolition of any buildings would be subsidized 75 per cent by the senior governments.

However, the subsidy would apply only to land acquisition and clearing with reconstruction being the responsibility of private interests.

Since the initial presentation of the "Magic Circle" concept, the Chamber of Commerce proposal has been viewed by many different groups in the city ranging all the way from service clubs to schools.

William Watson, the senior member of Watson and Wiegand, for years has been interested in the possibility of redevelopment in the city's downtown area.

He says that many Ontario cities are dying at the core and are coming to realize that major surgery is essential to correct the problem.

Mr. Watson notes that a few weeks ago the city of Kingston announced a project to renew and revitalize the central part of that city with the improvement to include a shopping mall.

Also this week the city of Sarnia and adjoining townships received a brief from their planning consultants outlining details of a central renewal scheme which would ultimately embrace the whole Sarnia metropolitan area.

Mr. Watson commended the Chamber of Commerce for its "Magic Circle" concept for downtown Belleville, which, he said dramatically demonstrated the tremendous potential that the city has.

Salvation Army Col. Arnold Brown, (centre), is back home this week. The one-time Belleville railroader, now international public relations director of the Army, is here for regional weekend congress. Here he views new Victoria Avenue Salvationist Citadel with Capt. June Dwyer and Brig. W. T. Hawkes.

Brown Back in Belleville --Salvation Army Congress

It was a symbolic setting.

A Bellevillian, Arnold Brown is now a Salvation Army Colonel, in charge of its image before the world. Just four years ago he was posted to London, England, as director of international public relations.

It is the third citadel he has seen in his hometown. Its construction is also symbolic of the Army's growth locally and elsewhere.

The one-time Belleville railroader now is back briefly to participate in a weekend congress bringing Salvationists from around East-Central Ontario to Belleville Collegiate.

The expansion comes at a time in western culture when most establishments of spiritual endeavour seem contracting.

It's particularly noteworthy in Britain, which has inspired much of the swinging sixties scenes.

The upsurge in Army activity is no phenomenon, believes Col. Brown. The Salvationists still cleave to their spiritual goals.

But the secret is it combines the spiritual with the practical — it visibly cares for people.

"The army is not a large movement — about 2,500,000 people across the world," he points out. "But its service and influence appears disproportionate to its size."

"The secret of its continued development is the fact it has two sides — the spiritual and social are both interlocked and indivisible as far as the army is concerned.

"Any movement that is caring about people is bound to have a place in society. The end is a spiritual result but we certainly have eyes wide open to the human needs of the people."

Despite affluence, human social needs have not diminished, he emphasizes.

Even in a welfare-state society like Britain the need has not diminished, says Col. Brown.

As he puts it: "You still have enough people who don't know how to organize what they've got, to find what's available. There is always loneliness, human factors."

But the motivation behind the Army's efforts still is spiritual.

"The Army feels if it loses that it is dead."

There, "in the last five years we've had probably the greatest (building) expansion program in the whole history of the Army."

Ancient buildings improvided into new life in the Army's founding days now are giving way to new construction projects.

There have been at least 50 major projects — one a men's college housing 600.

Compared to this, the Belleville citadel — scheduled for completion by the year's end — seems small.

But it has its own special significance for the colonel.

As a boy in Belleville, he attended the city's first Salvation Army meeting place — on Pinnacle Street.

"That even looked like a citadel — with tasseled towers and all that," he recalls.

For a time he worked with the CNR in Belleville.

Commissioned as a salvationist officer in 1933 he returned to Belleville for the opening of the present citadel shortly after.

His participation in the weekend congress here also has associations with another city building — Belleville Collegiate.

It opened the year he concluded his high school studies in the early 1930s.

"It was a brand new building and I graduated from there in my last year," recalls Col. Brown. "And so I come back after all these years to use its facilities again."

The new Bonds have fourteen regular annual interest coupons which can be cashed each year as they come due. The first pays 5.75%; the second, 6.50%; the next three, 6.75% each, and the last nine a big 7.00% each. Total regular annual interest amounts to $95.50 on each $100 Bond.

If you choose you may hold all these regular annual interest coupons uncashed until your Bond matures. If you do, you will then get interest on your interest totalling an additional $54.50 on each $100 Bond.

At maturity, therefore, you can get back total interest of $150 plus your original $100 investment. This way each $100 Canada Savings Bond becomes worth $250. Other denominations can grow at the same exciting rate.

Adults, children, businesses and institutions—all may buy Canada Savings Bonds. They are available in convenient amounts of $50 up to $50,000 for cash or on instalments, wherever you work, bank or invest. And, as always, Canada Savings Bonds are cashable any time at full face value plus earned interest.

Few investments are so profitable. None builds more surely for the future. Buy Canada Savings Bonds and make your savings really grow.

Buy yours today!

Recreation Facilities Surveyed

The need for a complete survey of all recreational facilities in the city and greater-ordination of recreational activities, has been realized on two separate local fronts.

Some weeks ago Mayor Dr. J. Russell Scott proposed formation of a recreation-arena advisory committee to coordinate facilities and programs and the idea has been approved in principal by the recreation-arena committee.

Now it seems the United Community Services are planning to do exactly the same thing and had been working on the idea since some time in September.

The fact that the United Community Services was also planning the survey and coordination program was announced by Alderman Robin Jeffrey at Monday's council meeting.

But Alderman Donald Williams felt the recreation-arena advisory committee should be appointed anyway and council went along with his recommendation.

Savings Necessary

Government spending being what it is ($890 million coming up in 1968-70, plus another $335 million set aside for medicare), Finance Minister Benson has admitted that the promised land of a balanced budget still eludes the country. As already noted in an earlier editorial, a deficit of $675 million is forecast.

At the same time, Mr. Benson has pledged another year of restraint on federal government spending. But where are the savings going to be effected? Not apparently to any great extent among say the civil service establishment. True there have been cutbacks on staff in this area, but as Ottawa correspondent Richard Jackson has pointed out so often the spending being lavished on ministerial and departmental accommodation belies any serious attempt at saving taxpayers' dollars.

Certainly Ottawa should put its own house in order where unnecessary extravagance is concerned, before exhorting the public to do likewise. Moreover, there are two other arms of government spending too frequently appears to be no object. We refer to The Canada Council and the National Research Council.

The former body was allotted more than $20,000,000 for the current fiscal year and thus far its bounty has gone to a variety of causes — some of it, as a Commons committee has discovered, of dubious value. There was the Quebec separatist, for example, who received $4,500 to study at the Sorbonne in Paris and the $284 in small item perhaps, but then consider its purpose) to pay avant garde artist Ralph Ortiz' fare by air to Vancouver. His art display consisted of demolishing with an axe a record player and a piano draped with plastic bags of cow's blood. "Mission Destruction," it was called, and a more deplorable example of misplaced government beneficence could scarcely be imagined.

One wonders who has the choice in these matters, because it is in such demonstrably poor taste. Then again, what about the National Research Council — An estimable body, to be sure, which enables many with talent in the scientific sphere to further their own careers and at the same time add to the sum total of scientific knowledge. But consider some of the aid dispensed under its auspices. There was the young married woman of 31 — her picture in the paper the other day — who spent the summer working at the NRC in Ottawa using applied mathematics to study the stars. She and her husband had both won $2,000 NRC awards. All very interesting, but is there much that is not known about the stars already that would justify further subsidized study of this nature? Meanwhile, it is into obscure areas such as this that much of the $100 million spent annually and by the same token where many of the savings Mr. Benson is talking about must be effected.

Frustrating Business

From Canada's point of view, the Nigeria-Biafran situation becomes more farcical with each passing day. The United Nations transports destined for relief work in Biafra are grounded in Lagos, Ascension Island and Recife (Brazil) respectively, awaiting clearance in West Africa. Now there are reports that the available airfields in Nigeria are inadequate to withstand the weight of the big transports and that smaller ones may be needed. These have been offered, but meanwhile Ottawa is still awaiting clearance from Guinea in view of its territory en route to Biafra. In Ottawa itself demonstrators are at it again — this time staging a sit-in in the office of External Affairs Minister Sharp's office. We ask if any of the sit-ins spared a thought for people in need in this country — the Indians and Eskimos for instance?

"The Old Groaner"

Yes that was Bing Crosby and his "Road" film companion Bob Hope on television the other night. And Dorothy Lamour for heaven's sake! And there they were — Hope and Crosby — chasing the girls and ribbing each other like old times. And there was the "Old Groaner," now 64, singing with Diana Ross and The Supremes, singing a medley of the latest songs and ballads. And what a catchy selection it was. Suddenly, melody has returned to the field of popular music. "Honey . . ." "Gently On My Mind," and many more. And there was the incomparable Bing, singing along with the young Negro trio and sounding very much and looking very much like the Crosby of old.

French Communist Party Divided Since Czech Invasion

by CY FOX
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Fresh signs of major conflict within the French Communist party suggest that time has hardly tempered the internal troubles caused by world communism by the Soviet-bloc invasion of Czechoslovakia.

An article in Wednesday's Pravda by a leading Communist from the Middle East strongly reasserted that the August intervention by the Soviets and their allies in Czechoslovak domestic affairs was justified.

The article, assumed to have the Kremlin's blessing, argued that when any Communist country is threatened from within by "imperialist-backed" reactionary forces, other Communist states must intervene.

Despite its latest formulation, however, this kind of thinking continues to provoke hostile reactions among non-Russian Communists.

Apart from any crisis of conscience, they seem worried—in the case of Finland and Sweden —by electoral losses attributed to the Soviet-bloc invasion.

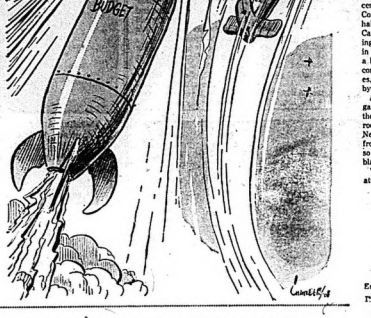
The current renewal of controversy within the French Communist party follows the dramatic resignation from official party functions of Mrs. Jeannette Thorez-Vermeersch, considered a defender of Moscow against any party member who would deny Soviet infallibility.

Making her step doubly significant is the fact that she is the widow of the late leader of communism in France, Maurice Thorez.

She asserted that she backed the French central committee when it condemned the invasion of Czechoslovakia.

But the committee, in accepting her resignation this week, maintained that her statements to it really meant support for the march on Prague.



Apparently in an attempt to woo the substantial bloc of Communists still fervently pro-Moscow, a nervous central committee accompanied its theoretical condemnation of Mrs. Thorez-Vermeersch with loud disapproval of a party notable harshly critical of the Soviets, Roger Garaudy.

Garaudy reflected the thinking of many "liberal" Communists in branding the Soviet leaders as badly mistaken in the Czech policy.

The sharply conflicting views of French communism's opposing wings are certain to be aired at a newly-announced meeting between party chiefs from Paris and the Kremlin's top men.

The meeting in Moscow will be watched by Communists around the world, acutely aware that they themselves are beset by the ironic strains as plague their French comrades.

"I forgot to tell you — she doesn't have retro-rockets."

Popular Sweetener

Kitchener-Waterloo Record

Honey, the original sweetener is indeed part of man's heritage. In ancient times, honey cakes were baked and presented as offerings to the gods. In Old England rent was often paid in honey.

Honey was thought to have soothing powers in time of sickness and even the wax was utilized. Strips of lines were dipped in the wax, then placed on wounds. Honey was part of every household in the days when there were endless expanses of green fields and a profusion of wild flowers.

Cows Face Linguistic Hang-up

Windsor Star

Canada is a large exporter of pure-bred livestock. Cattle are being shipped to many parts of the world. A boatload of 800 Holstein heifers has been sent to Korea. It will be a strange experience for them (and a nasty one if they become sea sick) and a strange land they will find.

They will become accustomed to it. But what will be their reaction to the Korean language? Will they be able to respond to the Korean equivalent of "move over" or "stand still"? Animals do become used to certain voices and to certain commands. They may find the language of a Korean herdsman quite confusing at first.

It has been said Chinese must be a very easy language to learn, since so many hundreds of millions use it. We hope these Canadian heifers find Korean easy, else they are in trouble.

Black Writers' Congress

Canada's Negroes Get A Taste of U.S. Counterparts' "Hate" Program

Letter to The
Montreal Gazette

As a man, I am frightened. As a Negro American living in Canada, I am appalled. I do not censure McGill for allowing the Congress to exhibit itself in its hallowed halls, but I blame the Canadian Government for allowing those foul-mouthed racists in this country. As the author of a book of poetry and free verse concerning inter-racial romances, I would have been spat on by them, had they only known.

As closed as the last "family gathering" was supposed to be, there was a white couple in the room's projection booth, and a Negro with a tape recorder from the CBC in the audience, so the following personalized blast at me is on record.

The young lady with whom I attended the Congress was a part of a conference to draw up resolutions for the Bi/ran situation. The next day, when we asked a female delegate from N.Y. when they were to be read after I was asked if I was black, to which I answered, "Yes", the young lady was informed that she could not attend. She asked, "Why?" As she sat down, I stepped away for a few minutes so she could get a face-to-face taste of hate.

That evening, at the closed session, the lady from New York was moderator, and after the resolutions were read, she commented, "White people want to know why we are so hard on them. that straight-haired cat with that blue-eyed, blonde honkey on his arm. I've seen quite a few of you straight-haired cats around, but you'd never get in a Black Power meeting in New York with straight hair." How I wanted to ask her, since she was light brown, if she would be barred if one of her excessive white genes had made her hair straight. Their intimated restrictions were, besides hate — organization, guns, killing, take over, and anarchy. I'll buy one for when the time comes. Perhaps they will invade Nova Scotia first — the people are there — but when they head for Montreal, I'll be on the front line to greet them. . . with the gun they asked me to buy. Maybe some "converted" brother who knows the moderator's address, will send her this letter, to hate with love. Now, you all know where I stand.

Graduates Answer Criticism

Editor,
The Intelligencer.

We wish to express our sincere regrets concerning the adverse comments presently circulating concerning Adult Education at Quinte Secondary School.

Since we are loyal Quinte-area residents and benefactors of the invaluable assistance afforded us through further education on the Adult Program we wish not to retaliate, but to judicially comment.

How well we realize the problems encountered by utilizing buildings day and night — an inconvenience yet an economical device as revealed by the astute comment of Mr. Trant at the School Board meeting.

Our motto was "shared responsibility". If we on the Adult Education Course were asked, we did our best (e.g.) clerks for Town Hours etc. We shared our maps, books, projectors, and materials or in some cases supplied strong men to transport chairs, push out cars etc.; we always tried to oblige the Quinte Secondary School staff, administration and maintenance personnel.

Some of our members have experienced very unfortunate circumstances and have struggled to establish an identity and fit into society. It is indeed shocking to be victimized by blanket, thoughtless accusations as we embark on a new phase of life — careers with futures.

Our members are not all high school rejects, nor have we all been failures — some of us have had major injuries and have had to retrain or have been displaced through progress and automation. Our approach has been not to refire on welfare, but to meet the challenge and work toward success.

It is, indeed, sad that our whole program has been intentionally slandered. Psychologically it is devastating but we shall utilize our Adult Education Training and innate wisdom, not only to push ahead in life, but to demonstrate to those that we can live and work amicably together.

Life Insurance Boom

(Canadian Life Insurance Association)

At the end of 1967, Canadians owned $90 billion of life insurance. This is more than five times the amount owned in 1950. In the last 17 years, life insurance ownership has grown more than twice as quickly as income after taxes.

Taking a longer perspective, the mid - 1920s, life insurance ownership has increased more than 18 times. In comparison, Canadian income after taxes has increased ten times.

It is estimated that at the end of 1967 there were more than 11 million life insurance policyholders in Canada. This figure is more than double the number in 1925, and more than 20 times the 1900 total. In comparison, 8.9 million Canadians paid income taxes in 1967, and 10.8 million were eligible to vote in the 1968 federal election. Total population of Canada is almost 21 million.

In a sample survey conducted in 1965, about 8% per cent of urban adults owning at least $5,000 a year said they own life insurance. The average amount of life insurance owned by each husband, wife and child in Canada at the end of 1967 was $4,300.

The average amount owned by each life insurance policyholder on December 31, 1967, was $8,200. This is more than seven times the 1925 figure of $1,150, and almost four times the 1950 figure of $2,100.

The greatest growth in per capita ownership of life insurance has taken ben place in Saskatchewan. Average ownership there has increased 5¼ times in the last 17 years. Residents of all provinces have at least tripled their average ownership.

On a per household basis, average of life insurance in Quebec is $19,320; in Ontario $19,440; in British Columbia $14,360. In the Prairie provinces it is $13,600, and in the Atlantic provinces $11,100.

Light and Shadow

Montreal Star

Fall is a time when we rediscover the infinite variety of darkness. Dusk is neither a time of gathering gloom nor a fast shutter of night. It is instead a varied program of ever - fading and silver clouds, often spectacularly backlighted by the molten lava effects of the vanishing sun.

The approach of evening may give rosy tips to the hills, while the valleys seem spattered with fragments of the day's leftover. A spire stands in golden illumination above the dark roofs of houses. Rivers are black in the folds of the hills, only to broaden around a turn into shining platters.

Flocks of birds move from darkening stubble into the sky in a wheeling quivering clouds of bright fragments in the shafts of light. A countryman meeting a front place to place with his chores alternates from light to shadow and back again.

Biafra Shipment

Beer Necessary for Survival: Adamson

TRENTON — Brigadier-General D. R. "Adamson, last night labelled the recent beer shipment to Biafra a "necessity for survival in the extreme conditions of Fernando Po" as he put forth the other side of the story on the controversial cargo.

The Trenton Chamber of Commerce gave a farewell tribute to Gen. Adamson who will relinquish his post as chief of staff, Operations and Plans, Transport Command here at the base.

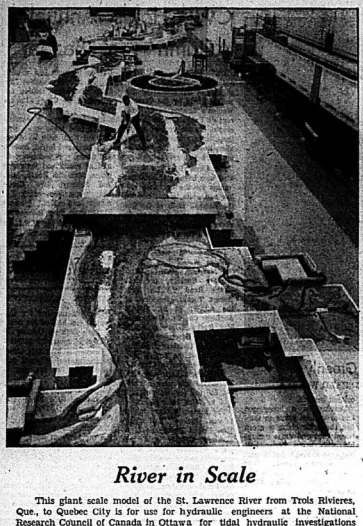
He touched lightly on the subject of the bubbly stuff in his speech when he labelled it as "absolute necessity due to the unpalatable water" and added the shipment would allow each man one can per day for the duration of his stay.

In an interview later, he said, "In an operation such as this it is necessary that we send rations to make the units self-sufficient".

He said previous forecasts had shown "we must go there prepared to exist by ourselves — we could not depend on getting anything there."

"Water purification tablets would not make the water palatable and the extreme climate conditions are most severe."

Gen. Adamson stated it would be unsafe to buy unknown goods from foreign villages and so we sent beer and soft drinks."



"There is nothing unusual in it, we have done it in many operations as pretty well standard procedure."

As to the space the cans took he said: "There was nothing else to fill the space with — we packed it in under seats and vehicles."

He said "nothing was left behind as a result of the shipment."

"We are trying to supply our men with a few of the amenities of home."

Gen. Adamson will begin his new post on Nov. 1 in Ottawa when he will assume the post of Director General Operations/Air.

Belleville Planning Board Decides Against Appeal

Belleville and Suburban Planning Board last night decided against an appeal to the Ontario Municipal Board to prevent strip residential development along Sidney St. and Sunningdale Road in the fourth concession of Sidney.

However the board merely received the report of the Oct. 15 decision of Thurlow committee of adjustment permitting a lot to be sold in the area, and refused to follow its usual practice of concurring with the decision.

"Sometime in the future we may have another Melrose Dr. on our hands," warned board member Zdenek Kvarda during discussion of the land owned by Clarence Vermilyea.

Strip residential development on both sides of Melrose Dr. west of the city in Sidney township was criticized by former planning director P. J. Beavis. He suggested last summer that the Ontario Municipal Board be asked to impose subdivision control to prevent building of houses in an area without municipal water and sewers.

Mr. Vermilyea applied to the Thurlow committee of adjustment for permission to split a 100 by 150 foot lot from his property for sale as a home site. The application was approved.

Assistant planner Frank Stokmans, who attended the committee meeting, told the board the land split has the effect of contravening the minister of municipal affair's objection to urban type development in rural areas without sewers and water.

"Twenty or 30 lots could be created on Mr. Vermilyea's land, all with septic tanks and wells," he said. "This could lead to unhealthy living conditions for the residents."

Mr. Stokmans said he had asked that the land split approval by the committee of adjustment be accompanied by the condition that no further development be allowed without a registered plan of subdivision. He advised conditional approval because of a statement by Mr. Vermilyea that he intends to ask for more land splits to permit him to sell his lots along Sidney St. and Sunningdale Rd.

"One lot doesn't make much difference," replied board member Ralph Plumpton who also sits on the Thurlow committee of adjustment. "The township has the matter in hand and any further development will be well looked into."

Planning director Bert Kenny told the board it had until Oct. 29 to appeal the committee of adjustment's decision to the OMB...The board decided instead to receive the report of the committee's approval and withhold its usual concurrence.

Winnipeg Jumpers Win Competition

TRENTON — A two-man team from CFB Winnipeg took the trophy for the Canadian Armed Forces Parachute Rescue competition this morning after a week of spasmodic jumping and rough weather conditions.

The competition began with practice on Monday, but bad weather plagued the jumpers and did not let off for the rest of the week. The inclement weather forced the cancellation of the sea-rescue dropping and had most of the live jumps transferred to Thursday.

Despite this Corporals Henry Gurgens, 26, of Humboldt, Saskatchewan and Gary Garrison, 22, of Weirdale, Saskatchewan won the entire competition.

Four other teams from Comax, British Columbia, Edmonton, Alberta, Summerside, Prince Edward Island and Trenton competed.

The Winnipeg team, with its two Saskatchewan-based veterans, won the live jumping section of the competition and Trenton won the supply dropping division. This put Trenton in second spot in the competition which they had won in 1965 when the contest first came into being.

The trophy was presented by Brig. Gen. D. R. Adamson, chief of staff, operations, Air Transport Command.

Scores are compiled on an average error basis and the team with the lowest score achieves highest standing in the contest.

Obituaries and Funerals

MRS. HEDWIDGE KIRKEY

The funeral for Mrs. Hedwidge Kirkey was held from the O'Brien Funeral Residence to St. Michael's church this Friday morning.

Interment will be in St. Paul's Anglican Cemetery, Roslin, with Rev. V. E. Earl officiating.

Industrial Commission Hears Activity Report

A lengthy activity report given by Industrial Commissioner Ray Brown took up most of the industrial commission's time at yesterday's meeting.

Also assignments were made to various directors for upcoming business and prospect visits to Belleville.

Mr. Brown said that so much is coming to a head now that assignments just have to be delegated.

"A number of directors agreed to help out," he said, "as we are going to be very busy during the next few weeks."

"Many projects are coming to maturity and we have many new prospects coming to visit the city."

Mayor J. Russell Scott was not in attendance at yesterday's meeting of the commission. He was in Ottawa attending a St. John Ambulance investiture. He was made a serving brother of the organization.

FUN DIET — This girl illustrates that dieting can be fun. By eating a variety of likeable taste treats she can still lose weights This in turn is followed by exercise routine.

Fun Diet Way to Lose Weight

By Reba and Bonnie Churchill

Would you believe this girl is on a diet? Yes, even though there's a grocery sack brimming over with food, and she's munching a cream cheese 'n' peanut butter pompon called in crunchy cereal flakes, she's still losing weight! Direct from the test kitchen comes an enjoyable way to shed a pound or two. It's a 4-Day Fun Diet filled with likable, likeable taste treats (see P.S.). For instance, conventional grapefruit takes on added zip when broiled and topped with a tea spoon of peanut butter and a dash of cinnamon. Check this diet and streamlining plan with your doctor. You may discover menus high in flavor low in calories.

Right in step with this slenderizing schedule is a series of exercises, which utilize a kitchen rolling pin resting against buttocks. Take a giant stride forward on right foot, simultaneously swinging pin away from the body and raising it as high as possible. You can actually see pectoral muscles and rib cage respond. Continue lunge-step around room 10 times. One hour or more after exercising, reward yourself with a protein-rich Peter Panapple — a peeled apple dipped in a blend of peanut butter, orange and pineapple juices.

Another multi-benefit routine, that concentrates on the arms, bust and torso, begins by kneeling on right leg. Bend left limb, so foot is flat on floor. Hold the rolling pin at knee level, then elevate it until it's above shoulder-height and arms are extended on a diagonal line. In this position, elbows should be straight, abdomen contracted and rib cage lifted. Now, slowly twist pin in arc, clockwise, then counterclockwise. As you rotate roller, do not lean forward or bunch shoulders, otherwise you lose one-fourth the exercise benefits. Practice 10 times.

P.S. Like to lose a few pounds before the holidays? Here's a quick (only 4 days) and enjoyable (such treats as shakes and curry) way to streamline. A brand new "4-Day Fun Diet" booklet, offering 12 pages of diet and recipes, are yours.

Enclose 25c and a self-addressed stamped envelope to: Reba and Bonnie Churchill, 4 Day Fun Diet, c-o The Intelligencer, Room 1310, 80 King St. W., Toronto, Ontario.

SOCIAL and PERSONAL

MARRIAGE NOTICE

Poirier — Christopher — The marriage took place in Ottawa, on Friday, October 11, 1968 of Bonnie Lynn Christopher, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry L. Christopher and granddaughter of Mrs. Lousia Wood, all of Belleville to Mr. Gilles Poirier, son of Sgt. and Mrs. Gerrard Poirier, Ottawa. Both Mr. and Mrs. Poirier are at present attending Ottawa Technical College.

* * *

Previous to her marriage Mrs. Gerald Wood (nee Sherrianne Greenly) was honored at a miscellaneous shower given by her classmates of the Belleville general Hospital, at the home of Miss Carol Anne Lewis in Kingston.

WEDDING

FOLEY — WANNAMAKER

Rev. D. C. MacPherson performed the wedding ceremony at his home when LaVerne Wannamaker, daughter of Blythe Wannamaker and granddaughter of Mrs. Evelin Wannamaker, was united in marriage to Larry Foley, son of Mr. and Mrs. Delbert Foley of Frankford.

The bride wore a street-length dress of white satin with an overlay of lace and carried a bouquet of red roses.

She was attended by the bridegroom's cousin, Mrs. Jack Riley who wore a pink dress and carried a bouquet of yellow roses.

Jack Riley attended this cousin.

Mr. and Mrs. Foley will reside at 187 West Moira Street.

Club Activities

Belleville Phi Pal Chapter met at the home of Miss Beth Bird Monday evening at 7.30 p.m. Tentative plans were made for an "Airplane Wash," the date of which is to be announced in the near future.

It was unanimously decided to donate $5.00 towards this year's Theatre Guild Drama Festival. Following the meeting refreshments were served by the hostess.

Wood — Greenly

MR. AND MRS. GERALD WOOD

The marriage was solemnized in St. Michael's Anglican Church at Coe Hill, on Saturday October 12, at 11 a.m., when Sherrianne Linda Greenly, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ross Greenly of Pembroke was united in marriage to Gerald Wood, son of Mr. and Mrs. M. E. Wood, Belleville.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a street-length dress of white brocade crimpiene in eight gore princess line featuring long sleeves and stand-away collar. She wore an over the face veil of tiered silk organza and carried a cascade of stephanotis.

Miss Carol Anne Lewis of Campbellford as maid of honor was wearing a shocking pink corded silk dress trimmed with silk lace, with matching velvet ribbon interwoven in her hair. She carried a bouquet of deep pink roses interspersed with stephanotis.

Vincent Woods attended the bridegroom.

A reception was held at the summer home of David Wannamaker at Wollaston Lake, Coe Hill where the bride's mother received the guests wearing a wine velvet suit with silver mink trim, matching feathered hat and a corsage of matching orchids. The bridegroom's mother assisted wearing a blue double knit suit with matching accessories and a corsage of cream colored orchids.

Leaving on a honeymoon trip to various points in Quebec the bride chose a green tweed coat and dress ensemble with green derby hat, black accessories and a corsage of green orchids.

WOMEN of THE MOOSE

The first meeting of the month was held in the Moose Hall with Bernice Prindle presiding. The chapter was one of the top honor chapters in Ontario and plans were made for them to take their part at the convention which was held in London.

The Hallowe'en party is planned for October 26, and it is requested that everyone come in costume. All co-workers going on the Christmas trip to Syracuse must have their names and money in by the first meeting in November. At this same meeting co-workers are asked to donate to the bake sale.

The meeting was brought to a close with the serving of lunch by Mildred Morris and her committee.

CWL Holds Annual Autumn Tea, Bazaar

DESERONTO — Ideal autumn weather added to the success of the annual bazaar and tea held by the Catholic Women's League of St. Vincent de Paul's Church in Deseronto. To the enjoyment of those who attended. Marysville, Read, Napanee and Picton were well represented.

The Lions' Hall was decorated with baskets of beautiful 'mums for the occasion, yellow and white 'mums centred the damask cloth of the tea table, with yellow tapers in silver candelabra. Each small table had its own small arrangement.

Pouring tea were: Mrs. William Walsh, president of the Marysville C.W.L.; Mrs. William Buckley, president of the Read C.W.L.; Mrs. Robert Tucker, president of the A.C.W. of St. Mark's Anglican Church, Deseronto; Mrs. Rockwell Hawley, president of the Deseronto U.C.W.; and Mrs. Charles Griffiths, president of the Ladies' Aid of the Presbyterian Church.

Mrs. Anson Lord and Mrs. M. E. Dowling were conveners for the tea, with tickets sold by Miss Jean Walsh.

The various bazaar tables seldom lacked customers. Mrs. Ernest Dorey and Mrs. Matthew Cassidy sold the white elephants which were treasures to the buyers. Mrs. R. E. Dowling and Miss Marie Lalonde had candy and customers for their aprons, both frivolous and practical; and Mrs. Donald Reid and Mrs. Gordon Brennan had a wide choice of merchandise for those who were looking for the famous Christmas gifts.

But, as always, it was the coloured food table which was sold out first, with its delectable buns and bread, cookies and cakes, pies and tarts; as well as candy and jams and jellies. Mrs. Ed. Roach, Mrs. Ted Murphy, Mrs. Emile Beauchesne, Mrs. Jack Edwards and Mrs. Michael Flynn were busy saleladies.

CLUB 4-H NOTES

(ALBURY JUNIORETTES)

The 4th meeting for this project was held at the home of Barb Peck on October 15 with eight members present.

Discussion included: entertaining at tea, informal tea, sandwiches for tea, tea is served.

The leader acted as hostess and assistant leader served tea to club members.

BELLEVILLE UTILITIES COMMISSION

Points for Parents

By MARY BRYSON

Son: "You owe me two weeks' allowance."

Father: "I don't have any change today. I'll give you enough for the whole month when I get paid. You really don't need much money this week."

Father: "Here is your allowance. You said you would like it in small change so you can divide it up for your budget boxes."

Son: "In two more weeks, I'll have enough saved for a bike."

Allowances should be paid regularly and on time, and it's easier for young children to plan and budget on a weekly basis, rather than over a longer period, such as a month.

Reader Requests Recipes for Christmas Parcels

By MARY MOORE

QUESTION: Am a regular follower of your column and enjoy it very much. Have a real problem and do hope you can help me. I have a brother with CUDD in Ghana and would like to send him some baking for Christmas but find it difficult to locate recipes that will survive this travel period. Last Christmas I sent him some Christmas cake and nuts and bolts sealed in two-pound coffee cans. It arrived well — but my sisters sent cookies and candy and apparently they didn't travel at all well. The parcels take 2½ to 3 months to reach him by sea mail. I would very much like to send a variety of goodies along with his Christmas cake this year. Any help you can give me will be appreciated. — J. C.

ANSWER: For Jim, sending you by direct mail our recipes for Banana Bread — Will Travel, Christmas Tree Fruit Cakes and Dark Bond Florida Fruit Cake. Two cookies, a banana nut bread and shortbread appear below. You will have to wrap each cookie and shortbread individually in saran before packing. To be sure the Dark Bond Florida Fruit Cake is preserved, you might pierce top at intervals with a two-tined fork and drizzle some brandy over. Other readers who have loved ones overseas, clip this and make cookies and shortbread and wrap and ship as soon as possible.

ARKANSAS TRAVELLERS (peanut butter cookies)

1 cup butter or half and half butter and good quality shortening
1 teaspoon vanilla
1 cup brown sugar, well packed
1 cup white sugar
2 eggs
1 cup peanut butter
2 cups sifted all-purpose flour
2 teaspoons baking powder
½ teaspoon salt

Cream butter or butter and shortening. Add sugars gradually, creaming well. Beat in eggs and vanilla, mixing thoroughly. Add peanut butter and mix well. Sift together the flour and baking powder and salt. Stir into creamed mixture. (Add 1 cup of chopped dates or 1 cup of chopped peanuts if desired.) Roll into small balls, about 1" in diameter, and place on greased cookie sheet. Flatten with tines of a fork that has been dipped in water. Bake at 375 deg. Fahr. for 10 to 12 minutes. Watch closely. Makes about 5 dozen.

SCOTCH SHORTBREAD

1967 (seventy 1½" squares — easy to make and cut out)

1 pound butter (room temperature)
1 cup fresh light brown sugar (packed)
5 cups unsifted all-purpose flour

Measure all ingredients into large mixing bowl. Work with your clean hands until the batter is all blended into the sugar and flour. This takes at least 5 min. of steady working. Turn out on lightly floured board. Knead and press and shape until you can force dough to hold together from the warmth of your palms. With lightly floured rolling pin on lightly floured board roll out to a perfectly level ½" thickness. Cut in squares. I used a 1¾" wide ruler as my guide on top of dough: with a sharp knife I cut it into exact 1¾" squares. These I lifted up, about 24 at a time, in a row on a spatula to transfer to unbuttered cookie sheets, ¾" apart. I decorated each with 3 or 4 "slivers". They could be sprinkled carefully with colored sugar or decorated with little "leaves" made of quartered glace red or green cherries. Bake at 300 deg. Fahr. 18 minutes. I turned pans and switched them on racks 2 or 3 times during baking period. Do not brown or burn these. They should be only slightly tinged with gold.

Ann Landers

One with Cancer Suggests Using Tact

DEAR ANN LANDERS: A few months ago I had surgery for a malignant tumor. The surgery was followed by cobalt treatments. My physicians are very optimistic and so am I — until some thoughtless person says something. Please publish these suggestions for family and acquaintances of individuals who have had cancer treatment.

1. If the patient wishes to discuss his illness he will bring up the subject. If nothing is said, keep quiet.

2. Avoid such remarks, as, "You're lucky. A neighbor of mine had exactly what you have and they had to cut out his tongue and vocal cords."

ANN LANDERS

3. Don't tell about Mr. So-And-So who had suffered with cancer for years but "never lost his sense of humor."

4. Be cheerful. Many people recover from cancer. If you know of someone who did, mention it. Such reports can be very encouraging.

Thanks, Ann. — BALTIMORE.

DEAR BALTIMORE: Here's your letter, and let's hope the guilty ones take the hint.

* * *

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I'd like to reply to the self-appointed authority on rotten fathers. She refused to listen to the "lousy bum" — even if he were starving to death — because he had never done anything in his whole life but cause trouble."

My father is alcoholic, too, and by her standards I'm sure he is also a lousy bum. My five younger sisters and brothers have been thrown out of the house in the dead of winter, every holiday ruined, holes hammered into locked bedroom doors, telephones ripped out, furniture and dishes broked, suppers thrown on the floor, bicycles pawned, money stolen, neighbors complaining, police at the door. Talk about hell — we lived it. Yet, I hold no bitterness in my heart. My father hates his drinking more than we do, but he is too weak to conquer it. He is a brilliant man who could have had a wonderful career. Instead he has known nothing but misery and defeat.

I am happily married now, and if Mom goes first I'll take Dad in, if he wants to come. — A DAUGHTER WHO UNDERSTANDS.

DEAR A: You sound like an angel to me. There's got to be a special place in heaven for people like you.

* * *

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I'm a widow, 43. The days are O.K. but the evenings are so lonely. I've gone to some nice cocktail lounges but I've met only bums who want someone to sleep with. How does a respectable woman meet decent men? — SOLITAIRE.

DEAR SOLITAIRE: If you want to catch trout, don't fish in a herring barrel. Join study groups, adult education classes, Great Books groups, do volunteer work. Have you considered a new job? Get going. God helps those who help themselves.

Junior Gardeners Tour O'Hara Mills Trails

A busload of happy Junior Gardeners bade farewell to autumn as they toured the nature trails of O'Hara Mills. The trees, still lovely in their fall array provided a colorful setting for the tour.

Members collected all varieties of leaves to enter in the Ontario Horticultural competition at the Royal Winter Fair in November. These leaves must be treated by the Junior Gardeners so that they maintain their natural beauty and tain their natural beauty. Members also are entering their strawflowers in the Ontario competitions.

Successful Living

Grateful Reader Voices Thanks

By DORIS CLARK

Dear Doris: I wish to thank you so much for the continued interest you have shown in our problem. It was heartening to hear from the two ladies who so kindly wrote in to tell of their experiences with their autistic children.

I realize that no two are exactly alike but it certainly gives one hope to hear of similar cases where the results have been rewarding and I hope and pray that our little boy will also show improvement over the years.

Bob was to have started nursery school this month but due to the fact that I was scheduled to enter hospital for surgery on the same day we are putting it off for several weeks, as I think this would be too much change for him to cope with all at once. — Distracted.

Dear Distracted: You are welcome. You show great sensitivity to Bob in realizing that his missing you is plenty tough enough right now, without the added challenge of strange faces and doings at nursery school. Better to start him when you are home for reassurance every day.

* * *

Dear Doris: I was delighted to see your request for the poems, The Spider and The Fly and Farewell to the Farm ("Goodbye to Everything"). They are enclosed.

I am a woman 53 and this was the first time in my life that I have heard of anybody being interested in The Spider and The Fly, which I recited in front of a grade eight class as a child of four. I can remember the occasion as plainly as if it were yesterday.

I was dressed in a green plaid dress trimmed with green velvet and tiny silver buttons and wearing a buster-cut hair-do. I still have the tattered old nursery rhyme book with beautiful illustrations by Margaret W. Tarrant. — Prairie Crocus.

Dear Crocus: Just one of those times a youngster never forgets; the sort of thing which helps us understand the little ones coming along now. A child needs chances to be in the spotlight.

Our thanks for sending in requested poems also go to Mrs. A. R. C. Sussex, N. B., Mrs. E. S. and Mrs. D. M., Winnipeg, Man., and Anon, Moncton, N. B.

Very glad to receive Bruce and the Spider, which is another favorite, Oldie.

Dear Doris: I am inquiring on the proper way to address a business letter to important people, such as: The High Commissioners for different countries.

Could you send me also the address of the Australian High Commissioner? — G. R. W.

Dear Gr. R. W.: To the representative for Canada in Australia, you should write as follows: His Excellency Mr. A. R. Menzies, Office of the High Commissioner for Canada, Commonwealth Avenue, Canberra, Australia.

Open the letter with: "My Dear High Commissioner", or "Dear Mr. Menzies." Close it with, "Accept, Your Excellency, the assurances of my highest consideration."

Pretty fancy, isn't it?

Partying Students Liberate UBC Faculty Club

VANCOUVER (CP) — Bellowing above jangling music, a University of British Columbia student roared to a telephoning reporter today: "Hey, it's a helluva party out here; why don't you guys come on out?"

"That's right," confirmed Prof. David Huberman, inspecting the dancing, singing crowd in the UBC Faculty Club after its "liberation" by students Thursday. "They're having a swinging party."

About 1,000 laughing students "liberated" the building—reluctantly to members and guests—and about 200 stayed inside, lying himself as Bob Cronback, 22, of San Francisco, swam nude in a fishpond behind the club for five minutes. Male and female students watched.

As word of the party spread, the crowd grew to exceed 500 again.

Many of the young persons there said they planned to stay in the club through today. Prof. Huberman, president of the club, said authorities planned no immediate action to remove them.

"The crowd is very orderly and we are not unduly concerned at this stage," he said early today. "However, a lot of these people, in the hard core, are not from our campus. They are hippies."

Students marched light-heartedly on the building after Jerry Rubin, 30, head of the Youth International Party in the United States, urged them in a campus address to "liberate" the Faculty Club.

At one stage, a man identi-

"The vibrations were good," he said.

A young student hoisted a Viet Cong flag to the top of the faculty club pole. Seconds later, three other students hauled it down and ripped it to shreds.

Some students burned $1, $2 and $5 bills to protest against a society which "holds money all important."

He had left the building to attend a dinner and later moved into an off-campus home.

Prof. Huberman said he got mad only once—when students invaded Prime Minister Lee's suite and started to open his liquor. They were ejected and the door of the suite was locked.

Questions and Answers On Highway Travel

Ontario Motor League
Eastern Ontario Club

Question: We are thinking of driving to Ottawa, and would appreciate any information you can give us as to place of interest, also, which is the best highway to take?

Answer: This is a fine time for a three-hour drive to Ottawa, and would suggest you drive on Highway No. 37 to Actinolite and No. 7 from there. There are many points of interest at Ottawa, such as the Federal House of Parliament, Royal Mint, National Museum; Royal Mounted Police Barracks, and the Garden of the Provinces, and many others. Brochures may be obtained at the Ontario Motor League or the Chamber of Commerce.

Question: Could you please tell me something about Mount Royal Park in Montreal?

Answer: Mount Royal Park is on the summit of Mount Royal, which rises to a height of 764 feet in the centre of the city. The immense lighted cross at the top commemorates Maisonneuve's fulfilment in January 1643, of his promise to erect a cross on the mountain if the colony was spared from the flood of Dec. 23, 1642.

The park is the scene of sports in winter and of weekly concerts and plays in summer. Only horse-drawn vehicles are allowed on the upper part of the mountain. Beaver Lake, within the park, is an artificial lake, originally formed by beavers. A miniature train runs from Beaver Lake to the lookout from which there is a magnificient view of Montreal, the St. Lawrence and Ottawa River, the Adirondacks in New York State and the Green Mountains of Vermont. The train runs daily 10 a.m. to sunset, mid-May to mid-September, on weekends only in early spring and fall; rides are 20 cents each direction. Also available is a 30 minute train ride for 75 cents.

Place Ville Marie

At 777 Dorchester Boulevard, West, this is a beautiful development in the business section of Montreal, Dominated by the Royal Bank of Canada Building. One of the tallest buildings in the city, it affords a splendid view from the observation deck on the top floor. Underground there is a large plaza and shopping promenade. Observation roof open March to November, daily 10:00 a.m. to midnight, fee $1.00, children under 12 years of age, 50 cents.

Continuous Progress Replaces Grades Children Advance at Their Own Pace

By LENNY WILLIAMSON
Staff Reporter

"The best school is a log," a wise teacher once told his startled high school class.

"With a teacher sitting at one end and his pupil at the other," he added. "That's how Socrates operated in the golden days of Greece."

That's close to the way the continuous progress plan of education will operate too, when it is fully implemented across Ontario.

In essence, the continuous progress plan does away with grades by grouping children according to their age and then allowing them to master each step in the learning process quickly, slowly, or at the average rate.

"If a teacher were tutoring one child only, progress would go on at the child's pace, with no failures," Barrie superintendent, A. G. McKay, re, minded teachers from the area as he outlined how continuous progress works in his schools.

Keys to its success are small group instruction, individual help, and the old Socratic method of prodding pupils to discover answers for themselves.

Because the province lacks enough teachers to pair one with each of the nearly two million pupils enrolled in Ontario schools this year, teaching aids, from number cards to complicated language machines, fill the gap.

Continuous progress monopolizes teachers' thoughts these days. Some welcome it, some fear it, and a few refuse to be ruffled by it.

"That's only what good teachers have always done," snorted a middle-aged, nonsoneense, teacher - observer as she watched the method demonstrated at a recent, convention.

"True," commented Belleville assistant elementary school superintendent J. M. Cousins when told of the remark, "I was doing this in the classroom 25 years ago."

But, he added, continuous progress and the open school plan bolster inexperienced teachers as they master their art.

"We will lose teachers when open schools become general," a principal warned. "Many of the finest teachers won't be able to stand the distraction of large open areas with several groups of children left to their own devices and two or more other teachers conducting classes at the same time."

"You may try it and abandon it," predicted Mrs. D. E. Banting, principal of an open-plan school in Barrie. "I gave it up, but I went back, and now I'm converted," she told area teachers at a convention. "There's still a place for traditional teaching."

"But where will you find three women who will get along together in the same classroom?" puzzled a trustee as he looked over an open school blueprint.

At the centre of the educational ferment is the school child. How do pupils feel about it?

"Our teacher doesn't tell us anything," one confided to her parents after a few weeks of learning by the new method.

"He makes us find it all out for ourselves, and is it ever a ball!

Socrates had something.

Teachers Back to School To Learn New Method

Classroom teachers are gaining new importance in the Ontario educational system.

That's the encouraging message 190 teachers from Sidney, Thurlow, Frankford, Batawa, Ameliasburg and Murray township heard as they went back to school for a day last Monday.

The assurance came from A. G. McKay, superintendent of Barrie public schools, and Mrs. Dorothy E. Banting principal of Allandale Heights Public School in Barrie. They came to the teachers' convention to outline how continuous progress and open plan schools work in their community.

"Teachers are the most vital factor in the success of the continuous progress plan," Mr. McKay said. "The role of the teacher is to provide motivation, to assure each child the right to achieve success at the rate of which he is capable.

"Under the old graded system we had five R's in Ontario education — reading, writing, rithmetic, religion and regimentation, with children passing or failing a year of their lives."

Mrs. Banting, introduced by area superintendent R. A. Dunsmore as principal of the most famous open-plan school in Ontario, explained how she conducts her school.

Allandale Heights has three learning "pods", equivalent in area to three classrooms. Each "pod" is divided into three learning areas, is staffed by three teachers, and holds 90 pupils.

"Although a standard school can be adapted to the continuous progress plan, 'pod' construction provides flexible classroom space more in keeping with a flexible schedule," Mrs. Banting explained.

She suggested the program should be started in a standard school, then moved into an open-plan building.

After inspired teaching, equipment is the second vital factor for the proper functioning of continuous progress.

"We use fewer blackboards and many more bulletin boards," she told the teachers. "With pupils now encouraged to discover answers for themselves, a book shortage is a constant problem. The children are trained to use projectors, typewriters, math and language machines and science equipment themselves."

Wall-to-wall carpeting is essential to reduce the hum of children's voice as they work by themselves in small groups.

"The noise level is the most difficult thing for the traditionally-minded teacher to adjust to," Mrs. Banting admitted.

Stressing respect for the rights of others is the method she uses to overcome the noise problem.

"The children discipline one another," she said, "each is in competition with himself, not with anyone else in the room, and none will stand for interference with his studies."

The three teachers in each "pod" pool their knowledge and resources on a co-operative teaching basis.

"Team teaching, with its emphasis on one teacher as leader of a classroom, doesn't belong in elementary schools," Mrs. Banting claimed.

Nor is traditional testing eliminated. Teachers constantly evaluate each pupil's progress, and only when he has mastered one lesson is he allowed to move on to the next.

Mrs. Banting offered proof of the continuous progress plan's success.

"All our pupils are of average ability," she told her audience. "None are in the bright category, but when I tested grade six after a few months under the new system, I found several spelling at the grade 11 level."

Community Enters Classroom

Discovery Approach Essential

The new discovery approach to teaching has sent school children into the community to observe factories, stores and community agencies.

Soon the traffic at the school door may become two-way, as people from the community enter the classroom to assist with formal teaching.

The suggestion, made in the Hall-Dennis report on Ontario education, may be implemented sooner than expected as continuous progress programs go into effect in local schools.

Crux of the matter is the increased need for teaching aids and equipment. Teachers now involved in continuous program plans across the province have emphasized the amount of after-hours time they spend in cutting, gluing, mixing paint and preparing the equipment they need for each day's lessons.

The solution, suggested by superintendents with the Ontario department of education is school aids. Either as volunteers or as paid auxiliary personnel, they would take over minor bookkeeping duties and assist the teachers in preparing lesson material.

As the Hall-Dennis report says, many hospitals could not operate without the service of volunteers. Why not utilize volunteers in a similar way in the schools?

Now being explored is the formation of primary clubs, organized in the same way as school drama or art clubs, but with a membership of senior elementary and high school students with a keen interest in children.

They would work part-time with primary department teachers, doing much the same work as the school aids, and at the same time gaining experience in child care and psychology.

Primary clubs, the Hall-Dennis report implies, would eventually feed a steady stream of dedicated recruits into the teaching profession.

A third category of "outsiders", now starting to make their way to the schools, are "community help us." They are people with special knowledge and interests who can enrich pupils' learning experience.

Would you believe — a merchant seaman teaching a geography lesson in the form of an account of his travels? Or an antique collector taking over part of a history period? Or a carpenter teaching arithmetic and geometry to young pupils as he plies his trade?

The role of the community helper is already being defined in city schools. A case in point is city businessman Nick Mika, who now teaches an extra-curricular class in Russian at Moira Secondary School.

New System Demonstrated To School Board Members

A display of grade one teaching materials — among them a set of over-sized dice — at Monday night's meeting of Belleville Public School Board brought a reaction from trustee Gerald Brennan.

"I learned that game in the army, and now they're starting in grade one," he exclaimed.

But by the time Mrs. Marian Wardell, a primary teacher at Prince of Wales School, had finished her description of a day in the school life of her six-year-old pupils, the board paid her an unexpected compliment. Members burst into applause.

It was her artistry the trustees applauded, in guiding and inspiring her primary A class (that was grade 1 back in the little red schoolhouse) in the mastery of reading, writing and arithmetic.

Mrs. Wardell was brought to the meeting by assistant superintendent J. M. Cousins and primary supervisor Miss Phyllis Beattie to demonstrate the practical classroom application of the continuous progress plan in education.

Under the continuous progress plan children are grouped in classrooms according to age and each is allowed to progress at his individual rate.

"Twelve years ago we decided the lock-step method of education was not good enough, and the unit system was introduced," said Mr. Cousins. "We regard the continuous progress plan as an extension of the unit system."

"Before, the teacher explained 'what' and 'how', he continued. "Now she stresses 'why' cousels, guides and insures her pupils, but lets them do more for themselves."

"For years we were boxed into a graded system," was the way Miss Beattie put it. "Now, the lid is off. Pupils must be introduced to living and must be taught to think for themselves."

As Mrs. Wardell explained, the old symmetrical rows of desks are gone. Children are grouped around tables, three or four groups to a room, according to abilities. Following class and group instruction from the teacher, the pupils are assigned seat work to ensure good work habits.

As they finish their assignments the children are allowed to move at their own initiative to an activity centre for "play". The games provided, including the dice and bingo, are selected to re-enforce the knowledge they have already gained from instruction.

At the number centres, for instance, as the children play with the material provided they are independently and cheerfully drilling themselves in arithmetic tables.

A treasure box is one of the keys to reading, spelling and writing. In it each child hoards his treasure words, also each day whispered to the teacher, written by her on a slip of paper and kept secret by the child.

It's the word that holds the most interest for the child that day, and a quick survey of Mrs. Wardell's six-year-olds disclosed a preoccupation with animals. Lion, elephant, rabbit, turtle were favorite treasures, along with nouns like gold and chalk.

Social studies, science and health are introduced through excursions to community facilities such as fire halls, police stations, even car-wash operations.

"Permission discipline is very important," Mr. Cousins said. "Rigidity is disappearing as children learn to control themselves."

"But do they learn as quickly and as thoroughly as they did under the old system?" asked board chairman MacdoSald Smith.

Faster, and just as well, he was assured.

U.S. Clinches Team Honors; Canada Stands 20th

MEXICO CITY (CP) — The United States has clinched the unofficial team championship of the 1968 Olympic Games, surpassing its performance of four years ago when Russia emerged a close winner over the Americans.

Domination of the track and field and swimming and diving competitions led to 33 of the 37 gold medals won by the U.S. so far. And the Games still have three days to go, with 32 gold remaining to be awarded out of a total of 172.

Over-all, American athletes have taken 88 medals, two shy of the 1964 production. But they have one more gold than in Tokyo.

Runner-up Russia, with 16 gold among its total of 53 medals, has no hope of overtaking the U.S. despite a coup in gymnastics.

The Russians are far off their showing in Tokyo when they won 30 gold and had a total of 96 medals.

In the unofficial team point standing, the Americans have been widening their lead each day and now have a total of 705 points to Russia's 418. Points are awarded on the traditional 10-5-4-3-2-1 system of scoring for the first six placings in each final.

In 1964, Russia won the team title with 695 1-3 points. The U.S. was second with 695 1-3. However, there were nine fewer gold medals in Tokyo, where 163 were awarded.

The Canadian team has 36 points and two silver medals in swimming won by Elaine Tanner of Vancouver and Winnipeg Ralph Hutton of Ocean Falls, B.C. The team is 20th in the point standing.

Four years ago, Canada won one gold, two silver and one bronze and finished with 40 points, placing the country 28th of 55 in the standing.

The Canadian team placed two swimmers in finals Thursday night, and earned four points.

Hutton was fourth in the men's 200-metre backstroke and Angela Coughlan of Burlington, Ont., who has a world record in the 1,650-yard freestyle pending, was sixth in the women's 800 metres.

Debbie Meyer, 16, from Sacramento, Calif., became the first woman swimmer in Olympic history to win three individual gold medals when she stroked to a runaway victory in the 800.

NEW YORK (AP) — Each Detroit Tiger will pocket $10,936.66 for winning the World Series and each of the losing St. Louis Cardinals will receive $7,078.71 from the player pool.

The shares of the two Series teams and the others among the first five finishers in each major league were announced Thursday by Charles Segar, secretary-treasurer of baseball at the commissioner's office.

Both the Tigers and Cardinals voted 32 full shares. Detroit handed out two half shares and six $200 cash awards. St. Louis cut the pot 42 ways with one half share, five one-quarter shares and four cash awards.

The shares were far below the records of $12,794 for a winner by Los Angeles Dodgers in 1963 and the top losing cut of $8,-189.36 for the Dodgers in 1966.

However, both of the 1968 contestants topped the 1967 figures when the winning Cards got $8,374.81 and the losing Boston Red Sox got $5,115.22.

All were far short of the $22,-950.96 split of the Green Bay Packers got for winning the pro football title and the Super Bowl.

Blues Lose Sweaters But Save Face

By SCOTT BUTTON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

If coach Scotty Bowman of St. Louis Blues is superstitious, he might insist that his team's dressing room be robbed before each National Hockey League game.

Young intruders broke into the Blues dressing room Thursday evening and escaped with three uniform jerseys.

The Blues posted a 2-1 victory against Boston Bruins a few hours later and superstitious coaches might connect the two incidents.

In the only other NHL game Thursday, Philadelphia Flyers and Minnesota North Stars played to a 3-3 tie.

The Blues' victory boosted them into first place in the Western Division, one point ahead of Minnesota and Oakland Seals.

The victory was only the third this season for an expansion team in 18 games against established teams. Two games have finished in ties.

The Bruins, who missed a chance to move into a first-place tie with Chicago Black Hawks in the Eastern Division, took a 1-0 lead in the first period on Bobby Orr's second goal of the season.

McDonald, who has five goals in six games, picked up the winner at 15:39 when he banged Ron Shock's rebound past Boston goaltender Ed Johnston.

The Blues were outshot 29-20, but goalie Glenn Hall was brilliant. He made sprawling glove saves on slap shots from Orr and Derek Sanderson in the third period.

GLENN HALL

The Flyers gained their tie against Minnesota when Earl Heiskala scored from 15 feet out with 3:03 seconds left.

Other Flyer scorers were by Ed Van Impe and Gary Dornhoefer. Replying for Minnesota were Claude Larose, Milan Marcetta and Jean-Paul Parise.

Heiskala scored his goal before a crowd of 4,933 when he stole the puck and passed to team-mate Jim Johnson who quickly returned it. Then Heiskala slammed a shot past North Stars' goalie Fern Rivard.

The North Stars held a 3-1 margin entering the final period, but Dornhoefer pulled the Flyers to within one goal at 6:42.

Fern Rivard, replacing Cesare Maniago in the Minnesota goal, did a standout job until Philadelphia took 14 shots at him during their third-period rally.

The result moved Minnesota into a second-place deadlock with Oakland Seals and allowed Philadelphia to move into a fourth-place tie with Los Angeles Kings in the Western Division.

Roughies Could Get Bye

OTTAWA (CP) — Halfback Don Sutherin, whose field-goal kicking was a big factor in Ottawa Rough Riders' win over Hamilton Tiger-Cats last week, also is threatening a 13-year-old Eastern Football Conference record for the most converts.

Sutherin has booted 39 after-touchdown points so far this year and has two games to break or tie the record of 39 set in 1955 by Bud Korchak of Montreal Alouettes and tied two years later by Edmonton's Joe Mobra.

Given the explosive scoring punch of the Riders this year, Sutherin could get a crack at a new mark in the remaining Ottawa games against Montreal Alouettes here Saturday and Toronto Argonauts a week later.

The Riders, who go into this weekend with a one-point lead over Argos atop the EFC standing, are the highest-scoring club so far this season in Canadian professional football.

They've compiled 366 points in 12 games, 103 more than Argos, their closest rivals in the East and 29 better than Calgary Stampeders in the West. And Calgary has played two games more than Ottawa.

Hopes are high in the capital that Riders have hit their stride and can finish ahead of Toronto and get a bye in the EFC finals.

Saturday they'll have to contend with the passing of Montreal quarterback Carroll Williams. Als are the only eastern team to beat Ottawa this year and they did it on Williams' throwing.

Coach Frank Clair, aware of the Als passing threat, is considering one change in Saturday's lineup from the one that beat Toronto a week ago.

It would bring defensive tackle Ed Joyner off the bench. Until he wrecked up a knee a month ago, Joyner was perhaps the most effective Rider on the pass rush.

Lions Glad to Settle For Win... But in Calgary?

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

British Columbia Lions have not done much to make coach Jim Champion happy during the 1968 Western Football Conference season.

But Champion says he would feel a lot better if the Lions beat the Stampeders in Calgary Saturday night. That would shatter the Alberta club's faint hopes for a first-place finish.

The Lions have lost nine of 13 games so far, including 41-7 and 26-6 decisions against the Stampeders. But Champion insists his team is a lot better than those scores made them look.

Calgary, trailing Saskatchewan Roughriders by three points, needs a victory to keep its first-place hopes alive. A loss would drop the Stampeders into the sudden-death semi-final against Edmonton Eskimos, a club they beat only once in three encounters this season.

The kickoff in Calgary starts a WFC weekend doubleheader Sunday. Winnipeg is in Edmonton for an afternoon contest.

The Eskimos, who still have a chance to overtake Calgary, will tackle the last-place Blue Bombers with the same two-halfback, two-flanker alignment that surprised the Stampeders 14-13 last Sunday.

The Lions' giant-killer aspirations rest in the high-gear rushing of Jim Evenson and the booming field-goal kicking of Ted Gerela, a combination that has led B.C. to success in its last two outings.

Evenson was the first player in 1968 to exceed 1,000 yards rushing and the first Lion to do it since Bob Swift in 1964. Swift now is an offensive guard with Toronto Argonauts in the Eastern Conference.

Like Maggie Muggins used to say, "Who knows what will happen tomorrow!"

The often staid, tradition-bound world of sport has seen a rash of innovations of late, perhaps befitting in an era of moon shots, heart transplants, and Tiny Tim.

Peterborough Peter' OHA Jenny "A" coach Roger Nelson startled the Ontario hockey world last month when a penalty shot was assessed against the Petes in a game with the Ottawa 67's.

Nelson promptly called his goalie over to the bench, and sent out a defenceman, no less, to try and thwart the free shot.

And he did!

Not just once, but twice, after the referee ruled his first save invalid because the crease netminder moved out of the crease before the Ottawa player had carried the puck across the blue line.

Peterborough went on to win the game 3-2, lending special significance to that particular experiment.

A defenceman's mobility may be the answer to the awesome task of trying to stop scores on the 90 per cent-effective penalty shot.

There is one hitch. Once the player awarded the shot gets wise to the defenceman-for-goalie format, he may blast a slapshot as soon as he crosses the blueline, instead of trying to "think" the puck in.

Then defending coaches may have some difficulty finding volunteers for the assignment.

But while hockey coaches were busy finding loopholes in the hockey rule book, Canadian Football League officials were coming up with a novel method of being explicit about theirs.

The roving referee "explained" penalty calls to the fans via a cordless microphone linked to Empire Stadium's public address system.

A couple of problems here.

Firstly what if the official were called on to "explain" another official's penalty call with which he didn't agree? He may possibly not even have seen the alleged infraction.

And wouldn't broadcasting mistakes by an official serve to amplify them? Filmed studies of umpires' decisions in professional baseball have revealed that the men in black are "infallible" about 99 per cent of the time.

One of the best things about sporting events is that they are strictly human in content — mistakes included.

Let's keep the wired wonders for tabulating statistics and keeping track of the time, and leave the games to us people.

Madoc Srs. Win Way to COSSA

TWEED (Special) — A 14-point fourth quarter enabled Madoc High School to defeat Tweed 20-8 Thursday to clinch first place in the Senior Division of Bay of Quinte Class "A" Football League. Madoc remains undefeated with a 5-0 record and will now advance to the C.O.S.S.A. playdowns.

In other senior action, Nicholson Catholic College downed Albert College 7-6; Madoc Juniors defeated Tweed 32-0 and O.S.D. won over Nicholson 44-6.

Madoc opened the scoring in the first period with a 20-yard touchdown pass from Jim Trumble to Don Donaldson after a Madoc recovery of a Tweed fumble. The convert was missed.

In the second quarter, Tweed's Francis Lajoie ran around right end from 20 yards out to tie the score. The convert was missed and at half-time the score was Madoc 6, Tweed 6.

Early in the third quarter Tweed's Murray Spencer tackled Madoc's Keith Fenton in the end zone for a safety touch to give Tweed an 8-6 margin after three quarters.

Madoc came roaring back in the fourth quarter, and at the eight minute mark Trumble passed 35 yards to Don Donaldson for his second touchdown. Donaldson was again Trumble's target for the two-point conversion. Shortly after, Dwaine Figlen intercepted a Tweed pass and Gord Donaldson rambled 41 yards for a touchdown to make the final score 20-8 in favor of Madoc.

Gord Glover led the way for the Madoc Juniors, racking up four majors in the 32-0 Madoc romp over Tweed.

A missed convert gave Nicholson Seniors their 7-6 win over Albert College at the Belleville Fairgrounds. Jim Mathews opened the scoring for Nicholson on a 10-yard sweep with five minutes left in the first half. Brian Coughlin kicked the convert — and the game-winning point — to give Nicholson a 7-0 half-time lead.

Early in the fourth quarter, Neil Matheson scored Albert's touchdown on a two-yard end sweep. The convert was missed, and the 7-6 Nicholson lead was preserved by a stubborn defensive unit.

Meanwhile, O.S.D. Juniors overwhelmed Nicholson by a score of 44-6. For O.S.D., Jim Snyder scored three touchdowns, Wayne Wilson had two, Samir Sabb had a touchdown and a convert, and Jimmy Howtich scored a touchdown.

BCI Boots COSSA Clincher

B.C.I. kickers advanced to the C.O.S.S.A. Soccer Championships Thursday as they booted their way to a 2-1 victory over Albert College Seniors at Albert College.

The C.O.S.S.A. championships will be held at Centennial Secondary School on Nov. 16, with some of the games being played at the Zwick's Island Field.

Thursday's win preserved the Collegian's undefeated record this season. They won five games and tied one in the six game schedule in a Senior Division with teams from Centennial, Albert College, Quinte, Picton, Moira and Trenton.

Shortly afterwards inside left Morris Hayward scored to make it 2-0 for B.C.I. There was no more scoring in the first half.

The Albert College goal was scored by centre forward Lou Colota on a penalty shot near the end of the game.

Volleyball Tourney At Centennial

Cries of "set it up" and "spike" will resound in Centennial Secondary School's gym on Saturday as district teams compete in the Bay of Quinte Boys' Volleyball championships for 1968.

The meet will comprise both Junior and Senior Divisions and will be a round-robin, double-elimination event.

The first three teams in the Senior Division will advance to the C.O.S.S.A. playdowns, which will be held in Napanee in early November. There will be no C.O.S.S.A. Volleyball competition for the Junior Division this year.

The entrants are:

Senior: Cloyne, Trenton, Moira, Quinte and B.C.I.

Lugtenburg Heads Up Quinte Bowlers

Ed Lugtenburg of Belleville was re-elected president of the Bay of Quinte Bowlers Association at a general meeting held this week. Jack Stocker, Campbellford, was elected vice-president and Lloyd White, Belleville was voted in as secretary-treasurer. All terms are for one year.

Madeline James, Belleville, will act as awards chairman and Jim Nicholls, also of Belleville, will chair the Ontario Championships Tournament committee.

The organization now has seven participating bowling establishments and 275 members. The Instruction Clinic, to be M.C'd by Jim McKenzie, is now in rehearsal, and will soon be available to members.

Flyers in Town

OHA Senior "A" scoring leader Corby Adams is just one Barrie Flyer with whom the Belleville Mo-Hawks will have to contend when they meet Barrie at the arena tonight at 9 o'clock.

CORBY ADAMS

With nine points in his club's first three games, Adams appears on the way towards at least matching his 1967-68 output of 39 points, the best Flyer total last winter.

Offensively, the Mo-Hawks will have to locate Barrie goalie Ken Payne's weaknesses. Payne's 2.67 goals-against average is the best in the eight-team senior loop at this early mark in the season.

On the ascent after last weekend's Kingston and Galt wins, the Mo-Hawks are out to hand the Flyers their first defeat. Barrie has won a pair and tied one game for five points, one less than the league-leading Galt Hornets.

A win tonight would give the Mo-Hawks six points, and put them in a strong position for Sunday night's road game against the Orillia Terriers.

Screening Stepped Up

NATO Spycatchers Probe Espionage Ring

BRUSSELS (Reuters) —Spycatchers of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization are trying to unearth a suspected Soviet espionage ring within and on the fringes of the 15-nation organization, informed sources said Thursday.

Members of national delegations and the international secretariat are being discreetly screened following a series of sudden deaths of military and political persons in West Germany, Italy and Belgium.

They are checking on civilian and military personnel at political headquarters outside Brussels and military headquarters at Supreme Headquarters Allied Powers Europe near Mons in southern Belgium.

There is mounting speculation that the effects of the suspected spy network on NATO defences will be a major topic when NATO foreign and defence ministers meet here Nov. 14-16.

The hunt took on new urgency when a top-ranking Turkish official, Nahit Imre, was caught photocopying secret documents inside the closely-guarded NATO headquarters here in mid-September.

Five West German officers and civilian government officials mysteriously died during the last two weeks, including Gen. Hors. Wendland, deputy head of the intelligence service, and Rear Admiral Hermann Luedke, a former key SHAPE officer in the logistics department.

Officially their deaths were described as suicides.

In Italy, Gen. Renato Sandalli, former air minister, shot himself Wednesday.

And in Belgium, police are investigating the unexplained death of the Polish-born French wife of an American sergeant employed at SHAPE.

Police said Sgt. Albert Fallon found his wife Irene lying dead in their bedroom when he entered their apartment after midnight one night early this month.

There was a .22-calibre bullet in her head and another in a wall.

Bonn Asked to Explain Luedke Case

BONN (Reuters) — The West German justice ministry called Thursday night for co-ordination of all military and police investigations into cases of treason.

The statement follows sharp criticism from West German deputies and the press about the ministry's investigation of the death of Rear Admiral Hermann Luedke, a former key NATO staff officer suspected of spying.

The federal prosecutor's office complained earlier this week it was not told of the Luedke case until a week after preliminary inquiries by police and military counter-intelligence authorities.

Defence officials confirmed Thursday that photographs of top secret NATO documents developed among family snapshots by a Bonn photographer were traced to the admiral as early as Sept. 24.

But Luedke was not interrogated until Sept. 27 after he received his discharge papers from Defence Minister Gerhard Schroeder with other retiring senior officers.

There was a further delay until Sept. 30 when Bonn police referred the case to the federal prosecutor's office, the authority responsible for making arrests or laying charges.

One deputy has asked whether the Luedke case was linked with four other suicides among government employees.

The latest of these disclosed Thursday was the death through an overdose of sleeping tablets of a woman librarian employed by the federal press office.

It followed the disappearance Monday of defence ministry clerk Gerhard Boehm, who left a suicide note for his family.

Gen. Hort Wendland, deputy head of the federal intelligence service, also shot himself in his office Oct. 8.

This was followed by news of the suicide of a defence ministry logistics officer, Col. Johannes Grimm.

Official investigators say that so far they have found no link between the deaths.

French Hero Goes on Trial

PARIS (Reuters) — The former head of France's civil defence goes on trial today in one of the country's most political and puzzling espionage cases in years.

Maurice Picard, 61, wartime resistance hero and holder of high French and foreign decorations, was arrested and charged in March.

Details of the charges were not revealed. He is formally accused of "having contacts with foreign agents of a nature to harm France's military and diplomatic interests."

Death of A Ship

The 2,700-ton tanker Norman P. Clement disappears beneath the waters of Georgian Bay Wednesday. Death was necessary after damage in explosion last week in which 11 men were injured while in dry dock at Collingwood, Ont., about 90 miles north of Toronto. Ship was valued at $50,000 by owners and they thought it cheaper not to repair the vessel. (CP Wirephoto)

Pearson Portrait Unveiled

OTTAWA (CP) — Lester B. Pearson watched with a benign air as his portrait was unveiled on Parliament Hill Thursday and vowed that he won't go back into politics.

"That is, Canadian politics," he added.

The 71-year-old former prime minister looked on as his successor, Prime Minister Trudeau, unveiled the Hugh Mackenzie portrait in the concourse outside the Commons.

It shows Mr. Pearson in a brown suit and bow tie, lounging back in a chair in his most typical pose.

The former prime minister quickly dubbed it The Sloucher, explaining that it was "sort of half way between the sober and sedate of the past and the swinger of the present."

Mr. Pearson's political archenemy, former prime minister John Diefenbaker, also attended the ceremony, but sat quietly at the end of the row of dignitaries.

Mr. Pearson noted that his portrait was to have been unveiled two weeks ago along with the Diefenbaker portrait that is to hang near it.

He said it was too bad that he and Mr. Diefenbaker weren't able to "hang together."

But he supposed they ought to be grateful that they hadn't yet hanged separately.

The two former prime ministers later chatted amiably as they inspected the portrait.

Canada Could Drain Foreign Brains

TORONTO (CP) — Immigration specialist Freda Hawkins warned Thursday that Canada's non-discriminatory policy in admitting foreigners may contribute to the brain drain from developing areas of the world.

Mrs. Hawkins, a member of the University of Toronto's political economy department, spoke as part of a three-member university panel dealing with the question: "Does Canada exploit the developing countries?"

She answered "no, not yet," but said she discerned "a very disturbing movement of events" resulting from 1967 changes in immigration policy that opened Canada's doors to immigrants on a non-discriminatory basis.

The new policy was morally admirable but its result was a rush of professional and "sub-professional" immigrants from the developing countries to the advantage of Canada and disadvantage of their home countries.

She suggested the three main countries receiving immigrants — Canada, Australia and the United States—should meet to discuss the problem and consider solutions such as bilateral arrangements for loaning trained personnel back to developing countries.

Mrs. Hawkins told the panel, held in connection with the university's weekend teach-in on the population explosion, there is a "slightly worrying" element in recent immigration from the U.S.

"They have an idealistic view of Canada and often seem to be the sort of right-wing people who support a Goldwater or a Wallace," she said.

Mrs. Hawkins described the immigration department as managed by a small group of cabinet ministers and senior officials who feel little pressure from the public and are weak in policy making.

Song and Dance Man

Gomer Does Special for CBS

NEW YORK (AP) — Jim Nabors, who is preparing to graduate from country-style comic to next season's variety show host, appeared in CBS special Thursday night mostly as a song and dance man.

But, just to let the Gomer Pyle show fans know that under the fancy clip clothes there was the same homespun innocent, he occasionally broke out his highpitched voice and called his lady guest stars "ma'am."

He was at the centre of a merry, artfully produced program and worked well with Carol Burnett, Debbie Reynolds, Marty Costa and Vikki Carr.

After a couple of seasons watching Nabors specials, his deep singing voice is no surprise, but there is always some shock when he acquits himself so well in the dance numbers. He worked with the chorus girls with ease and grace.

The non - musical sketches didn't amount to much, but a series of commercial jingles to the music of Wagner, Strauss and other composers of operatic classics was bright and to the point.

In the Nabors show, the cast took off on a remedy for tension — to the music of Rossini — and made hilarious fun of a mouth wash sales pitch—to Strauss music and in Student Prince costumes.

By coincidence, the program that followed on another network also poked a bit of fun at commercials. It was ABC's That 'Girl. Marlo Thomas, still playing a stagestruck girl was hired to do some TV commercials which involved jumping from airplanes, dropping off a cliff and otherwise acting like some of the bemused characters frequently sighted during station breaks.

Johnny Carson, on his NBC show the other night, wandered into some off-the-cuff comment about current commercials, in particular expressing his dislike for the specifics illustrated in some deodorant commercials.

He was aghast, too, at the offer of a mouth wash manufacturer to have viewers send in the name of associates who "offend," as they daintily call it, and let the impersonal company break the bad news.

Children Like to Learn

By SYDNEY J. HARRIS

A few years ago, my old friend, Charles W. Ferguson, the author and editor, brought out the Abecedarian Book, which was an attempt to reproduce children to big words by way of a conventional ABC book.

Instead of the customary "A is for Apple" and "B is for Bear," he used "A is for Antediluvian" and "B is for Biduminiscent," and so forth through the alphabet.

Before you laugh or sneer at this unusual venture, let me try to anticipate your two main objections to such a book — first, that children simply can't master so many words, second, that they can't grasp the meanings of them. Let me remind you that the recent Random House Dictionary has added Mary Poppins' "supercalifragilistice pialodocious which little girl could trip off the tongue without stumbling when she was five years old.

If a small child can easily master a tongue-twister such as that, it seems absurd to keep giving them nothing but Apples and Bears and Cats and Dolls, which are so boring and unmemorable after a while. Children have far greater capacities — both physically and verbally — than we permit or encourage.

The second objection, namely that children couldn't grasp the meaning of such words as "antediluvian" is also a gross fallacy. Any child can be taught that the prefix "ante" means "before," and that "diluvian" pertains to the deluge — he flood that Noah and his ark survived. So that "antediluvian" simply means "way way back in history" or "before the flood and Noah's Ark."

The reason Mr. Ferguson devised this book was to demonstrate that if a child learnt a big word (no harder to learn than a small one), he also learnt about a half dozen other words along with it — and at the same time learnt the structure of language, which is the art of combining different root-words.

In "bioluminiscent" we have "bio" meaning life and "lumin" meaning "light" and the "iscent" ending, meaning "of the nature of." There isn't an intelligent third-grade child (or younger) who couldn't understand and remember this. And not for the sake of using big words, of course, which is a crude and lensible habit in itself — but for the sake of later being able to decipher almost any specialized word that came along.

Children are much brighter than we let them be, and can go far faster than we permit them to. The great lag in our society is in language and communication, but the lag is our fault, not theirs.

Tarring and Feathering Could Be Fatal

By Dr. Joseph G. Molner

Dear Dr. Molner: For a long time I have wondered about what happened when a man was tarred and feathered. Did he die from this, or was it done to humiliate him and to give him a miserable time when removing the tar and feathers? — G. A. P.

I don't believe that anyone considered study of that brutal form of punishment has ever been made least I don't find any. Your curiosity about it piqued mine, however. I agree that little I know or have been able to find out, tarring and feathering went beyond the humiliation of the victim and the misery of removing the tar.

For one thing, body burns can be suffered, depending on the heat of the tar. The degree and extent of the burn can be like any other burn — plus the agony of having the tar on top of it. The skin burns at a lower temperature than is commonly recognized — something like 140 degrees — enough to burn the skin. Boiling water (212 degrees) causes a violent burn, and we all know that. But a cup of coffee can cause a burn, too, and babies and small children have died from that. Not all have lived through it.

I have a remote but still vivid recollection of the incident of tarring and feathering that occurred in my vicinity when I was a boy. The victim was more than humiliated. He died. It is my guess that the burns did it — but who ever studied such a repulsive thing.

Deaths, when they occurred — and for all I know they may have been frequent or unusual — may have been from the burns (the poisons generated by the burned tissues) or from shock or from coating the skin with an impervious material which prevented normal evaporation from the skin.

There have been instances, of which you have probably read, of deaths of showgirls whose bodies were painted all over with gilt paint. That was not tarring and feathering, and I believe that the danger is now well enough recognized so that there is no longer concern.

As far as I know, the brutal humiliation of tarring and feathering has long since vanished from the complicated affairs of mankind. Good! But there has happened to the victims is not yet clear, medically. Possibly we may hear from other readers who know some of the answers that I do not.

• • •

Dear Dr. Molner: I am 55 and my wife is 48 and we are expecting another child a few months. We had been sure that at my wife's age pregnancy was out of the question.

I have been under the impression that, at our ages, there is a grave danger of the child being mentally retarded and I am very much afraid of that. — E. J. H.?

The age of menopause — that is, when the ovaries cease operating — is the basis for consideration. Since this occurs at varying ages, age alone is not an absolute criterion of whether pregnancy is possible.

There is some increase in the risk of having a defective child, either mentally or physically, when the mother approaches menopause age, but that is a far cry from saying that it is a "grave danger." If other children have been normal, the percentages are still very much in favor of having a normal child even at this age.

• • •

Dear Dr. Molner: As a method of birth control, my husband withdraws just before reaching a climax. Is there a chance of getting pregnant this way? — Mrs. L. G.

It's a method so old that it is mentioned in the Bible. Nevertheless, there is some chance of pregnancy. A leak of seminal fluid can occur. A urologist friend of mine goes so far as to say that this practice may contribute to prostate trouble later.

Dr. Molner is interested in all his readers' questions, and whenever possible uses their questions in his column, but because of the great number received daily, he regrets that he cannot answer individual letters.

Opposition Still Fighting Mad Over Increased Postal Rates

OTTAWA (CP) — The government has yielded slightly under attack on its plan to raise postal rates but the opposition is still fighting mad.

The Commons today was to resume debate on the post office bill—for the fifth straight day—after progress towards its passage bogged down in angry argument.

Postmaster-General Eric Kierans won approval in principle on second reading of his bill Thursday on the strength of the Liberal vote alone—138 to 76—then promised to soften the impact of higher postal charges for newspapers by staging the increases over a year.

With opposition charges of "blackmail" against the government and retorts of "filibuster," both sides of the House seemed in stubborn mood when Thursday's sitting—extended by one hour—broke up at 11 p.m. EDT.

The Kierans bill would raise the rate for first-class mail to six cents from four for local delivery—a category abolished—and five for our-of-town letters. The letter rates would go up Nov. 1.

Rates for books, magazines and newspapers—prime source of contention during debate—would climb by various amounts up to 300 per cent.

The higher charges for publications were due next April 1, but Mr. Kierans told the House the bill would be amended to stretch the increases over another year.

"This will apply particularly to the rates in respect of newspapers, mainly weeklies," he said, because members maintained they were in "a particularly perilous situation financially."

However, Mr. Kierans insisted the full amount must be imposed.

Newspapers paid only nine per cent of the cost of carrying them at present and the new rates would raise the share to only 13.5 per cent.

The postmaster-general cited examples he said indicated newspapers generally were able to bear the charges.

He said one weekly allocated all its subscription fee of $7 for five years to salesmen and subscription agencies.

The post office subsidized the Free Press Weekly by $1,510,000 last year alone, Mr. Kierans said.

"If the people of Canada are going to give a subsidy to the Free Press Weekly, I think the people of Canada should know it," he said.

Under questioning from George Hees (PC—Prince Edward-Hastings), Mr. Kierans defended the distinction in the rate of increased charges between newspapers and magazines, which face smaller extra charges.

"The competitive position of Canadian magazines is nowhere near as strong as the virtual monopoly position of most daily newspapers in this country."

To David Orlikow (NDP—Winnipeg North), who questioned why Time magazine and Reader's Digest got off more lightly than Canadian newspapers, Mr. Kierans said it would be wrong to take just two magazines and class them as newspapers.

Opposition members, angry because the government insists the postal bill complete all stages before members can discuss aid to Prairie farmers, took offence at government criticism.

Mr. Kierans said the opposition was being used by outside opponents of the bill to delay it. Government House Leader Donald S. Macdonald piled on the pressure when he told the Opposition it could discuss farm aid only after ending its "filibuster."

In an uproar while the Speaker was trying to close the sitting, Eldon Woolliams (PC—Calgary North) referred to Mr. Macdonald as "Mr. Goebbels." Nazi Germany's wartime propaganda boss.

Earlier, Wallace Nesbitt (PC—Oxford) accused the government of "blackmail" and "strong-arm tactics" in forcing the House either to let the postal measures pass without further questions, or postpone debate of help for Prairie farmers hurt by wet harvest weather and slack wheat markets.

In a quieter moment, State Secretary Gerard Pelletier told the House legislation will be introduced as early as possible this session to establish a federal educational broadcasting agency.

Senators meantime were debating the very issue the Commons was itching to get at if only the postal bill could be surmounted—farm aid.

Jeane Dixon's Horoscope

For Oct. 26th,

Your birthday today: In the coming year you will not be confronted with any particular personal problem. You will have full opportunity to demonstrate organizational skills. The prevention of accidents can be achieved only by constant common sense. Today's natives tend to be social planners.

ARIES (Mar. 21 — Apr. 19): You will be lucky indeed if you can put together even the slightest material gain from this weekend's discussions. Legal matters are especially difficult; check everything before you s'gn it. Family talks to be less.

AURUS (Apr. 20 — May 20): All new information today is to be taken only with a grain (or two) of salt. Nothing is quite what it is said to be. Talk distracts rather than helps.

GEMINI (May 21 — June 20): Your feelings can get confused on a day like this when you are able to see both sides of so many questions concerning the people you care about. Likewise decisions on correspondence and buying are difficult.

CANCER (June 21—July 22): Differences of opinion escalate if you fail to use all the tact you can manage. You have to expect people to be critical today, so either avoid them or absorb their comments.

LEO (July 23 — Aug. 22): Check details and outside information. As a diversion, find time to get in some physical exercise in order to give your psychic nature a break.

VIRGO (Aug. 23 — Sept. 22): Before the day is out, you are apt to see lots of details. Conserve your strength. Stay with minimal activities today and tonight.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 — Oct. 22): It's really a somewhat uneasy weekend. It will help you to know that most of what is talked about, particularly family issues, will never come to pass.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23—Nov. 21): Agreements of any kind are hindered by too much discussion. (There is something unspoken operating, along with other factors.)

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 — Dec. 21): Your friends are the first ones to mix things up with incomplete tales. Your mail is likewise short of the full story. The narrow, thrifty course is the only one to follow now.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 — Jan. 19): Travel and legal contracts are mostly unsuccessful today. Expect some baseless criticism and don't dignify it with answers.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20 — Feb. 18): Correct decisions are harder to come by now and perhaps should be postponed altogether. Travel, even for a short distance encounters obstacles. The fewer people involved today, the more success.

PISCES (Feb. 19 — Mar. 20): People are in disagreement. There is nothing much you can do but try to understand. Let others talk; if they overdo it and you do not reply, they will later make amends unbidden.

Defence Overspends by $65 Million

Instead of being near the 1967-68 amount of $1,688,000,000 appropriated by Parliament, defence spending soared to $1,753,482,000.

So hard pressed was the defence department for money, it had to dip into the government unemployment fund for $3,257,000. It had to go back to Parliament for $59,269,000 more and it picked up the remaining $3,260,000 through additional revenue from sales of meals and rentals of married quarters to servicemen.

The increased expenditure over estimated figures was caused entirely by higher maintenance and operating costs, chiefly pay and allowances for the 10,000 members of the armed forces.

To help make up for soaring maintenance costs, expenditures on weapons and equipment were cut by $16,268,000 to $261,121,000.

One of the stated objectives of armed forces unification was to save on maintenance costs and channel the expected savings into new weapons and equipment.

The target was a defence budget with 20 to 25 per cent of it devoted to new weapons and equipment. This proportion in 1967-68 was about 15 per cent and officials say it will probably be even lower in the current fiscal year.

Finance Minister Edgar Benson Tuesday night estimated defence expenditures in the fiscal year ending March 31, 1969, at $1,746,000,000 or $32,000,000 more than the original estimate last spring.

The figure of $1,746,000,000 is just $8,000,000 less than last year and $13,000,000 less than the peacetime record established in 1956-57.

Defence expenditures in 1964-65, when armed forces unification began, were $1,536,000,000. They have been rising steadily since.

Officials say inflation hits the defence department just like everybody else and that without unification maintenance costs would have been even higher.

Cabinet Ministers to Tour Eight Latin American Countries

OTTAWA (CP) — Five cabinet ministers, headed by External Affairs Minister Mitchell Sharp, will participate in a month-long tour of eight Latin and Central American countries to promote closer relations with Canada, Prime Minister Trudeau announced in the Commons Thursday.

The mission, leaving here Sunday and returning Nov. 27, will visit Columbia, Peru, Chile, Argentina, Brazil, Mexico, Guatemala and Costa Rica.

In addition to Mr. Sharp, ministers participating will be Trade Minister Jean-Luc Pepin, Energy Minister J. J. Greene, State Secretary Gerard Pelletier, and Otto Lang, minister without portfolio.

Mr. Trudeau said two of the ministers would visit most of the countries, indicating the five would serve on a rotation basis.

Mr. Trudeau said the purpose of the mission is to explore and reinforce Canadian relations with the Latin and Central American countries in political, cultural, economic and commercial affairs. Arrangements are being made for direct talks with government and other leaders in the countries being visited.

He called it "a voyage of exploration," to make Canada better known in Latin America and to make Latin America better known to Canadians. It was part of a general review of Latin American affairs the government has undertaken.

B and B Report

Trudeau Is Distressed By Commission Leaks

OTTAWA (CP) —Prime Minister Trudeau told the Commons Thursday he has asked Solicitor-General George McIlraith to investigate whether theft is involved in the publication by a Montreal newspaper of contents of a yet-unreleased report of the royal commission on bilingualism and biculturalism.

Mr. Trudeau said he is "distressed" by the reports in La Presse which are said to be excerpts from the commission's third report.

The prime minister said he has yet to receive the report.

Conversational French Studied by Thousands

TORONTO (CP) — The study of conversational French has become the "in-thing" with thousands of Toronto adults.

Adult education and language school officials say the boom has become particularly noticable since the last federal election, making it appear that Prime Minister Trudeau's message to become bilingual has sunk in.

In several adult education centres enrolment has increased by more than 100 per cent since 1967 and some centres have trouble finding enough qualified teachers.

Says Terry Hanes, adult education administrator in suburban Etobicoke:

He says last year 422 adults enrollment in French classes. This year, the figure has jumped to 855.

In Toronto, enrolment stands at 850 despite a $10 fee which was introduced this year.

"They have to pay now and they're still coming," says John McGivney, adult education superintendent.

Edith Kon, a language teacher, says before Trudeau became prime minister, adults who studied French were usually businessmen who needed some working knowledge of the language.

"But now they're learning for themselves and they often say that Canada is bilingual and they want to do something toward a better understanding."

Radio station CJBC, CBC's French outlet in Toronto, started a 10-week language series Oct. 14 and printed 15,000 copies of instruction books to be used in conjunction with the course, but all copies were gone even before the course started.

Dr. H. H. Stern of the Ontario Institute for Studies in Education, says it is best to start to learn a language while young, but "there's no good reason why adults aren't perfectly capable of starting and succeeding."

Letters Use 'Gutter Language'

Cardinal Cushing Will Resign Over Position on Marriage

BOSTON (AP) — Richard Cardinal Cushing said Friday he will resign as archbishop of Boston at the end of the year, citing publicity he received after his defence of Jacqueline Kennedy's marriage to Aristotle Onassis.

Cardinal Cushing, obviously angered, said he had received "many letters condemning me for asking charity for Jacqueline Kennedy." He said some were "in the language of the gutter."

On Tuesday the Cardinal urged a more tolerant attitude toward the remarriage, adding it was nonsense to say the former firs. lady was excommunicated from the Roman Catholic Church because she married a divorced man.

"Now I propose after the publicity I have received in recent days . . . to offer my resignation to His Holiness, Pope Paul VI, at the end of this year," he said Friday on a radio station address.

Reuters news agency quoted sources in Vatican City as saying that if Cushing does submit his resignation, the Pope normally would accept it.

The cardinal, a friend of the Kennedy family for years, said in early 1967 he would retire in August, 1970, on his 75th birthday, when he would have completed 50 years as a priest.

The cardinal, who officiated at the marriage of John F. Kennedy to Jacqueline Bouvier, said he had promised Kennedy he would look out for Jacqueline and their children if anything happened to the late president.

"He seemed to foresee that something was going to happen to him," the prelate said.

"I have fulfilled it even though my contacts with Jacqueline were for the most part in times of sorrow," he said.

"Time advanced. She wanted to get married. She selected her own partner in marriage some months ago. She came to me after others had advised her against her marriage.

"Her mind and heart were set upon Mr. Onassis. I could not, nor would I presume to change her thinking."

Cardinal Cushing said he never told Jacqueline Kennedy or anyone else that she could marry in the Catholic Church.

"I said she could marry anyone she wished and that's what the press picked up," he said.

"I presume that whoever reported my remarks would know that I meant she could marry anyone she wished, but not within the Catholic Church."

"Once again I appeal for Jacqueline, for her children whom President Kennedy committed to me, for a little more charity on the part of those who are condemning Jacqueline," he said.

Mrs. Kenedy married Onassis on Sunday in a Greek Orthodox ceremony on the Onassis-owned island of Skopios.

Biafran Issue

PM Under Pressure

OTTAWA (CP) — Prime Minister Trudeau came under more pressure on the Biafra question Friday, both inside and outside Parliament and on a visit to Halifax late in the day.

In the Commons, the prime minister defended his government's policy for more than an hour, repeating that Canada wants to help starving people of the rebel province without infringing Nigeria's sovereignty.

Outside Parliament, at the end of a three-day fast by Biafra protesters, NDP Parliamentary Leader David Lewis accused the government of "callous heartlessness" in wanting to dot every "I" and cross ever "" while thousands were dying.

And in Halifax, where he attended a Liberal Association meeting, the prime minister was greeted by demonstrators calling the Canadian foreign policy "gutless."

"Bread not beer for Biafra." said one sign.

In the Commons, Mr. Trudeau said he and External Affairs Minister Sharp are considering direct representations to the Nigerian government to help the Red Cross get clearance for Canada's Hercules relief planes into Biafra.

The three big Hercules aircraft, loaned to the Red Cross, have been stalled in Lagos, Nigeria, Ascension Island and Recife, Brazil. The plane in Lagos has been idle 13 days.

The prime minister and Mr. Sharp met privately after the Commons session but no information on their discussion was disclosed.

Mr. Trudeau also told the Commons the Red Cross is negotiating with Nigerian officials for permission to inspect relief supplies which the aircraft would fly into Biafra from the island of Sao Tome for church organizations.

Canada will be willing to let the planes fly for the church organizations if Nigerian permission can be obtained, he said.

But rightly or wrongly, the Canadian government wanted to do nothing that would infringe Nigerian sovereignty.

He sent a telegram directly to Nigeria's head of state, Gen. Yakubu Gowon, urging him to give clearance to the planes for humanitarian reasons.

In the Commons, Mr. Diefenbaker said the Nigerian civil war touched the hearts and minds of people everywhere. It is within Canada's power to do something about it, "but we stultify ourselves with the rules," he said.

...Demonstrations Are Politics of Future

HALIFAX (CP) — The politics of confrontation were given a thorough workout here Friday night as Prime Minister Trudeau met young demonstrators nose-to-nose on a rainswept street.

Liberals paying $25 a plate to hear Mr. Trudeau speak at a dinner later were told by him that such confrontations are the politics of the future.

About 400 Nova Scotians, attending the annual meeting of the province's Liberal Association, put $10,000 into the party coffers to shake his hand and listen to him

The prime minister told them patronage has no place in the just society. "The temper of the time," demanded something more between elections than dispensation by the government of jobs and contracts to party friends.

Liberals had to be prepared to answer youth. The party had to show it was not only a vehicle for change "but a vehicle for potential revolts."

The young people in the streets had only their placards to present their viewpoints. If they didn't get "answers, even answers they didn't like, they would go away sure that they were right.

The government couldn't reply to protest through press, radio and television alone. If the news media became a substitute for contact between politicians and the people, parliamentary democracy would degenerate and mob rule would begin.

Halifax was fogged in when Mr. Trudeau's plane arrived from Ottawa and it made an instrument landing on the second pass at an all-but invisible field.

About 40 students from St. Patrick's High School, led by an English teacher who worked in Nigeria two years ago, met him at his hotel. The teacher was Burris Devanney, 29, a New Democratic Party candidate in the last election.

Hatless and wearing a brown leather coat, Mr. Trudeau stood on the wet sidewalk for 15 minutes answering their questions about government policy on Nigeria.

The protesters carried placards comparing the Biafran situation to the slaughter of Jews during the Second World War.

"You're probably the same people who are telling the United States to get out of Vietnam and leave the Asiatics to settle the war," Mr. Trudeau said.

Russians Launch New Space Ship

MOSCOW (Reuters) — The Soviet Union today launched a manned space ship into orbit around the earth.

Tass news agency reported that the spaceship Soyuz 3 was piloted by Col. Georgy Beregovoi and said a reliable two-way radio link with the ship was established.

It said all systems on the craft were functioning normally and Beregovoi reported he felt well.

It was the first manned Soviet space flight since April 23, 1967, when Col. Vladimir Komarov went into earth orbit.

Komarov, 40, was killed at the end of his 25-hour flight when parachutes on his spacecraft failed to open on return to earth.

Rumors began sweeping Moscow early today that Soviet scientists prepared a new space probe to mark the 50th anniversary of Komsomol young Communist league, which is being celebrated this weekend.

The last successful Soviet manned effort was Alexei Leonov's historic walk in space in March 1965.

There had been indications that the Soviets would concentrate on unmanned experiments and astronauts travelling abroad had not spoken of plans to send a man in orbit.

There was no mention in the initial announcement today of Soyuz 2, leading some observers to speculate that another Soyuz might have been launched or be about to be launched to link up with Soyuz 3.

Tass said the ship was launched at 11:34 a.m. Moscow time (4:34 a.m. EDT) atop a powerful booster rocket.

Beregovoi was described as a merited test pilot and a hero of the Soviet Union.

Johnson Presses Ahead on Secret Negotiations with Vietnam

WASHINGTON (AP) — Despite an angry denial from Hanoi of any bombing-halt deal, President Johnson was reported today to be pressing ahead with secret negotiations for an agreement with North Vietnam to de-escalate the war.

While the Hanoi blast could be read as a rejection of Johnson's still-secret proposals, authorities chose to interpret it as a propaganda attack which did not necessarily reflect the final decision of North Vietnamese leaders.

As reported from Hong Kong, it said:

"Statements by U.S. propagandists that Hanoi has accepted U.S. conditions in return for a bombing halt are nothing but deliberate lies.

"These deliberate falsehoods . . . are nothing but an attempt at psychological warfare aimed at spreading confusion and misleading public opinion."

Washington authorities took the position that there was still at least an even chance, probably better, for reaching some understanding on scaling down the war and advancing the Paris peace talks which would enable Johnson to end the bombing in the near future.

President Johnson said Thursday there had been no breakthrough and that the United States was working for peace.

A dispatch from Hanoi by Australian writer Wilfred Burchett, interpreted Johnson's statement on "no breakthrough" as "killing rumors of a bombing halt." Burchett said that the president's declaration caused no surprise in Hanoi.

He also said that "the general (Hanoi) opinion seems to be that if a bombing halt does not come now or before the switchover of presidents, it is bound to come some time in the future."

"Because of its costliness to the United States and the futility of the bombing, it (a bombing halt) is imperative for whoever takes over the White House."

Johnson's principal conditions for a bombing halt have been reported to be that North Vietnam agree to scale down its military activities or at least to freeze the present lull in the fighting, and agree to start a second phase of the Paris peace talks in which the South Vietnamese government would participate.

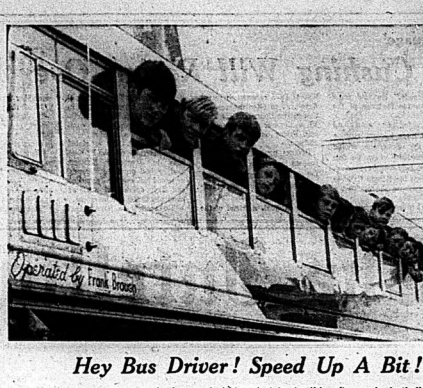
Poor Lighting, Dark Clothing Contributing Factors in Death

Poor street lighting and a dark clothing were ruled by a coroner's jury Wednesday night as contributing factors in the Sept. 13 death of 30-year-old Francis C. Ostrom of Trenton.

Mr. Ostrom was killed instantly when struck by a car driven by off-duty provincial police officer Gary Phillips of Belleville.

The mishap occurred on Sidney St., near the intersection with Kidd Ave. in Trenton.

In its verdict the jury said that Ostrom was unable to react to the danger prior to impact due to his condition.



Dr. A. M. LaFarga, pathologist at Trenton Memorial Hospital had earlier testified that a post-mortem showed the victim's blood contained a "high concentration of alcohol."

"It seems he was definitely intoxicated with judgment impaired," said Dr. LaFarga.

A recommendation that the street lighting in this particular area be re-arranged to give a maximum of light on the street was made by the five-man jury.

"It is the opinion of the jury that the lighting in this area is inadequate and the CNR subway in the arterial route is both narrow and restrictive — essentially causing a serious hazard in both pedestrian and vehicular traffic in this area," the verdict said.

The inquest was presided over by Coroner Dr. J. V. Byrne and John Pringle was the Crown Attorney.

Mr. Gilmour was in the hardware business in Tamworth and was a member of Bridge St. United Church in Belleville. In Tamworth he was a member of the Loyal Lodge AF and AM No. 404.

The funeral will be held Monday from the chapel of the John R. Bush Funeral Home to Belleville Cemetery for interment. Rev. Dr. Harry M. Davis will officiate.

GORDON W. COONEY

Following a brief illness, Gordon W. Cooney, 47 Yeomans Street, died in Hospital on Friday.

Mr. Cooney was born in Frankford, 55 years ago, a son of Mrs. Lila Cooney and the late Ray Cooney and had resided in the city for 30 years. He was employed with Stephens-Adamson for 28 years years and was a valued member of the staff.

He was an ardent member of the Trenton Legion and spent many weekends with his family visiting places of interest with other members of the group.

Mr. Cooney was a member of St. Michael's Church and was also identified with St. Michael's Credit Union.

Surviving are his mother, his wife, the former Marie Scott, one son William Cooney, a member of the Intelligencer staff, and two daughters, Mrs. Francis (Fay) Dolan, Belleville and Mrs. Kenneth (Rose Marie) Alexander of Belleville, and three grandchildren.

Also surviving are five brothers, Earl, Max, Howard and Keith Cooney of Belleville, Lee Cooney, Halifax and two sisters, Mrs. Allan (Cora) Browning, Point Anne, and Mrs. George (Doris) Gill, Belleville. One brother Stewart Cooney predeceased.

Mr. Cooney is resting at the O'Brien Funeral Residence, West Main Street. Requiem Mass will be celebrated in St. Michael's Church on Monday, October 28 at 10.00 a.m.

Interment will be in St. James' Cemetery.

MRS. JUNE ROSE CHARD

TRENTON — The funeral for Mrs. June Rose Chard was held Thursday from the chapel of the Rushnell Funeral Home to Trenton Memorial Cemetery for interment.

Rev. James Payton officiated and the bearers were Robert Jackson, Lewis MacLeod, William Smith, John Walle, Joseph Storey and William Lane.

Mrs. Chard of 36 Leopold St. in Trenton passed away in Trenton Memorial Hospital on Tuesday, Oct. 22 in her 46th year.

She was the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Francis Bradley and was born in Tweed.

Her husband, Earl Chard survives her along with their children, Mrs. John (Linda) Waltey of Hilton, Mrs. William (Mildred) Reynolds, Mrs. Lewis (Donna) MacLeod of Trenton, and Sandra, Ricky and Frederick at home.

Other surviving relatives are: Mrs. Michael Smith, Mrs. Merritt Medcalf, Mrs. Robert Lumsden, Mrs. Florence MacDonald, John Bradley, Mrs. John Reynolds, Mrs. Clarence Kilpatrick and Albert Bradley.

Mrs. Chard was a housewife and a member of the United Church of Canada.

G. Boyce Named Director

Gerald Boyce, vice-principal of Centennial Secondary School, has been made a director of the Quinte Association, a co-ordinating body for historical societies, museums, conservation groups and community service bodies.

Mr. Boyce represents the Hastings County Historical Society.

Judge Gerald F. Smith, Napanee, was named chairman of the association at a meeting in Napanee this week.

Retired Queen's professor A. R. Lower, chairman of the association until the appointment of Judge Smith, said the group's activities have covered an education, mainly of a historical and conservation nature.

The provincial parks system is one of the Quinte Association's interests and Dr. Lower urged the group to continue his efforts to have the government provide more parks.

The association should be a connecting link between organizations in Quinte, in parks, historical sites, conservation areas and recreational sites in the four counties of Hastings, Prince Edward, Lennox and Addington and Frontenac, Dr. Lower said.

MPP Gets Report

Ten Companies Dumping Waste Into Waterways

A report from the Ontario Water Resources Commission has named all Belleville-Trenton industries having direct discharges to natural watercourses.

Only 10 companies were named in the report, one of them in Belleville, one in Thurlow township, two in Sidney township and six in Trenton.

The companies, Miller Bros. Co. Ltd., Bata Shoe Co. Ltd., Domtar Newsprint Limited, Domtar Chemicals Ltd., Trenton Cold Storage Ltd., Trenton Dyeing and Finishing Co. Ltd., Knox Gelatine of Canada Ltd., Stokely Van-Camp Ltd., Hi Grade Distillery Ltd. and Union Carbide Canada Ltd. are the only area industries making direct deposits into waterways.

All of the companies have reduced their waste and have made plans or started on further pollution control improvements.

Dr. R. T. Potter, MPP for Quinte, who received the report said it was something definite but said it was too hazy in some instances regarding time limits.

The recent severe problem of water pollution by oil in the Trenton area has been concentrated by Canadian Forces base personnel.

Investigation indicated that ruptures of oil handling facilities in the base caused oil to be discharged to this area via a storm sewer.

In the report's summary it stated that all area industry propose to have adequate treatment works or to have their disposal problem corrected by connecting to expanded municipal works.

The recent investigation into the extreme pollution problems was prompted by complaints by the hundreds to both Trenton and Belleville municipal and public officials.

Youth Trapped Inside Car

TRENTON — Trapped inside a wrecked car for more than an hour last night, a Trenton youth is described as being in satisfactory condition in Trenton Memorial Hospital this morning.

Clifford Reid, 20, of 36 Kerr Cres., was alone when the car he was driving on the English Settlement Road, south of Smithfield west of here, left the road and crashed into a tree.

The youth suffered a fractured left leg and numerous cuts and bruises. The Ontario Provincial Police had to call wrecking equipment to the scene to free the injured man.

Damage to the car was set at $2,000.

The accident was one of four of a rash of mishaps the Brighton detachment of the OPP investigated last night.

Another accident the OPP have under investigation occurred in the Hilton area and involved Robert Wayne Sills, 21, of 265 Sidney St., Trenton. Police said the Sills car rolled over and was damaged to the extent of $1,000.

Air Cadets Walking To Buy New Plane

So do over 70 cadets from the No. 704 Air Cadets Squadron at the Canadian Forces Base in Trenton, especially when the trip, a walkathon to Belleville, is to raise funds to purchase an airplane.

Even as early as six a.m., this morning some of the cadets were starting out in the then light drizzle. As the morning progressed late starters found that the drizzle had turned into a large-flaked, very cold and very wet snow storm.

Goal for the walkathon is $5,000 which the cadets will use to purchase a Cessna aircraft.

The plane will be used by senior cadets for air familiarization and training.

It now costs the cadets $14 hourly to fly as they have to rent a plane. With their own craft this figure would be cut in half.

Frankford Man Dies In Crash

FRANKFORD — A 26-year-old man was killed last night as the result of one-vehicle motor accident near here.

Hillard Beaudrie of R.R. 1, Frankford died when the mishap occurred on County Road No. 3 of Sidney about one mile east of Frankford.

An OPP spokesman stated this morning that the call came into police headquarters at 7.18 p.m.

Mr. Beaudrie was travelling alone at the time of the accident

Carleton Heads Chamber

This morning the holders of the new positions were announced.

Re-elected as president was Robert Carleton and securing the vice-president position was Mrs. Eileen Forchuk. The treasurer has not yet been elected.

Chamber of Commerce membership elected five directors, John Davidson, William Lore, Donald Krock, William Shaw and Frank Miron, for two-year terms.

Directors who still have one year to serve include Ronald Yarrow, William Norman, Deiter Rolfe and Vernon Nutley.

IN MEMORIAM

COLDEN — In loving memory of a dear brother-in-law, Art Colden, who passed away Oct. 27, 1965.
Always a smile instead of a frown,
Always a hand when one was down,
Always true, thoughtful and kind,
Always remembered in both mind and heart.
—Always remembered by Roy, Jean and family.

REED — In loving memory of a dear husband, Bernard Raymond Reed who passed away October 27, 1967. What a gift he gave to God, his home.
His happy face we see,
To say he's here and we his smile,
That meant so much to me.
Sadly missed and always remembered by Mom and Dad.

REED: In loving memory of a dear brother, Vince Reed,
God gave us a wonderful brother,
His memory will never grow old.
He is remembered in our hearts,
He is not forgotten.
He moulded his heart of pure gold,
He smiled a way to our hearts,
A beautiful light to shine.
He left us in the midst of sorrow,
He left us his memory to treasure.
—Always remembered by sisters Chris and Mary.

REED: In loving memory of a dear brother, Vince, who passed away just one year ago, October 27, 1967.
The blow was great, the shock severe,
We little thought he'd death so near,
Only those who have lost can tell,
The sorrow of parting without farewell.
—Sadly missed by brothers Harvey, Neil and Larry.

REED—In loving memory of a dear friend, Vincent Reed, who passed away Oct. 27, 1967.
Thoughts today, memories forever,
Love that never grows old.
—Lovingly remembered by father and sister.

EMPEY — In loving memory of a dear son, Russell Edward, who passed away Oct. 27, 1966.
He left behind a smile, his thoughts are kind,
No one can take the place he held in our home.
So treasure him, Lord, in your kingdom,
For when on earth he was one of the best.
—Lovingly remembered by father and sister.

COLDEN—In loving memory of a dear husband and father, Arthur, who passed away October 26, 1965.
Dearly is the heart like a gem,
Of a loved one laid to rest,
In memory's room we shall keep it
Because he was one of the best.
Though there in our eyes do not weep,
And on our face is not always sad.
There is never a day or a moment,
But we think of the loved one we had.
Not a day do we forget you,
It can't be said we have always here,
For we love you and miss you,
As it should always be.
—Lovingly remembered by wife Doris and daughter Sheila.

COLDEN—In loving memory of a dear father, Arthur, who passed away Oct. 26, 1965.
Though his soul has gone forever,
And his hand we cannot touch,
He will always be our memory,
Of the one we loved so much;
His memory is our keepsake,
With which we'll never part,
God has him in His keeping,
We have him in our heart.
—Lovingly remembered by son, Lloyd and daughter-in-law.

WOOD — In loving memory of a dear father and grandfather, Milton E. Wood, who passed away Oct. 26, 1967.
Today recalls the memory
Of a loved one gone to rest,
And those who think of him today,
Are those who loved him best.
Memories we lay upon his grave,
May wither and decay,
But memories of him who lie beneath
Will never fade away.
—Sadly missed by Faye and Harold, Wanda and Marshall.

$600 Damage

TWEED — Damage estimated at $600 resulted from an accident at 3:15 a.m. This morning when Robert Richard Caslen, 16, of Tweed, driver of a car, collided with the old bridge on Bridge St. in Tweed.

Proposed Plaza Under Fire

Trenton Chamber Manager Warns Businessmen, Calls Meeting

Trenton businessmen were warned today that establishing of a shopping plaza in Belleville's north end could produce economic dislocation for the town's business community.

The warning came from chamber of commerce manager Jack Wilson who said the plaza "could take away $12 million in sales from the general trading area.

In making his comment Mr. Wilson said he "wished to alert the membership to the economic implications" and called for a meeting on Oct. 29 to discuss the matter.

The Ontario Municipal Board has scheduled a meeting in Belleville for Nov. 4 to hear objections to the plaza as filed by Towers and Belleville's east end shopping plaza.

Belleville's downtown businessmen's association at a meeting earlier decided not to oppose the application for rezoning formally but indicated they would object to any changes in the city's present early closing bylaw.

Mr. Jack Wilson said "if the rezoning application before the OMB is passed there will be a serious effect in Trenton."

Of the $25,500,000 annual retail sales in the town the shopping centre "could take 10 to 12 million dollars in sales away from the general trading area."

Shopping centre officials say the centre will cater to residents within a 25 mile radius — 130,000 of them.

According to a Financial Post survey, $54 million dollars were spent in retail sales in Belleville in 1965.

And the figure has been climbing steadily.

Mr. Wilson said "with the figures in mind, you begin to appreciate the magnitude of the proposed new centre."

Combined retail sales in the three counties have amounted to over $126 million dollars in each of the last two years. Hastings county has had the largest annual sales amounting to over $92 million dollars. Prince Edward's sales amounted to $13 million and Northumberland's amounted to over $31 million dollars.

OPP Urge Safety for Hallowe'en

NAPANEE — In its latest report, the Napanee Detachment of the Ontario Provincial Police looks ahead to Hallowe'en and cautions parents to take steps to ensure their safety of their children. "Be sure your child's costume has light colors on it, and that the face mask does not obstruct the vision of the child," the report advises. "Remind your child to obey the safety rules, also, not to accept rides from strangers".

Two people died of injuries in this area last week, both as the result of injuries received in traffic accidents. This brings to nine the number of fatalities investigated by this detachment in 1968.

Mrs. Kathleen Hopkins, age 42, of Erinsville, died October 16 of injuries received on County Road No. 4 on October 4, 1968. It was a single car accident. Mrs. Hopkins was thrown from her car when it rolled over several times.

The following day, October 17, Isaac Wood, age 35, of Tamworth, died of head injuries received two days earlier, October 15, on Highway 41 at Sharp's Corners. This was a two-car accident and both other occupants of the car are still in hospital. The driver of the second car, although thrown through the windshield, escaped serious injury or death because he wore the safety hat mandatory for construction workers.

Spot Jumping Trophy

Corporal Gary Garrison and Corporal Harry Jurgens, both from the Canadian Forces Base in Winnipeg were the winners of the Canadian Armed Forces Para-Rescue Competition held in Trenton this week. Brigadier-General D. R. Adamson, Chief of Staff, Operations, Trenton, makes the award.

Suggest 'Thurlow Park' As Name for New Area

They haven't gotten around to putting an official name on it yet, but that new park-in-the making immediately east of the city on No. 2 highway is expected to become an immensely popular spot.

The park is a co-operative effort on the part of the township of Thurlow which owns the land, and the city parks board which is doing the development work.

The park area — almost 10 acres in extent — is between what is known as the Old Kingston Road and the No. 2 divided highway just east of the city. Thurlow township acquired the quarter mile long area from the department of Highways some years ago and were about to dispose of it when its potential as a park area was realized and it was leased to the city.

According to parks superintendent Lloyd Syer a "tremendous amount of work" has been done on the area and the steady improvement in appearance bears this out.

Extensive clearing of aged and diseased trees has been carried out with considerable grading and seeding also having been done.

Plans call for at least three parking areas to be developed. One of these has already been completed.

Adding to the beauty of the area is a small creek which runs across the eastern end of the park.

"The city should buy it and give it a proper name," commented one parks board member yesterday as the area was viewed by members.

Will Speak on Board

James Clarke, chairman of the committee now organizing the change over from small school boards to a county-wide administrative unit, will be special speaker at Park Dale Home and School Association meeting Monday night at 8 p.m.

The meeting will be held in the auditorium of Park Dale School.

Mr. Clarke will outline the responsibilities of home and school under the new county board and the different approach to the Ontario's education in the future.

A question and answer session following his talk is expected to be the highlight of the evening. Parents and other interested persons are asked to organize their questions on the new educational system in preparation for a discussion period.

A display of pupils' work will be set up in the auditorium, and parents have been asked to arrive at the meeting early to view the exhibition.

No Lack of Co-operation Says Member

An accusation of trying to create "an atmosphere to get people to bend over backwards" has been directed against the consulting economist in the proposed 6,000-acre corporate farm scheme by Prince Edward County.

MPP for Prince Edward-Lennox, Norris Whitney, said that he wasn't sure that the farm would even be beneficial to the county and its inhabitants but "I'll let the people use their own good judgment there."

Mr. Whitney's statements recall complaints made by Charles Magee, the consulting economist representing principals interested in financing the operation, that there was a lack of co-operation from county officials and the public.

"There's been no lack of co-operation as far as I can see," he said as he explained the most recent attack on county officials.

Mr. Magee, who went to see the MPP at his Toronto office this past week, has again complained about co - operation, said Mr. Whitney.

Mr. Whitney said that Magee told him a letter written to the county clerk requesting information about bridges leading into Prince Edward was answered but contained very little information.

"The letter supposedly did not even mention the skyway," said Mr. Whitney.

However, Magee, when asked to produce the letter he received did not do so and said that copies had been sent to the principals and the original had been sent to The Intelligencer.

Prince Edward county assessor Sid Manley, recalls no such inquiry from Mr. Magee or even sending a reply and The Intelligencer has not received the original.

Mr. Whitney said evasive answers and the questionable activities of the proposed farm make him wonder

"It seems the whole idea could be a coverup for something else," he said, "and it seems to me that Mr. Magee is trying to create an atmosphere to get people to bend over backwards to aid him and his scheme."

Getting back to the letter in question Mr. Whitney pointed out that any information about bridges should come from the provincial or federal departments anyway, depending on which bridge one was inquiring about.

When it first became known that certain persons were looking at large tracts of shoreline land in south-east Prince Edward County many rumors about the land would be used for were about.

A jet-port, steel plant and other possible uses were all mentioned as were the names of principals interested.

One Toronto paper heard and investigated the possibility that E. P. Taylor might want the land for a farm.

All rumors have adamantly denied by Mr. Magee and his associates, who insist they are only interested in the land for a corporate farm designed to produce beef cattle.

Masonic Wives Entertained

NAPANEE — Members of Union Lodge No. 9 entertained their wives last Saturday evening.

The after-dinner speaker was an old friend, Rev. Noble Hatton, now of Toronto, for several years a minister in Trinity United Church. He pointed out that each should have a worthy goal in life, and should constantly strive to reach that goal. "No obstacles, no opposition, and no prejudices should cause us to lose sight of the ideal which we had set for ourselves," he stated.

Mr. Hatton was introduced by J. D. Mayhew, and was thanked by William Finlay.

Mrs. Ross Moorcroft of Madoc pleased everyone with her vocal selections. Mrs. William Aylsworth was her accompanist.

Bloe and gold, the colors of the lodge, were used in the table appointments. An arrangement of roses in assorted colors, centering the head table was flanked by blue tapers. Arrangements of fall flowers in shades of yellow and bronze brightened the guest tables.

At the head table, each with his wife, were: Roy Lawrence, Master of the lodge; District Deputy-Grand Master, Right Worshipful Brother Donald M. Weatherston of Odessa; the speaker, Rev. Noble Hatton; officers of the lodge: Ronald P. Wilson, William Ramsay, Lewis Wagar, Keith Gourlie, Lorne VanLuven, Robert Bowie, Gordon Presque, Samuel Markle, James Pollard and William Finlay; Past Masters J. D. Mayhew, Robert Baldwin and Glen Hudson; and Ronald Macpherson, who, in his usual witty fashion, proposed the toast to the ladies, with Mrs. Lewis Wagar replying.

Mrs. Ramsay thanked the Maple Leaf branch of the W.I. for the banquet they had prepared and served.

City Council Approves Resolution on Parks

If a resolution passed by the Ontario Parks Association and concurred in by Belleville city council is approved by the Ontario Legislature, parents will be liable for wilful damage to public property caused by their children.

The resolution asks that parents be liable for an amount up to $100 for wilful damage done to park property.

City council concurred with the resolution on a motion from Alderman Donald Williams who said that recently he had noted two incidents of damage being caused at Corby Park in East Belleville.

On one occasion he spotted two boys pulling up rose bushes and throwing them at each other. And a short time later he saw teenagers playing football in the same park.

Corby Park is a passive area and about a thousand dollars was spent two years ago in planting new shrubbery and rose beds.

Tweed Walkers Are Ready

TWEED — If the weatherman provides as much cooperation as the organizers for the Tweed Miner Hockey Walkathon, the day has every indication of being a success.

The walk will start and finish at the Tweed-Hungerford Community Centre. The walk consists of 10 miles around Stoco Lake.

All entrants are to present themselves at the starting line between 12:00 and 1:30 p.m. Sunday, Oct. 27.

Walkathon officials have emphasized that walkers check in at the centre and be sure that they bring their sponsor forms with them to make their walk official.

The route will be patrolled by radio-equipped cars for the benefit of walkers who find it difficult to complete the full 10-mile trip.

How Many Times a Day Do You Say

PARDON?

The world is full of wonderful sounds. And full of people who miss them rather than admit that they're hard of hearing. They won't realize that they make them hard to hear. Obvious by NOT wearing a hearing aid than by wearing one. Modern hearing aids can be made so tiny and so inconspicuous that no one need ever notice them.

If you suspect that you may need professional advice — you don't wait. Your hearing is far too precious. We'll be happy to arrange an appointment for you any time and (should it be necessary) to show you a wide selection of modern hearing aids and modern, trouble-free batteries to power them.

The African Scene

Africa today is a continent brimming with ironies both political and human.

For example South Africa, in a new economic survey issued by its information service in New York, has a population of 18,733,000 (of whom 3,563,000 are whites) and claims to have experienced half a century of political stability. Leaving aside the considerable reservations people have regarding South Africa's policy of apartheid (internationally, it is racial discrimination, to South Africans it is "separate development" of whites and blacks) ,there is much truth in the claim.

White immigration to South Africa is increasing. In recent years skilled workers responding to the republic's campaign overseas arrived from Britain, Germany, Portugal, Holland and Greece, as well as whites from other areas of Africa less well-endowed materially and less stable politically. In all, about 50,000 immigrants were admitted in 1967.

For all the criticism of its apartheid policies, South Africa according to this survey also attracts thousands of black migrants from neighboring territories. Today there are about 800,000 foreign Bantu there, of whom approximately a quarter have settled permanently. Economically, the Bantu are sharing in the general prosperity of the country. Their wages have risen sharply and overall per capita income is three times as much as the average for Africa. The literacy rate of the Bantu has risen from less than 25 per cent in 1946 to 55 per cent in 1966. In the age group 7 to 20 the rate is 85 per cent — a measure of the government's increasing emphasis on education for the Bantu.

Compare these and other impressive industrial and economic achievements with the situation in other parts of Africa where military dictatorship — an outgrowth of the precipitate attainment of independence by former colonial territories — and economic backwardness go hand-in-hand.

Nigeria, for instance, with a population of 55,670,000 once exhibited the kind of stability black Africa needed so much. Now, after several military coups the country is engaged in a destructive civil war with Biafra, the eastern province that declared itself independent of the central government in Lagos, nearly two years ago. Nigeria, which was once one of the most prosperous in Africa, now is so rent with divisions that economic advancement has been set back years, while in Biafra itself death and starvation are everywhere apparent.

We could also cite the United Arab Republic (Egypt) in North Africa as another region which has wasted its substance in foolish military adventures and whose people as a result, have been deprived of the economic gain that would have been their due.

While South Africa is far from perfect and its policies regarding the black people a serious mixture of beneficence and discrimination, it is still by far the most viable political unit in Africa.

They Got Action

Make a fuss — and get action. That was the theme of a recent editorial on this page from a neighboring city newspaper. It told of a Toronto family of nine which camped in the office of Mayor Dennison, in an attempt to obtain housing that would enable them to stay together. They got their house.

In another case that has come to light since, a woman who scattered her last five pennies of welfare money in the parking meter of Council chamber, on hearing of a $10,000 grant for a bowling green, is being financed by Metro and the province through a six-month secretarial course.

The woman, a former factory worker, had not eaten for two days when she made her demonstration. She had been on welfare but her welfare cheque had not come through on time.

An Artist at Heart

Everyone has a bit of the artist in him, and some more than most. Taxi driver Peter Donnelly, of Peterborough, for example.

Mr. Donnelly, who is 40, has a Bachelor of Arts degree from the University of Toronto but preferred to take up cab driving to avoid the "rat race." Now he has discovered his real bent — painting — and his talents have resulted in a one-man show in a city hotel.

Cab driving can be a bit of a rat race too, so Mr. Donnelly, who is not altogether a beginner in the art world — he had three years of private tuition in Toronto — doubtless finds painting a useful "out" after the tension of daily driving.

"Just Society" Slogan Haunts Trudeau Administration

By RICHARD JACKSON

OTTAWA. — A quiet and gentle man, Peace River MP Gerald W. "Jed" Baldwin is proving to be something of a House leader.

He fired off what, for more than a month after it opened, remained this Session's sharpest shot.

The financially-pressed government, making noises about saving money, had announced cancellation of the $20,000,000 Queen Elizabeth telescope atop a West Coast mountain.

"Might it not be the better economy," Jed Baldwin enquired sweetly, "to proceed with the telescope, if for no other reason than to keep the soaring cost-of-living in sight?"

As parliamentary barbs go, it was just about bang-on, and you could almost see Prime Minister Trudeau and the 28 ministers of the cabinet around him, wince as it sank in.

But it was not as bang-on as another harpoon that the not-so-peaceful politician from Peace River shafted across the centre aisle of the Commons at the unsuspecting prime minister just the other day.

He was asking the PM about the administration of justice — particularly "the lack of it for some people" — in the Northwest Territories.

OUCH!

"I ask the prime minister this question," beamed Jed Baldwin deceptively, "in the absence of the leader of the official opposition who is out in the country, away from Parliament Hill, checking on how far short of promised performance is the Just Society."

The prime minister in particular and the members on the government side of the House generally are becoming acutely sensitive to any mention of the 'Just Society.'

For the opposition — Conservative, New Democratic, and Real Creditor Social Credit Rally — has taken a liking, almost an addiction, to equating everything smacking of injustice or unfairness with the Just Society.

And since, traditionally, the preoccupation of any opposition routinely is to do political battle against inequality and injustice, the Just Society is coming in for all kinds of equating.

Developing something of the Pavlov's Dog syndrome, the prime minister twitches — with a grin and a shrug — at the mention of the still elusive Just Society.

All of which goes to reconfirm what the Commons has known ever since the Bay Street advertising whiz-bangs began running political campaigns for the politicians, some five years ago.

And that — by now it should be an article of political faith — is that slogans are dangerous.

So far, all these slogans, no matter how smart and slick, have boomerangers.

Former Prime Minister Pearson was the first to employ them and was hurt the worst when they rebounded.

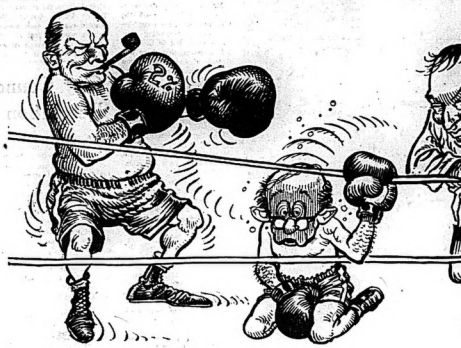
"Igloo to Igloo" — "Sixty Days of Decision" — "The War on Poverty."

He fired off the "Igloo to Igloo" slogan in a badly misdirected effort to discredit former Northern Affairs Minister Arvin Hamilton's very successful "Roads to Resources" program of the Diefenbaker Conservative administration.

Now, "Roads to Resources" might be regarded as a slick slogan in itself — and perhaps it was — except that as things turned out, that program was perhaps the biggest plus mark the Conservatives won in their five years of power.

And because it was so successful, people generally resented Lester Pearson's clumsy attempt to ridicule it with his "Igloo to Igloo."

Then there were those promised "Sixty Days of Decision," during which disaster — contrived by that most inept of finance ministers, Walter Gordon — piled on disaster for the hapless Liberals. In all those 60 blazing days of action they could do nothing right, and so doomed themselves to minority power for the next five years.



"The War on Poverty," was the worst of the slogans because, as taxpayers across the country realized, it did not person to win it was the mandarin who dreamed it up for Lester Pearson, his special policy adviser, Tom Kent.

He won that war on poverty with the $28,750 appointment as deputy manpower minister.

And if you didn't think THAT slogan hurt, you were not following the 1965 election.

The way things now are shaping up, Prime Minister Trudeau and his go-go team could be wishing they had never heard of their Just Society.

For when the opposition begins to make jokes of it, it is time to sink such slogans. But with the Just Society, that is not going to be easy.

Sharp Levels With Demonstrators on Parliament Hill

By CARMAN CUMMING

OTTAWA (CP) — Mark this as one of the little ironies of the Trudeau government:

After six months in office, it is Pierre Elliot Trudeau, the man who talked of building bridges between generations and between government and people, who seems aloof and remote.

And it is Mitchell Sharp, who was called a computer with a rightish, establishment tinge when he sought the Liberal leadership, who sits crosslegged on the Parliament lawn talking with young Biafra protesters.

The external affairs minister still sounds a little like the civil service mandarin he once was — confident and reasonable and puzzled if others don't see things as he does.

But he managed to handle Thursday's front-lawn confrontation with the protesters in dignity, even though he lost his balance momentarily as he took his squatting position on a folded quilt.

As an exercise in communications, Thursday's happening was hardly a success.

To a neutral it seemed that neither Mr. Sharp nor the demonstrators were vulnerable to anything that might change their thinking.

But as an exercise in gaphridging the quiet exchange on the grass, improved on the scene of the day before, when some of the same demonstrators "sat-in" at Mr. Sharp's office and were thrown out.

The dialnce between the two sides was illustrated poignantly at one point.

"Sometimes I wish I had the freedom you have to go around and talk," said Mr. Sharp in a moment of frankness.

"Sometimes we wish we had the power you have," a demonstrator shot back.

After 20 minutes of discussion, almost all of it calm and reasoned, Mr. Sharp shook hands and went back to his seat of power while the young people resumed their fast vigil by the Centennial Flame.

Mr. Sharp might have been forgiven if he went back feeling a little frustrated.

His aims in the Biafran mess are identical with those of the demonstrators: To get food to the starving and to get a settlement of the civil war.

The only disagreement is on what the government is doing to achieve its aims. And Mr. Sharp, with justification, explained that he couldn't talk about what he was doing while negotiations were going on.

An added frustration factor is that Mr. Sharp has been one of the few Trudeau ministers making an apparent effort to bring the business of his department out into the area of public debate.

Whenever possible, he has invited in reporters when individuals or groups have presented briefs criticizing a government policy.

Yet when the crunch came Thursday he failed to get through to the demonstrators because of what he couldn't say openly.

The gap still yawns.

Words and Attitudes Can Kill

Doris Keith in The Rotarian

Pretty, young Susie was going to her first important dance. She had dressed and changed clothes and hair styles a half dozen times, each time asking,

"Mom, should I wear this? Does my hair look right this way? Do I have on too much make up?"

Mom has been patient all day, admiring each change, making suggestions for improvements, but mothers get tired. She had burned her hand cooking dinner, she had had no help from Susie with dishes, but she didn't want the girl to spoil her nail polish, so with aching head, back, feet — plus a smarting burn — she kept quiet until Susie, in a final, last minute change, burst in again. "Mom do you really think this one looks best?"

Mom exploded from her finally earned easy chair, let loose all her exasperation, and shouted to poor, uncertain Susie: I couldn't care less what you wear! Make up your own mind!"

Susie went to her dance, but it was not the romantic, glamorous evening she had so dreamed of. Her eyes were puffy from crying and too much powder caked on them to hide their redness.

Johnnie, 16 now, had started early Sunday morning with, "Dad, may I have the car this afternoon?" Hal (his buddy) and he wanted to go to the beach, some 60 miles away. Dad said a reasonable "No, traffic is bad on Sundays. Please wait until we all can go."

After Church, Johnny tried again. "But Dad, I got good grades in driver's ed;" I only missed two questions when I got my licence; you said yourself I drive carefully," and so on and on.

Fathers get tired, too. Dad had wanted was to read his paper and be quiet. After more arguing Dad exploded in much the same way Mom did. He slammed the car keys on the table. "Take the car keys, Johnny. I couldn't care less! Go on and go!"

A hurt, angry, Johnny took the keys and drove off, too fast to pick up his buddy. Johnny, letting off his steam to Hal and driving ever faster, lost control of the car and ran into a bridge wall.) Hal was crushed, dead!

Johnny, in the hospital bed cried from his agonized soul: "I wish I had been killed, not Hal!"

One boy died — another to live with heartbreak and guilt for a life time.

Most of us think that the opposite of love is hate. Psychologists tell us this is not true. The opposite of love is indifference. I couldn't care less, the phrase considered smart by the "jet set," the "swingers," the "sophisticates" expresses cruel indifference. How I wish those words could be erased from every languages!

I couldn't care less! Hurtful destructive, thoughtless words. How could such a phrase have become so popular?

We care — powerful words, because they contain the key word, love. I couldn't sleep until I had written this, because Susie and Johnnie are ours.

Letter to the Editor

Praise for Nursery School

Editor,
The Intelligencer.

As a result of the voiced opinion of one member of the City Council, I would like to state publicly my feelings about the Belleville Day Care Nursery.

As a concerned mother I would not want to register my child in a nursery where I did not feel that she would get the very best of care and supervision, and our little daughter is currently attending the Day Care Nursery. Before enrolling her I had a good look at the facilities and acquainted myself with the daily routine. My husband and I have become more and more impressed with the kindness and wisdom of the staff in looking after our daughter especially in things beyond the line of regular duty such as administering a special diet to our child because of a gastric ailment.

My husband and I have come to the school at various hours in the day — often a half hour to an hour late in leaving our children in the care of the staff in the afternoon, and once I had to return in mid-morning with some banana for her diet — and at no time have we ever seen the nursery children abused or left unsupervised.

Also this nursery school compares favorably with other private nursery schools in Toronto with which I am acquainted.

Sincerely,
MRS. J. WILLIAM LAMB

E. T. Thompson has arrived home from Saskatchewan where he spent several months.

More Help Needed: Only 50 per cent of the families in this city who are asked to help owing to the influenza epidemic can be given attention by the limited number of volunteer workers available. A cook stove and coal are needed for one family. A number of motor cars are required at the YMCA tomorrow morning. Further names should be sent to the Household Science Department at the high school. All willing to help please report at the YMCA.

Pilot Jobs Hard to Come by

Letter to The Hamilton Spectator

Re the article, New Scheme to Ease Shortage of Pilots, (Oct. 19) contrary to the impression given by it, there seems to be an acute shortage of jobs for pilots.

I, for one example, hold a commercial licence with multi-engine and float endorsements, and instrument reading. I graduated from my school in March. Since then I have applied for any sort of flying job to over 350 companies, all over Canada and the world.

Only today I was talking to a young man who has just started to sink several thousand dollars into getting his commercial licence and who believes that he will walk from the school and be snapped up in the acute pilot shortage! Perhaps an article pointing people straight on this point would be very beneficial to many readers who are in a similar situation.

Justyn H. Rees,
Bracebridge.

Lay Women To Administer Sacraments

AUGUSTA, Ga. (CP) — Designated lay women, as well as men, Thursday were granted permission by Canadian Anglican bishops to administer the holy sacraments—a move said to be unprecedented in world Anglicanism.

Persons chosen by bishops in each area of Canada would be permitted to administer the bread and wine of holy communion.

The steps were taken by 35 members of the House of Bishops of the Anglican Church of Canada who have been in Atlantic for five days in conjunction with a meeting of bishops from the Episcopal Church in the United States—the first joint meeting of the two groups.

The Canadian bishops, led by Most Rev. Howard H. Clark, Primate of All Canada, met separately Thursday to discuss the admittance of lay persons to holy communion.

In the U.S., licensed lay readers may assist in administering the sacraments but there are not usually women. The lay persons can administer the chalice or wine cup but not the paten, the plate on which the wafer is served.

At the close of the five-day meeting Thursday, bishops from Canada and the U.S. took under advisement a proposal to establish an Anglican Council of North America, an organization which church officials said may lead to union of the Canadian and U.S. churches.

The council, which would also include the Anglican Church of the West Indies, would define steps for action in education, communications, social work and missionary activity.

The decision of the Canadian bishops took many of their American counterparts by surprise. Episcopal bishops would have to seek permission at a national convention of bishops, clergy and laity for such a move.

Rt. Rev. Ivor Norris of Brandon, Man., representing Canadian bishops at daily news briefings, said it is within the power of Canadian Anglican bishops to decide on how the sacraments of bread and wine can be administered.

Rt. Rev. H. R. Hunt of Toronto, chairman of the committee, said the proposal had been in preparation for the last year.

No national church of the world-wide Anglican communion has yet granted special permission to women to administer bread or wine, he said.

In the Church of England and Church of Australia, two progressive areas within the communion, only male lay readers may administer communion.

Bishop Norris emphasized that a priest or bishop must still be present to consecrate the sacraments and that the lay person would be only an assistant.

He said an Anglican committee will continue to study whether an ordained person can, in remote areas, consecrate and reserve sufficient sacraments for administration by a lay person for a number of months. It is expected that a report concerning such a move will be presented to the bishops by mid-summer.

In a report appended to their recommendations, Prof. Ronald Reeve of Halifax warned the move taken by the Canadian bishops Thursday might create future problems in unity talks with the Roman Catholic Church.

Meeting in a separate session, the U.S. Episcopal bishops reaffirmed their approval of conscientious objection to war.

An amendment which deleted specific reference to the fighting in Vietnam was approved.

Mr. and Mrs. John Richard Ferrari are shown following their recent marriage in Holy Cross Catholic Chapel Armed Forces Base at Zulebrucken, Germany. The bride is the former Linda Gail Shepherd, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. Shepherd, Belleville, while the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Ferrari of Woodstock, Ontario.

Locomotive Theme For Auxiliary Tea

The Locomotive Tea and Bazaar, under the auspices of the Auxiliary to the Locomotive Engineers, was held Friday afternoon at Engineers' Hall, Pine Street.

Receiving the guests at the door was Mrs. E. L. Goodman, president of the Loyal Division No. 377 of the G.L.A. to the B. of L.E. General conveners of the bazaar were Mrs. N. C. Fisher and Mrs. P. E. Welch. Tickets were taken at the door by Mrs. D. E. Fisher, and the ticket draw was conducted by Mrs. J. E. Kerr.

The main tea table, covered by a lace table cloth, featured a miniature locomotive centrepiece filled with white and pink carnations, surrounded by lighted pink candles. A silver tea service was complemented by an attractive plate of hors d'oeuvre. Pouring tea were Mrs. W. Short, president of the lady firemen; Mrs. L. E. Grey, past president of G.L.A.; Mrs. G. Grose, president of lady trainmen; Mrs. A. Clarke, past president of G.L.A.; Mrs. R. F. Crow, past president of G.I.A. and Mrs. C. Henley.

Each guest table featured white linen cloths with delicate crocheted edging, centred with a small locomotive. Replenishing were Mrs. J. Payne and Mrs. T. Collger while convener of the kitchen was Mrs. N. Cathers.

Warm mittens, slippers, pure linen hankies, tea towels, and even a smattering of jewellery were all a part of the novelty and knitting table, under the auspices of Mrs. J. McCormick and Mrs. D. Cook, and conveners of the knitting table were Mrs. G. Bunton, Mrs. N. Robb and Mrs. R. C. Jones. Colorful aprons — any design and shape, were sold by Mrs. J. Avery and Mrs. W. Spring.

At the bake table, tempting tarts, squares, pies, pickles and relish dominated. Mrs. A. VanStone, Mrs. G. Gulliver, Mrs. A. Spencer and Mrs. B. Batchelor were in charge.

As a finish touch, in each corner of the room, a lighted locomotive lamp added to the theme decor and pleasant atmosphere.

Winners of the various draws were: Mrs. R. Turner, Peter Rooke, Mrs. Geo. Findley, Ottawa, Mrs. Pearl Griffin of Montreal.

Red Cross Commended On Successful Program

At the October executive meeting of the Belleville Branch of the Canadian Red Cross Association Murray Workman, chairman of the water safety committee, was commended on the success of the spring and summer program. He reported that 514 Red Cross awards had been presented to 325 beginners, 140 junior swimmers, 91 intermediates and 44 seniors. Assisted by teenage volunteers and others he is giving instruction to 534 in the winter program.

Mr. G. R. Cameron, president of the local branch, said the Red Cross was grateful to all those who had turned out for the October blood donor clinic.

He especially mentioned the large number of students from the secondary schools and college who had interrupted their studies and athletic programs to be present at the Clinic.

Mrs. A. Ketcheson reported a busy month for all three homemakers. One item referred to the fact that 202 children had been cared for while their mothers were incapacitated.

Mrs. Betty Dugas, director of Public Relations for the Ontario Division visited Belleville recently. She thought the successes in the water safety program, the project blood clinic and in other departments should be published in The Ontario News Bulletin, -also that more people in Belleville would be receiving the Bulletin.

MOST FAMOUS NAMES

*

For example:

Back in 1811 a young married couple by the name of Warner moved to Canada from the colonies and settled on Ameliasburgh, to become one of the early settlers. The Warners, it is learned, stem from one, John Warner, of Quigley Hall, England, who was one of the passengers on "The Fortune," the first vessel after the Mayflower to land on "these shores."

Little is known of John, except that he lived and died in Farmington, Conn. in 1679, leaving a family, among whom was a son destined to become one of George Washington's great grandfathers. He was Colonel Augustine Warner, speaker of the first Assembly held after the Bacon Rebellion, which met at Green Spring, Feb. 1677. His daughter married Lawrence Washington, and their son was George Washington's father.

And speaking of George Washington, he saved the life of a young child, who was to become a pioneer of the Quinte Bay; James Farley.

One day, when a mere lad, he went with his nurse to see a big military parade. The band was playing, and the horses look d so magnificent, that he left his nurse, in order to get right out in front to see but good.

Who should notice this small boy, who was standing so far out on the road that he was in actual danger of being trampled down by those on parade on horse-back, but General Washington himself. He bent down and caught up the small boy and carried him to safety.

Jimmy, by the way, was to follow an army career, as intended by his father, Colonel Farley. But the Colonel died, before this was carried out, and Jim's step-father taught him to become a tailor. When he reached manhood, he was given a horse and saddle, a new suit of clothes and 25 dollars in cash. With a fellow-companion, the two set out for Lower-Canada.

They lost their way in the forest, came upon a small French settlement only to find they couldn't make themselves understood, until they were taken to a house of a Frenchman, whose wife was English. She gave them food and shelter for the night, and then her husband took them by team, to Kingston. From there, young Farley came up the Bay in search of land, became one of its early pioneers.

Jim Farley's mother was the sister of Chief Justice John Jay who framed the treaty between England and the United States. Jay appears in the family often, as a Christian name.

Again we read: "Among the names that fill the spacious times of Queen Elizabeth and shed eternal lustre upon the Mistress of the Sea, is the name of Sir Francis Drake. John Drake, the nephew of Sir Francis had one daughter, who married William Cory. Their son, Francis Cory became the father of Eliakim Cory, the Canadian pioneer." Eliakim came to Canada in 1817 and purchased land at Pleasant Bay, on the south shore of the lake where he labored for many years.'

Girl Leaves Home; Sheds Inferiority Complex

By DORIS CLARK

Dear Doris: The letter signed "Desperately Yours" reminded me of myself and I wanted to encourage her. I too was average in looks and a bit above average in school, but with the male of the species I was shy. That gradually wore off, but I did not even have a date until after grade 12 and I was beginning to wonder what was wrong with me.

Last year I attended university — away from home where none knew me and I could be different if I chose. It did me a world of good and I have almost entirely shed my self-developed inferiority complex. The boys I have been out with here are much more in my male class, than any of the high school boys.

Chin up, "Desperately Yours"! Your situation should improve. — A Former Inferiority Complex Case.

Dear Former: What you say is bound to give D.Y. a lift. We do gain confidence as we tackle the big and little doings of every day without being able to turn to mother. Your metamorphosis happens regularly to the shy-but-bright girls who go to college away from home.

Dear Doris: I promised myself to write and tell you how I made use of the advice you gave me. I am now writing as I sit by my patient's bedside with the paper on my knee.

I had tried every chance to get into the nursing profession, but found myself left out because of my age. By writing to you I learned of the course given in Toronto in practical nursing by correspondence. I was accepted and graduated with honors.

The staff was helpful and very good to me personally, with their recommendation I got a job as nursing assistant (non-registered) in a hospital. I consider the three months spent there as my internship because I learned much there. But it was heavy work on the Chronic Illness ward. Being a new 104 pounds and 63 years old, I found it hard to keep up with the younger ones, some of them quite uncaring, too.

I decided on private duty and eventually came west where most of my family are. I am at present private nurse to a patient in hospital, and I feel that I have arrived at my goal.

Thanks go to you for the advice which started me on the road!

However, in regard to learning practical nursing by correspondence: In my opinion, the course is inadequate. Sent out a chance to practice on real patients. Everything at the school is theory and I don't believe. No wonder they were called "green girls" at the hospital, and that is only because of the green band on the cap!

The green girls have not the reputation I wish they had. On my first day at the hospital I was more humiliated than ever before in my life. I felt as if I had entered the nursing profession by the back door.

Dear In Gratitude: I'd say the school does wonders to teach any kind of writing, or long distance. And I understand that there is a period of practical work required before graduation.

Perhaps what is needed is more of a warning to graduates about how to cope with a less-than-respectful attitude from registered nurses and others. Would save that initial humiliation. — This is not to mention the need for a happy reproof to those superior-feeling people who dish it out.

You deserve five stars for coming through it all with flying colors at 63!

Confidential to Roomatic: My leaflet "If You Have Arthritis" is on its way to you. Hope you can learn a good deal more about this troublesome malady by writing for a publication of the Canadian Arthritis and Rheumatism Society called "Arthritis and Rheumatism". Sen your request to P.O. Box 98, Terminal A, Toronto 1, Canada.

WEDDING

BOYCE — FRANCIS

Rev. Canon R. B. Wright officiated at the October ceremony at Christ Church, Bellville, when Ruth Elizabeth Francis, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Francis, Bellville, became the bride of Robert Douglas Boyce, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. D. Boyce, also of Belleville. Rendered appropriate nuptial selections was organist John Withers.

The bride was given in marriage by her father, wore a street-length sheath dress of lace over taffeta, featuring an empire waistline, V-neck with a lace collar and self-covered buttons. The wrist-length sleeves ended in a ruffled lace cuff. Her headdress was a lace mantilla, complemented by the crescent bouquet of yellow roses and white "mums which she carried.

Maid of honor was Miss Lois Striker, attired in a dark green velvet dress. The dress featured an empire waistline, stand up collar trimmed with nylon lace. The long sleeves of the dress were also lace trimmed. Her headdress was a matching green bow, contrasted by a nosegay of yellow and bronze "mums which she carried. Junior bridesmaid was Miss Judy Francis, sister of the bride. She was attired the same as the maid of honor, and carried a similar nosegay.

Attending the bridegroom was Peter McNevin, Belleville. Ushers were Bruce Francis, brother of the bride, Belleville; David Boyce, brother of the bridegroom, Belleville.

For the wedding reception held at Club Canara, the mother of the bride received the guests wearing a jacket dress, Nile Green style. Try mist was brown, in nylon and acetate lace over taffeta. Her feathered hat and brown accessories, were complemented by a corsage of yellow roses. Assisting her, the mother of the bridegroom chose a claret red wool dress, fashioned in suit style, with self covered button and collar. White feathered hat and black accessories were further enhanced by the corsage of white roses which she wore.

For the wedding trip to Gaspe Peninsula and Quebec City, the bride donned a camel hair suit, of three-quarter length, the jacket of which was double-breasted. Completing her outfit, she chose a corsage of orange delight roses. Upon their return, the couple will reside in Belleville.

Bride-elect Honored At Shower

Relatives, choir members and friends gathered at the home of hostess Miss Margaret Cooney on Wednesday evening honor of October bride-to-be, Miss Cheryl Millet at a surprise miscellaneous shower.

The home was decorated with pink and white streamers and pink and white bells. A bride's cake decorated with roses and doves, entwined with wedding rings centred the refreshment table.

Later a game was enjoyed, and the evening was spent in compiling a bride's book. The bride-elect was then called upon to open her many lovely gifts, for which she thanked everyone. Miss Mikel then served her guests with her bridal cake.

Refreshments were served by hostess Miss Margaret Cooney and co-hostess Miss Irene Bates.

Ann Landers
Article Describes Plight of Teenagers

ANN LANDERS

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I came across something which describes how I feel to the nth degree. I hope you will print it because it is the story of my life — mine and a million other teen-age girls. Here it is:

"Whoever started that fairy-tale that teen-agers are the happiest must have been out of his head.

"I hope thousands of teen-age boys see this because they are the main reason for the misery of so many teen-age girls. At every party, whether it's a school hop, or a get-together at somebody's house, or a church mixer, you always see a group of girls standing in a circle. They are laughing and talking and at a glance you think they are having a wonderful time.

"The truth is they are having a lousy time and they wish they had stayed home. These girls stick together and try to look gay, but they are miserable and depressed because they know they will stand there all evening and no boy will ask them to dance.

"All the boys run after three or four of the prettiest and most popular girls. The plainer girls, like me, never get a tumble. It's humiliating and heartbreaking.

"Why doesn't someone tell high school boys to be more considerate. So what if a girl is not a great dancer or a living doll? She may have a lot on the ball if only a guy would give her a chance. One thing is certain. She'll appreciate you a lot more than the chick who is run ragged by every fellow in the place."

Isn't that a wonderful article, Ann? I hope you agree and print it. — SEEING MYSELF.

DEAR SEEING: Yes, it's very good. I thought so when I published it in my column about five years ago.

Where did you say you saw it? Clue me. We have lawyers who know how to deal with publications that use copyrighted material without permission.

* * *

DEAR MISS LANDERS: Our daughter plans to be married in June, following her graduation from college. Brenda has been active in the church on campus. She wants to be married there. She was also active in our family church but has gotten away from it since she went away to school.

We have no objection to her choice, but it means her grandparents, aunts and uncles and our older friends will have quite a distance to travel and will probably not make the trip. Also, arranging a reception in a strange city will be a lot of extra work for me.

Will you give us an outsider's opinion? — MRS. BRP OF BOSTON.

DEAR MRS.: The bride's decision should be final. It would have been generous had she considered your wishes, but since she did not, go along with her preference and keep all the plans very simple. And don't be bashful about asking her to handle some of the arrangements.

Iron Industry Is One Of Oldest in Canada

(Picture Credit: The Canada West Society)

The iron industry is one of the oldest in Canada. Deposits of iron ore were recorded at Three Rivers in Quebec in 1667. They were opened in 1737 and by 1743 had been taken over by Louis XV. Directions were given that "the forges were to be worked on account of, and in the name of, the King".

Louis XV's forge at Three Rivers remained in operation for almost 150 years, chilling down in 1883, by that time the oldest active furnace in North America.

In 1813 a furnace was opened at Normandale on Lake Erie but operated spasmodically until the 1880's when the brothers Benjamin and Joseph Van Norman ran the business. Normandale ore was considered superior as it contained a percentage of both silver and lead.

Many of the local farmers paid for their land by felling the trees and converting their wood to charcoal which they sold to the Van Normans at $50. a thousand bushels. The operation averaged three tons of pig iron a day of excellent quality. It was made into various castings, especially pot-ash kettles and stoves. Axes and other tools were made in a separate forge. Finished products were shipped along the lakeshore and into the interior by team as far west as Chicago. Over-expansion ruined the firm and it shut down in 1847.

There was a brief flurry of iron smelting at Clementsport in the Maritimes in 1825, and shortly thereafter at East River, Pictou County, but no further early iron works achieved significance on the Atlantic seaboard.

Early hardware, door latches, hinges, nail-rod, shutter hardware, bolts, hooks, all were made from iron supplied by these early American suppliers. Jackson is the name of one New York dealer of wholesale hardware whose name and the date 1842 may be found on the back of Victorian cast iron grates in Canada.

Everything from stoves, to building fronts, to the boot scraper illustrated came in cast iron. Parlor stoves, trivets, hitching posts, (now reproduced), boot-jacks, fluting irons, sad irons, door stops, match safes, twine holders, scales, lawn ornaments and lawn furniture, all were, and still are, available in Canada.

Later Canadian manufacturers, particularly of stoves, impressed their name in their product, both identifying it and adding to its current value. Stoves with brass fittings, if original are likely to be before mid-19th century, especially the Franklin stove type. Fawcett Ranges of Sackville, N. B. continue to produce Franklin stoves from 19th century models. Stoves with nickel fenders date from the end of the 19th century almost to the present.

Prices vary. A new garden urn is $50. The original iron urn from which the modern aluminum reproduction is cast is worth about $25. Cast iron garden seats are almost impossible to move, their cast aluminum counterpart runs around $100. Boot scrapers such as the one illustrated, which could derive from three Rivers, cost $10 to $15. Elaborate hall trees sell for more than $100., horse head hitching posts cost $15. to $25. and are often reproductions.

Points for Parents

By MARY BRYSON

Mother: "Stop arguing and put on your coat. It's cold today and you'll be sick if you wear just a thin sweater."

Son: "I'll be the only one wearing a coat to school today. Look how sunny it is! I'm too hot, now."

Avoid arguments about facts that can be easily checked. It's hard to dispute an impersonal record of the weather.

Mother: "Check the thermometer and see if it's cold enough for heavier wraps. It's hard to tell about the weather when we're indoors."

Son; "It's almost down to freezing. I'll call Jimmy and tell him to wear his coat, too."

Roast Beef for 50 People

By MARY MOORE

QUESTION: Our Lionette group has been asked to cater to a dinner for 100 hungry men. We would like to serve roast beef and would appreciate your help. We would also like a recipe for a cabbage salad for the same meal. — Kathleen B.

ANSWER: Here are recipes for Roast Beef and Cabbage Salad for fifty. You will have to double the quantities for your 100 hungry men, Kathleen.

ROAST BEEF TO SERVE FIFTY

20 to 25 pounds beef rib (2 to 2 rolls)
1 ounce salt (2 tablespoons)
1 teaspoon pepper
1. Bone and roll rib or remove shin bone and short ribs. (Your butcher should do this.)
2. Rub roast with salt and pepper.
3. Place in roasting pan, fat side up.
4. Insert meat thermometer so that bulb is in center of roast and away from bone.
5. Roast at 300 deg. Fahr. until thermometer registers that meat has been cooked as desired: Rare — 140 deg. Fahr., 18 to 20 minutes per pound; Medium — 160 deg. Fahr., 22 to 25 minutes per pound; Well Done — 170 deg. Fahr., 27 to 30 minutes per pound.

NOTE: The centre of a large roast will continue cooking after it has been removed from the oven.

CABBAGE SALAD FOR FIFTY

Twenty-four cups chilled shredded cabbage, 2 cups mild vinegar, 2 two-thirds tablespoons salt, 2 teaspoons pepper, 4 tablespoons dry mustard, ¼ cup sugar, ½ cup butter, 8 well-beaten eggs, 1 cup light cream.

Bring the vinegar, seasonings, sugar and butter just to the boil. Slowly stir this hot vinegar mixture into the beaten eggs. Cook stirring until the mixture thickens. Remove from heat. Beat in cream. While it is still hot pour over the shredded cabbage. Chill and serve cold.

SATURDAT (Guests)

Dinner Menu

Baked Ham or Ham Slice; Spiced Crabapples; Crunchy Eggplant; Broccoli with Mock Hollandaise; Stuffed Tomato Salads on Lettuce; Compote of Lombard or Green Gage Plums; Arkansas Travellers (see Fri.); Coffee.

Milroy Expects Drawn Out Biafran War

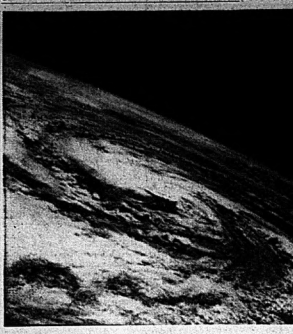
LONDON (CP) — Maj.-Gen. W. J. (Jim) Milroy, Canada's observer in the Nigerian civil war, said Friday he does not expect to be home for Christmas.

His remark, made during a brief stop in London before flying to the federal Nigerian capital of Lagos, appeared to confirm opinion in other quarters that despite the overwhelming strength of the federal forces, there is no likelihood of a quick end to the war.

Except for a few days in Ottawa, where he testified before a parliamentary committee, Milroy, a native of Bromeley, Sask., has been in the field.

Milroy's position in Nigeria, where he is one of a team of observers from Britain, Poland Sweden, the United Nations and the Organization for African Unity, is that of a person invited by the federal Nigerian government. He has not seen the situation from the secessionist Biafran side.

He reiterated that neither he nor other observers had found any evidence of deliberate genocide or massacre on the part of federal troops. He said the observers had been in the general battle area, mostly at divisional, brigade and battalion headquarters and in civilian centres where fighting had previously taken place.



He said he found that the federal forces had a system for feeding, transporting and caring for displaced persons and that this system was working.

Milroy declined to speculate whether the French government is directly or indirectly providing military aid for the Biafrans.

He said that guerrilla activity on the part of Biafrans has been taking its toll of a number of federal-field commanders.

Milroy said Nigeria is a controversial issue in Canada and he would not discuss political aspects, including whether it would be a good thing if arms supplies were cut off from that country.

He suggested, however, that an arms cut-off might prolong rather than halt the fighting. Clandestine supplies could be obtained through the black market and moved through the bush for guerrilla operations, he said.

Few Signs of Fighting on Road to Lagos

LAGOS (CP) — The road west from Benin City to Lagos stretches 200 miles through verdant Nigerian countryside sprinkled with placid mud hut villages carved from the rain forest.

With other Western correspondents I travelled the winding route to the capital from the Niger River war zone which lies another 80 miles east of the federal city of Benin.

It was not every man's idea of a drive in the country. The six of us, plus a Nigerian driver, sailed along through the low-hanging trees at speeds that seemed to approach 70. We never really knew because the speedometer didn't work.

Besides vehicles, the traffic included people, hens, goats and an assortment of other animals.

We had accompanied the international military observer team into areas near the front to observe the behavior of federal Nigerian troops and their treatment of civilians in territory taken from the forces of secessionist Biafra.

There were only a few signs of the fighting that took place along this route last winter when the federal army drove back Biafran troops that had penetrated within 130 miles of Lagos.

The occasional overturned truck, stripped for spare parts, marred the wayside. At one point the remains of a mechanical monstrosity was rusty testimony to failure by the Biafrans to piece together an armored car.

At one or two places the twisted remains of a demolished bridge lay beside a hastily erected substitute.

The only major delay was on a stretch that had been turned into a quagmire by heavy rain. A long line of market-bound trucks crawled across two rows of planks that sagged into the seemingly-bottomless mud under their weight.

It didn't seem possible but somehow they kept moving. Those that bogged down were pulled out—for a fee, of course —by a big road machine stationed at one end of the slough.

Hundreds of Nigerians lined a ridge to watch the scene which was reminiscent to the Western ers of stories of the Second World War Burma Road. Village girls did a brisk business selling oranges and bananas to the spectators.

About 10 times we were stopped at check points manned by two or three listless Nigerian troops. Usually a word shot having been with the "official party" got us through.

At one occasion, however, we were brusquely told to get out and open our bags for inspection.

We got out, but someone decided to make a final stab at persuasion.

"We are just going back to Lagos after a tour with the observers." A vague look of comprehension dawned on the man in charge: "Oh, you are the observers . . ."

In a moment we were on our way with not a bag having been opened.

Pollution May Have Doomed Us Already, Toronto Teach-in Told

TORONTO (CP) — The human race may already have assured its extinction by polluting its environment, Lamont Cole, an eminent United States zoologist, warned Friday night.

Speaking to a University of Toronto teach-in on the population crisis, Dr. Cole, professor of ecology at Cornell University, said he is encouraged that U.S. policy-makers are becoming alarmed about pollution problems "but we may have done something fatal already."

The widely-used insecticide DDT had recently built up in the oceans to the point that it is repressing the growth of sea diatoms—tiny organisms responsible for producing 70 per cent of the free oxygen in the atmosphere.

"And my geneticist friends are worried about the load of defective genes that have been imposed on the population—and whose effects may not show up for a generation.

"It's possible that we may have already exterminated ourselves."

The opening session of the teach-in, also addressed by Prime Minister Errol Barrow of the Barbados and psychiatrist George Carstairs of Edinburgh, attracted about 3,000 students and members of the public to Varsity Arena.

Dr. Cole said Americans are already consuming 40 per cent more oxygen than is produced by the surface area of the U.S. each year. Yet they carelessly continue to pollute the waters and cut down the forests producing oxygen.

Perhaps worst for the world picture were schemes for' cutting down tropical rain forests, prime suppliers of oxygen, to make way for industry.

He also warned the earth may not be able to sustain a population as large as the present one for a period of time and forecast a "world food crisis" in the next 10 or 15 years.

Mr. Barrow objected to Mr. Cole's wish to preserve the rain forests as oxygen producers on the grounds that "it would condemn the under-developed countries to remain under-developed."

Mr. Barrow said Barbados, a small island with a population density of 1,400 a square mile, has recently stabilized its birth rate, partly by a government system of encouraging birth control, partly because economic development had improved the standard of living and brought reduced family sizes.

Dr. Carstairs, chairman of the department of psychiatry of Edinburgh University medical school, said that persons living in overcrowded conditions in large cities show a higher incidence of alcoholism, illegitimacy, divorce, delinquency and attempted suicide.

Population control was imperative, he said.

If you're planning to modernize your home, here's the place to begin.

Modernizing your home can be a delightful experience. You can turn that dreary dungeon of a basement into a snug den or a bright new family room. Your kitchen can become a pleasant place in which to linger over Sunday morning coffee. Even the family laundry can be less of a chore in a sparkling new laundry room. These, and other home improvements, can do a lot to help make your way of living better than ever. But before you start to modernize, you should take care of one thing first: your household wiring.

If you begin your modernization programme by re-wiring, you'll do much more than improve your home's appearance. Almost everything about your home will suddenly seem better. You'll have all the electrical outlets you need. Your appliances will perform better, and you can add all the new ones you're ever likely to need without the annoyance of overloaded circuits or blown fuses. Re-wiring will let you take advantage of the new ideas in household lighting. With decorative exterior lighting you'll be able to enjoy patio living on pleasant summer evenings. When you have adequate wiring you can add the cool summertime comfort of air conditioning or enjoy the quiet comfort of electric heating in colder weather. Start modernizing your home by re-wiring.

THE HYDRO FINANCE PLAN makes complete Electrical Modernization of your home easy to manage. Call a qualified electrical contractor for details, or ask your Hydro.

Juniors Shy on Defence for Sunday Game

Coach Floyd Crawford hopes spanking new uniforms will bring out the best in his club when they tangle with Peterborough's perennial Junior "B" contenders, the Don Byes, at the Belleville Arena Sunday afternoon.

The new uniforms, which have just arrived, are white on red with the sponsors name on the front. They will be worn for the first time in the Morrisco Sunday home game with the Don Byes.

The Juniors will practice tonight and, according to Coach Floyd Crawford "We'll work on the fundamentals in practice. We can't give them enough of that."

"I haven't seen Peterborough this year, but they are affiliated with the Peterborough Petes of the O.H.A. Junior "A", and they are always strong. We'll have to play up to our potential to stay with them."

Coach Crawford lost one of his defencemen yesterday, when Wayne Brown broke his wrist at work. He is expected to be out of the lineup for 4-6 weeks. Defenceman Jerry Chandler is expected to be sidelined another ten days or more with foot problems.

Crawford is attempting to sign defenceman Bob Lavender of Wellington, who he feels could be a valuable addition to the Morricoes. The club now is left with only four healthy rearguards.

Game time Sunday is 2.15 p.m. On Monday the Morrisons travel to Cobourg for an 8:00 p.m. game against the Cougars.

The Morrisons are planning promotional activities for future home games. Details will be released soon, Crawford said.

The Western Hockey League's Portland Buckaroos are only too pleased the Chicago Black Hawks didn't get much use out of Gerry Goyer.

The Belleville-bred centre spent most of last season of the Black Hawk bench, an opportunity many a professional hockey player would give his eye-teeth for.

Goyer has returned to the Buckaroos — currently holding down second spot in the WHL — to centre former linemates Bill Saunders and Andy Hebenton, hockey's all-time "ironmen."

During his Western League career, which began in 1958 with Seattle, Goyer has performed at nearly a point-a-game clip for Seattle, Victoria, Los Angeles, and, since, 1963, Portland.

• • •

If you've always wanted to get a first-hand look at the calibre of hockey players carrying Canada's red and white colors in competition abroad, the Belleville arena is the place for you Friday, Nov. 8.

Canada's eastern segment of the National Team will be in town that night to play an exhibition with the senior Mo-Hawks.

The Ottawa-based Nationals are playing an eight-game series of exhibition games, one with each team in the OHA Senior "A" loop, before embarking for the world championships in Sweden.

• • •

Vancouver Sun columnist Allan Fotheringham takes a swipe at one of this writer's pet peeves, the premature luring tactics employed by professional teams in trying to get hot prospects on their rosters.

"Pro sport is a vicious business, conceded," Fotheringham writes. "But at least the Americans have drawn the line at recruiting immature youths who have not completed four years in college."

Their regulations prohibit pro football teams from signing any player whose class has not graduated.

"Canadian clubs have no such scruples.

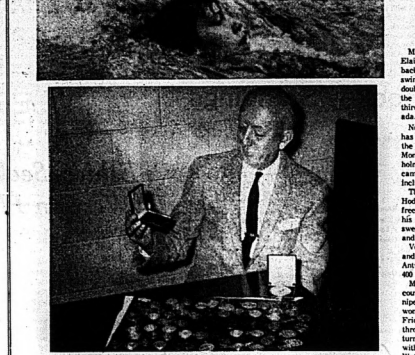
And while they will deny that they urge football phenoms to quit school, the fact that fat contracts are waiting actually encourages boys with poor grades to grab the gravy while they can."

Ditto the National Hockey League's manipulating of hockey prospects, from the time they are old enough to get off their ankles at the neighborhood rink.

This space has several times been devoted to the potential benefits of a coordinated program of athletic scholarships, to which we would like to add another suggestion.

How about an ombudsman to patrol the sometimes deceiving corridors lying between amateur athletes and a professional career?

Kings Top Aces



Collingwood Kings outlasted Kingston 10-7 in an OHA Senior "A" game that saw 12 goals scored in the third period.

In another scheduled game, Orillia Terriers scored three unanswered goals in the third period to edge Woodstock A's 7-5.

Elaine Backs Into Second Silver Medal

MEDALS AND MEMORIES — Elaine Tanner's two-medal Olympic swimming performance this week recalled a similar feat for Belleville's Kenneth Burkett. It was Mr. Burkett's brother-in-law, the late George Vernot of Montreal, who last won a Canadian individual pool medal in the 1920 Antwerp Games. Among the collection of Vernot's medals being admired by Mr. Burkett are a silver and bronze won in 1920.

Tanner's Feat Unmatched For Canadians Since 1912

MEXICO CITY (CP) — Elaine Tanner turned the pages back 56 years for Canadian swimmers when she became a double silver medal winner at the Olympic Games. It was the third swimming silver for Canada.

No Canadian swimming team has done as well as this one in the Olympics since a pair of Montreal lads went to Stockholm for the 1912 Games and came home with five medals, including three gold.

That was the year George Hodgson became the king of the freestylers, and George Vernot his prince consort. Hodgson swept the gold in the 400-, 1,000- and 1,500-metre freestyle races.

Vernot was second in the 1,000 and 1,500. Eight years later at Antwerp he got a bronze in the 400 freestyle.

* * *

Miss Tanner, 17-year-ol dVancouver native now living in Winnipeg, finished second in the women's 200-metre backstroke Friday night. She was leading through to the third leg in what turned out to be a two-girl race with the winner, Lillian (Pokey) Watson, a freshman at the University of California at Los Angeles.

But she seemed to lose ground on two turns. "I guess I just goofed," Elaine said. "My turns aren't really that good anyway."

Howard Firby, Elaine's personal coach in Vancouver and later in Winnipeg, is analysing the race, said:

"Elaine just died. She has never died like that in the 200 backstroke before. You run out of oxygen as she did and you slow down, or you collapse."

Elaine's first silver came in the women's 100-metre backstroke Tuesday night—the same night Ralph Hutton of Ocean Falls, B.C., won the silver in the men's 400-metre freestyle.

Hutton goes today against a star-studded field in the 1,500-metre final as the swimming and the rest of the 15-day Olympic program winds up with a huge crush of activity.

The Games end Sunday with Grand Prix team jumping, the 172nd and last event.

There are 34 gold medals up for grabs in a 12-hour span today with the Russians battling hard to make it big in the gold medal column where they trail the United States 40-21.

The U.S. leads Russia in the unofficial team standing by almost 200 points, and has sailed down the Lib. But in total medals the Russians could wind up with a harvest of medals that would bring them close to the 95 they won in Tokyo.

The Americans already have bettered their Tokyo showing by five medals and now have a total of 95, including 40 gold.

Miss Tanner's silver was good for five points and enabled Canada to improve on its over-all team performance at Tokyo by a single point.

The Canadian team has scored 41 points—nearly all of it in swimming—and is 19th among 47 countries in the point standing. Scoring is based on the unofficial 10-5-4-3-2-1 system of awarding points for the first six placings in each final.

The Russians awoke with a bang Friday and plucked 15 medals from the huge bag of events ranging from canoeing to basketball.

But the darling of the Games was pretty Vera Caslavska of Czechoslovakia, who today becomes the bride of miller Josef Odlovil.

The 26-year-old Olympic champion gymnast celebrated her wedding eve with three gold medals that boosted her total to four—something no other athlete has been able to do here.

Vera added the uneven bars and horse vault golds to the all-around individual title she won Thursday and shared the gold in the floor exercises with Russia's Larissa Petrik.

Saints Go Marching Over Moira

(Special) — Out of the running for this year's district Senior "AA" Football championship, the defending C.O.S.S.A. champion Quinte Saints played the role of spoilers yesterday, upsetting previously unbeaten Moira Trojans 25-0.

Coupled with Trenton's 33-1 win over Centennial, the loss dropped Moira into a first-place tie with Trenton and BCI, idle yesterday with a bye.

The three teams have identical 4-1 won-lost records.

Meanwhile, Centennial's junior squad earned their first football berth in C.O.S.S.A. playoffs with a 26-24 victory over Trenton. Centennial finished the 1968 junior season — sadly their coach said yesterday with a perfect 6-0 record.

Barry Montargue started the Senior Saints on the road to victory when he scored on a punt return late in the second quarter. He converted his own touchdown and Quinte led 7-0 at the half.

Early in the third quarter defensive end Fred Flieler recovered a fumble on the Moira 19-yard line. Wayne Castleman ran over from the five to make the score 13-0.

Wallman, do a 35-yard run and Burnette from in close scored Quinte's last two touchdowns and Montargue added one convert to make the final score 25-0.

Trenton dumped Centennials 13-1 as Danytchuck scored two majors and Powell and Mac Guiness each contributed a major. Late in the fourth quarter Kenny Bertrand booted a 40-yard single for Centennial to avert he whitewash.

In a defensive game, Napanee scored on a one-yard plunge in the first quarter and Picton evened the count in the fourth quarter when Bob Clark scored after a blocked punt. Both sides missed their convert attempts for a 6-6 result.

John Bunner and Ralph Vanderfoot ran for first quarter scores for Centennial Juniors and Steve Plevac took a pass from Mike Thompson for a two-point conversion. Trenton recovered a fumbled kickoff in the end zone for a touchdown, but the conversion was missed.

Plevac pulled in a 35-yard touchdown pass from Thompson in the second quarter, and Centennial led 20-6 at the half.

Chris Henderson scored Centennial's fourth major on a seven yard run in the fourth quarter. Trenton came back quickly with touchdowns on a punt return by Armstrong, and runs of 31 and 3 yards by Jeff Howard and Chris Long. Centennial coasted to the Bay of Quinte Junior Football championship in a scoreless fourth quarter.

Flyers Came, Saw... Wham!

By MAURICE SWITZER
(Sports Editor)

The Belleville Mo-Hawks would need a fairy godmother built like Hercules to wish away last night's devastating 10-0 OHA Senior "A" loss to the Barrie Flyers.

The team members and about 1,200 Belleville arena supporters would just as soon forget the evening, which left the Mo-Hawks' season's record at a two wins, three losses deficit.

A statistical post mortem is senseless. Except for a few sporadic Mo-Hawk outbursts, the score DID indicate the play.

A masterful Flyer offence poured 46 shots at Larry Holmes and Claude Carr, who came on in the third after Holmes suffered a head injury in the middle frame.

If the Mo-Hawks couldn't do anything right, the Flyers weren't doing very much wrong. After withstanding an onslaught by the new Mo-Hawk "Kid Line" of George Gelson, Wayne McConnell and Ron Riley right off the opening faceoff, Barrie opened the scoring at 3.33 when winger Bob Forhan fooled Holmes with a low shot from the left side.

That, as it turned out, was all the Flyers needed. But the scoring straws that broke the Mo-Hawk backs were quick goals by McCloskin and league leading scorer Corby Adams at 6.39 and 6.42 after the Flyers had hemmed the locals in their own end.

When the first-period smoke had cleared, the Flyers had themselves a 4-0 lead, which they built to 7-0 after two periods.

Adams, the Barrie captain, boosted his league-leading point total to 14 in four games, coming up with a goal and four assists last night. Wingers Wayne Weller and Bob Forhan each collected a pair of goals, with tingles going to Ron Vermette, Dave Ferguson, Nick Holmes and defencemen Rick McCloskin and Bob Delcourt.

The Mo-Hawks took 10 of the 21 penalties, including two minors, a major, and a misconduct in the first period. A scrappy winger Ralph Plane, Plane earned the fighting major in a unanimous one-minute decision over the Flyers' Wayne Weller.

Playing-coach Davey Jones didn't mince opinions about the reason for last night's loss. "They came to play hockey, and we didn't," he fumed.

"We won a couple of hockey games and we think we're world-beaters. Barrie has a talented club, all right, but they're not 10 goals more talented than we are!"

Jones, himself, was one of a handful of Mo-Hawks who had every opportunity to ease the 10-goal holocaust. He skated in alone on the Flyers' Ken Payne in the first and third periods, only to lose control of the puck after faking the goalie out of position. Other good Mo-Hawk scoring opportunities included McConnell's short-side attempt at the midway mark of the first, and a third-period screened blazer by "Winner" Brown that just deflected off Payne's pad.

But the net result of 37 Mo-Hawk shots at Payne still showed up as a blank on the score sheet.

Habs Yet to Be Beaten After 4-2 Oakland Verdict

By SCOTT BUTTON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Montreal Canadiens may wish they could spend the rest of the National Hockey League season on the road.

The Canadiens defeated the Seals 4-2 at Oakland Friday night to move into first place in the Eastern Division.

The Defending Stanley Cup champions have five wins and a tie in six games this season, all of them on the road. The Canadiens are not scheduled to play at Montreal until Nov. 8 because the Forum is being renovated.

The game at Oakland was the only one in the NHL Friday, but eight games are scheduled this weekend.

Tonight, Boston Bruins visit Toronto Maple Leafs, New York Rangers face the North Stars at Minnesota, Philadelphia Flyers clash with the Kings in Los Angeles and St. Louis Blues are at Pittsburgh Penguins.

Montreal's victory Friday, watched by only 5,282, put the Canadiens one point ahead of Chicago.

The Canadiens erupted for four goals in the first period and Oakland scored once in the second and once in the third. Jean Beliveau scored his fifth goal of the season for the Canadiens and added an assist to move into a tie for second in scoring.

Beliveau and Jim Pappin of Chicago have 11 points each, four back of Stan Mikita of the Black Hawks.

Other Canadien scorers were Serge Savard, Jacques Lemaire and Ralph Backstrom. Joe Szura and Ted Hampson connected for the Seals, who remained in a second-place tie with Minnesota in the Western Division.

John Ferguson of Montreal and Bryan Watson of Oakland fought near the Seals' goal early in the second period and the other 10 players on the ice joined them. Ferguson was the most heavily penalized, receiving a major and misconduct.

The Canadiens started their season off slowly, tying Pittsburgh 1-1 Oct. 12. Since then, they have won five straight under rookie coach Claude Ruel.

MEXICO CITY (Reuters) — The Olympic Village is shedding its romance. The 29 buildings that have housed a world in miniature during the Olympic Games, which end Sunday, will soon be just another housing development. About 60 per cent of the apartments have already been sold to private Mexican buyers. They cost 218,000 pesos ($18,700) each and a deposit of 20,000 pesos is required. "They are considered luxury apartments," said Francisco Marin, information chief at the village. The apartments, which have floored up to 12 stories, open with four sleeping in the living room, will accommodate one family each. The owners will be allowed to move in after Nov. 15.

NEW YORK (AP) — Aging Dick Tiger survived two early knockdowns and then came back to win by unanimous decision a two-man war that was billed as a 10-round light heavyweight fight with Frank DePaula Friday night. A Madison Square Garden crowd of 13,201 was continuously on its feet as each fighter hit the deck twice in the first four rounds. Tiger, the 35-year-old former middleweight and light heavyweight champion, then took control with a methodical body attack after the fourth round.

Flyers Can Lose

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

London Knights got outstanding goaltending from rookie Gilles Gilbert and scoring punch from the line of Daryll Sittler, John Gould and Alan Young to dump Niagara Falls Flyers 3-5 in Ontario Hockey Association Junior A' series action Friday night.

The Flyers pumped 44 shots at Gilbert, playing his first game for the Knights, while the Sittler-Gould-Young line scored two goals each and accounted for 16 scoring points.

In other league play, Gord Davies three goals paced Toronto Marlboros to a 6-5 decision over Montreal Junior Canadiens and St. Catharines defeated Kitchener 7-4.

George Graham scored London's last goal into an empty net after the Flyers had pulled their goalie for an extra attack. Jack Powell, Phil Roberts, Doug Brindley, Bob Walton and Don Tannahill were the hometown Niagara Falls scorers.

Ticats Will Tell

Argos Face Acid Test

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Eastern Football Conference fans may find out this weekend whether Toronto Argonauts are legitimate contenders for first place or just competent alsorans destined for third.

The Argonauts can clinch second and stay solidly in the running for top spot by defeating Hamilton Tiger-Cats Sunday at Hamilton.

The Argos lead the third-place Ticats by four points and trail the conference-leading Ottawa Rough Riders by one.

The Riders play Montreal Alouettes at Ottawa today starting at 2 p.m. EDT in a game to be televised on the CBC's eastern network.

Should the Argos win, a Nov. 3 Toronto meeting with Ottawa would be crucial. The winner of that final EFC game of the regular season would get first place.

* * *

The Argos and Ticats have split two previous encounters this season. Toronto won 18-15 at Hamilton and lost 20-6 the next week at Toronto.

Head coach Leo Cahill of the Argonauts indicated Friday he was in disagreement with bookmakers who rate the Ticats as three-point favorites Sunday.

Cahill, in his second season as head coach, said in an interview that his team is stronger now than last September when it met Hamilton.

Eskies Seek 4 in Row In Western Playoff Warmup

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Edmonton Eskimos, who concluded the Western Football Conference schedule on a whirlwind basis in 1967, are showing signs of a repeat performance this season with halfback Jim Thomas holding the key to success.

The Eskimos, with a 7-1-1 record for their last nine games in 1967 and a third-place finish, will be seeking their fourth successive victory Sunday when they play host to Winnipeg Blue Bombers.

Calgary Stampeders, three points behind leading Saskatchewan Roughriders in the battle for first, entertain fourth-place British Columbia Lions tonight.

Saskatchewan, undefeated in seven home games this season, has 21 points, six ahead of Edmonton. The Lions, six points behind the Eskimos, have a one-point margin over last-place Bombers.

The Eskimos, who still have a chance to catch the Stampeders for the home-field advantage in the Nov. 10 WFC semi-final playoff, can forget about second if Calgary wins tonight.

All WFC teams have two games remaining. The Roughriders can clinch the title next Wednesday with a win or a tie against the Eskimos in Regina.

"Thomas is having his finest season as far as value to the team is concerned in six years with our club," head coach Neil Armstrong said Friday.

Employment Problems Are Solved

By: P. F. Mallison
Manpower Counsellor

The Canada Manpower Centre, located at 324 Church Street in Belleville, is your service. Are you aware of it? Are you aware of all it can do for you?

Unfortunately, we are still known as the "Unemployment Office" by a large number of people. The last few years have bought considerable changes to our organization. The goal was to modernize and extend our service to meet the ever increasing employment needs of the community.

Now, much more emphasis is placed on helping people to resolve their own employment problems; by showing them how to apply for a position and where to look for ideas. We assist people in determining the occupation in which they are most likely to succeed. For people with personal employment problems, we try to give assistance directly or by referring them to other government or social agencies.

Training may be authorized for those who lack formal education or specific skills. If people are qualified and skilled, but no job opening exists in the local area, we are able to help them to locate in another area where there is a demand for their particular talents.

By visiting local high schools, we attempt to provide students with ideas for career possibilities, opportunities to further their education and the importance of basic skills. Many of them use our services to secure part time positions throughout the school year and during the summer months.

Another facet of our service was recently demonstrated when we were directly involved in finding employment and accommodation for a number of Czechoslovakian refugees. These people are now settled in the community and will undoubtedly contribute a great deal to the local culture.

Continuing contact with the employers in the area provides us with information regarding job vacancies, and skill requirements. During these regular meetings, problems common to both organizations can be discussed. We encourage employers at all levels to visit our office to ascertain the services and information we have available.

The aim of the Canada Manpower Centre is to provide the best possible employment service to the community in which it exists. We invite you to make full use of its facilities.

In the male divison:

Recent Grade 12 technical graduates with specialization in machine shop, who have not contacted us recently but would like their names kept in the available file, are invited to renew their registrations for consideration when future opportunities occur.

There is a constant demand both in the local area and throughout Ontario for professionally qualified accountants.

In the female divison:

There is a continuing need for mature, reliable women for child care.

Several local restaurants require the services of experienced diningroom waitresses. Two Belleville firms are looking for female sales personnel who are fully experienced in selling ladies wear.

And a number of out-of-town companies are looking for qualified, experienced dictaphone operators, typists and bookkeeping machine operators.

Tweed District News

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Parker and family, of Scarborough, Ontario (Mrs. Parker is the former Eleanore Gehan) were weekend guests of her mother, Mrs. John Gehan, Arthur St., Tweed.

Mrs. Harold Sykes, of Hale, Cheshire, England, is enjoying a four-week vacation in Canada, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Tucker and Marion, on R.R. 2, Tweed. She is the niece of Mrs. Tucker and she expects to fly home from Malton Airport on October 14th, 1968.

Mr. and Mrs. Mel Saunders, enroute to Florida, U.S.A. from their summer home in Tweedgami, were recent guests of her sister, Mrs. John Gehan, Tweed, and also of Mr. and Mrs. Doug E. Spencer and family, on Catherine St., Tweed.

Mrs. John Cassidy, of Tweed, who is on the staff of the Department of Lands and Forests, Tweed, is flying to her former home, in England for two weeks holidays, to visit her mother and sister there. She will leave by plane on the 120th inst. and the guest manager of Barnett's I.G.A. Store in Tweed a well-known businessman, fell Monday. Thanksgiving Day, from the roof of his business building while cleaning the eavestroughs, and is a patient in the Belleville General Hospital.

Most Tweed and district residents are sponsoring participants in the "march for hockey" which will be held October 27th. This is an example of just some of the efforts by the Minor Hockey Association in raising funds to provide youth with the best possible hockey program. The "march" is scheduled to commence from the Tweed-Hungerford Community Centre, Tweed, and encircle Stoco Lake — a distance of ten miles. Prizes will be given to the most successful male and female entrants.

Mr. and Mrs. Murray Leclair, of Dorval, Quebec, spent the holiday weekend with Mr. and Mrs. Walter Harkness, of Bridge St., Tweed. Mrs. Leclaire was the former Grace Harkness.

Miss Marjorie Clark, of Brampton, Ontario visited over the holiday with Mr. and Mrs. Charles LeBarron, Tweed, and she visited with her mother, Mrs. Gladys Clark, who is a patient in the Belleville General Hospital, where she has been for the past four weeks.

Mr. William Burnett, the owner and operator of the Barnett's Men's Clothing Store in Tweed, and the former manager of Barnett's I.G.A. Store in Tweed

BEATS MACHINES

LUNENBURG, N.S. (CP) — Hyacinth Sampson filleted 100 pounds of fresh cod in five minutes and 54 seconds to win the filleting competion at the annual Nova Scotia Fisheries Exhibition here. A representative of Acadia Fisheries Ltd. said his time matched that of a $55,000 filleting machine installed at a company plant in Canso. He also said Sampson "did a better job."

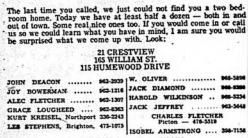
DUPLEX

Very choice location on Charles St. Doesn't this look like real family living? 4 bedrooms one side — three in the other. Modern baths, dining rooms, large living rooms with fireplace, hot water heating, garage. This must be sold at once — make us an offer.

BAY SHORE LAND



We have several very choice lots available along the south shore of the Bay. If you ever had the desire to live there — now is the time to select a site. The choice becomes less each year and no more is being made. And the price goes up day after day. Come in soon and we will tell you all about it.

2 BEDROOM HOMES

The last time you called, we just could not find you a two bedroom home. Today we have at least half a dozen — both in and out of town. Some real nice ones too. If you would come in or call us so we could learn what you have in mind, I am sure you would be surprised what we come up with. Look!

Diabetics Worry About Accidents

By Dr. Joseph G. Molner

Dear Dr. Molner: I have been a diabetic for 14 years, having developed it at the age of 9. Now being married with two children, I often worry about myself in case of an accident.

My husband does not even know the difference between a shock and a coma, maybe because I've never really explained, but I would find it much easier to buy a book for him. Is there such? — Mrs. T.R.

Most physicians who care for diabetic patients have on hand some of the excellent booklets published by pharmaceutical firms, so ask your doctor what he has. Or you can obtain tests written for laymen through the Diabetes Association. My own booklet, "Diabetes, the Sneaky Disease," is written with the idea of making clear the true nature of diabetes and including as much of the information you want. (Booklet is available by mail: send 20 cents and a long, self-addressed, unstamped envelope plus 6 cents for postage to Dr. Molner, in care of the Chicago Sun-Times Syndicate, P.O. Box 158, Dundee, Ill.

Someone in the family other than the patient should understand not only how to administer insulin (if the patient uses insulin), but also how to recognize the features of diabetic emergencies.

The chief need is to know the difference between insulin shock (Shock) and coma.

Shock usually occurs rather suddenly and affects those who have taken too much insulin from having had more physical activity than usual or having missed a meal or eaten very lightly. The excess insulin, not balanced by sufficient food, causes the reaction.

The patient feels giddy, in pain, usually has a moist skin. In severe shock he may be unconscious and thrashing about.

First aid (if he is conscious) is to give him some sugar, to balance the excess insulin in the system. This may be sweetened orange juice, a bottle of ordinary pop (the regular kind, not the low-calorie type), syrup, candy, bread and jelly.

If available, or if necessary because of unconsciousness, an injection of Glucagon is effective. This comes in a fixed dose, easily prepared for injection, so no measurement is needed. Anyone who can use a syringe can give it, the way it is prepared now.

Coma, as distinguished from shock, is slower in onset, and is the result of too much sugar and acetone in the system, instead of too little, and insufficient insulin. There will be sugar in the urine, the breath may have a fruity or acetone odor, the skin warm, dry and flushed. Breathing may be deep and rapid. Obviously, the patient is suffering from acidosis.

Treatment is more difficult than with shock. Insulin, fluids given via a vein, and other measures are necessary, depending on the severity of the acidosis. Seldom can it be handled at home; the patient needs to be taken to a hospital quickly.

I repeat: Someone in the family other than the patient should be aware of these two possibilities, and know what to do.

Dear Dr. Molner: I am 15 and my problem is that I have two moles on my chest. Is there any way I could have them removed which would be safe or get something to apply that will make them disappear? — S. W.

There's nothing you can put on the moles and no safe do-it-yourself way to remove them, but it can be done quickly and safely by your doctor.

• • •

Dear Dr. Molner: I read an article that was against the birth control pill. It said, "And what woman in her 70's to 80s still wants to have her monthly period."

Don't you stop having periods when the menopause is over even if you have been taking the pill? — Mrs. L. H.

Yes, you are correct. Large doses of female hormones can, however, cause bleeding in elderly women and simulate a period.

Procter-Silex Reactionary: CLC Head

TORONTO (CP) — Procter-Silex Co. Ltd. in Picton is a "disgrace to the corporate structure of the country," the president of the Canadian Labor Congress said Friday.

Donald MacDonald said members of Local 585, International Union of Electrical, Radio and Machine Workers, are on strike against a "vicious, reactionary" company which has an anti-labor attitude typical of the early 1930s.

He was addressing the international convention of the union on the second day of its three-day sessions.

Members of the Picton local have been on strike since July 17 in a wage dispute.

Mr. MacDonald pledged full support of the CLC. The convention passed a resolution urging all locals to pledge financial support to the strikers.

The CLC official said he found it hard to believe that employers would resort to "contemptible and despicable" tactics to deny workers their rights.

Since the 104 members of the local joined the strike, the company has hired non-union workers for limited production of heaters and irons at the plant.

Mr. MacDonald said: "Intimidation, oppression and exploitation of workers exist in our society and the same way they did in the past. Trying to convince people that these conditions don't exist is a slow job."

George Hutchins, international representative of Local 585, said the Procter-Silex plant manager, J. V. Findlay, told him the company "had no damn intention of settling the disputes."

The company, he added, has exercised the same anti-union policy at other North American plants.

The union wants a basic rate of $1.60 an hour for women and $1.80 for men. Under the old contract, women were paid $2.3 cents an hour plus an incentive bonus with a guaranteed minimum of $1. Basic rate for men was $1.27.

Picton is about 15 miles southeast of Belleville.

Nov. 1 First Increase

Mail Rates Up on Staggered Basis

OTTAWA (CP) — Canadians will feel the first bite of the new postal rates Nov. 1 when first class mail jumps to six cents an ounce from five cents and the four-cent local rate disappears.

Newspapers were granted a partial reprieve, however, as the new second class rates originally scheduled to go into effect April 1, 1969, have been spaced out over a year.

The spacing-out of the newspaper rates was the one change made in the postal bill Friday as the Commons completed clause-by-clause study of the Post Office Act Amendments.

Monday it will receive third reading in the Commons and then go to the Senate for final approval and royal assent.

Increases in newspaper postage rates—to five-cents a pound from 2½ cents on editorial content and to 15 cents a pound from four cents on advertising content—ran into stiff opposition from Conservatives, New Democrats and Creditistes.

An amendment Friday introduced by Solicitor-General Eric Kierans, spread the increases over three stages: April 1, 1969, Oct. 1, 1969, and April 1, 1970.

Daily newspapers and others publishing more than once a week with more than 10,000 circulation face a rate increase on editorial content to four cents per pound from 2½ cents April 1, to 4½ cents Oct. 1 and to five cents April 1, 1970.

David Orlikow (NDP—Winnipeg North) complained that even with the new rates the Canadian people were subsidizing Reader's Digest to the tune of $800,000 a year and Time magazine by $500,000.

He suggested a special clause to double the rates of weekly tion topped 200,000 and monthlies when they surpassed 800,000.

Mr. Kierans called it "an ingenious suggestion."

Stanley Knowles (NDP—Winnipeg North Centre) asked that the effective date for the first-class rate increase be April 1, 1969, to coincide with the second-class rate increases.

Mr. Kierans said he would prefer to reverse the plan and have the second-class rates effective Nov. 1 this year, the same as the first-class rates. But it could take until April for the department to prepare for the new second-class rates.

Rates on advertising content go up to nine cents from four, then to 12 and 15 on the same dates.

Dailies under 10,000 circulation face the same rate increases on editorial content. But on advertising content they will experience a jump of 7½ cents a pound to nine cents from 2½ The two succeeding increases will be on the same basis as the larger dailies.

The under-10,000 circulation group will still enjoy free mailing privileges for up to 2,500 copies on rural routes.

Weekly newspapers now paying 1½ to three cents a pound will face rate increases to four cents April 1, to 4½ cents Oct. 1, and to five cents April 1, 1970.

Rates for all other periodicals will go to four cents April 1, to 4½ oct. 1 and to five cents April 1, 1970.

Quebec Jails Inadequate

QUEBEC (CP) — An inquiry into the administration of justice in Quebec Friday blamed inadequate prison facilities and complicity between security personnel and prisoners for a recent rash of prison escapes in this province.

A Royal commission, formed in 1967 under Yves Prevost, a Quebec City lawyer, said the number of prison escapes could easily increase. And if they remained at their present level, it was not because of adequate security measures but because prisoners were afraid of being recaptured.

The report claims that armed men could enter the Montreal court house and free 50 prisoners before the alarm could be sounded.

The commission's 191-page report deals particularly with the escapes of Serge Cotsky from the Montreal court house and of Robert and Gerald Lelievre, who fled from a St. Jerome, Que., prison, 45 miles north of Montreal, last spring. Other escapees included Claude Levasseur, Yves Simard and Gaston Plante in Drummondville, Que., April 30.

The inquiry made 15 recommendations to the provincial justice department, with emphasis on a continued effort by the department to discover which guards or other persons connected with the St. Jerome prison had collaborated in the escape of the Lelievre brothers.

The report says "gross negligence" on the part of provincial police officers in charge of prisoners facilitated the Drummondville escapes.

The report also recommended a province-wide revamping and centralization of the detention system and a complete rebuilding of the interior of the Montreal court house.

Jeane Dixon's Horoscope

For Oct. 27th.

Your birthday today: The main problem now is how to achieve sufficient privacy to work out what you have to do to get ahead. It is a time for independent action, but you are hindered by confusion from people in the way. Today's natives are inclined to be aggressive pro moters.

ARIES (Mar. 21 — Apr. 19): Bring your people with you and enjoy an active day. Health outlook should be included in your schedule

TAURUS (Apr. 20 — May 20): The accent is on fun today; almost any course you care to follow can be enjoyable. Collaborate with your friends to make a festive evening.

CANCER (June 21—July 22): Begin the day with confidence. Try getting acquainted with people who share your hobbies. Purple-and-gray and some serious study should find a place in your day's rounds.

LEO (July 23 — Aug. 22): You can have a grand time by manifesting your better nature: sure to start at home with your own people. Recreation and sports can follow.

VIRGO (Aug. 23 — Sept. 22): The way to make the most of an agreeable Sunday is to put responsibilities completely out of your mind. Find people who share your views and compare notes.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 — Oct. 22): There is definite emphasis on home and family affairs. A gathering of the clan brings renewed encouragement for the laggards. (Developments in the lives of your friends are very instructive.)

SCORPIO (Oct. 23—Nov. 21): With just a little reserve, you can make an extra conquest this day. Go about matters in a leisurely fashion. Explore your community for visitors from far places. Enjoy the search for a pastime.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 — Dec. 21): There is somebody within your reach who can open many doors and will enjoy doing so. If you go out early and stay on, you will meet unexpected people.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 — Jan. 19): Begin with what you consider your duties and get finished. Then make a determined search for the pleasant decisions you've not had the chance to enjoy lately.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20 — Feb. 18): Religious activity brings you an exceptionally satisfying experience now. Some people need your help. Afterwards, you will be glad you made the effort.

PISCES (Feb. 19 — Mar. 20): Abandon the familiar habits and try some new environment. If you have a solid day's schedule waiting for you by invitation, bring your mate and explore as far away from home as you can get.

For Oct 28th.

Your birthday today: Despite all hindrances, you seem to feel a remarkable flow of material advantage this coming year. Everything is seen as solved with financial aid. Where care is taken not to infringe on the rights of others success is promised. Today's natives are magnetic personalities.

ARIES (Mar. 21 — Apr. 19): Gather information all morning and apply it in concert with associates in the afternoon. In other words: routines early, decisions later.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 — May 20): Once you wait out the resistance nearby everybody presents this morning. Be day open out into good accord. Press forward resolutely.

GEMINI (May 21 — June 20): It seems you've used your quota of requests for the moment. Instead of asking for anything, think of ways in which to earn or create what you want. Catch up with letters and the news.

CANCER (June 21—July 22): Your regular work seems easier now. Pitch in wholeheartedly. Insurance coverage should be productive to explore today.

LEO (July 23 — Aug. 22): Transportation is available and very useful. An early start is urged, as there is a pile-up since last week's changes and the weekend reactions.

VIRGO (Aug. 23 — Sept. 22): Get working and stand in the correct order, then bring in your rapport. Cooperation should be achieved easily with a direct approach. Haste can only throw the entire matter out of perspective.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 — Oct 22): Learning for its own sake is indicated; any creative effort is strongly urged. Children and their problems are under review. Let "a soft answer turneth away wrath" be your guide.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23—Nov. 21): Cooperation and mutual gains are promised now. Home matters can be eased with just a little attention. The evening is good for serious thought toward the future.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 — Dec. 21): Errands are more conveniently attended than usual. Bring details up to date. This evening promises an adventurous or romantic spirit.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 — Jan 19): Hidden factors come to light and must be taken into account immediately. The greater part of the day is well spent organizing.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20 — Feb. 18): Paradoxically, you may be inspired by starting premiatur-ly today. Take your time. Afternoon and evening are much easier.

PISCES (Feb. 19 — Mar. 20): Restrain your tendency to discuss the details, as you are apt to be misunderstood. Work quietly for a tour de force. Everybody has a new idea to talk about, but not many are well thought out.

Not Ready to Retire

Robarts "To Lead Party Into 70s"

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont. (CP) — Premier Robarts said Friday night he plans to continue leading the provincial Progressive Conservative party into the 1970s.

The premier told a dinner marking the party's quarter-century of power in Ontario he has the "utmost" confidence that the Conservatives will be returned to power at the next provincial election, as yet unscheduled "and in the years that follow."

"Personally, I look forward to the stimulating challenge of leading our party into the '70s," he said.

Rumors that the 51-year-old political leader planned to retire reached a peak in February, 1967, when he entered hospital for treatment of internal bleeding diagnosed as the result of a hernia in the diaphragm.

Most of the premier's speech was devoted to listing the achievements by successive Conservative governments in the province since 1943 and the "continual regeneration" of the party in the process.

"We stand on the verge of the greatest period of our growth and progress," he said. "We have constructed a sound foundation. We have prepared carefully to deal with the challenges of the Seventies.

"During the '70s we in Ontario shall enjoy the greatest return for our investment which we have ever seen. The policies and programs of our party will enable the people of Ontario to enjoy an even fuller life and greater prosperity."

The dinner was sponsored by the Niagara Peninsula Progressive Conservative associations.

The premier said he had been asked by an interviewer in Ottawa earlier this week: "What about your retirement?

Mr. Robarts' said he realized that not all those who hoped he would retire soon were in the opposition parties and he acknowledged that some of the rumors "have reached my ears."

"When I am ready to retire I'll make the announcement to all members of the party," he said.

THE BETTER HALF By Bob Barnes

"You forgot your lollipop and Shirley Temple doll!"

South American Trip

Three-pronged Tour Starts

OTTAWA (CP) — Canada launches a major diplomatic, cultural and economic invasion of South and Central America Sunday when a month-long tour of nine countries by a ministerial mission begins.

External Affairs Minister Sharp will lead four other ministers and 30 government officials—though not all at the same time—on official visits to Venezuela, Colombia, Peru, Chile, Argentina, Brazil, Mexico, Guatemala and Costa Rica.

Leaving here at 10 a.m. EST Sunday, the mission will arrive in Caracas Sunday night, Bogota Oct. 30, Lima Nov. 2, Santiago Nov. 5, Buenos Aires Nov. 8, Rio de Janeiro Nov. 12, Mexico City Nov. 19, Guatemala City Nov. 24, and San Jose Nov. 26. It will return here Nov. 27.

Chief purposes of the mission are to:

—Explore the pros and cons of Canada joining the Organization of American States, concerning which there are deep divisions in Canada.

—Develop and cement new cultural ties.

—Look for new markets for Canadian goods and services.

But the trade and industry departments have figured prominently in the planning, and the government hopes its representatives will be followed by businessmen with open order books.

The nine countries to be visited together account for 80 per cent of Latin America's purchases from Canada and supply about 90 per cent of Canada's imports from the region.

Prime Minister Trudeau, announcing the mission's composition and travel plans in the House of Commons Thursday, called it "a voyage of exploration." The ministers will try to make Canada better known there, and bring Latin American affairs to the attention of Canadians.

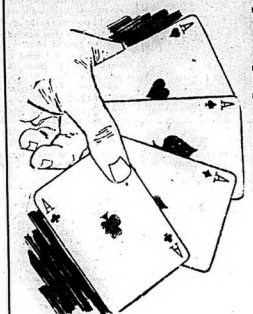
While Mr. Trudeau did not mention it to OAS he may have said the mission fits in with the government's current review of Canada's role in international affairs. He has supported eventual OAS membership for Canada.

While wishing the mission well, opposition party spokesmen in the Commons were either reserved or hostile to OAS membership for Canada now.

Conservative Leader Robert Stanfield said he has such reservations.

David Lewis, parliamentary leader of the New Democratic Party, said membership "should not occur at this time."

Czech Youth Asked Not To Demonstrate



PRAGUE (Reuters) — Czechoslovak leaders have warned the country's youth not to be tempted into extreme acts Monday—the 50th anniversary of the founding of the republic.

But observers here believed it will be difficult to avoid any outward signs of "mourning" following the Aug. 20 Warsaw Pact invasion.

An open letter to the youth of the country from President Ludvik Svoboda, Communist party chief Alexander Dubcek, Premier Oldrich Cernik and Parliament President Josef Smirkovsky urged them to behave responsibly.

Meanwhile, Dubcek accused "Western propaganda" of trying to make political capital out of the Warsaw pact invasion.

He told a meeting of Communists in Pardubice, eastern Bohemia, that Western propaganda is increasing its efforts to whip up anti-Communist hysteria. the Czechoslovak news agency CTK reported.

CABLE TV

WHAT IS-CABLE TV?

It is a service which delivers a wider selection of TV stations to your set — with perfect reception from each, without any need for an aerial. The signals are received by a large sensitive master antenna system located on high land outside the city. Amplifiers boost their strength and co-axial cable erected by the Telephone Company conveys these signals in your home, allowing you to watch what you want — when you want it. This new form of TV reception has already been adopted by over 2300 cities in Canada and the U.S.

HOW IS IT INSTALLED IN YOUR HOME?

Your television set is connected in the TV cable which runs along the street or through your yard with the telephone cable that serves you. The connecting wire is smaller than a lead pencil and it enters your house as neatly as your telephone line. No outside antenna is required.

DO YOU NEED A ROOF ANTENNA?

No . . . The television cable eliminates the need for the unsightly, inefficient antennae, which cannot compare with all-season reception via television cable. Interference does not affect the cable, as in the case with roof antennae adjacent to streets which carry heavy vehicular traffic.

Teacher's Appeal Said Invitation To Disaster

LONDON, Ont. (CP) — The recent appeal by secondary school teachers for support in end erosion of authority in high schools is an invitation to disaster, a co-author of the Hall-Dennis report on the aims and objectives of education in Ontario said Friday.

Lloyd Dennis, 44, speaking to a conference of potential candidates for trustees' jobs on the new county education boards, referred to an advertisement sponsored by the Ontario Secondary School teachers' Federation.

The advertisement, carried in 24 Ontario newspapers, voiced regret that the "educational experience has been interrupted in recent weeks by the irresponsible conduct of a few students, trustees, parents and organized pressure groups."

"I suggest that if we, as professionals, run an ad like this, we're running scared," Mr. Dennis said of the advertisement which called for the co-operation and support of citizens.

When students are ignored and a group goes to the public with an invitation to maintain control, it is an invitation to disaster, he said.

"There is something false in my society as a school teacher if I have to plead for power," Mr. Dennis said.

Two-Hours of Teaching Enough Says Educator

EDMONTON (CP) — Teachers should have to teach no more than two hours a day, an Ontario education researcher said Friday.

Dr. E. J. Ingram, assistant co-ordinator of development for the Ontario Institute for Studies in Education, was addressing the north-eastern Alberta teachers' convention.

"I am of the firm opinion that no teacher should operate with a group of students for more than two hours per day, nor with individual students in a clinical situation for more than 1½ or two hours a day," Dr. Ingram said.

"The remainder of the teachers' work day should be devoted to planning, preparing to make professional decisions, evaluating results of the educational process and participating in growth activity."

Discussing teaching techniques, he said non-professional classroom tasks must be carried out by assistants if teachers are to fulfil true professional roles.

He estimated teachers now spend from 40 to 60 per cent of their time on non-professional duties such as typing, cutting out pictures and "pasting things on walls."

Man Works To Live

TORONTO (CP) — Man works to live, not lives to work, and only intense educational efforts by all levels of government will bring better use of growing leisure time, Health Minister Munro said Friday.

The first federal government contribution might be in promotion of the advantages of leisure activity that goes beyond the spectator level, he told the Canadian division of the National Industrial Recreation Association here.

He said he hoped provincial governments would join the effort by making preparation for leisure part of the regular educational process of the schools.

After public education, the federal government should offer advisory and consultative services so that, in co-operation with the provinces, communities and agencies would have expert advice on facilities for leisure that would give maximum service and scope.

STILL STROKING

VICTORIA (CP) — Arthur Thompson, who turned 99 years of age June 30, bettered his age by seven during a recent golf match at the Uplands Golf Club here. The elderly duffer toured the par-70 layout in just 92 strokes and said he would have done better except for being three over par on the par-four 18th hole.

Asks Legislation Review

Potter Terms Property Tax Rebate Socialist Inequity

Ontario's property tax rebate scheme is expensively over-reaching itself and should be abolished, believes Dr. R. T. Potter.

The Quinte MPP wants the provincial government to review the plan — now only in its first year — because its system of unselective, universal remuneration is not satisfactory.

"We're trying to help people in the province because of ex-cessive taxation," he charges, but I don't see how we are helping people who really need help."

The Conservative legislator, who is building a critic's reputation within his own party, touched off criticism of the rebate scheme Saturday during a debate at the Conservative Women's Advisory Committee regional meeting.

He opened up on the tax system when a delegate queried rebates to cottage owners. (The Ontario average rebate on cottage property is $53. But many Americans only pay $58 taxes — actually reduced to $5 with the rebate, the delegate claimed).

"It doesn't look right — with us subsidizing people with cottages while poverty exists in the province," agreed Dr. Potter.

Today the Quinte MPP termed it "ridiculous" that the government should subsidize summer cottage owners "when people haven't got a decent home to live in."

"My belief, and the old Progressive Conservative belief — is that we give assistance where assistance is necessary," he said. "When you subsidize everybody you're making it so expensive you're not helping people who need it."

"It was a mistake that it was ever done. The administrative costs must be at least $1,000,000 a year."

"I'd like to take a whole new look at this thing," asserted the MPP.

Another problem posed by the present scheme is its abuse by some recipients.

Some landlords, he charged, don't pass on the rebate in cases where tenants have no lease. Instead they threaten to raise rents if the tenants seek the rebate.

"It's been abused just like the student loans were being abused," he claimed.

Hercules Are Cleared For Mercy Airlift

Fresh Arms Reach Biafra

LONDON (CP) — Maj.-Gen. H. T. Alexander, Britain's observer in Nigeria, said today the French "are thought to be providing the Biafrans with arms" for their struggle against federal military forces in the African country.

Alexander told a news conference he himself came upon a French rocket that had been fired.

But otherwise, "a very sharp increase in firepower in the last few weeks" seemed reason for the belief that fresh fighting supplies were reaching the Biafrans, the British general said.

Judging from the tone and rate of fire, he estimated that most of the additional firepower was of Czechoslovak manufacture.

Flights Start When Feasible

OTTAWA (CP) — One Canadian Hercules transport plane has arrived on the island of Fernando Poo off the Nigerian coast for a planned refuel operation into Biafra, a defence department spokesman said today.

The plane flew from Ascension Island in mid-Atlantic and landed on Fernando Poo this morning. A second Hercules, carrying supplies and equipment for the relief team, is en route to the island from Recife, Brazil.

A third Hercules is still at Lagos, Nigeria's capital, where it has been for two weeks. No suitable landing fields have been found for it in Nigerian-held territory outside Lagos.

The defence department spokesman said there is no information yet about when the first mercy flight would be made from Fernando Poo.

Fernando Poo, 60 miles off the Nigeria coast, is the main supply centre for relief operations to Biafra by the International Red Cross.

During the weekend, Equatorial Guinea and Biafra both gave clearances for the Canadian mercy missions from Fernando Poo.

The Canadian government announced early this month that permission had been granted by Nigerian authorities for flights by Canadian air force planes on loan to the Red Cross over Nigerian territory into Biafra.

The crew of the Hercules now at Fernando Poo has been told to make the first relief flight, "when feasible," an external affairs department spokesman said.

Meanwhile conflicting reports about the Biafran situation came from the International Red Cross committee and an official of the Presbyterian Church.

Where the Red Cross reported that the threat of mass starvation in Biafra is now greatly diminished Dr. E. H. Johnson, secretary for the Presbyterian Church's overseas missions said an estimated 25,000 to 50,000 Biafrans will die daily by Christmas unless there is a substantial increase in relief supplies.

Czechs Demonstrate Despite Warning

PRAGUE (CP) — Thousands of Czechoslovaks marched in Prague today in patriotic demonstrations with anti-Soviet overtones as the nation celebrated its 50th anniversary as a republic.

Several hundred students marched to the gates of Prague's presidential castle chanting "Better dead than shame" and later shouting out "Russians go home", as leaders inside presided over an anniversary ceremony.

Then about 3,000 persons, most of them young, marched behind leaders carrying the Czechoslovak flag from Wenceslas Square in the heart of the capital toward the city's historic Old Town's square.

It was the first time since the Soviet-led military invasion in August that Czechoslovaks had staged a public demonstration in Prague. The march took place despite warnings from the nation's leaders that anti-Soviet outbursts could bring a return of Russian tanks and troops to the city.

The demonstrators who marched on the presidential castle pushed on the locked iron gates several times in an attempt to break in.

The Soviet ambassador, who had attended the ceremonies, left by a back door.

There were minor scuffles as the demonstrators crashed against police lines at the castle overlooking Prague and against the tall iron gates but no injuries were reported.

Nixon Comment "Ugly"

LBJ Predicts A "Truman" Upset

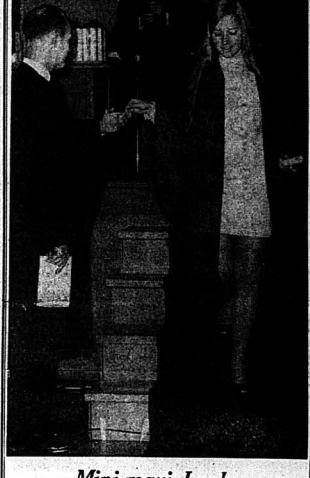
By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

President Johnson accused Richard M. Nixon Sunday of making "ugly and unfair charges" on security and peace efforts and likened Humphrey charged Nixon with spreading an unfounded rumor that the Democrats are playing politics with peace.

Humphrey Sunday night accused his Republican presidential opponent in the Nov. 5 U.S. election "of simply using the old Nixon tactic of unsubstantiated insinuation" by suggesting White House "insiders" are trying to bring off a Vietnam peace development to boost Humphrey's election chances.

But Nixon—expanding Sunday on his Friday statement that he did not believe speculation that Johnson would make "a cynical, last-minute attempt" to salvage Humphrey's candidacy—said he was trying to squelch the reports.

Johnson, making a political appearance in New York, had accused Nixon of making "ugly and unfair charges about our security gap and charges about our attempts to win peace in the world."



Humphrey also joined Johnson Sunday and again today in disputing Nixon's statement that Democratic administrations had created a security gap and that America must maintain armes superiority over the Soviet Union.

"He (Nixon) is risking miscalculation by our enemies," Humphrey said in remarks prepared for an Akron, Ohio, rally. "He is urging a mad escalation of the nuclear arms race. And he is advocating an increasing militarization of American life and American foreign policy."

Johnson lambasted both Nixon and third party candidate George C. Wallace Sunday and predicted Humphrey would win an upset victory Nov. 5 much as Harry S Truman did in 1948.

Johnson called Nixon "a veteran of the time when America's problems were deferred and her needs were ignored" and said Wallace's answer to preserving order is to "line up a few thousand troops on the sidewalks of the city."

Wallace, meanwhile, belittled polls showing him losing support. The ills "are liars . . . trying to rig the election," Wallace said in Montgomery, Ala. And he said that after the election "we're going to put some of the polling outfits out of business."

TEL AVIV (AP) — The usual sporadic firing along the cease fire lines around Israel resumed Sunday night after a nine-hour battle across the Suez Canal the day before that United Nations observers said the Egyptians started. The battle across the canal Saturday was one of the hottest along the waterway in the 17 months since the 1967 Arab-Israeli war ended. Israel reported 15 soldiers dead and 34 wounded. Egypt said five of its soldiers were killed and nine wounded.

FALMOUTH, England (AP) — Truck driver Derek Heath, 43-year-old father of six, rowed out of this Cornish port Saturday on his way across the Atlantic in a 12-foot rubber dinghy.

Closed Circuit TV for Cells Possible

The recent suicide and suicide attempt in the cell-block of the Belleville police station has brought a problem into focus.

And perhaps in the future camera eyes (from closed circuit television) may be focused on each cell and monitored by a policeman on duty.

"Closed TV is a possibility that I'm exploring," said Chief Douglas Crosbie this morning. The Belleville chief has just returned from Madison, Wisconsin, where he took a course in management at the University of Wisconsin.

He was the only Canadian police officer present at the week-long course.

At the present time the cell-blocks, there are two of them, are checked at least once every 45 minutes by the constable on duty.

One block contains eight cells, the other containing two cells is for women prisoners.

"If there is a woman in custody then we call one of our female officers and have her on duty as long as the lady is in custody," said the Chief.

The constable checking the cells is the station operator and he signs in each time he goes down.

"There is never a period of time longer than 45 minutes that the cells aren't checked."

Chief Crosbie has started investigating the situation and will be preparing a report that will be submitted to the Belleville Police Commission.

"It is a problem," admitted the chief, "and we're not sure what the answer will be."

Prisoners at the station are stripped of everything except their clothes before being placed into a cell.

And the cells are kept very clean and warm at all times — each one of them has its own toilet facilities and they are disinfected each morning.

"But if a man really wants to take his own life how long will it take him," asked the Chief, "about two minutes."

Closed circuit TV or keeping a man on duty in the cell-block at all times will both cost city residents quite a bit of tax money and even then it's going to be difficult to guarantee that nobody will be able to take his own life.

Several companies are promoting the closed circuit TV idea and Chief Crosbie has sent to them for information and prices on the set-up.

"That will go along with my report to the commission," he said.

Both the Chief, his staff, and the Commission have been discussing the problem but it has not yet been decided what positive action will be taken.

Youths from the Prince Edward County Catholic Youth Organization provided the honor guard at the cairn at St. Francis Chapel in Wellington. Parts of the church are 300 years old and the cairn, commemorating the work of the two Sulpician fathers who began the church, was unveiled yesterday.

Wellington Cairn Unveiled--Marks Arrival of Religion

It took 300 years and stone brought from three counties but now the St. Francis Chapel in Wellington has a cairn commemorating the names of two priests dead for nearly three centuries.

Children sang, and performed religious pageants, while politicians forgot their trade, and read simple, prepared "lessons" of Christianity and morality.

The ceremonies followed the unveiling of the cairn at the chapel.

Marking the Quinte Tercentenary the structure marks that 300 years have passed since Christianity was introduced to this area by Sulpician fathers, Claude Trouvre and Francois de Salinsac de la Madre Fasolon.

The two priests originally served at the Ville Marie Sulpician Seminary until requested to preach Christianity in this area in 1668, by' an Iroquois chief.

A seminary was later established by the Sons of St. Francis, a Recollet order, and was in existence until 1820.

The unveiling of the cairn was performed by Archbishop J. L. Wilhelm of Kingston. Also in attendance at the program was Father Guy Desnaulles, of the Sulpician Fathers, and Rev. G. Mulligan of Montreal who played a major role in organizing the endeavour.

Honor Guards were provided by the Prince Edward Catholic Youth Organization and Norris Whitney, MPP and the Honorable George Heec, M.P. Both spoke at the ceremony.

The cairn was built with stones brought from various places in Prince Edward, Northumberland and Hastings counties.

West Bridge Street Paving Should Be Completed Soon

This morning Caton Construction and Willowdale commenced pouring of the concrete pavement on the south side of the street and by noon had completed almost to Cedar Street.

The north side of Bridge Street has been open to two way traffic for the past two weeks but when paving operations commenced 1 h i s morning eastbound traffic was temporarily diverted down the Devil's Elbow hill at the south end of Highland Ave.

As was the case with the north side of the street, the concrete now being poured will have to set for more than a week before traffic is permitted.

Wilson Denies Statement

The association, was formed to improve communication among member colleges, to provide bargaining powers that college administrations will recognize and to promote a suitable public image of students, an organization spokesman said.

Northern College of Kirkland Lake and Niagara College of Welland opposed the union.

"Right now we are a grass roots organization, very loosely knit," Jack Barr, conference chairman said.

"In the next two years we hope that a strong federation might be formed."

Dale McVey, a delegate from Northern College of Kirkland Lake said that if all the colleges joined the Ontario Union of Students, they would have a command-ing majority over universities.

Larry Lanigan, president of the Niagara College Students' Union said the association was powerless and added he couldn't see the sense of students paying 50 cents a year to belong to the association.

Burning Days Are Over

Loyalist Students Join Group

KINGSTON — Loyalist College joined with its 19 sis-er colleges across Ontario here this weekend to form the Colleges of Applied Arts and Technology Students Association.

The new organization, representing 25,000 youthful members, was described as "realistic" in its approach to the problems by Al Silbbart, president of Loyalist student council.

"Days of college burning are over," said Silbbart. "We're looking forward to practical and realistic solutions to problems — without going to demonstrations and that sort of thing."

"It's more interested in providing a voice for the students, not so much a voice for the executive."

Findlay Denies Statement

PICTON, Ont. (CP) — James V. Findlay, plant manager of Proctor-Silex Co. Ltd., today denied that he had ever told a union leader that his firm had no intention of settling a strike which started July 17.

George Hutchens, international president of striking Local 585, International Union of Electrical, Radio and Machine Workers, said Friday at the union's 20th-day convention in Toronto that Mr. Findlay told him the company "had no damn intention of settling the dispute."

Mr. Findlay said in an interview here he "never made a remark remotely like that to Hutchen or to anyone else."

About 100 workers are seeking a basic rate of $1.60 an hour for women and $1.80 for men. Under the old contract, women were paid $3.2 cents an hour plus an incentive bonus, with a guaranteed minimum wage of $1 an hour. Basic rate for men was $1.27¼an hour.

The plant, which manufactures kitchen appliances, has been operating with non-union workers hired by Mr. Findlay. They are brought to the plant by bellowed guard through a field at the back of the plant out of sight of picket lines.

Picton is 30 miles by 15 miles south-east of Belleville.

Biafrans Get Arms

Alexander said alliances that he and the other observers in Nigeria were deliberately drawn by the federal authorities from friendly governments took no account of Canadian membership on the team.

"The Canadian view (of federal policies) is not always friendly," said the British observer.

Alexander said that, judging from statements made by Ja radin, the Biafran administration "didn't think much" of the observers, whose main job was to watch for any signs of genocide. Besides Canada and Britain, they come from Poland, Sweden, the United Nations and the Organization for African Unity.

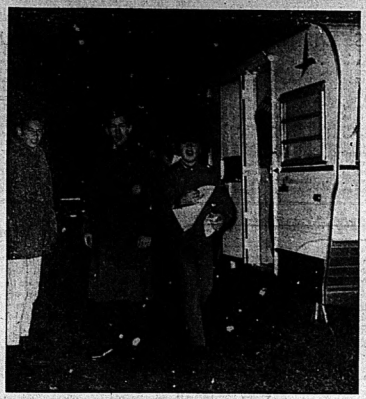
Subject to co-operation from old man winter and to approval by the city parks and recreation board, skating enthusiasts will have the choice of 16 outdoor rinks in Belleville this winter.



Two of the proposed rinks areas are new — both in the East Hill area at the Moira Secondary School football field and at the Haig Road school site.

Parks superintendent Lloyd Syer said during a tour of rink sites yesterday that the success of outdoor natural ice rinks was to a great extent dependent upon the weather.

But spotting rink locations in low lying areas where there is a natural drainage can greatly extend the use of such rinks even if the weather doesn't fully co-operate.

He said this was done wherever feasible and during yesterday's tour several possible locations in the Park Dale and College Hill areas were pointed out.

Walking in the Snow

The season's first fall of snow Saturday morning made the entrants in the air cadet walkathon from Trenton more determined to reach their goal. More than 70 youths undertook to trek around the Bay of Quinte and raised $2,700 to buy an aircraft for training.

Quinte Valedictorian Says . . .

Higher Education Necessary

Commencement has real significance for today's high school students, Quinte Secondary School graduates were told Saturday night.

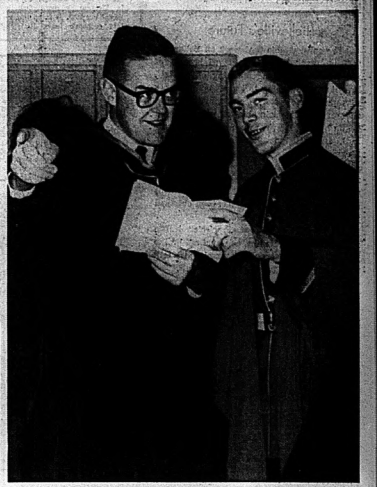
"In former years, high school might have been sufficient, but this year we all feel we want to go to something more, whether it be in the academic field or training in the working world," valedictorian Anne Beach said.

Her address was heard by an audience that overflowed the auditorium into halls and the cafeteria, where the proceedings were carried on the public address system.

"Eleven years ago, at Quinte's first graduation, less than 50 per cent of the class went on to higher institutes of learning," Miss Beach said. "But this year 85 per cent of our class has gone on to community colleges, schools of nursing, teachers' college or university."

"Because of recent advances in all fields, there is now so much more for us to learn. Even high school courses now contain material which was formerly taught in third or fourth year university. If we hope to solve any of the problems of the fast-moving complex world of today, we must be better prepared than ever before," she asserted.

The largest number of graduates in the school's history, all clad in Quinte blue undergraduates' gowns, received their diplomas.



Ninety two qualified for Secondary School Honor Graduation diplomas and 256 received graduation diplomas for successful completion of four years of high school.

Superintendent D. C. Stirling presented Ontario scholarships to Anne Beach, Paula Druce, Diane Dryden, Glen Easton, Beth Putnam, Cheryl Stoliker, and Pamela Taylor.

The principal's trophy for the best all-round student was awarded to Miss Linda Prudden.

The school band, under the direction of Doug Anstiss, provided music for the event.

$100 grows to $250
with
Canada Savings Bonds

The new Bonds have fourteen regular annual interest coupons which can be cashed each year as they come due. The first pays 5.75%; the second, 6.50%; the next three, 6.75% each, and the last nine a big 7.00% each. Total regular annual interest amounts to $95.50 on each $100 Bond.

If you choose you may hold all these regular annual interest coupons uncashed until your Bond matures. If you do, you will then get interest on your interest totalling an additional $54.50 on each $100 Bond.

At maturity, therefore, you can get back total interest of $150 plus your original $100 investment. This way each $100 Canada Savings Bond becomes worth $250. Other denominations can grow at the same exciting rate.

Adults, children, businesses and institutions—all may buy Canada Savings Bonds. They are available in convenient amounts of $50 up to $50,000 for cash or on instalments, wherever you work, bank or invest. And, as always, Canada Savings Bonds are cashable any time at full face value plus earned interest.

Few investments are so profitable. None builds more surely for the future. Buy Canada Savings Bonds and make your savings really grow.

Apple Producers to Benefit From New Marketing Body

Apple producers in the Bay of Quinte district will stand to benefit from the decision to have the wholesale and retail price of apples set by a new apple marketing commission.

"We have been working for this for more than two years and it is bound to benefit the producer," stated Bonter, prominent Prince Edward county apple grower.

He said it would help stabilize the price and stop undercutting by the big supermarkets.

Mr. Bonter said that although the retail price of apples has increased over the years, the price received by the producer hadn't shown any increase for 15 to 18 years.

"We just can't continue to sell at the same price when costs of production are increasing," he said.

The announcement that wholesale and retail prices of apples would be set after December 15, was made late last week by Earl Mighton, chairman of the Ontario Farm Products Marketing Board.

Mr. Mighton said the new commission, to be set up in November, will take over the functions of the Ontario Apple Producers Marketing Board, which will cease operations.

The commission was first proposed two years ago but encountered opposition when members of other commodity boards felt it was dangerous to allow non-producers in the marketing organization.

The new organization will include representatives of growers, packers, processors, retailers and consumers.

Mr. Bonter felt it would be beneficial to have nbn producers on the commission.

The wholesalers know more about marketing than the producers and we feel they are needed on the commission he said.

The big supermarket grocery chains were blamed to some extent by Mr. Bonter for the producer price for apples being held at the same level for 15 years.

He said the big retailers put on specials in apples with the result that wholesale prices are forced down. Then in turn the wholesalers attempt to buy supplies as cheaply as possible and the producer is offered less for his apples.

The feeling is that if the wholesale price can be set it will follow that the producer will benefit.

Belleville's Future

It was inevitable that work on Belleville's "official plan" would be delayed because of recent changes in the planning office staff. Now it is encouraging to learn that the city's new planning director, Bert Kenny, is well on the way to familiarising himself with the work begun by P. J. Beavis, who has gone to Brantford, and assistant planning officer Frank Stokmans.

Nor has the urban renewal study been neglected. There had been some delay of late while awaiting both federal and government approval, but now that this has been obtained the study can be commenced.

However, talk of "magic circle" traffic routes, malls and the like, as visualized by the Chamber of Commerce, will remain just talk if this study brings no material result. The city has a long way to go before its physical image becomes not only brighter but more eloquent of the kind of environment contemporary society should enjoy.

Belleville and other cities of Ontario must get away from the drab exteriors of buildings that were erected long since, yet still serve population whose needs and desires are changing with the times. In such a transition, modern planning methods and architectural concepts play a paramount role.

In the next 25 years, Belleville's population is expected to increase by more than 17,000. There will be commensurate progress in surrounding communities, as area representatives learned at a recent conference here sponsored by the Department of Highways. What we need at this point is something of the Expo spirit, the ability to get things done. If the end results are as exciting as the concepts the Belleville of the future will be as impressive a centre as any in the province.

Dentists Scarce

There is a fortune awaiting any dentist who establishes a practice in Northern Ontario.

The trouble is, neglect of dental hygiene in communities in the north is such that no dentist would ever be able to do the work alone. Busy as city practitioners are, their schedule is nothing compared with the situation that awaits a man establishing anywhere from Bancroft to Chapleau to Fort Frances.

In Chapleau, for instance, Mayor Terrance Way-White says the 1,450 school children of the community have been without dental inspections for three years. He says, moreover, that he will support the introduction of fluoridation of water supplies which of course is the privilege of dental authorities, has announced the college will meet Nov. 11 to review licensing regulations which have prevented five Czech dentists from practising in the province.

Bancroft, incidentally, is one of a dozen or so communities in need of dentists, according to a survey by the dental college. Not as northerly or isolated as some, the Hastings county community nevertheless reflects the situation whereby dentists seem to prefer establishing practice in the larger centres.

Dr. Barnard III

There are limits to what the human frame can take and word that heart transplant pioneer Dr. Christiaan Barnard was admitted to hospital last week suffering from internal bleeding is both revealing and disturbing.

Revealing — in the sense that although only in his early forties, Dr. Barnard has had an awesome schedule in the ten months since he performed the world's first heart transplant operation in Capetown. And disturbing, because of the strain of modern life that causes illness even comparatively early in life. Since hitting the world headlines Dr. Barnard has travelled back and forth between South Africa and the United States, as well as maintaining a busy schedule. It is the kind of pace that can cause the strongest constitution to falter. Happily, Dr. Barnard's illness does not appear to be unduly serious. The hemorrhage was described as slight.

Time Running Out for LBJ

Peace Prospects Disturb U. S. Defence Industries

By HAROLD MORRISON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

One day the signs of a negotiated Vietnam peace settlement look good and businessmen rush to their brokers with buying and selling orders.

The next day the portents turn gloomy and the markets go into an agonizing reappraisal.

For many industries, the war in Vietnam is more than a moral question. It is an important economic issue. It is a plain question of whether they can survive peace.

As the American presidential campaign draws closer to the Nov. 5 election, the signs indicate President Johnson would like nothing better than to be able to announce a truce, perhaps for his own prestige as well as to boost the chances of Hubert Humphrey, Democratic presidential candidate.

Reports that something is afoot have swept the world, heightened by Johnson's own indications that a major diplomatic effort has been launched to loosen the deadlocked Paris preliminary peace talks.

Any day now, the world might see the United States announce a complete halt in Vietnam bombing, perhaps accompanied by some minor concession from the North, although Hanoi gives no indication it is prepared to yield any ground.

But if truce comes and a settlement appears imminent, what of the defence industries and the Asian economies whose strength appear to depend on American outpourings in Vietnam?

When peace talks began in Paris last May, one business publication aired the prospect of "a real threat" of peace. The "threat" was in a likely reduction in American arms spending as well as all the ancillary items required to prop up a wallowing regime.

There appears to be little doubt that peace will require economic adjustment not only in the U.S. but in such countries as Japan which have found certain Asian markets well stocked with American cash.

A special American task force has been working on ways of making an orderly transition. There undoubtedly will be some jolts. But to some extent the war has helped offset restraints in the American home market, including credit curbs, higher interest rates and higher taxes.

"Establishment" Image

Victorian Attitude to City Development

Editor,
The Intelligencer.

The last meeting of the City Council focussed attention on the sensitive question of Belleville's Industrial Commission's operation.

The preceding week, the Intelligencer carried pertinent comments from the chairman of the city's Labour Council, Mr. Ray Bradshaw.

The verbal skirmish between the Mayor and Alderman Orr emphasized the fact there is a pressing need to investigate the composition and administration of this body that uses a considerable sum of taxpayers' money but is not answerable to the council.

One of the things that has held this city back over the years is the hold the "old guard" or Establishment seems to have on the reins of city administration. This Victorian attitude strangles our development and the overall progress of the city, makes things cosy for the few to the great detriment of the average wage-earning citizen. Times have changed. Now, general restlessness, and modern impatience with the old "anything is good enough for the workman, if he will put up with it" attitude, will not be tolerated for long.

The people elect our municipal officers, and expect them to honor to the best of their ability their election pledges.

This present council has been a breath of fresh air, after the years of one-voice autocracy that preceded its election. They seem to have achieved harmony, and are getting on with the job. Under the guidance of Mayor Scott every member has been encouraged to have his say. Delegations and members of the public have been welcomed, and treated with patience and courtesy.

Our pressing need is for industry. We need it now, and all efforts of the council and the commission should be directed toward its attainment. No group by its composition or outlook can be allowed to show bias in favor in selecting or accepting industry for the city. The present set-up of the Industrial Commission leaves grave doubts in this area.

Large industries with well-organized labor unions will force local firms to bring their wages into line. Is this a bad thing? Belleville industries in the main are not prominent for their wage structures. Too often, the minimum is the rule they operate under. This is one reason so many people leave this fair city. What we have to offer locally does not seem to indicate any hardship in this area.

I am sure these points have not been overlooked by Mayor Scott and progressive people like Mr. Bradshaw. Alderman Orr's poll should be commended for his demands for an enquiry into the enormous amount of tax money going into surveys that end up in the dust of the city's archives. It is this sort of nonsensical activity that costs money, and causes frustration among the taxpayers. So more power to our Mayor and his stand against the bastions of the Establishment.

Young Minds May Be Creative But Maturity Comes Later On

(Bob Hunter in The Vancouver Sun)

Is youth better equipped to come up with new, valid solutions to old problems than men who are experienced and proven, but on in their years?

Is the answer Yes or is it No?

The answer is Yes, with the serious qualification that they will probably not learn how to apply these new solutions until they are older.

I know what you're thinking. Hunter is 27. He's biased. Of course I'm biased, but to get around this problem of starting from a fixed, partisan position, I am going to base the rest of this column on an article by Isaac Asimov, a leading American biochemist, probably the most respected science-writer in the States, and a man who is in his late 40s.

Asimov says that your brain is of real importance to the human race only until you are 25. If you haven't shown any clear indication of great talent or potential by then, there's not much chance you ever will.

(This probably accounts for the male version of menopausal depression that often sets in when a man is in his 40s.)

Late-starters, of course, are not unheard-of. Joseph Conrad began to write when he was 37.

However, Asimov writes, the truth of the matter is that the human mind as a rule hardens quickly.

"This has nothing to do with physical deterioration of the brain or its limited capacity. . . Once a brain develops a way of thought, that way wears a quick rut among the convolutions, so to speak, and it is only with the greatest effort that the line of thought can force its way out of that rut."

"The great physicist, Max Planck, author of the Quantum Theory, once remarked that the only way a revolutionary new theory could be made acceptable was to advance it and then if it was shown to be valid, to wait for all the old scientists to die.

Asimov writes: "It is only the young, essentially blank mind, not tracked over by the muddy feet of already accomplished thought, that can see the truly revolutionary solutions. And then, in the course of a decade or so, the young revolutionary becomes the new-orthodox. How often this has happened in science, art, scholarship and politics."

Student Grooming

Toronto Star

In trying to maintain order and normalcy in the classroom, today's school principal faces a job filled with possible confusion.

A current example is the boycott of classes by some of the student body at Danforth Technical School. Recently about 5 per cent of the students staged a walkout after a few claimed they were disciplined for wearing long hair or miniskirts.

But their case seems dubious. Principal Gordon Stewart claims those sent home were penalized, not for their dress, but for their cleanliness. And others joined them in sympathy.

The facts appear to back him up. There are dozens of students at Danforth still attending classes regularly who wear their hair long and skirts short.

A principal is required, by regulation 23 of the Toronto Board of Education, to insist that all pupils be neat and clean when in school, or to be sent home.

With the fashions worn by today's teenagers it isn't always easy to define neatness. But cleanliness is still definable and desirable.

We see little justification in the student walkout. They can't pretend their kyle of hair or length of dress are at issue. Even others similarly styled but cleaner go about their class work without being penalized by the school staff.

Minimum Wage Insufficient

Hamilton Spectator

Ontario's minimum wage hike—$1 to $1.30 hourly and $1.— 25 to $1.55 in construction work — isn't enough. Family breadwinners in the cities can do better on welfare.

The minimum should be raised to a more realistic $1.50 an hour before the change takes effect January 1. And it should be accompanied by a reduction in the 48-hour work week, requiring employers to pay overtime after 44 hours in 1969 and 40 hours by 1970.

In percentages, the Ontario minimum wage increase looks handsome. Thirty per cent. Thirty per cent of a $1 minimum set in 1963 and inadequate at that time.

This means that people earning a minimum wage — and Ontario has some 190,000 of them — will receive $52 instead of $40 for a 40-hour week, or $2,704 a year. Major city welfare departments say it takes around $5,000 a year to keep a family of four.

The increase is substantial but it still leaves the minimum wage earner $2300 a year below the nationally-accepted definition of a poverty family income — $5,000 annually.

It is absurd to expect a worker to support himself and one or more dependants on $52 a week (before deductions) in Hamilton, Toronto or any Ontario city. Straight in the housing squeeze. Rent alone would use up half to three-quarters of the monthly take-home pay.

Postal Service

The Orillia Packet and Times

It is typical of the defeatist attitude of many branches of service authorities that they should approach this latest problem of financial deficit with a negative side. Faced with any policy decision, Canada's postal chiefs should have been looking at simply eliminating or reducing services, instead of improving and expanding services and developing new sources of revenue. The result has been to give Canadians in this era of expansion and acceleration, a standard of mail service that is slower, less frequent and less convenient than that enjoyed by previous generations in what we regard as a more leisurely age. Moreover, the people in rural England enjoy a better standard of service than the best that can be found in supposedly sophisticated Toronto, while residents in many of the world's capitals enjoy a range and speed and frequency of mail service beyond a Canadian's wildest dreams.

Fashion and Politics

Ottawa Journal

There was a day when two or three blue to black conservative suits did a gentleman just fine for any occasion. On the distaff side a lady attending any formal event visited a host of classic couture for a variation on a black theme.

Today ladies go anywhere in any gaudy thing now and as long as they look pretty and feminine nobody complains. Pants suits to jump suits — they are all part of the modern scene. Women are no longer slavish slaves to precise fashion changes.

They have been replaced by men. As one English writer put it, "Men are the victims of the trendy is considered a Fascist." Nehru jackets were fine until an unfortunate incident in which he unceriously hid a paunch. As soon as those over 30 adopt a new style it is out.

This plays havoc with those who don't wish to look like Fascists. It costs a great deal of money to look Democratic these days. Maybe that's what the left means when their placards read "Democracy is finished."

Canada "Should Be Leader"

Sterilization May Face West If Population Not Controlled

TORONTO (CP) — The next generation of Canadians may have to enforce birth control by compulsory sterilization, Hugh Keenleyside, chairman of the British Columbia Hydro and Power Authority, warned Sunday night.

Addressing a University of Toronto teach-in on the population crisis, Mr. Keenleyside and Ian McTaggart-Cowan, a Vancouver zoologist, both urged Canadians to control their own population size while increasing aid to starving countries of the world.

"In this generation we face the two greatest dangers in human history, nuclear weapons which could wipe out all humanity and population growth which, unchecked, will make life unbearable," Mr. Keenleyside said.

"The bomb and the womb must be both controlled."

Mr. Keenleyside, former director-general of the United Nations' technical assistance administration, criticized Canada's failure to provide leadership "in helping other nations control their "spawning populations."

While he spoke, an electronic sign behind his podium increased world population figures by 10 every five seconds as it ticked off the human race's progress towards a total of about 3,500,000,000 by the end of the teach-in. During his 20-minute speech the figure increased by 2,400.

Warning that production of food is not keeping ahead of population increases, Mr. Keenleyside suggested Canada could devote "a significant amount of money" to research on population control.

If present trends continue, children of young people in this audience will be faced with the necessity of enforcing birth control through the compulsory sterilization of a vast number of their fellow human beings," he said.

"Alternatively of course your children or grandchildren may decide to let the babies be born and get rid of them afterwards. "All of this sounds horrible but the prospect is horrible unless we act both sensibly and soon."

Mr. McTaggart-Cowan, dean of graduate studies at the University of British Columbia, said Canadians are turning their rivers into open sewers and steadily destroying their environment with wastes.

What they should be doing is controlling their own population, learning to handle pollution problems and producing as much food as possible to feed less fortunate abroad, he said.

"Only a very small part of Canada can be effectively used for food production," Mr. McTaggart-Cowan said.

"Yet this is part of our trust to the world's hungry as mankind desperately fights famine. We should use our trust to buy a little time for others.

"Year after year I watch the city of Vancouver sprawling onto the rich delta lands of the Fraser River, the small towns of the Okanagan Valley becoming larger at the expense of fertile orchards, the Niagara Peninsula disappearing under tons of concrete and asphalt."

The Fraser was "probably the greatest fish carrying river in the world," but engineers repeatedly propose that the river be dammed at its mouth for hydroelectric development, he said.

Water itself was being wasted: "Do we have to use 2½ gallons of water to flush away six ounces of urine when there is a world shortage of water in large parts of the world."

Mr. McTaggart-Cowan said the Canadian approach to disposal of wastes is to dump them in the most convenient stream or lake.

"Are we going to live like parasites on our host earth until we eventually destroy it?" he asked.

Family Planning Doomed to Failure If Underprivileged Not Emancipated

TORONTO (CP) — Female emancipation is a first step for countries with an urgent need for population control, Asiza Hussein, Egyptian member of the United Nations commission urday.

"It is clear that where women are uneducated where the women's role is mainly restricted to the family, and where she is dependent and lacking in ambition, it is unlikely the concept of family planning will find ready acceptance," she told the University of Toronto teach-in.

Mrs. Hussein said Toronto author June Callwood linked solving of population problems with granting women their "human right" to use contraceptives to limit pregnancies.

Mrs. Hussein said that governments are finding that educated women have smaller families. In the United Arab Republic, the 1960 census showed illiterate mothers have an average of 4.06 children each while women with secondary or university education had only 1.86 children each.

Female emancipation was therefore being taken up by governments, not so much out of concern for women's status but because they were worried about effects on national development of exploding populations.

Miss Callwood, a mother of four, said Canada does not have a population explosion problem, "but it has a population misery problem of urgent magnitude."

She said Canadian law discourages birth control programs. "impelling motherhood on all females."

"The stance of the law is peculiar; it suggests that sex is wrong-doing, hence having a baby is the punishment that fits the crime"

The result was a large proportion of unwanted babies living in destructive environments.

"There are so many children in homes which are destroying them that no children's aid society in Canada has sufficient budget to come to the aid of all that they know about," she said.

"Some time ago the Children's Aid Society of Middlesex County, a not particularly congested or deprived part of Ontario, estimated that if all children who need help in that district could receive it, 500 would be removed from their homes at once."

Miss Callwood said birth control and abortion should be made available to all women so only women who really welcome babies would have them.

Indian Group Asks Ottawa Freeze Plans

TORONTO (CP) — The president of the Indian Association of Alberta Sunday called for a freeze on the expansion of the department of Indian affairs and northern development while an Indian group examines the role of the department.

Harold Cardinal of Edmonton spoke at the final session of a weekend forum on the Canadian Indian attended by 75 Indians from across Canada and 500 white university students.

Meanwhile, Mr. Cardinal received a five-minute standing ovation when he proposed that:

—The federal government honor its land treaties with Indians.

—The National Indian Brotherhood set up a board to advise the government on Indian policy changes.

—John Chretien, Indian Affairs minister, limit his activities within his department.

—The federal government freeze expansion of the department.

—A group composed of Indians examine all phases of the department.

—Robert Andras, ministry without portfolio, work directly with the Indian Brotherhood to develop new policies and that he be given power to implement the brotherhood's proposals.

Mr. Cardinal said the hopes of Indians for a better life, raised by Prime Minister Trudeau's call for a just society, were dashed recently when a decision was reached "in almost total secrecy" to re-organize the Indian affairs department.

Calling the department "a monstrosity," Mr. Cardinal said the responsibility should be examined of turning it over to Indian organizations.

He said the department's present policy of turning Indians into "nice, little, brown-white men" is doomed to failure.

Mr. Macdonald's presence was greeted with war whoops and rhythmic drumming of table tops. He was interrupted by frequent shouts and questioning while addressing the forum.

When the student chairman asked that the audience indicate its pleasure at Mr. Macdonald's presence by a round of applause, there was complete silence.

Mr. Macdonald called the Indian Act "dreadful" in many of its aspects. The Indian affairs minister, he said, would withdraw it entirely if that was the wish of the Indians.

Cosmonaut in Orbit

Col. Georgy Beregovoy is aboard the Soviet spaceship, Soyuz 3. It is his first trip into space and is the Soviet Union's first manned shot in more than a year.

Viet Terms Generous : Holyoake

SAIGON (Reuters) — Prime Minister Keith Holyoake of New Zealand said today that current proposals for a bombing halt over North Vietnam were the most generous ever offered to Hanoi.

"Ho Chi Minh has before him more generous proposals than ever for a bombing halt," Holyoake told reporters on the eve of his departure for home.

Asked if this implied that the United States and its allies in the Vietnam war were fully united on terms being offered to Hanoi, he replied:

"As far as I know, yes."

Soyuz 2 Returns

Cosmonaut Continues in Orbit

MOSCOW (AP) — The unmanned Soviet space ship Soyuz 2 landed in the Soviet Union today after three days in space, Tass announced, but cosmonaut Georgy Beregovoy continued in orbit in the sister ship Soyuz 3.

Beregovoy had followed the unmanned ship in tandem around the earth for two days and during this period had maneuvered his Soyuz 3 so as to approach the pilotless sister ship.

If any attempt was made to link up the manned and unmanned ships, something the Russians have not done, it was not announced.

Tass, the Soviet news agency, said Soyuz 2's "program for checking its system and for joint maneuvering and approach of the spaceships Soyuz 1 and Soyuz 3 was fully carried out."

Meanwhile, Beregovoy was reported to have completed his 33rd orbit of the earth, and "all the systems of the ship continue to function normally," Tass said.

"Beregovoy feels well," the Soviet news agency continued. "The cosmonaut continues the planned scientific experiments: visual observation of the cloud cover of the earth's surface and observation of the starry sky.

"In the 33rd orbit of the earth, he discovered three forest fires and saw clearly thunderstorm phenomena in the area of the equator. . . ."

Tass said a retro engine was switched on aboard Soyuz 2 on command from earth and 26 minutes later, the spaceship "entered the dense layers of the atmosphere, made a controlled descent with aerodynamic quality and landed."

"It was parachuted down with the use of a soft-landing system at the last stage."

The announcement did not give the location of the landing.

Earlier today, a Soviet scientist said the purpose of Beregovoy's flight is to develop docking systems, essential for Russia's announced program of eventually constructing huge orbiting platforms in space to serve as launch pads for rocket to the moon and planets.

The statement by Boris Petrov of the Soviet Academy of Scientists was made in Pravda, the Communist party newspaper, after Beregovoy maneuvered his Soyuz 3 spacecraft Sunday in a second approach to the unmanned Soyuz 2 launched a day before him.

On his first orbit Saturday, Beregovoy apparently came close to the unmanned craft. An official announcement said he made his second approach by firing a rocket to adjust his course but did not indicate how close he came either time.

Tass said the manoeuvre Sunday lasted 90 minutes.

There was no indication how long the Soviet cosmonaut would stay up. Western experts here say more than three or four days is unlikely unless there is to be a manoeuvre with another manned spacecraft still to be launched.

Schools Must Meet Child On His Terms: Educator

LONDON, Ont. (CP) — Unless schools learn to meet children in their own territory to take them for that educational "ride," passengers will be lost along the way, Dr. J. R. McCarthy, deputy minister with the department of education, said Saturday.

Education in the past always expected the child to meet the school on the school's terms, he told the final session of the 12th annual Council for Exceptional Children.

He said elementary schools were too restricted by contents and a rigid grade system, making education either a "loafer's paradise" for the academically bright, or a scene of frustration and pressure for slower students.

Calling the group's name, "Council for Exceptional Children," "a misnomer," he said it implied children not classified as exceptional did not possess the same degrees of individuality or deserved the same special treatment.

Council membership includes teachers involved in special education programs and classes for both advanced and physically and mentally handicapped.

"There is an unfortunate tendency to personalize references to the retarded or exceptional and to ignore others."

Elementary schools, as they once existed, did not provide for degrees of "exceptionality," Dr.McCarthy said.

Warning of the danger of establishing too many "special" classes, he said they tended to isolate children with similar problems and did not prepare them for today's "multi-faceted" society.

Dr. McCarthy said as many "exceptional" children as possible should be incorporated into regular classrooms. Specialized teachers should then be made available as resue help to regular classroom teachers.

Students Raise $10,000 With UNICEF Fair

MISSISSAUGA, Ont. (CP) — A student-run fall fair, hampered by cold, windy weather but aided by the appearance of comedian Danny Kaye, raised $10,000 for the United Nations International Children's Emergency Fund (UNICEF) Saturday.

Mr. Kaye flew to Toronto for the guest appearance at the fair, a project of the town's secondary school students.

His first act on stage was to jump up and down to warm up and he soon had members of the audience doing the same thing.

Frank O'Brien, a high school teacher here, ran the 21 miles from Toronto city hall to the fair site and earned $7,500 in pledges for UNICEF. His students had found sponsors to donate the money if he completed the run.

MR. AND MRS. GORDON C. SIMMONS

Simmons – Spearman

Wesleyan Methodist Church, Trenton was the scene of the October 12 wedding when Mary Eleanor Spearman, daughter of the Reverend and Mrs. James S. A. Spearman, of Trenton, became the bride of Gordon Clifford Simmons, son of Mr. and Mrs. Phillip Simmons, of Trenton. Performing the ceremony was Rev. James S. A. Spearman, father of the bride, assisted by the Rev. Walter A. Smith, cousin of the bride.

Rendering appropriate nuptial selections was Mrs. Eldon Kemp; while the soloist was Mr. Ira Spearman, uncle of the bride.

The bride, given in marriage by her father and mother, wore a floor length sheath gown of white imported French velvet with bodice and lily point sleeves of imported Swiss guipure lace. The cathedral length train, sprinkled with hand - appliqued lace motifs, fell from the empire waist. The four-tier illusion veil fell the full length of the train and was held in place by a cluster of hand appliqued lace petals headpiece. She carried a formal cascade of miniature white carnations, stephanotis and trailing ivy centred with an orchid.

Matron of honor, Mrs. Helen Hocking, of Marmora, Michigan, sister of the bride, wore a floor length gown of modified A-line style. The gown was of imported French velvet in burnt orange with a self bow trim and long sleeves. Her headpiece was of matching velvet bows, holding bouffant tulle in place. Flowers were a cascade of chrysanthemums and foliage.

Bridesmaids, Miss Ruth Spearman, sister of the bride, Trenton, Mrs. Gail Simmons, Kingston, Mrs. Elizabeth Schmidt, Dryden, and Mrs. Jamie Simmons, Toronto, were all attired identically to the matron of honor in shades of gold, forest green, rust and chocolate brown.

Flower girl was Miss Brenda Lynn Babcock, Belleville, who wore a gown and flowers identical to the other attendants, but in moss green velvet.

Attending the bridegroom was Steven Simmons, brother of the bridegroom, of Toronto. Ushers were: Dr. Phillip Simmons, Toronto; John Hocking, Kalamazoo, Michigan; John Wilkie, Trenton and Robert Brewster, Toronto.

For the wedding reception held at St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church Parlors, Trenton, the mother of the bride received the guests wearing a two piece apricot peau de charme ensemble, constating of a semi-fitted jacket and slightly a-line dress, enhanced by overblouse of mink shade Rosepoint lace. Chocolate brown accessories, a stand style hat of imported feathers, and a corsage of cymbidium orchids completed her outfit.

Assisting her, the mother of the bridegroom choose a kelly green peau de soie dress featuring a bell shape skirt and scoop neck. Kelly green and bone accessories, and a hand draped off the face hat completed by a complementing corsage of gardenias and stephanotis added the finishing touches to her ensemble.

For the wedding trip to Western Canada, the bride chose a lemon yellow A-line wool dress with three-quarter length sleeves accented by chocolate brown suede and velvet accessories. A brown picture hat, mink cape and an orchid corsage completed her ensemble. Upon their return, the couple will reside in Lindsay, Ontario.

Congratulatory Letter Read At Meeting

The October meeting of the Auxiliary of Hastings Manor was held in the library on Monday with an excellent attendance.

The president, Mrs. F. Davidson, conducted the business and reports of various committees were given. Mrs. Kingston reported there had been nine rose bowls sent to residents who were ill in Belleville General Hospital during the past month. Mrs. Bertrand reported on the bus which had been chartered to attend the official opening of the Bancroft Home for the Aged on October 19 and gave expenses concerning same.

Mrs. Yorke expressed her appreciation for the assistance of the Auxiliary members at the anniversary tea and bazaar held at the Manor recently.

There will be a film shown for the residents on October 24 and a bingo party on November 7. It it was unanimously voted to purchase a record player for the pleasure of the residents.

Reports of the convention held in Niagara Falls this fall were given. The delegates were Mrs. O. Bertrand and Mrs. N. Weagle.

Miss Edith Latham, a resident of the Manor, has received high honor when she was awarded first prize for her knitted baby shawl entry in the 1968 C.N.E. She received a letter of congratulations from Lawrence Crawford, Director of Exhibits for the Aged, which read in part: "On behalf of our Minister, The Hon. Allan Grossman, Q.C., Dr. James S. Rand and the staff of the Branch, I extend congratulations. Without a doubt your prize winning activities have given your fellow residents and those in Hastings Manor much satisfaction. Out of the entries in these classes from all over Canada, well over one-third of the total prizes were won by residents of our Homes for elderly persons in Ontario."

The Auxiliary is most appreciative to Mrs. Rand and Gerald Trounce of Carrying Place who have kindly donated a piano for use in the dining room and at the birthday parties.

At the close of the business the usual birthday party was held for the residents having birthdays in October. A lively sing-song was enjoyed with many old favorite songs. Mrs. Victoria Ashley, who was 91, and Mr. Walter Lindenfield, 85, cut the birthday cake and pictures were taken.

Lunch was served with Mrs. R. Nobes and Mrs. A. Daniels pouring tea and a social time spent with the honored guests.

CLUB ACTIVITIES

ELMBROOK FRIENDSHIP CIRCLE

The October meeting of the Elmbrook Friendship Circle was held at the home of Mrs. Arthur Stone; with Mrs. Arnold Ackerman conducting the devotional part of the meeting.

The Scripture reading was given by Mrs. Howard Norton; followed by a reading given by Mrs. Ackerman.

A Thanksgiving reading was given by Mrs. Stone.

Christian stewardship reading was tendered by Mrs. Raymond Jinks.

A donation of $10. for the Prince Edward Association for the Mentally Retarded was turned over to the secretary, Mrs. Orval May, who is also the secretary for the P.E.A.M.R.

The next meeting is to be held on December 4, at the home of Mrs. Ackerman, and is to be the Christmas meeting. This entails bringing the Christmas gift for one's secret pal. Mrs. Reg. Moore is in charge of the program; and Mrs. Gerald Norton the lunch.

Two contests by Mrs. May were enjoyed.

LIEUT. ROBERT LAKE AND MRS. LAKE

Lake – Cameron

Monsignor James Patrick Sullivan officiated at the October ceremony at the Church of St. Michael the Archangel when Mary Sheila Cameron, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. Vincent Cameron of Belleville became the bride of Lieut. Robert Adrian Lake, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. Franklin Lake of Belleville. Organist for the ceremony was Miss Dorothy Grant, and the soloist was Adrian Vogt.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a floor length A-line gown of silk shantung complemented with seed pearl collar and cuffs. Her two-tier cathedral length veil was of silk illusion and French lace; and her bouquet was of silk shantung and French lace trimmed with seed pearls and complemented by talisman and yellow sweetheart roses.

Maid of honor, Miss Carol Cameron of Montreal, was attired in a floor length A-line gown of gold velvet. A gold velvet muff which she carried was trimmed with seed pearls and complemented by a corsage of bronze 'mums.

Bridesmaids, Miss Mary Margaret Cameron of Detroit, Michigan; Miss Norma Brown of Oshawa and Miss Penny Lacey of Toronto, were attired in floor length A-line gowns of emerald green velvet, with matching emerald green velvet trimmed with seed pearls. Corsages of talisman roses completed their outfits. Flower girl was Miss Laurie Ann Belleville. She was attired in a floor length gold velvet gown and carried a muff of gold velvet trimmed with seed pearls crested with a corsage of bronze 'mums.

Attending the bridegroom was Brian Lake. The ushers were Lieut. L. Hawn, CFB, Trenton; Lieut. Wm. William Kalbfleish, CFB, Gimli; Lieut. Greg Vincent, CFB Moose Jaw. The ring-bearer for the ceremony was Master Kevin Wannamaker, Belleville. Mr. Ian Cameron of Montreal piped the wedding party out of the church.

For the wedding reception held at Tops Motor Hotel, the mother of the bride received the guests wearing a two-piece teal blue wool suit, with accessories of deep gold. A corsage of salmon delight roses added the finishing touch to her ensemble. Assisting her, the mother of the bridegroom chose a two piece avocado green wool suit and complementing deep brown accessories, and a corsage of yellow roses.

For the wedding trip to points north, the bride donned a yellow A-line wool dress and matching emerald green tartan coat. Black accessories and a corsage of yellow sweetheart roses completed her ensemble. Upon their return, the couple will reside in Moose Jaw, Saskatchewan.

ELECTS TREASURER

VERNON, B.C. (CP) —The Law Society of British Columbia has elected Arthur Harper of Vancouver as its new treasurer. Announcement of Harper as successor to Colin McQuarrie was made at the society's annual meeting.

Area Couples' Clubs Hold Rally in Trenton

The annual Fall Rally of Couples' Clubs of the area was held in King Street United Church, Trenton, on Sunday, with presidents, Mr. and Mrs. Harold King of Newburgh in charge.

The afternoon session opened with a worship service conducted by the Wedding Ring Club of College Hill United Church, Belleville. Following this, the guest speaker, the Rev. Brian Thrasher, D.D. of North Kingston Parish was introduced, and gave a very interesting talk on his work among the youth of the inner city district of Kingston.

Mr. Thrasher was formerly a student minister in North Trenton and is now United Church minister to a large congregation in North Kingston as well as a missionary to the youth of the parish.

He stressed the many frustrations as well as the satisfaction of his work among these young people with their staggering array of problems, emphasizing that delinquent parents and poor home conditions of these boys and girls were the main cause of their troubles.

Following his address, the speaker answered questions from the audience, and then the group dispersed for a meeting of the executive and a sing-song conducted by the Wellington Club for the other members.

At the close of the supper, which was convened by the King Street Friday nighters Club, Mrs. Vera Greer of Trenton spoke an audio-visual aids which are available for the use of clubs and stressed the importance of using these as tools to produce better programs.

For the evening worship service, the club members were joined by many young people from the Trenton and Belleville area, who came to hear Mr. Thrasher and his group render a typical "swinging service of praise" which they have found appeals to the youth of inner city and also to penitentiary inmates.

With Mr. Thrasher at the piano, Jack Thrasher on drums, Howard Fowler lead guitar, John Bertrand rhythm guitar and Miss Margaret Sodent on bass, the capacity crowd was caught up in a modern, fast-moving service of song and scripture, led by Alderman Ken Keyes of Kingston as song leader and Mrs. Dorothy Elston as soloist. The offering was donated to Mr. Thrasher to be used in his work among young people.

Following this service, refreshments were served, and it was announced that Mr. and Mrs. Harold King had been re-elected presidents for the coming year and Mr. and Mrs. Clare McFaul of Ameliasburg were the new vice-presidents.

Quinte Curlers Hold Pot-luck Supper and Meeting

The Ladies' Section of the Quinte Curling Club held a potluck supper recently at which time their semi-annual meeting was held.

At this time executive members for the 1968-69 season were elected. These include: past president, Mrs. Grace Carruthers; president, Mrs. Agnes Walker; vice-president Mrs. Bev. Neill; recording secretary, Mrs. Yvonne Macpherson; treasurer, Mrs. Kate Cook; games chairman, Mrs. Kae Pinder; bonspiel chairman, Mrs. Hazel McNevin; social convener, Mrs. Jessie Babel; catering chairman Mrs. Jean Lants; publicity chairman, Mrs. Lorna Bennett and house committee, Mrs. Connie Wilkinson.

SOCIAL and PERSONAL

Previous to her marriage, Mrs. Gordon Simmons (nee Mary Spearman), was honored at several showers. A miscellaneous surprise shower at the home of Mrs. Joyce Fairman of Corbyville; also a shower was held with Mrs. Marg. Latham of Princess Acres, Trenton, as hostess. A surprise miscellaneous shower was held at the home of Mrs. Ruth Babcock, Belleville. A presentation to the bride and groom was made by friends of the Wesleyan Methodist Church, Trenton. Two presentations were made by the staff of the Trenton Memorial Hospital, where the bride was employed on the nursing staff, and a presentation was made from the co-workers of Canada Manpower Centre, Lindsay, where the bridegroom is employed. A trousseau tea, was held by the mother of the bride, and the bridegroom's parents entertained at a rehearsal party on Friday, October 11.

Marmora IODE Holds Meeting

MARMORA — The October meeting of the Marmora Chapter I.O.D.E. was held at the home of Mrs. Charles Brady. Mrs. G. J. Meikle-John, in the absence of the regent, Mrs. Eugene Brady, presided.

Autumn activities have resumed in the chapter. Knitting and sewing for refugees was given out. The annual canvass for the blind is now under way. A representation at the Cenotaph on Remembrance Day was planned and competitions for local students will be announced in January.

A donation was voted toward the new village bulletin board to be erected. A rummage sale will be held on Thursday and Friday, October 24-25 in the downtown Glower building, proceeds going chiefly towards educational purposes. A short quiz on chapter history was won by Miss Miriam Savage.

Points for Parents

By MARY BRYSON

Mother: "Debbie whines and clings to me all the time since I came home from the hospital."

Grandmother: "She's just jealous of the new baby."

Even a few days' separation from her mother may upset a 2-year-old's sense of security, and the new baby only adds to her confusion. She will recover her poise when she feels secure again.

Be patient with Debbie and give her lots of reassurance and attention. Your absence may have disturbed her more than you realize.

Ann Landers

Boy Thinks Twice About Running Away

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I am a boy 13 years of age. A few days ago I did something my parents did not approve of. My punishment was that I had to stay home while everyone went for a picnic.

I decided they were terrible to treat me like that and I started to pack my suitcase and run away. After I finished packing I decided to write a farewell letter. I thought I'd better tell them why I was running away and, to be fair, maybe I should apologize for a few things I had done.

ANN LANDERS

Well, after I started to write, I thought of a lot of things I ought to apologize for. I also started to thank them for the nice things they had done for me over the years and there were an awful lot of them. By the time I finished writing I unpacked my suitcase and tore up the letter.

I suggest that all kids who think they want to run away from home sit down and write a letter to their folks. Then they won't go. — A ROTTEN KID WITH GREAT PARENTS.

DEAR KID: You don't sound rotten to me. You sound like a good guy who has a lot of common sense as well as humility. Thanks for writing.

* * *

DEAR ANN LANDERS: My sister and I are both middle aged. We live together. Neither of us has ever married. Here is her history.

Rena has been fired from three jobs for stealing. She has taken money from the purses of friends and relatives. She has swiped blank cheques from my chequebook and forged my name. She has charged expensive items (like a fur jacket and a three-piece suit) to my account.

I know Rena's problem is our mother. She was a tyrant who never had a kind word for her children. Mother especially hated Rena and she made no secret of it. My sister went to a psychiatrist for three weeks but quit because she wasn't "getting any place."

Now the question: Is it wrong of me to want to live apart from her? Am I my sister's keeper? Must I stay with Rena till the end of my days, paying her bills, letting her forge my name to cheques, paying for the things she steals, in order to keep her out of jail? (They call her a kleptomaniac.) What do you say, Ann? — DEPRESSED.

DEAR DEPRESSED: I say your sister is sick but you don't owe her your life. Perhaps if you move out and she can no longer depend on you to save her hide, she'll straighten around. Some people jump only when they know there's a net under them.

Urge Rena to try another therapist. You can do nothing more for her beyond that — so do something for yourself, please, and clear out.

Club Activities

QUINTE GEM AND MINERAL CLUB

The regular meeting of the Quinte Gem and Mineral Club was held at the Entomological building, last Wednesday, and was well attended. A welcome was extended to all new members by president Charlie Jeffs.

The secretary, Mrs. Ruest read the minutes of the last meeting. Manley Ford, chairman for the recent Rock Swap held on October 12, gave a glowing report on the attendance and remarks that had been passed on to him — from those present. Mrs. Roy Jaynes, treasurer, gave a detailed report on the finances.

Reck samples were shown by Gordon Alyea, Albert Jackson and Mac Wallbridge. An article from the Trenton-Ian of 100 years ago was read by Mac Wallbridge. Reg and Annie Barber gave a summary and showed pictures of a trip to Dawson City and the Yukon which was thoroughly enjoyed by everyone.

Dick Browne thanked Mr. and Mrs. Barber; and the lucky draw numbers were held by David McLean, David Anderson and Stephen Montgomery.

Young Counsellor Found Retarded Campers "Wonderful"

By DORIS CLARK

Fresh from a session at a camp for retarded children, the young counsellor told me, "The children were wonderful." In what way?

"Well, at first I was afraid of the whole situation. Didn't know what I was up against. Then when I got to know them they were so friendly and affectionate that I just loved them."

Did she mean to say that in general she thought retarded children were more warmly responsive than other children? Yes, she did.

"You see," she said, "their parents are ashamed of them. They push them into the background. They'd hide them from everybody, keep them shut up indoors, if they could.

"So when the children come to camp and you reach out to help or say a kind word, they adore you."

Dear Doris: I gave my girl friend the leaflet you sent me for her — "Don't Be Shy". She read it in 15 minutes, then put it in the incinerator. I have tried to talk to her but it's like you said, "She has built up a wall around herself so that she doesn't get hurt again."

When people talk to her she will look down so as to avoid looking at you. She has become more withdrawn than ever. Her dad said her brothers don't have time to talk to her, so she spends all her spare time in her room — in a world of her own that no one else can share. If she likes doing something with a group it is something where you aren't talking to anyone, such as softball or swimming.

Please send me some advice that I can pass on to her before she becomes a case for the psychiatric ward. — Concerned.

Dear Concerned: The father and brothers don't help much. Probably don't even know what to do.

If she was so withdrawn she burned up the literature, she may even now be a candidate for psychiatric help. You would be doing her a kindness in persuade her parents to get her to a medical man. He would decide about the state of her mental health and steer her to help.

There are certain mental illnesses which start out with symptoms like hers, and to nip them in the bud is mandatory.

Dear Doris: Our daughter 23 fell in love head over heels with her first cousin. When they told us they were getting married we couldn't have felt worse if she had been killed in a car crash.

They saw the doctor and the priest and apparently they can get married, so it is out of our reach. How could she ever tell herself get so low?

So now we don't know if we should put on a wedding for her or just let her get married. All the others have had a nice wedding. She is the baby in the family and was a sensible girl all the way before this. — Ashamed.

Dear Ashamed: If the doctor says it's o.k., it's o.k. He has checked any health hazard and given his go-ahead; which means there is no inheritable weakness which could be passed down, doubly-strong, to offspring.

Bury the hatchet along with the old wives' tales. There are plenty of first-cousin marriages with happy, healthy families.

Be glad she has found the love of her life. Share her happiness, her wedding, and the grandchildren who are bound to come along in their own good time to bless you later years.

Lemon-marinated Chicken Is Really Good

By MARY MOORE

Students! Again our lesson is on chicken. We are continuing with it while the price is right.

When Lemon - Marinated Chicken was served one of my more candid critics pronounced it good "because it isn't smothered in a lot of gooey sauce".

This recipe is great for 1) reducers 2) hostesses 3) career girls 4) amateurs. As you read through it you will see where all of these factors apply.

MONDAY

Dinner Menu

Minestrone; Poached Eggs on Toast with Tomato Sauce; Broccoli; Plum Tapioca with Brown Sugar Hard Sauce; Tea.

LEMON MARINATED CHICKEN

2 pounds cut-up chicken (six single breasts recommended)
¼ cup lemon juice
¼ cup melted butter or margarine
1 small onion, grated
½ teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon celery salt
½ teaspoon black pepper
½ teaspoon rosemary
¼ teaspoon thyme

Arrange chicken breasts or cut-up pieces in single layer, preferably in a baking dish that may be carried to dining-room table. Mix together the lemon juice, melted butter or margarine, grated onion, salt celery salt, pepper, rosemary and thyme. Drizzle all over chicken pieces. Cover surfaces by coaxing marinade with pastry brush. Let stand covered with foil or lid at room temperature for 3 hours. (Or if to be held longer than 3 hours, chill the marinated chicken in refrigerator.) Bake at 350 deg. Fahr. covered with foil or lid for 45 minutes. If desired, at halftime, you may baste the chicken pieces with pan juices, but this is lovely, moist and delicate and basting is not necessary.

Note: If transferred directly from refrigerator to oven Lemon-Marinated Chicken requires one hour baking at 350 deg. Fahr.

The head table which conducted a panel question and answer period Saturday consisted of Norris Whitney, MLA; Mac Smith, chairman of the discussion; Mrs. Alene Holt, chairman of the Women's Advisory Board of Ontario; Syl Apps, MLA; and Lee Grills, MP. Also on the panel was Clark Rollins, MLA who is not seen in the photograph.

Tales of Doom Not Warranted: Speaker

"Since the last Federal election, even going back to the Provincial election, we hear many tales of doom."

Mrs. Arlene Holt, chairman of the Conservative Women's Advisory Board for Ontario, gave this opinion in a speech to the annual meeting of the Progressive Conservative Women's Advisory Committee of Ontario, Eastern District on Saturday afternoon at the Kiwanis Centre.

"It is easy to criticize — we like to talk politics and play with the idea that we are politicians, but sometimes I feel that we do nothing but talk with no action."

"We know our country needs good government — reliable government — but what are we as individuals doing to improve our party?"

Mrs. Holt labelled complaints of "nothing to do" on the part of members as "rubbish".

"There are a thousand and one things you can do between now and the next election."

"But, organize yourselves first and become knowledgeable about what is going on. Have interesting meetings, good speakers, do some public relations work, charity work and help others, all at the same time as putting the name of the Progressive Conservative Party to the fore."

"Next to religion, you are dealing with the second most powerful subject in the world today as our Government controls our living".

Mrs. Holt said that "unification" was working with the political winner. "But we have to offer the people a program, politic and assure them that our party can lead them to a better future.

Mrs. Holt explained why women's organizations were important.

"I maintain we should have our own associations for the same reasons that we have YPC groups and student federations."

"These groups bring together persons whose interest and problems may not necessarily be the same as those of the party, generally, and thereby they provide a forum for these particular interests."

"Having all these groups brings three times as many people into active political participation for the party.

Mrs. Holt outlined two exceptionally important functions of these groups for the party.

"Firstly they give many more individuals the opportunity of training for leadership. This opportunity for leadership training afforded by these special groups is indispensable and paramount," she said.

"Secondly, these associations are recruiting associations for membership in the party."

"Suffice it to say that we need the co-operation of every man, woman and student who has the interests of the Progressive Conservative Party at heart."

"Stop criticizing and do something about it," she concluded.

Potter Questions Tax Rebate

Saturday, Dr. Potter warned the Conservative workers in the government was "taking the money on one hand and then handing it back with the other."

"There's a great tendency to be railroaded into these socialist tendencies because we fear that socialism parties will get support by offering free services."

He said he would be disappointed if the legislation was not discussed by the party's caucus in the Legislative Assembly.

Cottage rebates also were described as one of "the bugs in legislation," by Norris Whitney, MPP for neighboring Prince Edward-Lennox.

"This is one of the unfortunate things that will have to be ironed out," said Mr. Whitney.

It would be discussed during the next party caucus.

Other panel members were Clarke Rollins, MPP Hastings; Syl Apps, MPP Kingston and the Islands; Lee Grills, MP Hastings, and Mrs. Alene Holt, chairman of the Ontario Conservative Women's Advisory Board.

Syl Apps, chairman of the select committee set up to study youth, was asked about the study.

"What I'd like to impress upon most people is the fact that most young people are fine people. It's a very, very small percentage that is not."

Mr. Apps mentioned teenage drinking problems. He said that the study considered lowering the age, but this was not recommended in the end.

The study decided to make people aware of the dangers of the habit.

Mr. Apps complained that older people were to examine their views television advertisements.

He said that following concern over accident rates among young people it was recommended that motorcycliste be forced to wear helmets.

Mr. Apps spoke of other recommendations such as temporary drivers' licences for teens from ages 16 to 18.

He calmly felt that there should be more nursery schools to look after children.

It was also recommended that there be institutions described best as "half-way homes," rather than training schools.

He criticized schools for not keeping youth in good physical condition. "Their physical condition isn't good enough."

Mr. Apps recommended a department of youth with which he said young people might get a little more attention.

Lee Grills answered a number of questions concerning postage stamps.

He explained that it cost $16,000 approximately every time a new stamp was issued, but he said that revenue from them amounted to about $40,-000.

Upon being asked how many different stamps were issued, he said that the average per year was about 12. He explained that during Centennial year about 20 were issued.

Salvation Army Group Holds Successful Congress

Col. Wilfred Hawkes, divisional commander of the Salvation Army, described Mid-Ontario People's Congress which drew about 400 delegates to Belleville over the weekend as a great success.

The three-day congress brought delegates from Gananoque to Whitby to Peterborough here for the meetings and festivities.

Friday saw two sessions of officers' private councils with Col. Arnold Brown, director of international public relations, at the Salvation Army citadel.

Afterward delegates took part in a public gathering with civic and salvationist welcomes to delegates at Bridge Street United Church.

On hand was Mayor J. Russell Scott who welcomed visitors to the city.

Friday's activities were culminated by a presentation of the play, "Christ in the Concrete City" by the Pathway Players of Toronto.

Saturday afternoon saw a women's special meeting for the area held in the Victoria Avenue Baptist Church. Col. Brown was the "specially-invited speaker" and he spoke about dwelling beyond worry and care.

Afterwards a March of Witness took place and an estimated 400 band members and delegates as well as young people in such organizations as the scouts and brownies took part.

The salute was taken by Mayor Scott, Col. Brown and Col. Hawkes.

Saturday night a festival of praise took place at BCI.

Sunday morning and evening the delegates took part in services of worship and thanksgiving.

A "go-generation" rally was the highlight of Sunday afternoon's activities.

Music was provided by the Scarboro Citadel band and the Willowtones, a two-piece combo made up of Derek and Gordon Adnum of Toronto.

Featured soloist was Mrs. David Dowding of Toronto.

Sunday afternoon's rally was highlighted by a divisional composite of young people's band and chorus. The band numbered about 60 pieces and the vocal addition numbered about 40 pieces.

Gordon and Mildred Jarvis, of Belleville, who had spent three months in Hong Kong reported on their adventures there.

Czech Gymnastic Queen Weds Olympic Mate

MEXICO CITY (AP) — Vera Caslavska, Czechoslovakia's golden-haired gymnastics Queen, became the bride of her sweetheart team-mate Josef Odlozil Saturday night in a wild, shoving ceremony that almost turned the Olympic Games' most romantic moment into a riot.

In the beautiful Roman Catholic cathedral on the Zocalo, in the heart of Mexico City, priests in clerical robes were forced to shove spectators and reporters off the sacred altar before the wedding could take place.

Even then, the solemn nuptial mass, which was turned into a melee, was delayed for almost two hours.

The pretty 26-year-old Czech gymnast, winner of four gold medals and the all-round individual title in these Games as in Tokyo four years ago, and her dimpled bridegroom, a silver medallist in the 1,500-metre run in Tokyo, first said their civil vows at the Czech embassy.

There, they promised to love, honor and obey before Ambassador Karel Hanus while university guests hung over their shoulders, pushing and shoving.

One woman, with two small children hanging on her arms, dropped a bottle of marmalade on the ambassador's rug at the height of the ceremonies.

Afterward, the bride and groom were hustled through a throng of 1,500 people surrounding the embassy to the magnificent cathedral, started by the Spanish with Aztec labor in the 16th century and finished three centuries later.

Miss Caslavska and her 29-year-old mate were 45 minutes late reaching the altar because of the 4,000 people inside the cathedral and the crowds around its outside doors.

After the delayed ceremony, the two Czechs were guests at a reception in a dining hall at the Olympic Village. The host was Ramirez Vasquez, president of the Mexican Olympic organizing committee.

Later, the newlyweds sped off in a white bridal car to an undisclosed honeymoon site. They fly home today to Prague and will take an extended honeymoon later, probably in Italy.

Equestrians Save Canada's Best for Games Finale

Team Leader Goes Home Before Canada's Gold Medal Win

MEXICO CITY (CP) — The equestrian jumping team that won Canada's only gold medal at the 19th Olympic Games Sunday criticized the country's Olympic sports leadership for lack of support.

The three team members said they were disappointed that the chef de mission, or leader, of the Canadian Olympic team, Howard Radford of Montreal, had gone home without seeing them take the gold in the Prix des Nations.

The team members are Jim Elder of Aurora, Ont., Tom Gayford of Gormely, Ont., and Jim Day of King City, Ont.

"We're a little disappointed in the lack of support from the top," Gayford said. "But I think they'll come to realize what a sport riding is."

Elder said: "We would have liked Radford to be here to wish us luck, at least."

"Radford told us this is not a demanding sport. He should have seen that course out there today."

If the horsemen were disappointed about lack of leadership, they were overjoyed at their spectacular victory.

Canada was in second place behind Britain at the end of the first three of six rides over the 17 obstacles. Marion Coakes of the British team was disqualified on the next ride.

France forged ahead but Canada got the lead on the last ride and France had to settle for the silver medal. West Germany won the bronze.

The three Canadians rode sedately to the podium and dismounted to accept their medals from President Gustavo Ordaz Diaz of Mexico and congratulations from Prince Philip. After the ceremony, Elder and Day suddenly broke out in a race, pounding across the Olympic Stadium and up the ramp.

"Jim cheated," Elder said later. "I didn't know where the finish line was."

Elder, on The Immigrant, was the last Canadian to ride. He put 18 penalty points with the low 9.5 he had registered on his first ride.

"The Immigrant is a young horse and he was in his first big performance," Elder said.

"I had to ride him quite hard. He was jumping high but not far enough."

Horsemen, Swimmers Win Weekend Medals

Ontario Threesome Overcome French Bid

MEXICO CITY (CP) — Canada's equestrian Jumping team scored a surprise gold medal victory in the Prix des Nations Sunday, the last event of the Olympic Games.

The first and only Canadian gold medal of the 1968 Olympics came before a crowd of 80,000 in Olympic Stadium. The onlookers included Prince Philip, president of the International Equestrian Federation, and President Gustavo Diaz Ordaz of Mexico.

It was Canada's first gold medal ever in Olympic equestrian competition.

France, the leader going into the last of six rides over the tough course, took the silver medal.

West Germany, winner of this event in the last three Olympics, ended up with the bronze by a narrow margin over the United States.

Members of the Canadian team were Tom Gayford, 39, of Gormley, Ont., on Big Dev; Jim Elder, 31, of Aurora, Ont., on The Immigrant; and Jim Day, 22, of King City, Ont., on Canadian Club.

The only other Canadian medals at these Olympics were three silvers and one bronze earned by the swimmers. They completed the haul, the best in half a century, when the women's 400-metre freestyle relay team won the bronze in its event Saturday night.

The over-all performance was the best since 1956, when Canada won six medals: two golds, one silver and three bronzes.

In the unofficial team standings here, the United States won 97 medals, including 45 golds, while the Russians took 91, of which 29 were gold.

After Canada's three horsemen received their medals from President Diaz Ordaz and congratulations from Prince Philip, the Games were brought to an end with fireworks and the traditional farewell parade of athletes from the participating countries.

The parade was smaller than in the past. Olympic officials ruled that only a flag-bearer and six other athletes would represent each country. Canada's flag bearer was swimmer Ralph Hutton of Ocean Falls, B.C., winner of a silver medal in the 400 metre freestyle.

Fifteen countries, with three riders each, entered the Prix des Nations.

Canada accumulated 102½ penalty points, for a clear margin over France with 110½. West Germany had the best individual ride, 5¾ penalty points on his second round, and the best two-ride total of only 18¼ penalty points.

Teen-aged Girls Swim Way to Bronze

MEXICO CITY (CP) — A 50-perb effort by four teen-aged girl swimmers Saturday night brought Canada its fourth medal of the 1968 Olympic Games.

They captured third place in the women's 400-metre freestyle relay.

Angela Coughlan of Burlington swam the first leg and Marilyn Corson of Parry Sound the second.

A tremendous anchor leg by Marion Lay propelled Canada to the relay bronze and rounded out the best Canadian swimming effort at the Olympics in half a century.

The U.S. won the gold medal in the women's 400-metre freestyle relay in the Olympic record time of four minutes 2.5 seconds.

East Germany took the silver medal in 4:05.7.

The Canadian sea mot Miss Coughlan, Miss Corson, Elaine Tanner and Miss Lay was clocked in 4:07.2.

Miss Lay covered the final 100 metres in a sizzling 59.5 seconds, matching the time of the last and fastest U.S. swimmer, Jan Hene. She was rapidly gaining on East Germany's last swimmer, Gabriele Perthes, at the finish.

"It puts her in a pretty elite class," Canadian coach George Gate of Montreal said after the race.

"There are only a few women who have covered that distance in less than a minute."

Except for the first leg, times recorded in relay events do not count as individual records because the swimmers take a flying start.

Miss Coughlan, 16, a long-distance specialist, swam the opening leg in 1:02.4.

Miss Corsof, 18, swam the second leg in 1:03.6 which, although the U.S. and East Germany were well ahead at this point, kept Canada within striking distance of third place.

The Americans had a margin of five metres over East Germany at the finish. Their time broke the Olympic record of 4:03.8 posted by another U.S. foursome in 1964.

Miss Lay cut East Germany's margin over Canada nearly in half on her leg, to less than three metres.

After the race, the Canadian coach had special praise for Miss Corson as well as for Miss Lay.

"We were really worried about Corson because her best previous time for the 100 metres was one minute five seconds," Gate said.

Bruins Hand Habs First Season's Loss

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Boston's revived Bruins pranced to a second-place tie with Chicago Black Hawks in National Hockey League standing while Toronto's battering Maple Leafs ground past New York Rangers into fourth place.

The Bruins ended a scoring drought of 118 minutes, 57 seconds, to hand league-leading Montreal Canadiens their first loss in seven starts, 4-2.

Fred Stanfield counted the first of two Boston goals on a power play in the first period. His second counter, his fourth of the season, came in the second period while 14,562 Boston fans applauded.

Boston nailed down the decision with goals by Phil Esposito and Eddie Shack within 37 seconds of the second period. Montreal scorers were Jacques Lemaire and Ralph Backstrom.

The Leafs, who had shut out Boston 2-0 Saturday behind goalie Johnny Bower, roared from behind at New York with five straight goals to down the Rangers 5-3.

In other Sunday games, Gordie Howe scored twice to lead Detroit Red Wings to a 4-3 edge over Chicago and Oakland Seals and Philadelphia Flyers tied 2-2.

Other Saturday scores: New York 3 Minnesota North Stars 0, Philadelphia 2 Los Angeles Kings 0, St. Louis Blues 2 Pittsburgh Penguins 4.

The Rangers jumped in front of Toronto with two quick goals in the first six minutes by Rod Gilbert and Vic Hadfield, the latter a 55-foot slap shot. Then the 17,250 spectators saw five straight goals by Toronto before Jean Ratelle counted for Rangers in the third period.

The Leafs tied it up midway through the initial period on goals by Jim Dorey and Floyd Smith and went ahead in the second when Tim Horton and Murray Oliver scored. Bob Pulford also counted for the Leafs in the last period.

Dave Mickey and Dave Keon were the scorers in the Saturday shutout of the Bruins before 16,455 Toronto fans.

Other Detroit goals were by Garry Unger and Frank Mahovlich as 12,943 fans watched. Scorers for the Hawks were Bobby and Dennis Hull and Stan Mikita.

Seals dominated the game at Oakland but were held off by Philadelphia goalie Doug Favell until Joe Szura sent a soft six-foot shot into the net for the tie.

A mere 1,322 were on hand to watch Philadelphia defenceman Ed Van Impe count in the first period Oakland's Carol Vadnais blasted a 50-footer two minutes later and Oakland's Jim Johnson scored in the last minute of the second period.

Mo-Hawks Complete Long, Long Weekend

ORILLIA — If last weekend was a blessing, this weekend was a disaster for the Belleville Mo-Hawks, who were thumped 7-1 last night in Orillia by the Terriers after slaughtering a 10-0 defeat at the hands of Barrie Flyers Friday night in Belleville.

The Mo-Hawks used last weekend to notch their two Senior "A" wins to date, a 6-0 win over Kingston and a 3-2 Galt verdict.

The Terriers, who boxed the Mo-Hawks in their own end much of the night, capitalized on "Belleville's inability to clear the puck out of their own end, to score two first-period markers.

first goal and Terry Vail, playing his first game with Orillia after just being released by the Eastern Nationals, scored in a passout from the corner while Orillia was shorthanded.

Ten seconds later, John "Shaker" Baker took a pass from Goyer and beat Wrigley in the Orillia nets with a low drive from about 20 feet out.

But the Terriers added two goals in the second period and three in the third to complete the rout. Orillia's third goal was a power play effort by Milroy while Doug Murray was off for tripping Hymers. Galand tallied the Terriers' fourth goal as he broke in all alone, faked Holmes, who went down, and scored on the left side.

Galand, with two goals and two assists, and Garry Milroy with a goal and three assists were offensive standouts for the Terriers.

Orillia outshot Belleville 20-14.

Orillia coach Jack Dyte felt: "We got a few breaks, and some of our boys, notably Galand and Speyers, who was our best defenceman, played well. The score wasn't a true indication of the game. I thought that Marineau played extremely well for Belleville — he was never out of position, but I think the Mo-Hawks missed the boys who weren't here, especially Brown."

"We were fortunate to get the 10 Mo-Hawks played with Toronto Varsity Grads last year Dyte remarked, "but the league is a lot stronger this last year. I expect Barrie and Galt will be the teams to beat."

The Mo-Hawks are hosts to the Kingston Aces at the Belleville Arena tomorrow night and playing coach Davy Joner may continue to juggle his lines in an effort to find a winning combination.

THE CAR BUYER'S PROBLEMS

"HER CAR" — A NEW ERA

In just four short years the number of women driving cars is forecast to outnumber men.

There are some women who know the difference between torque and horsepower and some who can tune their cars with a hobby pin. But it is safe to say that these are the exceptions. How then does the car industry sell a car to a woman?

Well, say the researchers, there are very few women who care about how automatic washers work, or air conditioners, or vacuum cleaners . . . as long as they keep working. They are necessities, as cars are. The biggest difference between this one and that one is good service.

It is a wise automobile dealer who realizes that nothing is more frustrating to a woman than a car that lets her down. Once accustomed to the convenience, she is out of business without it.

Then, besides good service, women value sincerity on the part of the dealer and his genuine desire to look after their interests. Since they often lack knowledgeability on car dealing, women rely more on their instincts, while looking for a dealer they can trust.

The wife's car and the first car of a working girl are likely to be used ones. The marketing researchers say that the dealer who can lessen the pitfalls and increase the economy and satisfaction in what many women consider a risky purchase, is apt to prosper.

Argos Restrict Cats To Their Half of Field

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Toronto Argonauts trimmed Hamilton Tigers-Cats 13-1 and Montreal Alouettes held Ottawa to a 31-31 tie in weekend action in the Eastern Conference of the Canadian Football League, setting up the most thrilling end to regular-season play in years.

The loss meant that Hamilton will end the season in third place. Montreal will be last.

The winner of the Toronto-Ottawa game will have a week off while the loser will have to take on Hamilton in a sudden-death playoff game.

Argos win was flattering to Hamilton who managed to get out of their own end of the field only twice.

Toronto had 24 first downs to nine for Hamilton and had total offence of 314 yards against a mere 147 for the Ticats.

League-leading ground-gainer Bill Symons paced the Argo ground attack with 151 yards on 22 carries. The display left him eight yards short of becoming the first 1,000-yard rusher in Argo history.

Toronto went ahead 1-0 in the first quarter on a single by Dave Mann—the only scoring play in the first 15 minutes.

At the half it was 11-0 for the Argos, thanks to a touchdown by Mel Profit, a convert and a field goal—both Mann efforts.

Tommy-Joe Coffey missed a field goal in the third quarter but scored a point—the only one the Ticats managed. Mann kicked another single in the final quarter to round out the scoring before 24,206 spectators.

Saturday in Ottawa, Montreal scored nine points on three field goals in the second half and almost upset the heavily-favored Riders. A Don Sutherin single in the fourth quarter salvaged the tie for the first-place Ottawa team.

Montreal went ahead in the first quarter on a Terrel Williams pass to Peter Della Riva which was converted by Dave Ray.

Sutherin kicked a single later in the opening period, but that was all the Riders scored in the first quarter.

In the second quarter, Ray kicked a field goal and the Als were ahead 10-1. However, Ottawa touchdowns by Russ Jackson and Bo Scott, two converts and a field goal by Sutherin put the Riders ahead 18-10 at the half.

That set the stage for the second half surge with Ray hitting on his three field goal attempts, one from 53 yards.

Sport Briefs

WINNIPEG (CP) — Jim Kramer, a 37-year-old Sault Ste. Marie, Ont., bowling alley manager, Sunday won the Canadian 10-pin bowling championship. Kramer completed the round-robin event with a total of 64 points plus five pins. Frank Bohm of Regina, who won the championship in 1962 by defeating Kramer, had 62 plus eight. Kramer will represent Canada in the international masters' 10-pin bowling championship at Guadalajara, Mexico, Dec. 2-5.

MEXICO CITY (CP) — Pakistan won the Olympic field hockey gold medal Saturday, defeating Australia 2-1 in a tense final. The victory gave Pakistan its second gold medal in Olympic history. The Pakistanis also won in 1960, the only Olympics since 1928 that India had not taken the gold. India, upset by Australia in the semi-final, won 2-1 over West Germany Saturday to capture the bronze medal.

MEXICO CITY (CP) — Yugoslavia won the Olympic gold medal in water polo Saturday night, outlasting Russia 13-11 in a rough and gruelling overtime match. The Russians opened the 1964 also, scored twice in the last minute of regulation time to send the game into two extra three-minute periods with the score tied 11-11. But in overtime the play was all in favor of the Yugoslavs. Defending champion Hungary defeated Italy 9-4 to win the bronze medal.

Eskies Trim Bombers In Fourth Straight Win

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Calgary Stampeders and Edmonton Eskimos scored easy victories in the Western Football Conference during the weekend.

Quarterback Peter Liske threw four touchdown passes and scored one himself Saturday as the Stampeders defeated British Columbia Lions 42-23 to move within one point of leading Saskatchewan Roughriders.

In Edmonton Sunday, the Eskimos' defence intercepted six passes and Thermus Butler scored two touchdowns in a 32-22 victory over Winnipeg Blue Bombers before 15,011 fans. It was the fourth successive triumph for the third-place Eskimos and Winnipeg's sixth consecutive defeat.

The Calgary victory gave them 20 points and assured them of a second-place finish. They still could finish first if the Roughriders lose their remaining two games and Calgary takes its last one against Winnipeg.

The Eskimos have 17 points, eight more than the Lions and 13 ahead of the last-place Bombers.

Liske scored Calgary's first touchdown halfway through the first quarter on a one-yard plunge. He threw two touchdown passes to end Rick Shaw and one to Gerry Shaw and Hemi Harrison.

Rick Shaw added his third touchdown at 14:20 of the final quarter when he recovered a fumble on the B.C. 14. Larry Robinson converted all six touchdowns.

E. A. Sims and Sonny Homer each scored a touchdown for the Lions, who led 10-7 after the first quarter but trailed 21-20 after two quarters and 28-23 at the end of the third.

Ted Gerela kicked three field goals to equal the professional record of 28 and added two converts to complete the Lions' scoring. Pete Gogolak set the record in 1965 when he was with Buffalo Bills of the American Football League and it was tied in 1966 by Bruce Gossett of Los Angeles Rams of the National Football League.

The Canadian record was 22, held jointly by Edmonton's Peter Kempf and Robinson. Kempf set the mark while playing with the Lions in 1963 and Robinson's total came in the 1964 campaign.

Calgary's total offence of 456 yards included 441 on passes as Liske completed 33 of 46 attempts. The hot-and-cold veteran, who has been successful on 271 of 436 passes for 4,325 yards in 15 games, needs another top effort against Winnipeg next Sunday to better his CFL passing records.

Liske is 299 yards short of the single-season yardage total set by Sam Etcheverry of Montreal, and 34 behind his own record of 303 completions, set in 1967 when he compiled 4,479 yards.

Flyers Are Senior Team to Beat

By HE CANADIAN PRESS

Steve King's goal with just over a minute remaining in the game gave Ottawa's Eastern National team a 4-3 victory over Oakville Oaks in a regularly scheduled Ontario Hockey Association senior series game at Oakville Sunday night.

The Nationals are playing an abbreviated schedule with the OHA Senior loop and the games and results in the series standings.

The game gave the National team a split in weekend action. They were beaten 4-2 by the Hornets at Galt Saturday while the Oaks were being defeated by the same score at Kingston.

In other Sunday games, Orillia Terriers trounced Belleville Mo-Hawks 7-1 and Barrie Flyers edged the visiting Collingwood Kings 3-2.

The Nationals were paced at Oakville by Don Davidson's two goals with the other going to veteran Jean Cusson. Oakville got goals from Jack Price, two, and Pet Bester as the teams finnie. The second period got all after a scoreless opening 20 minutes. Oakville got stellar goaltending from Ludger Doucette who stopped 41 Ottawa shots.

Dave Luciuk's screen shot from the blueline midway through the second period proved to be the winner at Barrie. The Flyers also got goals from Ron Vermette and Wayne Weller, Keith Smeltzer and Ken Robertson scored for Collingwood.

About 1,500 fans saw the Flyers control the game although a late Collingwood rally threatened to take the advantage away from Barrie.

At Galt Saturday, 1,800 fans saw the Hornets hold on to an early lead as goalie Errol McKibbon turned aside 40 shots by the Ottawa-based Nationals.

Bob Ertel, Howie Dietrich, Billy Hway and Joe Hogan scored for Galt. Both National goals, by Cusson and Ab Demarco, came on power plays.

At Kingston, Bob Apps scored his first two goals of the season en route to a 4-2 Aces victory. Rod Graham and Winston Dowdell also scored for Kingston while Don Currie and Terry Cook replied for Oakville.

Morrall at Colts' Helm in Win

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The struggling Green Bay Packers, bidding for a fourth straight National Football League title, meet the Cowboys in a key game at Dallas tonight.

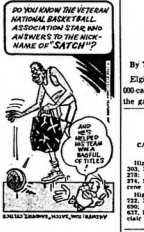
A victory would move the Packers (2-3-1) into a first-place tie with Detroit Lions in the Central Division. A loss would drop them into last place.

Dallas will be gunning for a 7-0 record and for a measure of revenge against the Packers who have beaten them in the last two league championship games.

In NFL action Sunday, Baltimore Colts (6-1) defeated Los Angeles Rams (6-1) 27-10, San Francisco 49ers (5-3) upset Detroit Lions (3-3-1) 14-7; Chicago Bears (3-4) surprised Minnesota Vikings (3-4) 20-13; St. Louis Cardinals (4-3) beat New Orleans Saints (3-4) 31-17; Cleveland Browns (4-3) trounced Atlanta Falcons (1-6) 30-7; New York Giants (3-2) edged Washington Redskins (3-4) 13-10, and Pittsburgh Steelers (1-6) topped Philadelphia Eagles (0-7) 3-0.

Baltimore and Los Angeles are tied for first in the Coastal Division.

Earl Morrall passed for two touchdowns and ran for another as the Colts built up a 20-3 halftime lead. Roman Gabriel passed for the Rams' score.



End Dick Witcher picked up a fumble by team-mate Gary Lewis and ran 12 yards for the fourth period touchdown that got San Francisco over Detroit, which is alone in first place in the Central Division pending the outcome of the Green Bay game.

Chicago moved into a second-place deadlock with Minnesota in the Central when Mac Percival kicked his fourth field goal of the game, a 47-yard boot, with three seconds left.

St. Louis exploded for 21 points in the last quarter to remain in a first-place tie with Cleveland in the Century Division and drop New Orleans into third. Jim Hart's 23-yard touchdown pass to Dave Williams broke a 17-17 tie for St. Louis. Leroy Kelly ran for two touchdowns and Bill Nelson passed for another in Cleveland's romp over Atlanta.

The Giants, second in Dallas in the Capitol Division, launched an 80-yard touchdown drive in the fourth quarter to beat Washington. Tucker Frederickson scored the winner on a one-yard plunge.

Pittsburgh gained its first victory and kept Philadelphia winless with Booth Lusteg's 15-yard field goal in the last second.

Baylor's 32 Points Put Him at 20,000 Mark

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Elgin Baylor cracked the 20,000-career point mark here with the game after leading Los Angeles Lakers to a lopsided 152-116 victory Sunday over San Diego Rockets in National Basketball Association action.

Baylor, who finished the game with 32 points, is only the third NBA player along with Chamberlain with Chamberlain and Bob Petit of St. Louis to score 20,000 points.

Jerry West hit for 30 points for the Lakers while Do Kojis paced San Diego with 29.

In other NBA play Sunday, Bill Bridges didn't score a point but controlled both backboards to help the Atlanta Hawks to a 123-100 win over Phoenix Suns and Earl Monroe's 32 points paced Baltimore Bullets to a 125-114 decision over Seattle Super-Sonics.

In Saturday's play, Boston Celtics downed Milwaukee 102-89, New York edged Cincinnati 98-91, Chicago lost a squeaker to Philadelphia, 123-118* and San Francisco took Baltimore in a cliffhanger, 107-105.

After Lights Came On . . .

Morrison Rally Falls Short

The lights went out in the dressing room before the game and came on behind the Belleville net three times in the second period, but the Morrison Juniors battled back and almost pulled out their Junior "B" game in a hectic third period Sunday at the Belleville Arena. As it was, Peterborough must be happy with their 5-3 win over the locals.

Before the game, the Morrisons had to change dressing rooms following a power failure and they came on the ice left in the dark after they stepped on the ice.

Peterborough grabbed a 2-1 lead in the first period and threatened to run away with the game in the second stanza when they scored three unanswered power-play goals.

But the locals surged back in the third period with two goals and could easily have tied the score had it not been for the outstanding play of the Don-Byes' netminder. "We threw everything at them in that third period but the kitchen sink, but we just didn't get the breaks," commented Coach Floyd Crawford. "They proved to me that they won't fold up the way they came back and dominated the third period, after falling behind 5-1 in the second. They have the spirit and the desire to get the rest will come with experience."

Crawford singled out Fuller, McCormick and Hopkins for outstanding performances, and praised the spirit and determination of the team.

Fuller, McCormick and Coughlin were the Belleville marksmen.

The locals will need another outstanding effort tonight when they travel to Oshawa for an 8.00 p.m. contest with the Cougars.

Dennis McCormick and Steve Moore will be unable to make the trip tonight because of the demands of school to school work, so the locals may be short-staffed. However Jerry Chandler is expected to return soon and the Morrisons hope to hang in till all the injured return to regular strength.

Mr. "Fin" just looking for a full team scout," said Coach Crawford, "Then I think the pieces will come together."

"Bawdy" Heads Umps

At the last meeting of the Belleville and District Umpires' Association the Offers were elected for the coming year.

The 1969 Officers will be:

Past President — Gerald Ethier, president — Harold Bawden, vice - president - Ronald Guest, Umpire-in-chief — Allan Kelleher, executive members - Matthew Nisbet, Maurice Huddleston and secretary-treasurer - Herb. Pointer.

Mr. Harold Bawden, voted umpire of the year, was the recipient of the annual Ken Colling Memorial Award, which is given by Mr. Clem Colling in respect for his late brother, well-known as an umpire in the late 20's and 30's.

City Minors Top Brampton

Led by the Kinsmen Bantams and Smiths Falls Peewees, local minor hockey all-star teams defeated their Brampton counterparts (in four out of six) in exhibition games held at the Belleville Arena on Saturday and Sunday.

The Kinsmen won by scores of 5-2 on Saturday and 5-1 on Sunday. Lupenette with two goals and Richvold and Ackerman with a goal and an assist each led the way for Belleville Saturday. Smith counted the other Belleville goal. Kadon and Dunn replied for Brampton, against the goal-tending of Bob Moore and Bruce Clark.

Smith with a pair of goals and an assist and Lupenette with a goal and two assists spaced the Kinsmen attack while Bruce Carruthers were Ackerman and Harrington. Bruce Clark and Bob Moore again split the goal-tending chores for the locals. Webster tallied at the 12.50 mark of the third period to ruin the shutout bid of Bruce Clark and Bob Brown.

The Smith Fuels Peewees earned 4-1 and 3-1 decisions on Saturday and Sunday, respectively. Kirby, Wholan, Crawford and James tallied on Saturday and Young replied for Brampton.

Steve Firby scored two goals and an assist on Sunday to lead the way for Belleville. Peter Crawford also scored with Young counting Brampton's marker.

The Towers Food City Novice squad dropped a 6-5 decision Sunday and a 4-2 decision Sunday. Lapenette, Hutchinson, Walmsley, Kerr and Hayman were the Belleville marksmen Saturday while Crawford counted both goals Sunday.

Petes Keep Jr. "A" Lead After Winning Battle With Generals

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Peterborough Petes retained their first-place lead in the Ontario Hockey Association Junior A series with a 5-4 victory Sunday over Oshawa Generals.

In other weekend games, all played Sunday, London Knights defeated Toronto Marlboros 7-5, Niagara Falls Flyers scored four unanswered goals in the third period for a 7-5 decision over Kitchener Rangers, and Montreal Junior Canadiens came back from a 3-0 deficit to tie St. Catharines Black Hawks 4-4.

At Oshawa, before 2,850 fans, Petes were paced by captain Trevor Conn's two goals. Ron Stackhouse, Foxy Featherstone, Rick McLeish and Paul Perras also got goals.

Bob Kelly, Ivan Boldirev, Fred O'Donnell and Rick Kessell scored for Oshawa.

Darryl Sittler had three goals and an assist in London's victory before 5,562 fans at Maple Leaf Gardens. Allan Young collected two goals with Don Carter and Dan Maloney completing the Knights' scoring.

Dale Tallon, Doug Acomb, John French, Frank Hamill and Gord Davies were the Toronto marksmen.

Totalitarian Form of Government

Taxing Churches Would Be 'Odious and Offensive:' Priest

TORONTO (CP) —The Ontario government should consider its own wastage of tax dollars before looking to churches as a source of more revenue, a Roman Catholic congregation at St. Michael's Cathedral was told Sunday.

Rev. E. H. Barrett of Kingston termed the prospect of taxing churches as "odious and offensive" and an "act more in keeping with a . . . totalitarian form of government."

His remarks were part of a city-wide response Sunday by various church denominations in reaction to an anti-tax petition signed by Roman Catholic, Anglican and United church leaders two weeks ago. The petition said further taxation of churches would force a reduction in the social services churches bring to the community.

The Ontario committee on taxation last year recommended dropping of the property tax exemption on places of worship. Churches already pay full property taxes on all buildings except places of worship and seminaries.

Dr. Clifford Elliott, a United Church minister, called for free and open debate of the issue and told his congregation the church's stand has "been almost completely defensive."

"We seem to have reacted in fear more than in general concern for the community," he said.

Dr. Ernest Howse, former United Church moderator, said that although he supports the petition, he will not be pushing it hard "because we doubt Ontario will become the first world to tax places of worship."

Meanwhile, a United Church spokesman said 35,000 copies of the petition have been mailed to 1,200 Ontario clergymen for distribution to their congregations.

Alan Eagleson, seeking the presidency of the Ontario Progressive Conservative Association, said taxation would have a "crippling effect, not only on the less affluent parishes, but would seriously limit the tremendous work being performed by those churches who use surplus funds to alleviate social distress."

Report Indicates Airlines Facing Massive Problems

MUNICH (CP) —The world's scheduled airlines, in spite of a record year for air traffic, tourists carried and a 15-per-cent revenue jump, face a deteriorating financial situation, the director general of the International Air Transport Association reported today.

Knut Hammarskjold, presenting the annual report of IATA, said the industry's vital capital requirements for new aircraft —more than $18,000,000,000 alone invested in orders—facilities and equipment in the 1970s had forced it into a tenuous situation of rising costs and declining unit revenues.

He said the downward drift was not likely to be halted until sufficient supply of the "most efficient high-capacity jets are introduced."

But IATA members—who handle 90.6 per cent of scheduled world air traffic—could look with satisfaction at 1967, he said.

Mr. Hammarskjold reported that scheduled international and domestic air traffic rose a record 19.3 per cent over 1966, marking the largest annual increase since 1951 and brought the over-all traffic total to 52,700,000,000 ton-kilometres. A kilometre is 0.62 of a mile.

In international tourism a record was also achieved with the carrying of 138,000,000 passengers in 1967, representing a 10-per-cent increase over the previous year.

Total expenditures by passengers also moved up eight-per-cent over 1967 with an additional $1,000,000,000 expenditure bringing the anual total to $14,100,000,000.

Although operating revenues of scheduled airlines increased by 15 per cent in 1967, operating expenses increased by 16 per cent and operating profit decreased by one-per-cent to 8.5 per cent of revenue.

Considerable concern was being felt by IATA members at the 10-per-cent increase in charges paid by airlines for the use of airports and air navigation facilities.

"Worldwide, these costs amount to more than $500,000,000 annually and they account for a significant portion of airlines' total operating costs having risen from about three-per-cent of total operating costs in 1951 to about 5½ per cent in 1967."

Swimming Into Winter

Models parading in swimsuits in downtown Toronto on a cool October day shook the rush-hour crowd a bit, but the timing was not as irrelevant as it might seem. Between the health clubs and winter travel south, there is no longer an off-season in the swimwear business. (CP Photo)

Assistance Needed

Rural Dwellings Subject As Inquiry Hits West

WINNIPEG (CP) — The federal housing inquiry moved to the Prairies today and ran into Western plain-talk about modern housing—especially what's wrong with it.

A rhre plea on behalf of non-farm country dwellers was featured in a Manitoba submission personally to Transport Minister Hellyer, whose seven-member inquiry has been hearing mainly about city slums and suburban growth in its first six weeks.

Dr. George Johnson, provincial minister of health and social services, calls for planning programs and "some special assistance" apart from public housing and government mortgages for rural non-farm development.

The provincial brief, released in advance of submission, also says special help is needed for Metis people living in remote rural slums.

Manitoba statistics show that while five per cent of the homes in metropolitan Winnipeg need major repair, 12.3 per cent of rural dwellings are in the same category.

Likewise, only 2.2 per cent of Winnipeg dwellings but 11.4 per cent in the country are overcrowded.

"The problems are not such that they require the massive machinery set up to provide public housing and urban renewal for blighted urban centres," said Dr. Johnson's brief. "The need is mainly for planning and some special assistance for (rural) planning."

For Metis living in remote Manitoba communities, the provincial brief says training and social-aid programs are bound to fail unless adequate housing is emphasized.

"Many Metis communities are primitive in the extreme," Dr. Johnson says. "There is no sewer or water and very often no hydro or telephone.

"To expect to upgrade Metis people will require in many cases that entire families be moved and provided with adequate housing for the period of their training."

In Winnipeg, says the brief, city-centre development is needed. But the wording of the National Housing Act seems to rule out financial assistance for the necessary land assembly and construction of multiple-family dwellings.

The Manitoba Association of Architects, in a submission also released in advance, denounces present federal housing assistance on the grounds its disregards regional differences.

In all, 14 formal presentations were listed for just 6½ hours of public hearings by the housing inquiry in Winnipeg.

Your Car

Several Causes of Poor Gas Mileage

By RAY STAPLEY

A reader writes: "My car is a 1957 Chevrolet, six cylinder, automatic transmission, showing 56,000 original miles. The engine is in excellent condition but the best it will do is about 10 to 12 miles per gallon. It was recently tuned, including a new carburetor, but the mileage per gallon remains the same. I have been told that this particular model is rough on fuel but can't something be done to improve this low mileage?"

I have heard rumors about the 57 Chev six being hard on fuel, though at one time I drove this exact make of car and found the mileage comparable with any other six cylinder engine of approximately the same horsepower.

Since the first six cylinder Chevrolet engine was introduced in 1929 the power plant has been gradually modified and through the years this engine has justifiably earned a reputation for economy and the ability to operate efficiently on "regular" fuel. While the engine was tuned recently, it would appear that something has been overlooked, and the most likely culprit is late ignition timing. Embedded in the flywheel of a 57 Chevrolet is a small steel ball which indicates the timing mark, and originally it was recommended that the ignition timing be set dead on this ball. Today, however, performance and gasmileage can be improved considerably by advancing the timing well beyond this point. Before setting the timing follow this procedure: remove any paint or chalk marks that may have been wrongly positioned in the area of the steel ball and clean the flywheel until the steel ball is clearly visible, test the distributor vacuum advance unit and inspect the centrifugal advance weights inside the distributor. Finally, and this is important, engine idle or rpm must be adjusted to factory specifications before setting timing.

Inside the carburetor there is a vacuum-operated power piston that controls the volume of fuel to the engine under various loads and speed conditions. Occasionally, even on new carburetors, this power piston will stick in the open position and when this occurs normal mileage can be cut in half. Black smoke from the tailpipe as the engine is raced usually indicates this condition. Sluggish automatic choke action should not be overlooked, particularly where the driving pattern runs into a lot of stop and start, short city runs. A sticking heat riser valve, though often missed, is another possible cause.

With the aid of an accurate mileage meter I have driven volumes of domestic six cylinder engines and those that were in prime condition and properly tuned averaged from 18 to 22 miles to the gallon of fuel. All these tests, of course, were conducted under normal driving conditions. Variables such as poor tuning and maintenance, excessive overload, savage acceleration and use of the power can all reduce gas mileage. When a brand new domestic six cylinder gives poor mileage, with rare exceptions it can usually be traced to a malfunctioning component which can be quickly corrected.

A reader writes: "My battery is heading into its third winter and recently it has been temperamental. If I use the car every day all is well, but when I attempt to start the engine after the car has been idle for four or five days it cranks over quite slowly and if the engine fails to start in the first few seconds, the battery goes completely dead. Each time I have it recharged it tests "fair" but usually fails again if the car has been sitting for a few days. The battery in my previous car lasted for over four years and was still going strong when I traded the car. Why doesn't my present battery hold a charge?"

The battery compares with the tires, spark plugs, brake linings, etc. they start to wear out from the first day in service. Regarding normal life span of the average battery, there is really no set pattern. I have seen the odd one last for six years and others fail in less than a year. Much depends on care and driving pattern. Time is far more damaging than high mileage. On highway - driven cars where mileage climbs rapidly I have seen many batteries go well over 100,000 miles.

If the current regulator is improperly adjusted and the generator or alternator is charging too high, the battery will overheat, causing the plates to warp and disintegrate. Too low a charging rate also leads to rapid deterioration. Low acid level, or grime on top of the battery results in rapid discharge. If the car is used on short city runs and the battery is only partially charged, its life may be cut in half. When a car is not driven for several days the battery loses part of its charge. A brand new fully charged battery in storage at 70 degrees F. discharges itself in about 750 hours.

Battery tests can prove deceptive. I have seen batteries check out as excellent and fail a few days later. As time passes the plates slowly powder and drop to the bottom of the case. This powder gradually builds up and can create an internal short. Should the battery fail over night for no apparent reason it's likely due to an internal short.

To avoid the expense and aggravation of sudden failure I replace the battery in my own car at the beginning of the third winter.

At 80 degrees F. a new fully charged battery is 100 percent efficient; at zero it's capacity drops to less than half. Therefore, if the plates are left worn out, at zero it's capacity drops to less than half. Therefore, if the plates are half worn out, at zero temperature rere is only one quarter of the total battery efficiency.

Should the engine fail to start immediately, there is no reserve and the battery goes flat.

Trudeau Meets Protesters

Prime Minister Trudeau flew to Halifax Friday to address Nova Scotia Liberals. As he approached his hotel he was met by about 40 demonstrators, protesting Canada's stand in the Nigeria-Biafra war. They crowded around the Prime Minister with placards and argued with him for 15 minutes. (CP Photo)

TORONTO STOCKS

TORONTO (CP) — Western oils and industrials were fractionally up in brisk mid-morning trading on the Toronto Stock Exchange today. Other sections were mixed.

Gains outnumbered losses by 190 to 102.

Dyfex Diversified advanced 4¼ to 53, Dome Pete 1½ to 81½, Norcen ¾ to 34, Mercantile Containers ¾ to 10¾ and Leigh Instruments ¾ to 44½.

Real estate issues were strong. Canadian Goldale jumped 2¼ to 34, Revenue Properties ¾ to 10¾ and Peel Elder ¾ to 50¾.

Imperial Oil and Canadian Imperial Bank lost ¾ each to 78 and 18¼ and Bearer Lumber ¾ to 19.

Key Industries was up 2¼ to 35¾ after trading was halted for the first hour following the announcement that Seaway Hotels has agreed to buy the controlling interest from the Levy family.

Trading in Seaway Hotels, which closed Friday at 36½, was also halted pending the release of further details about the financing of the proposed purchase.

Canadian Breweries lost ¾ to 9 after Rothmans said it has cancelled plans to buy additional shares in the brewery. Rothmans bought an 11 per cent interest in June.

Among mines, Northgate rose 10 cents to 1.80, Rio Algom ¼ to 36, and Aetna Investments 19 cents to $2.35. Merrill Island slipped 10 cents to $1.90 after announcing plans for a 1-for-5 reverse stock split.

Digitalis Is Important Drug

By Dr. Joseph G. Molner

Dear Dr. Molner: Is it harmful to take digitalis? I have been taking one a day for nine months.

After having heart flutter, and beating fast and then skipping, and having two cardiograms, my doctor prescribed digitalis.

My appetite is now very poor, food tastes like my flesh become so flabby and my skin wrinkled. What worries me more is that I was told digitalis is not good for me and I shouldn't take it. Just what does it do for the system, and is it harmful to me? — Mrs. E. B. H.

The truth is that digitalis has been and still remains one of the most important drugs we have in medicines.

It strengthens the heart action; it regulates "heart rhythm; in cases of heart failure it is the drug, and we have nothing to match it.

It takes about 10 years to train a doctor, from the time he enters college, and some years longer than that to train a specialist. So for a man or physician worthy of the name thinks he knows it all after he has finished his formal training. Ten, 20, or 50 years later he is still learning.

As for that one drug — digitalis — the physician has spent a good deal of time learning when to use it, and learning also how much to use, and when to change the dosage if necessary.

Too large a dosage can cause nausea, loss of appetite, and diarrhea. The answer, of course, is to adjust the dosage, not to give up the use of a drug which is vital to the welfare of the patient.

You do not say who told you that digitalis was not good for you, but I can assume only that it was someone who just doesn't understand the drug or its proper use in medicine.

True, too much digitalis could in time interfere with your appetite, but the rest of the problems you mention hardly fit with its use. Have you considered that they may be the result of something else and not the medicine?

Tell your problems to your doctor. If adjustment of the dosage is in order, he can do that adjusting. If you have some other physical condition bothering you, you should let him begin seeking the causes.

It sounds to me as though you had let someone shake your confidence, not only in the drug but in your doctor. It was unkind of that someone to do so, and it implies considerable ignorance, medicine - wise, as well. Digitalis for a great many years has been one of the truly great drugs we possess.

Dear Dr. Molner: Our sons, 19 and 18, had mumps when they were little but only on one side. Should they have the mumps vaccine now? — Mrs. E. S.

I see nothing to be gained by it for them. Even though the swelling was only on one side, as happens often enough, they still had the disease and therefore have adequate immunity.

• • •

Dear Dr. Molner: In a recent pelvic examination my doctor said I had a fibroid tumor. He said in the past few years the practice of operating for this condition had become almost nil except in cases of infection. I also had a Pap test with negative results. Do you agree with his opinion? — Mrs. N. B.

Yes, — but I would put it this way: these fibroids of the uterus are watched but not removed unless they are growing at an undue rate, cause symptoms, or for any specific reason show signs of needing removal. They aren't removed "just because they are there." They often recede after menopause.

Gowon Campaign Starts

Lagos Not on Wartime Basis

LAGOS (CP) — For the capital of a country supposed to be fighting for its existence, this Nigerian city of 650,000 is remarkably devoid of any sense of urgency or public, single-minded dedication to a great cause.

The atmosphere is business-as-usual, tempered to some extent by propaganda posters displayed in fair profusion about the city.

The most common such poster bears an awkward, gramatically questionable couplet: "To keep Nigeria one is a task that must be done."

Another poster shows the head of secessionist Biafra's Odumegwu Ojukwu being crushed under a big Nigerian boot and the inscription: "Crush rebellion."

There are many pictures of Maj.-Gen. Yakubu Gowon, head of federal military government, on public display. He is shown resplendent in military uniform, and the captions refer to him as a courageous, far-sighted leader.

A campaign appears to be under way to build up Gowon as an authentic national hero—something this huge but ethnically-splintered nation could use at this time of civil war.

One small sign of the building —it has not quite reached the cult stage yet—was the statement given the story of his 34th birthday recently. The event was headline news in the Lagos press, which noted that he is still Nigeria's most eligible bachelor.

Other symptoms of the crisis in which Nigeria finds itself are the detachments of raw recruits, seen drilling in makeshift parade squares around Lagos, or in military compounds; the sandbag barricades in front of some public buildings; and the lethargic military guards that screen visitors to public buildings.

You have to sign a book to gain entrance to such places as the Independence Building, a 25-storey skyscraper that houses the federal ministry of information, among other offices.

You are also given a paper to be signed by the official you are going to see. But nobody ever asks to see this paper when you leave the place.

And towards quitting time at 3 p.m., you may walk through the entrance of the building without signing in at all.

Lagos stores appear well stocked with goods, although shortages exist in certain lines. One foreigner said he has not seen tomato sauce on a store shelf for weeks.

There is little sign of privation in the three or four swank Lagos hotels frequented by foreigners. However, things are not as they used to be before the emergency.

Liquor is still available, but expensive. A drink of scotch costs the equivalent of $1.10 and a 25-ounce bottle will run you $18.

At the posh Federal Palace Hotel the white wine has run out, and the choice of red is getting increasingly limited. Patrons of the hotel anxiously predict that before long they will be reduced to drinking champagne.

PM Terms Biafran War Suicide Not Genocide

HALIFAX (CP) — Prime Minister Trudeau defended his government's policy on the Nigerian conflict against vocal students during the weekend and termed the war "suicide, not genocide."

Attending the annual meeting of the Nova Scotia Liberal party, the prime minister ran into placard-carrying students denouncing his government's policy on the war.

Following a street corner confrontation with the protesters shortly after his arrival Friday, Mr. Trudeau invited them to a question-and-answer session Saturday.

He told them Canada was unable to recognize the aspirations for self determination of the breakaway Ibos in Nigeria because the United Nations charter refers to the right of self determination of "peoples"—not tribes, ethnic groups or creeds.

Mr. Trudeau said that of the 23 member countries in the Organization for African Unity, 19 had agreed that the Nigerian civil war was an "internal problem" and had told the world "hands off."

Canada wouldn't recognize Biafra as a country because this would only cause more trouble there.

Referring to charges of genocide against the federal Nigerian army, the prime minister said the war was "suicide, not genocide." A just war required a chance of—success—otherwise it was suicide—as well as a just cause.

In answer to a question on Canada's immigration policy, the prime minister brought to light a little known, order-in-council passed by the Mackenzie King administration in late 1945 or early 1946 allowing the deportation of thousands of Japanese Canadians.

He said the blanket order, stimulated by fear of espionage following the Igor Gouzenko revelations, was "a scandal."

The order had never been acted upon "but the fact that it could have been contemplated is a frightening thing."

Recalling the order-in-council, he said the government is preparing legislation so that there no longer will be two types of citizenship—one for native Canadians and one for those not born in Canada.

Jeane Dixon's Horoscope

For Oct. 29th,

Your birthday today: The coming year marks the end of a long cycle in your life. Your existence becomes readily amenable to simplicity. Fundamental changes are achieved without disturbing the placid exterior. Today's natives are tireless workers with lasting interests.

ARIES (Mar. 21 — Apr. 19): Your friends continue to be active, and the temptation to mix money and personalities is strong. Learn something further about health care today.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 — May 20): Finish old matters if you can. Consolidate the better features of your ventures to make them permanent. Be prepared for another test of your patience!

GEMINI (May 21 — June 20): This is still not the day to make any decisions. Wait a bit longer; meanwhile take into account the realities of the situation. It remains for older people to eventually have some very helpful counsel.

CANCER (June 21—July 22): New proposals may sound attractive but decisions are liable to be tricky. Follow the tested path that paid off before. Give people time to react to your moods.

LEO (July 23 — Aug. 22): This is a normal day in which you have a bit of success. Settle down and concentrate on routine activities and in-laws this evening — with as calm an approach as you can muster.

VIRGO (Aug. 23 — Sept. 22): What seems desperately important today is almost certain to be minor tomorrow. You attract short tempers so moderate a bit. Attention to fine details comes naturally.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 — Oct 22): What you buy today for sheer surface beauty turns out to be dearly bought. Your share of expenses increases. Some nagging worry will lessen. Spend time in meditation this evening.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23—Nov. 21): Signals are mixed (and those extra words confuse everybody). Try to close out belated transactions. Your stewardship turns out to be important.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 — Dec. 21): Give your deeper spiritual nature a chance to manifest itself in coping with stress between yourself and others. If you concentrate on solving each problem as you go along, you can be free!

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 — Jan. 19): Cling to solid ground rather than start an untried course today. Continue conservatively. Your advice on the affairs of other people is needed; offer it if you are asked, but do not try to impose.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20 — Feb. 18): Feel free to use unconventional methods, but in doing so, stick with affairs that are already going well.

PISCES (Feb. 19 — Mar. 20): The pitfall of today is to take somebody for granted; if you slip on this one, it will require quite some time before you regain your ground. Haste is to be avoided.

Humphrey Best of Bad Choice In Eyes of U.S. Negro Voter

WASHINGTON (CP-AP) — A growing fear that many Negroes may not bother to vote in the Nov. 5 United States elections because they find this year's presidential choices unappetizing has sparked an extensive campaign by civil rights leaders.

The get-out-and-vote effort is aimed at rekindling hopes that the Negro vote might be both a record and a powerful swing force in this year's race between Democrat Vice-president Hubert Humphrey, Republican Richard Nixon and George Wallace, third-party candidate.

In the 11 Southern states alone Negro registration is up 20 per cent over 1964 to 3,100,000, and makes up 16.5 per cent of the total registration in that region.

No comparable figures are available for the North, but Democrats have received an estimated 70 per cent of the Negro vote since the presidency of Franklin D. Roosevelt. The Democratic national committee wants to build up Negro voter registration this year to 7,000,000 or 8,000,000 from the 6,000,000 of the 1964 election.

Louis Martin, a Negro in charge of the Democratic drive, acknowledges that selling Humphrey isn't easy, especially to younger Negroes.

These persons between the ages of 21 and 35 don't remember the "heroics" of Humphrey when he fought for civil rights legislation as a senator. But they do remember he was a member of the government that supported the Vietnam war, among other things.

But most Negroes interviewed by The Associated Press and in a poll conducted by a Republican group said they feel they would do better under the Democrats than under the Republicans.

Nixon supporters had hoped to increase the 32 per cent of the Negro vote he received when he ran against John F. Kennedy in 1960.

But now experts expect him to get between 10 and 20 per cent of the black vote and the figure keeps dropping as election day approaches.

The Negroes fear Maryland Governor Spiro Agnew, Nixon's running mate, more than Nixon. Nixon has said that: Agnew would be the architect of a Republican administration's urban programs.

Those interviewed found it ironic that Baltimore earlier this year, than that he supported civil rights legislation in his state.

Jackie Robinson, first Negroe to play in major league baseball and a Republican, is so disenchanted with the Nixon-Agnew ticket that he is wagking for Humphrey.

He said in an interview he is frightened what kind of a Nixon made with Strom Thurmond, Republican senator from South Carolina who is campaigning in the South for Nixon.

"We all know Strom is the worst racist this country has ever had," Robinson said.

Rev. Ralph Abernathy who took over the leadership of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference after Martin Luther King was assassinated, has refused to endorse any candidate.

But he and others in the civil rights movement urged Negroes to vote. Not to do so would be political suicide, some say. Others say too many have suffered to gain civil rights for Negroes to ignore the right to vote.

A national coalition of Negro leaders meeting in Gary, Ind., Oct. 13 decided to withhold its endorsement from anyone, thereby fostering the idea that a vote for a presidential candidate was unimportant.

But many Negro leaders say Wallace's appeal to blue collar workers must be offset in some way. Wallace is regarded by many Negroes as a racist.

"Nixon and his running mate, Agnew, are all for cracking down to restore law and order, which has become a way of saying colored citizens must be controlled," wrote Roy Wilkins, executive director of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People.

Said Whitney M. Young Jr., of the National Urban League: "For us, the next four years could mean life or death . . . We can't throw away our hard-won political rights by not voting . . ."

Organizations such as these acknowledge that the more Negroes turn out on election day, the better the changes of Humphrey.

Witnesses Object To Patriotic Exercise

BROOKS, Alta. (CP) — Parents who belong to the Jehovah's Witnesses religious faith have withdrawn fifteen children from public elementary school here because they do not want them to take part in what the parents describe as "patriotic exercises."

The children, in Grades 1 to 8 in this community 120 miles east of Calgary, have been kept away from classes for three weeks. Spokesmen for the parents say the children's civil rights are being violated because they are required to take part in morning homage to the Canadian flag and the national anthem.

The parents claim that displays of patriotism constitute religious instruction and that their children should be allowed to leave the classroom while the national anthem is being sung.

Farm Legislation Awaits End of Postal Debate

OTTAWA (CP) — The Commons is to return to farm legislation today, but only if it completes the final round of debate on measures to raise Canada's postal rates.

Clause-by-clause study of the bill increasing first- and second-class mail rates was completed Friday and now requires only third and final reading before going to the Senate.

Third reading normally is routine.

The opposition has been urging the government to move quickly with proposed amendments to the Prairie Grain Advance Payments Act to raise to $6,000 from $3,000 the maximum advance payment permitted farmers for farm-stored grain.

The measure, they say, is vital to western farmers beset by adverse harvesting conditions due to cold, wet weather and glutened with a heavy carryover of last year's grain because of lagging exports.

Higher advance payments will provide cash for building additional farm-storage facilities.

Donald Macdonald, the government House leader and Privy Council president, is insisting, however, that Farm Credit Act amendments be put through committee study and third reading before the advance payments bill.

The credit act amendments increase the capitalization of the Farm Credit Corp. to $56,000,000 from $40,000,000, and set higher maximums for types of loans. They also remove the five-per-cent interest rate in favor of a floating rate to be set by the government.

Opposition spokesmen from western farming communities have delayed the bill in committee, protesting the elimination of the fixed interest rate.

They also argue that the new definition of a cooperative farm will allow large commercial interests to buy up land and operate farms as absentee land lords.

Gaston Tremblay Crosses House

Union Nationale Betrayed Supporters: MPP

QUEBEC (CP) — Dr. Gaston Tremblay, member of the legislative assembly for Montmorency, quit the Union Nationale party Sunday, charging the party "deceived, disappointed and betrayed" some of its supporters.

The resignation of Dr. Tremblay, 44, a physician and mayor of the suburban Quebec City, community of Beauport, left the governing party with 54 seats in the 108-seat house.

Dr. Tremblay said he will sit in the legislature as a member of the Christian Nationalist party, and predicted that "very soon other MLAs may imitate my gesture."

It would take only two more defections to put the Union Nationale in a minority position in the house. The Liberals have 48 seats, Independents four and two are vacant.

He said in an interview the objective of the new political group is to provoke a general election as soon as possible over the issues of disorder and religion in the schools.

Mr. Tremblay opposes the Union Nationale bill last year that established non-denominational junior colleges in Quebec that in effect take the place of private Roman Catholic classical colleges.

He said in a statement Sunday that when he first was elected to the legislature in 1966 he was convinced the Union Nationale would "restore order to education and stop this tide of technocracy which was in the process of depreciating the legislature."

"The Union Nationale has forgotten its whole program and our government has become the prolongation of the government of the Liberals, the creators of the evil.

"Technocrats create, lead and still apply the harmful and socialist policies they had implanted with the arrival in power in Jean Lesage in 1960."

Levesque Welcomes RIN To Parti Quebecois

MONTREAL (CP) — Quebec's pioneer separatist party dissolved during the weekend and Rene Levesque, leader of the new Parti Quebecois, immediately welcomed the members into his fold.

Mr. Levesque said Sunday the projected addition of former members of the Ralsemblement pour l'Independance nationale to his party will build a "strong and efficient" separatist party.

The RIN, which claims about 13,000 members, voted to dissolve Saturday at its annual conference, for the purpose of uniting with le Parti Quebecois now two weeks old.

"If regroupment takes place as delegates at the weekend RIN conference wished it to . . . I believe we are moving quickly towards a strong and efficient party, a party that will be made more dynamic by the combination of our impatiences," Mr. Levesque said.

Le Parti Quebecois already is the result of one fusion, the former Rallement Nationale, led by Gilles Gregoire, and the Mouvement Souveraineté-association, led by Mr. Levesque, a former provincial Liberal welfare minister.

The new separatist party advocates a sovereign Quebec within a Canadian economic union. It claims about 20,000 members.

RIN leader Pierre Bourgault, backed by his executive council, proposed dissolution to members gathered for the weekend convention, and it was approved by a vote of 227-50.

RIN founder Andre d'Allemagne said maintaining two separatist parties is a waste of money, energy and work.

Mr. Bourgault said former RIN members within le Parti Quebecois should be willing to ignore even the questions of their differences regarding language and education policies.

The differences are largely connected with the school question, Mr. Levesque would guarantee English-language education rights while the RIN supported a unilingual French-language policy.

No conditions were laid down, however, by the RIN for fusion with le Parti Quebecois.

Strike Pay Increased

Proctor-Silex Workers Offered $40 A Week to Join Pickets

By DAVID LEES
Staff Reporter

PICTON (Staff) — Strike-breaking workers at the Proctor-Silex plant are to be offered as much as $40 a week to leave their jobs and join pickets at the plant gates. Workers out on strike will receive the same amounts, a sharp increase from that paid in the past.

Approximately 41 production workers are at present employed at the Proctor-Silex plant in place of 99 who walked off their jobs July 17.

George LeBlanc, local 588 president, told about 65 union members last night that hiring the strikebreakers from their jobs would lead to an earlier resolution of the labor dispute.

Mr. LeBlanc indicated all 41 workers were wanted by the union on the picket lines. But special emphasis would be placed on encouraging strike-breaking union members to return to the pickets.

Deserting IUE members are a minority of the strikebreakers.

He argued that the $40 would almost equal, and possibly exceed, wages at the plant after income tax deductions.

Hospitalization and OMSIP payments are paid by the union as well.

The normal rate of strike-pay has been increased by $25. Donations amounting to $1,713 have been gathered from labor unions throughout the country.

Stolen NATO Rocket Was Flown to Moscow

KARLSRUHE (Reuters) — West German prosecutor general Ludwig Martin said today a Sidewinder rocket stolen from a NATO base a year ago was flown to Moscow by air freight.

Parts of the air-to-air rocket were packed in a crate and a suitcase, he told a news conference.

Martin confirmed the arrest last Tuesday of a West German Starfighter pilot, Flt. Sgt. Wolfdiehard Knope, 23, at the NATO air base at Neuburg, in connection with the Missile theft.

A Polish - born mechanic, Josef Linowski, was also arrested, he said.

The prosecutor said a third man was involved in the theft, but he would identify him only as Mr. X because investigations were still continuing.

Government spokesman Conrad Ahlers told a news conference in Bonn Monday that navigational equipment for Starfighter jets was also taken when the Sidewinder was stolen from the south German base in Zell, near Neuburg on the Danube.

Ahlers said it could be assumed that the Communists knew the basic construction of the equipment and the rocket, "but it is obviously useful for them to have a look at details of the latest models."

Prague Crowds Break Silence

PRAGUE (CP) — Czechoslovakia's Communist leaders travelled to Slovakia today for more 50th anniversary celebrations while the country wondered what price the Soviet Union might exact for a 12-hour outburst of anti-Soviet demonstrations in Prague Monday.

Possible Soviet retaliation ranged from new attacks in the Soviet press to a new showdown between the Kremlin and Czechoslovakia's reform regime headed by Communist party chief Alexander Dubcek.

Dubcek, President Ludvik Svoboda, Premier Oldrich Cernik and many members of the cabinet and party presidium took an eight-car special train to Bratislava, the Slovak capital. There they were to continue the golden jubilee celebration of Czechoslovakia's independence and to attend the signing by Svoboda Wednesday of the law creating semi-autonomous Czech and Slovak states joined in a federation.

The Prague part of the celebration produced an outpouring of patriotic fervor Monday that included demonstrations and parades by up to 10,000 persons chanting "Russians go home" and other slogans attacking the presence of the Soviet troops who invaded the country in August.

The demonstrations occurred despite appeals from government leaders and veiled warnings that they could cause the return to city streets of the Soviet tanks still camped in the Czech countryside. Demonstrations were also possible during the Bratislava celebration.

There was no sign of any Soviet military buildup in Prague this morning.

Czechoslovak authorities, with one eye on the Russian troops stationed in the country and the other eye half-closed, continued to play down the demonstrations.

"No demonstrations took place," police said Monday night. "Of course there were no arrests."

In East Berlin, an East German newspaper said today the demonstrations in Prague were staged by counter-revolutionary elements.

The East German news agency ADN said the chanting of the youthful demonstrators in the Czechoslovak capital had found little sympathy among on-lookers.

The Monday disturbances may have endangered Dubcek's future by giving Moscow a pretext to claim that he could not control his country and was violating the August post-invasion agreements governing "normalization" in Czechoslovakia.

Peace Terms Called 'Generous' But Still Remain Unrevealed

SAIGON (Reuters) — The prospects of a halt in U.S. bombing of North Vietnam still remains a mystery.

Prime Minister Keith Holyoake of New Zealand left Vietnam for home today after telling reporters that the latest conditions given to Hanoi in exchange for a halt in the bombing were the most generous ever offered the North Vietnamese government.

Holyoake also said that as far as he knew, the U.S. and nations allied with it in Vietnam are united on the peace terms.

He spent four days in Vietnam visiting New Zealand troops and conferring with Nguyen Van Thieu.

A joint communique issued after their talks said they felt significant progress toward peace could be made if North Vietnam took steps to de-escalate the war and enter into direct peace talks with the Saigon government.

Thieu met twice Monday with Ellsworth Bunker, the American ambassador to South Vietnam. The two conferred for the eighth and ninth times in their current series of discussions, but spokesmen for both sides afterwards refused to comment on the content of the talks.

The latest terms for a bombing halt now before North Vietnamese President Ho Chi Minh have not been disclosed. But Hanoi denied reports Monday night that it is prepared to accept the conditions.

The North Vietnamese position is that a U.S. bombing halt should be unconditional.

Washington remained silent on prospects for an end of the bombing.

Man (93) at Work!

Year's 'Peace Draft' For Youth Studied

MONTREAL (CP) — State secretary Gerard Pelletier said Monday he is "studying and giving concrete form" to suggestions from youth organizations which call for a non-military draft and year-round schooling.

In a speech to the Montreal Chambre de Commerce, Mr. Pelletier said some of the proposals could prove difficult to put into practice but this was no reason for rejecting the ideas without first studying them.

He described the non-military draft as "a year of civic service similar to the military service in other countries but devoted to peaceful ends."

"The young would like to work with their hands and their brains to build their country, especially in underdeveloped regions, so they can play their part in creating a more just society."

Mr. Pelletier said his department soon would outline a "youth policy."

Even Pollsters Running Scared in U.S. Presidential Election

WASHINGTON (CP) — In this United States election the pollsters as well as the candidates are running scared.

This presidential election year is so "volatile," says Dr. George Gallup, that it would be "reckless even to try to anticipate what's coming in November."

Louis Harris, whose polls along with Gallup's are the two more widely published national political surveys, adds:

"Polls have been wrong in the past and they will be wrong in the future—and this may be the year."

It took the pollsters years to recover from the loss of reputation suffered in the 1948 prediction that Republican Thomas Dewey would win. Harry S Truman was elected.

The pollsters' task this year isn't being made any easier by what appears to be a dramatic last-minute swing in voter preferences. The poll-takers also have to contend with a considerable body of Americans who are still trying to make up their minds.

Two polls issued almost together in early October showed a wide discrepancy. The Gallup poll taken Oct. 3-12 showed Republican Richard M. Nixon with a 12-point lead over Vice-President Hubert H. Humphrey, while the Harris poll of Oct. 8-10 gave Nixon only a five-point edge.

Louis H. Bean, a Washington pollster, commented that the seven-point discrepancy was "beyond the usual sampling error in national polls." Bean was one of the few who had held to his prediction that Truman would win in 1948.

The gap between Harris and Gallup was reduced substantially by the latest Gallup poll, issued Sunday and covering the Oct. 17-21 period. Gallup found this time that Nixon was leading Humphrey by eight points instead of 12.

In the post-mortem in the Truman fiasco it was discovered that one of every seven voters made up his mind in the last two weeks of the campaign, and three-quarters of these chose underdog Truman.

With ample evidence that thousands of voters this year are not enthusiastic about any of the candidates there again appears to be a vast body either undecided, wavering or lukewarm in their present commitment. They could again tip the balance.

Emergence of the strong third-party challenge of George C. Wallace has further complicated the situation, since techniques used for screening out persons who will not vote and for allocating the undecided voters were tailored for the traditional two-candidate race and may not be effective.

Critics charge that pollsters claim greater accuracy than is justified by their polling methods. Most major pollsters use samples of between 1,000 and 2,000 individuals while the U.S. census bureau, world's largest sample survey, interviews 50,000 monthly for unemployment statistics and other population data.

Distinction Between Areas

Bateman Criticizes Proposals of Smith Report on Taxation

Proposals of the Smith Committee on Taxation which favor creating municipal government with regional admin.trations haying distinction between metropolitan, urban and county and northern district regions, came under criticism yesterday by Carl F. Bateman, clerk-treasurer and administrator for Hastings county.

Speaking at the annual meeting of The Association of Ontario Counties being held at Stratford, Mr. Bateman said the Smith proposal, if adopted, would "create a vast metropolitan conglomeration that will engulf us."

He said the Smith concept would result in a wave of migration to the urban centres and would harm both cities and rural areas.

In a speech at the association convention Deputy Minister W. H. Palmer, speaking for Hon. Darcy McKeough, Ontario municipal affairs minister, said that while it is unlikely the entire Smith report will be accepted, the committee's criteria for regional government were valid as partial guidelines.

The convention was told that the white paper will attempt to correct county situations in which rural areas have greater voting power than urban areas and that regional government boundaries will not necessarily follow county boundaries.

The Smith committee proposed formation of 29 regional governments with sharp distinctions among four types: Metropolitan, urban and county in southern Ontario, and district regions in Northern Ontario.

But Mr. Bateman stepping down as president of the Association of Ontario Counties, said that "we in the county should be watching very closely the developments of the country to the south of us."

Their problem of all they have a real problem . . ." he said "is not black against white, but rather, in my opinion, the unchecked migration from the rural areas to the central city.

He said this wave of migration to the city was thinning the rural areas by the depletion of the young and able population, and also depleting areas by causing over-crowding with all its attendant effects.

At the same time, he went on, the rural crisis is one of five basic of everything — education and services.

Mr. Bateman said the Smith committee proposed unity for "potential error of separating urban from rural.

"The solution of metropolitan areas around the western end of Lake Ontario would create a vast metropolitan conglomerate that would engulf us, or, if not us, our children," he said.

In addition to creating the gladiolus that plague the large American cities, the problems of smog, congestion, water pollution, law enforcement and all other problems of the modern North American megalopolis would be created.

He suggested that cities and separated towns must become part of the county system and thus have a voice in its development.

He agreed that the present system must change to meet the challenges of the future, but claimed that most counties in Ontario were large enough to become viable economic units.

The answer to the problem he felt, was amalgamation of the smaller units of government which he said were unable to afford "complexity" and self-sufficiency.

He said local government was the backbone of the democracy and the fabric of our country.

"Large isolated governments are first step towards dictatorship," Mr. Bateman claimed. "They destroy the right of local self government and while, in the beginning, they may appear to be more efficient, people lose the feel of 'hands' on the thing from how to live."

Council Hears Citizen's Committee

TRENTON — Representatives of a citizens' committee last night appeared at Trenton council to suggest uses for the town's old post office and in doing so hope "to maintain one of the town's oldest historic monuments."

Grant Rathbun spoke on behalf of the Save the Post Office Committee which had previously asked for endorsement by the citizens of Trenton to back up the committee in keeping the old building intact.

"The reaction was tremendous", said Mr. Rathbun, "as we obtained 200 signatures which is a sizeable indication of the feeling of the population in a town the size of Trenton."

"We need a new municipal centre", he continued, "and I believe this old building would serve well for this purpose."

He added that the Trenton Police headquarters might be moved to the present municipal buildings.

"I suggest we put the question of converting the post office to municipal use on the upcoming ballot in the municipal elections", stated Mr. Rathbun.

But just how to word it on the ballot brought out some problems

"We must put this on the ballot in clear wording", declared Councillor Paul Tripp, "and I believe we should mention the cost to let those who are undecided know what is going on in dollars and cents."

He had mentioned the cost of restoring the building to be in the neighborhood of $225,000 which he labelled as a rough estimate.

Mayor James MacDonald said council will be making a decision shortly as "the ballot must be ready three weeks before the election."

Mr. Rathbun also asked the town's project planners "to come up with a new setup for the Trenton downtown area — one which would be more inviting to the visitor.

"We need a plan for an active downtown area", he explained, "because right now downtown Trenton is too dead."

Strike

Further donations have been pledged.

Mr. LeBlanc said the donations would be followed by more as a campaign was presented to unions and workers, possibly resulting in a further wage increase.

Until this time the strikers have received $10 per week for single persons, $12.50 for couples, and $15 for families.

He said that a welfare committee has been established, to give further aid, where needed, to striking workers.

Mr. LeBlanc urged the strikers to hang on. "This company hasn't got us, we've got them."

He said he had been informed at a union convention in Toronto, during the weekend that the Procter-Silex plant here had been geared to four months of non-productivity.

"Their time has run out."

He argued that the 41 workers at present in the plant, were "nothing but scabs."

"They are taking people now that they wouldn't give work to before the strike."

Scouts Take Arctic Trip

Around 100 members of the Belleville District Council of the Boy Scouts of Canada took a trip to the Arctic last night.

Scout William Henry piloted the trip and directed the sightseers through slides he took while attending a Jamboree, held for the first time in the Arctic this August.

Bill, who is a scout from the 17th troop in Belleville was the only area boy to attend.

Guest speaker at last night's meeting was Fred Whitkin of Burlington. Mr. Whitkin is the assistant provincial minister for training and spoke to the group on scouting and its image.

Before the Arctic tour and the dinner speech a social hour was held upstairs in the St. Thomas Parish Hall.

Shortly after supper retiring president Lew Andrews was presented with a plaque for his service to the organization.

Officers for the forthcoming term were also nominated last night.

Recommended for president was John Wiseberdin, for vice-presidents Rev. Charles Savage, Bruce Thompson and William Johnson, for general secretary Lynn Trussler and for Treasurer Graham Shaw.

The nomination committee also recommended A. D. C. Arnold Welch as district commissioner. All recommendations have to be approved provincially.

Sewer Extension Argument Ends

TRENTON — A lingering argument concerning the extension of a sewer belonging to Trenton Cold Storage ended last night when council was informed that the company would extend the controversial sewer to open water.

In a letter from Trenton Cold Storage, council was told that the sewer in question would be extended past the new wall to open water "to end the controversy and for the good of Trenton."

The subject has been fuel for a continued attack by councilor Gerald Weaver who last night said that "a little more prudence would have curtailed many arguments."

Said Mayor MacDonald, "I couldn't agree more."

The lights at the Sidney - Kidd St. intersection will be increased in power as a result of a recommendation made by a coroner's jury concerning the death of a Trenton man.

Francis Cottrell was hit by a car and killed at the intersection and the jury placed the blame on poor lighting and dark clothing.

Election day for Trenton-ians will be Dec. 2 as usual. Nomination day will be Nov. 18 — two weeks before the voting day.

Previously nominations took place 19 days before the action at the polling booths but this time, due to the regional school board, there will be an extension.

The added time is a result of the larger ridings and polls of the new county wide board.

Union Investigator Hired to Probe Strikers' Complaints

By DAVID LEES
(Staff Reporter)

PICTON — Organized labor is turning a private eye loose on the public affairs of this city.

OFFICIALS of the International Union of Electrical Workers (IUE) locked in a bitter battle with the strike-bound Proctor-Silex Elec. Ltd. — say a private investigator is due here this week to probe complaints of alleged police brutality against strikers.

"We're going to find out what's going on here," James Donnelly, IUE organizer, told a striking picket line today.

The move to have a private detective investigate the actions of police during the Proctor-Silex strike was announced by Donnelly.

Donnelly, IUE's local representative, said he had been told by Toronto IUE officials that the union would be sending in a private investigator to look into the complaints.

Police Chief George Pitt, when told of the charges today replied: "I'm not interested. I've no comment."

Judge W. S. Lane, police commission chairman, said he knew no reason why picket tickets should not be issued in such circumstances.

The entire community would come under examination in the upcoming probe.

"I've been given a budget by the (IUE) international office to investigate — and I intend to use it," said George Middleton, Canadian IUE president in Toronto.

He would not detail the direction of the probe save to terse comment: "We're going to do a little digging.

"I could something there. I want to find out why everyone is so silent . . . It all seems very mysterious to me."

Mr. Donnelly said Prince Edward County sheriff Herbert Coffiner had been informed of the investigation.

The new executive for 1958-59 was appointed as follows: Past president Marilyn Burtt; president, Kay Olesen, vice-president, Thena McGregor, recording secretary, Barbara Drumm; corresponding secretary, Ann Joss and treasurer Avonell Boudreau.

Kids Hunt for UNICEF

Hallowe'en is a time for haunting — if you're lucky.

If you're not there are other ghosts to worry about. Like the spectres of want.

This is the kind of haunting concerning thousands of Quinte-area children this Hallowe'en.

The youngsters, Thursday night, plan to trick-or-treating with plans for added support for UNICEF.

UNICEF incorporate the need of millions of innocent, underprivileged children.

UNICEF is different, aside — like Quinte — is represented by filling pockets.

This year, UNICEF organizers are looking to greater-than-ever returns.

At least the signs are good. More children, than ever, have volunteered their help.

UNICEF collection boxes are distributed in the schools.

This year more schools than ever are interested.

Mrs. Jack Reid, UNICEF organizer, says 10 more public schools in the Belleville area have now volunteered.

They are Bayside, SS 3, Prochen, Wallbridge and new schools, Monk Rd., Tyendinaga, Harmony, Kente, Douglas K. Aitken and Belleville District Christian School.

In addition there are two high schools — Moira Secondary and Belleville Collegiate.

Contact Lost With People Says Joss

The provincial Liberal party has lost touch with the people in rural years and needs to establish contact with the public at large if it is to succeed in the next election.

This was the claim of Donald G. Joss, president of the Prince Edward - Hastings Liberal Association as he spoke to the Belleville Women's Liberal Association at their monthly meeting held last night at the Rhoads Centre.

Mr. Joss said that even the Conservatives who swept the province in last year's provincial election, had admitted they had lost touch with the electorate.

But the speaker urged his listeners not to rejoice too much. With the Conservatives winning all seats east of Toronto Mr. Joss said this indicated the Liberals never got in touch with the people.

Mr. Joss doubted the value of the old time political meetings where the same party hacks go year after year to listen to the same monotonous speeches.

Instead of contributing to communication with the public, Mr. Joss said, such meetings instead, stifle it.

"Most of the people who attend such events do so because they should, because they have an axe to grind or for some other unimportant reason. But they have one thing in common—they all vote Liberal anyway."

Mr. Joss said that last night's meeting would have been more valuable if the Liberal women had a discussion among themselves about the issues facing them as taxpayers and citizens and especially so if a few neighbors had been persuaded to come along and join in the discussion.

Mr. Joss discussed the way by which he felt the Liberal party could get back in contact with the people.

"Here is a suggestion that will startle you," he said. "I believe that Bob Nixon, as leader of the provincial Liberal party, should temporarily resign from the House in Toronto and spend all of his time touring and talking with the people. He has proved himself a good parliamentarian. Now he must get to know the people."

The monthly meeting took the form of a pot luck supper with the Bidwey Liberal Women's Association as guests.

Picton Mishap -- $450 Damage

PICTON — A two car collision this morning in downtown Picton caused an estimated $450 total damage to the vehicles.

The mishap occurred at 8:45 when a car driven by 18-year-old William L. Marks of RR1, Picton pulled out of a side street and was struck by another car proceeding on Main St.

The second car was driven by Miss Jenny Stiles of RR3, Picton. Estimated damage to her car was $265.

The Marks vehicle, damage estimated at $250, was spun around and ended up sideways in the other lane.

Shorter Teaching Hours

Will the profession of teaching ever reach such a stage of organization and efficiency that teachers will be able to teach only two hours a day, with the rest of the day being devoted to planning, decisions, analysis of student's progress and so on?

Perhaps this idea is all part of the trend toward encouraging the student to discover things for themselves. In any event two hours a day with students should be enough, according to Dr. E. J. Ingram, assistant coordinator of development for the Ontario Institute for Studies in Education (as a matter of interest, who dreams up these grandiose titles in our State-run educational system?).

Dr. Ingram was addressing an Alberta teachers' convention in Edmonton. Non-professional classroom tasks, he said, should be carried out by assistants if teachers were to fulfill "true professional roles." He estimated teachers spend from 40 to 60 per cent of their time on non-professional duties such as typing, cutting out pictures and "pasting things on walls."

Well there are few professions that do not contain an element of drudgery of the kind described here. "Paper work" covers a multitude of educational as well as administrative and bureaucratic sins. The very name "archives," wreaks of dust and a considerable degree of wasted effort. Yet there is not an occupation that does not subscribe to the laborious business of filing away this and that item for "reference," (but more likely, oblivion) and where Government is concerned, in triplicate at least.

A Belleville high school teacher admitted in a recent interview that most of his time was taken up with "administrative trivia." Reports letters, applications, transfers, circulars and so on. "I enjoy the actual work in school. What I find frustrating are often limitations caused by bureaucracy. . ."

But to get back to Dr. Ingram's suggestion that teachers somehow could be relieved of such burdens. Schools of course, have their secretarial staffs but they can do only so much. And if more people are taken on for this purpose, often the result is only more paper work, more bureaucratic machinations, more paper — and more enfolding of Professor Parkinson's celebrated law that work expands to fill the time allotted for its completion.

United Appeal

United Appeal organizers and citizens of Belleville alike are deserving of congratulations as the fund passes the $100,000 mark.

The target is $118,000 and campaign chairman Mrs. Arthur McFarlane has said she is confident this will be passed within a week at the outside.

A significant factor in the success of the campaign, apart from the inclusion of new donors, has been the increased contributions from local merchants and industrial and service workers.

Indeed, contributions appear to have risen in all sectors and this is a matter for satisfaction.

Recreation Needs

Recreation — a prime need of local citizens and of young people in particular — looks as if it may receive a much-needed boost with the formation of two study groups.

One is the recreational needs advisory committee suggested by Mayor Dr. J. Russell Scott and the other a United Community Services-sponsored body.

Both apparently have the same idea: a survey of all recreational facilities in the city and more effective co-ordination between them.

We wish them luck. Separately or in concert, the two surveys should be able to make more recreation available in the city area. Importantly, too, they need to get more young people interested in using the facilities available.

Biafran Aid

Amid all the hassle about aiding the people of Biafra, it should be remembered that church and other private organizations, as well as the Red Cross, have been getting supplies to the needy there. The Canadian Catholic Organization for Development and Peace, for instance, reports that relief flights have been getting through. Nevertheless, with something like 6,000 deaths occurring daily, the task remains immense. Meanwhile, international pressure should be stepped up with a view to achieving a settlement of this wretched conflict in West Africa.

The Association of teachers and instructors for the Ontario School for the Deaf held a tea tollowing the school board luncheon of C. B. McGuire, bursar, who is retiring after 31 years of service. The Misses Ethel and Mary were welcomed by H. Vaughan, president of the Association, while Miss C. Ford read the address preceding the presentation to Mr. McGuire of a lovely coffee table which was made by the carpenter shop at the OSD. Mrs. McGuire was presented with flowers.

A mild and balmy afternoon brought a goodly number of guests and patrons to the "At Home" and tea sponsored by the Trenton Ladies Auxiliary, held at the Kiwanis Centre, Dundas St. East. The president, Mrs. R. Martin, assisted by Mrs. J. Schwab, received. She was guests and visitors at the door. The hostess and tea was a decided success, and amply repaid those who had spent time, thought, and effort to make it so.

Academic Freedom

Hall-Dennis Report

Permissive Education—Or Anarchy?

Manchester Guardian

Freedom of the university teacher from censorship and interference is the most essential of all academic freedoms. Interference with what is taught and the way it is taught has to be resisted from whatever source it comes. It is not to be excused because it comes from a militant student committee (as it might). Nor is interference with the curriculum to be justified when it is attempted in the name of the voguish dogma of the moment.

Editor,
The Intelligencer.

It is a pity to see a man like Lloyd Dennis become affected by the fads of modern education. His latest report has brought to him, not, I think, the type of prestige acquired by the well-known names, Hall and Dennis, of self-government in schools and prison, but sufficient to make me feel that he can speak or children on anything — educational authority in this case. Maybe it all started when he and Mr. Hall took as part of their articles of faith on education that (a) every child has a right to be educated to the utmost of his ability; b) children are basically good by nature and c) corporal punishment of any kind in school is to be abhorred.

Admirable though these tenets may be, let's first understand that these are the edicts from the Mount, upon which Hall built their report.

Now before I go further, let me first take off my hat to this magnificent Irish especially on articles (b) and (c) above. For in a society like ours where wanton wickedness amongst youth, hypocrisy and the double-standard amongst adults, tension and increasing nationalism among nations is mounting. Mr. Dennis' creed shines like a light in darkness. But it is a creed, I say, and one not founded on reality. He is entitled to his faith. His report is admirable in many respects but for him to speak out as he did in London, Ontario, against the Ontario Secondary School Teachers' Federation's request for more public support that kids respect for authority of teachers is totally unacceptable.

Mr. Dennis, is not even a teacher. He sounds like an army general issuing commands, based on poor feedback from the front lines.

Where more discipline, and respect for authority are being increasingly defaulted by the public, he is still preaching anarchy under the name of permissive education.

The teachers he criticized did not want to grab power as he intimated. They sought public support of their views that they, the teachers, be regarded in the public as education law precisely states. Does the public want Dennis' views?

He and his committee have made a contribution to education in this province. But really, he's a sentimentalist who is leaning on a code of ethics that is becoming rather untenable in today's world.

22-Year-Old Only Girl In Engineering Class

By Edna Hampton in The Globe and Mail

Workmen stop to smile at the tiny figure going by, despite the hard hat, corduroy pants and shirt, the figure is obviously that of a young lady.

Carmen Heron, 22, is the first woman to work as a member of the plant's engineering staff. The third-year University of Waterloo student joined the staff on Aug. 26 and will stay until the end of December. In the new year, she returns to classes in Waterloo.

As a mechanical engineering student, she spends four months in class, then an equal time gaining practical experience. She expects to graduate from the five-year course in April, 1970.

She arrives at her job in a Mini (often made by herself) and changes into slacks when she goes from her office into the plant.

"Basically I'm feminine and I just don't feel as nice in slacks. I don't want to lose my identity," Carmen explained.

It's a masculine world she has chosen for her future. She is the only girl among her 55 fellow students at Waterloo. That would be nice, except, she says, "There's always the feeling that you're competing." The male students tend to think of their classmates "as competitors rather than fellow students." That's because the course is tough and those at the bottom of the class are dropped, she explained.

Carmen says, "I'm average as far as ability goes" but sometimes "I have to act a bit more dumb than I am" when working on experiments with fellow students who do not understand the process. "I always have to think of their male ego."

However, I imagine we have little to fear in the matter of female profanity. I'm not arguing against women's rights, mind you. I'm merely trying to suggest that there are some things women can't do as well as men, and swearing is one of them. Each Truth is not the nail right on the head many years ago when his wife decided to shock him out of his famed tendency toward profanity when he was agitated. It seems she was a rather devout lady, who frequently had to hold her hands over her ears in horror when her husband — a man with a fine eye and ear for the proper word — launched into one of his cursing sessions.

One day, when she dropped a dish in the kitchen, she let go with a series of oaths which, in their content and choice, would have been good enough to blister the paint right off the walls. She figured that would teach her husband a lesson.

It has been reported that Mark Twain, upon listening with some admiration to this blast, said: "My dear! You have the words down perfectly! But, somehow, you don't seem to have the melody."

I would go so far as to say that women's inherent inability to swear properly has been one of the things which cause men to cherish them so and attempt to protect them.

I have never been a great admirer of profanity in casual conversation. But there are times when ordinary words just don't come, the situation (such as when your outboard motor refuses to start or you hit your thumb with the hammer). Men will sometimes rise to great heights of expression in such circumstances. But most women, I think, are casual cursers — and they'll never get any proper training that way.

Women Letting Off More Steam

Bruce West in The Globe and Mail

It was very-very inter-esting that Hansard's report in The Women's Globe and Mail yesterday that a professor of psychology at New York University had discovered that the girls were now doing more cussing than ever before. It is reported that the police at Berkeley and Chicago, bless their tender little hearts, have been amazed at the obscenity issuing from the lips of apparently demure girls of "political" demonstrations.

However, I imagine we have little to fear in the matter of female profanity. I'm not arguing against women's rights, mind you. I'm merely trying to suggest that there are some things women can't do as well as men, and swearing is one of them. Winnipeg's Tourist "Facilities"

Part Arthur News-Chronicle

Sometimes it takes new eyes for making a bit of toast, after to see new possibilities in everyday things.

A California couple has discovered what they believe are unadvertised tourist aids right in front of the Manitoba Legislative Building in Winnipeg — and they have complimented the Government on them.

In sunny California, car plugs are naturally unknown, so the couple concluded they must be a facility for such things as shaving and making toast.

Mr. and Mrs. Raymond L. Conrad, Visalia, California, did just that.

In fact, they were so impressed by this "facility" that they wrote a thank-you letter to the Manitoba Government, as follows:

"Want to thank you for one of the more pleasant surprises found in over 12,000 miles to Expo 67 and a recently completed 8,000 - mile trip encompassing your capital city.

Nowhere else have we encountered such thoughtfulness for tourists such as you have provided in front of your Capitol Building in the form of electrical convenience outlets for plugging-in electric shavers.

Harsard Records Are Behind

Kitchener-Waterloo Record

Newspaper readers normally do not see more than five per cent, at the most, of the words that are uttered in debates of the Canadian House of Commons. This is the editor's unthankful, most of the time, that they are not exposed to the other 95 per cent, but the whole [illegible] per cent obviously has to be available for readers who may need it.

The medium is Hansard, the complete report of Commons proceedings. It comes rolling along to its subscribers about three days after the event. There is a time when one could wish to see a complete text of a speech sooner than that, but three days for revising, editing printing and mailing is not too bad.

Ontario Hansard, the complete text of debates in the legislature at Queen's Park is not quite so speedy. A lag of four or five days is more usual.

Perhaps we should not complain about it being too slow. In Newfoundland the public has just awakened to the fact that the provincial Hansard there is running 11 years behind. Most of the members have been there less than 11 years, so most of them have not yet seen the official text of any of their own speeches.

The time lag became news in Newfoundland when the editor of Hansard suddenly resigned, for reasons not yet divulged. Speculation has attracted enough attention to bring to light the fact that his work was done only up to the 1957 session.

Newfoundland did not become a province until 1949. For the period since then, it appears, only eight years of Hansard have yet been published.

The clue to the explanation for the 11-year lag may be found in a remark by Premier J. R. Smallwood that there are a lot of grammatical errors in the language used in debates. He thinks they should be corrected before the record is printed.

The power to alter the text to correct grammar could be very helpful to a government that has been in power for a long time.

The Way of All Flesh

Letter to The Globe and Mail

I just can't save money. I have been married for 13 years to a man not better at saving than I am. My husband's salary is $12,000 a year and I still can't save. We have four children — 12 and under — and although their clothing is a major expense they do not as yet require expensive appetites, so it shouldn't take every cent to support this family.

I've tried putting cash in piggy banks, but I always snitch. I've tried separate savings accounts, but they inevitably turn into chequing accounts. I've tried bonds and always have to cash them in emergencies. I've tried mutual funds, pay for six months and then cop out. We do have insurance but most of it is term. I am sick and tired of reading stories about women with eight children who earn a save money on a salary of $4,000.

Other Side Of the Coin In Ulster

Letter to The Globe and Mail

In the Oct. 9 issue of your paper there appeared a story by Mary Holland with the headline inflarge print: Northern Ireland — The Homeless, Voiceless Outsiders. I wonder why these two stories were not known on the same page? Would the second story have detracted from the first one?

I am of the opinion that had Mary Holland made some inquiries in Belfast she would have got a true story of the housing situation.

Several members of our Lodge visited Ireland this year (both Ulster and the Republic) and the first-hand story they got was the complaint of the Protestants about the Roman Catholics getting first chance of the homes. Also they heard so many Roman Catholics being employed by the Government in Belfast.

Increased Advances for Unsold Prairie Wheat Could Put Farmers in Perpetual Debt Says PC

OTTAWA (CP)—The government's proposed increase in advance payments on farm-stored grain will lead farmers perpetually in debt unless they can sell more grain, an Alberta MP charged in the Commons Monday.

Jack Horner (PC—Crowfoot), a wheat farmer, said the new maximum advance of $6,000 could not be repaid in one year as long as the wheat board purchases only six bushels per acre from the farmer.

His amendment to increase the sale quota to eight bushels per acre was defeated 70 to 41. New Democrats and Creditistes voted with the Conservatives in a standing vote as the House gave clause-by-clause study to amendments to the Prairie Grain Advance Payments Act.

The bill comes up for third reading when the House sits at 2:30 p.m. EST today.

Then the Commons returns to the committee study of the Farm Credit Act which was left uncompleted after two hours of debate Monday.

The advance-payments legislation would increase to $6,000 from $3,000 the amount payable in advance from the Canadian wheat board for on-farm grain expected to be delivered in the next crop year.

The formula is derived by increasing to $1 from 80 cents the per-bushel advance on a maximum acreage of 1,500 acres.

Mr. Horner said the formula would prevent some farmers from paying back the advance in the same crop year.

The amount remaining would be deducted from the size of advance available the next year.

"In a few years the farmer would be right back where he is today with a $3,000 advance," Mr. Horner argued.

Otto Lang, minister without portfolio, said Mr. Horner's amendment was out of order as it committed the federal treasury to higher expenditures.

Opposition MPs cannot introduce legislation that involves financial expenditure.

Acting Speaker Albert Béchard ruled the amendment in order on the ground that it dealt only with quantities of grain.

A later amendment, proposed by Stanley Korchinski (PC—Mackenzie), would have restored a maximum of $6,000 advance to farmers who had repaid smaller advances the same crop year. It was defeated 72 to 41 with division on the same party lines as earlier.

MacDonald Draws Applause in Debate with Challenger Renwick

OTTAWA (CP)—Party President James Renwick challenged Donald MacDonald's capacity to lead to his face Monday night, but the Ontario NDP leader drew more audience applause in a two-man leadership debate.

Mr. MacDonald hotly rejected Renwick claims that he posed no threat to either the Conservative government or the Liberals in Ontario.

Both contestants for the leadership, over fairly equal rounds of applause at the opening and closing of the debate, first in a series leading up to the Nov. 15-17 leadership convention in Kitchener. But it was Mr. MacDonald who got the thunderous applause at the two-hour session.

Seated side by side on the platform of a school auditorium, the two men occasionally exchanged sharp words in answer to questions from a panel and the audience of 300, largely party people.

Mr. Renwick, who took the offensive early, claimed there was "a failure of leadership" because the party did not supplant the Liberals as the official opposition in the Ontario legislature in last fall's provincial election.

This charge and a companion claim that the election was a "stunning disaster" for the NDP drew sharp rebuffs from Mr. MacDonald, who said the party had advanced steadily under his leadership. It was now on the threshold of victory.

Mr. MacDonald said he refused to believe the disaster charge.

"The public doesn't believe it," he added. "New Democrats don't believe it."

Mr. Renwick said that despite Mr. MacDonald's capacity as a combatant, as a critic of the government, it is a capacity cemented almost totally to the opposition in the Ontario legislature.

The challenger said that convention delegates will have to balance their loyalty to the traditional leader to their obligations to the party. Mr. Renwick said he would provide government-oriented leadership to win the 1971 provincial election.

Mr. MacDonald said the proposition that I haven't got the will to win simply won't wash." He expected to be proven after the 1971 election.

The exchanges sometimes bordered on the hostile. Twice Mr. MacDonald called out "nonsense" when Mr. Renwick was trying to make a point.

One such cry occurred after Mr. Renwick claimed Mr. MacDonald deferred decisions on new ideas to await a consensus. The other came after Mr. Renwick claimed his opponent was appealing to those who believed in what the party had done in the past.

Mr. Renwick claimed the party was no longer relevant to today's Ontario society, the program was too general and there was lack of involvement of people at the community level.

Ray Hid in Canada Before King Assassination

NEW YORK (AP) — The biographer of James Earl Ray, accused killer of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., says Ray was tempted out of a Canadian hideout months before the assassination by a $12,000 offer to make a purchasing mission to Birmingham, Ala.

At the time, August, 1967, Ray was a fugitive from the Missouri State Penitentiary, from which he had escaped the previous April.

The assassination of King, Negro civil rights leader, occurred in Memphis, Tenn., April 4, Ray's trial is scheduled to begin Nov. 12.

In the first instalment of a series in Look magazine, author William Bradford Huie says Ray told him the money offer came in a Montreal waterfront cafe from "a man whom Ray calls Raoul and describes to me as being a blonde Latin about 35, and whom Ray took to be a seaman."

Huie says Ray told him of a half-dozen meetings with Raoul, during which the proposition boiled down to this:

Ray would meet Raoul in a railway station at Windsor, Ont., Aug. 21, 1967, and prepare to make several trips across the border to Detroit, carrying packages with unspecified contents hidden in a car. Ray would then sell the car and go by train or bus to Birmingham. There he would lie low, try to establish a false identity and wait for instructions by general delivery mail. Raoul would pay his living expenses and go to Birmingham himself to buy Ray "suitable car."

"After a few weeks or months, after a little joint activity, Raoul would pay Ray $12,000 and give him a passport and 'other identification' and help him go 'anywhere in the world,'" Huie writes.

Ray, Huie says, was wary of returning to the United States because he feared he might be caught and sent back to penitentiary.

He had become intimate with a pretty Canadian government worker in Ottawa, Huie says, and hoped he could persuade her to provide him with an identification to obtain a Canadian passport so that he could flee to somewhere in Latin America.

"I didn't know what to do.

"If I took Raoul's proposition, I had to go back to the States and risk the life sentence on me. I didn't want to do that. I had sworn I'd never go back.

"But I was running out of capital again, and I didn't want to risk another holdup in Canada (Huie says Ray had told him of an $800 gunpoint holdup at a Montreal house of prostitution earlier).

"I couldn't get on a ship. I couldn't get an I.D. (identification). So I told Raoul okay I'd meet him in Windsor. But I didn't know then whether I'd meet him or not.

"The woman in Ottawa seemed to like me. She was my last chance. I hadn't had time to talk to her in Montreal about the passport. So now I was going to Ottawa and tell her something I'd told myself, and if she'd help me get the passport, I wasn't going to meet Raoul."

Huie says Ray told him he met the woman in Ottawa Aug. 19 but decided that if he told her the truth about himself she would probably turn him over to the authorities.

Huie writes that he had interviewed the Ottawa woman, whose name and address he obtained from Ray, and that she said:

"The saddest part is that if he had told me, I guess I would have turned him down. I don't think I would have delivered him to the Mounties, but I couldn't have sworn a lie and helped him get a passport.

"When he left me, he said he had to meet a man in Windsor. But he hinted he'd send me again.

"He wrote me from the States. His last letter came in March of this year. He wanted to know when I was taking my vacation so that he could meet me.

"I kept his letters. But then, of course, when the stories came out, I tore them up. Now I'm no one would ever find out I had known him."

Federal Housing Probe Moves to Regina

REGINA (CP) — The federal housing inquiry trekked west into Saskatchewan today with plaintive appeals from Manitoba's slum-housed natives and Winnipeg home-hunters fresh in their memories.

Submissions prepared for the inquiry's team in Regina seek less erratic housing programs and a square deal for the Prairies to remove the same refrain heard in Winnipeg.

The investigators led by Transport Minister Paul Hellyer spent 14 hours Monday hearing briefs and touring Winnipeg homes. The visit was capped by a lively encounter with downtown citizens.

"Can't you tell me what I should do?" asked a young housewife after outlining her problem to the inquiry team—a wish to augment the family income by part-time working frustrated by tenant-income regulations in her government-provided apartment.

Mr. Hellyer confessed he was stumped, but told the housewife here was the kind of thing his inquiry hoped to help solve when it gets around to recommending legislation.

The encounter took place at an evening meeting in a downtown Winnipeg mission hall attended by more than 150 local residents, including contingents of Metis and Indians.

Descriptions of rural ghettoes and city slums inhabited by Manitoba natives a morning hearing 45 minutes over scheduled.

An evening presentation by the Manitoba Metis Federation pushed the second session one hour past closing after group organizers sat tight for 20 minutes, refusing to speak until Mr. Hellyer rejoined the inquiry from a plague-unveiling detour.

Indians, Metis and a group named Architects Consortium painted a shabby picture of tin-can rural shacks and appalling health standards or worse urban conditions for natives driven to Winnipeg in search of jobs.

"Thousands of our people are living in deplorable, overcrowded, fire-hazardous dwellings," said Rev. Adam Cuthand, president of the newly-formed Metis Federation.

BC Ban on LSD Is Ruled Invalid

VANCOUVER (CP) — The British Columbia Court of Appeal Monday invalidated provincial legislation that makes possession of the hallucinatory drug LSD an offence.

In a unanimous decision, the court ruled that the province does not have the power to legislate the anti-LSD provisions of an amendment to the provincial Health Act.

The court overruled a B.C. Supreme Court decision by Mr. Justice Peter Seaton, who ruled last February that the amendment was within provincial jurisdiction.

The legislation was challenged by lawyer Hart Simons of Vancouver, acting for three persons charged in April, 1967, under the amendment with possession of LSD.

They are Helen Dawne Simpson, 20, Edith Shirley Mack, 35, and Francis Robert Lewis, 25, all of Vancouver.

Mr. Simons claimed in his submissions to the Appeal Court that the amendment was ultra vires of the legislature because it was an improper attempt to supplement existing federal legislation in the field of criminal law.

You don't have to be a student to need a College Study Lamp

It's called the "College" Study Lamp because students first realized the need for it. But anyone who does close work—reading, writing, sewing, knitting—will see more comfortably with the special kind of light the "College" Study Lamp gives.
This year, you'll find more and more of them in stationery and lighting stores. Table lamps and floor lamps, in a wide choice of attractive styles, all made to the Illuminating Engineering Society's specifications. No direct glare. No shadow. High level illumination, evenly diffused. If the "College" Study Lamp does such a good job for students, think what it can do for you.
Choose the lamp authorized to wear the "College" label. The "College" Study Lamp.

MR. AND MRS. WILLIAM H. WOODLEY

Woodley – Knight

Rev. Roy Vessey officiated at the October 5 double-ring ceremony when he united in marriage Beverley Annetta Knight, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Horace Knight, of R. R. No. 3, S. Belleville, to William Howard Woodley, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Woodley, of Picton. Rendering appropriate nuptial selections were Mrs. Lorna Blakely, while the soloist was Mrs. A. West.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a floor-length gown of Italian Gran Ballo shantung with an empire waistline and lily point sleeves. It also featured a chapel train of Italian lace. Her bouffant shoulder length veil, was adorned with three Glinty roses. She carried a cascade of white mums and deep red roses.

Matron of honor, Mrs. Larry McDermaid, wore a white floor-length gown of Italian Gran Ballo shantung, featuring an empire waistline which was emphasized by a burgundy velvet ribbon, with streamers to the hemline. Her headdress was a small veil with a burgundy ribbon. She carried a nosegay of white mums and deep red roses.

Bridesmaids were Miss Janice Woodley, sister of the bridegroom, Miss Evelyn Knight, sister of the bride, and Miss Fern Baker. All were attired identically to the matron of honor.

Attending the bridegroom was Larry McDermaid of Elginburg; The ushers were Clifford Woodley, brother of the groom, Picton; Larry Woodley, cousin of the groom, Dodsland, Saskatchewan; David Brisco, Belleville.

For the reception held at Club Canara, the mother of the bride received the guests wearing a sheath dress and jacket of turquoise brocade with dark brown accessories and a corsage of yellow rosebuds. Assisting her, the mother of the bridegroom chose a three-piece suit of mid blue, double knit, with black accessories and a corsage of contrasting pink rosebuds.

Upon their return, the couple will reside at 129 Stanley St. in Belleville.

MR. AND MRS. EUGENE H. PEACOCK

Peacock – Gibson

The marriage was solemnized in Christ Church, Deseronto, on Saturday October 19, 1968, when Linda Kathleen Gibson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Gibson of Don Mills was united in marriage to Eugene H. Peacock, Willowdale, son of Mrs. Vera Peacock, Belleville. Rev. Roy Vessey officiated.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a floor-length gown of pale blue velvet with matching velvet ribbon in her hair. She carried a white prayer book created with a mauve orchid encircled with stephanotis.

Jim Lewis of Belleville was groomsman.

Receiving the guests at a reception in Belleville Rotary Club where entertainment was provided by the Doug Assistive quartet, the bride's mother wore an American Beauty rose dress with matching hat and a corsage of white carnations and stephanotis. The bridegroom's mother assisted wearing a burgundy shade lace suit with a corsage of yellow carnations and white stephanotis.

For the wedding trip to Montreal and Quebec City, the bride chose a turquoise dress with turquoise and brown checked coat, black gated accessories and a corsage of bronze and yellow mums.

On return the couple will reside in Toronto.

MR. AND MRS. RICHARD ALLAN MAY

May – Baggs

Washington United Church Scarboro, was the scene recently when Elizabeth Sue (Betty) Baggs, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Cecil Baggs of Scarboro, became the bride of Richard Allan May, son of Mr. and Mrs. Cecil May of the Trent Road, Belleville. Reverend John performed the double-ring ceremony.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a floor length gown of white peau de soie, enhanced with panels of Chantilly lace, with long sleeves and featuring a long train which fell from the high round neckline. Her shoulder length veil of tulle was caught in a petal-like tiara adorned with pearls. She carried a dainty bouquet of white roses and stephanotis.

Maid of honor was her identical twin sister, Miss Barbara Baggs. Her bridesmaids were the Misses Marsha and Barbara Bulmer and Miss Myra Stacey. They were deep green velvet full length gowns with soft round necklines featuring short sleeves which carried across the shoulders to form a softly draped cape effect-style. The slim skirts fell gracefully from the Empire waistline. They carried nosegays of gold and cupper mums.

Attending the bridegroom was David Middleton of Belleville. The ushers were David Nemirovsky, Belleville, Bruce Patchett, and the bridegroom's brother, George May of Belleville.

The wedding reception was held at the bride's home, where the mother of the bride received the guests wearing a gold crepe knit dress, which featured a jewelled neckline. She wore copper colored feathered hat with her suit and carried a corsage of they copper 'mums on her bag. The bridegroom's mother assisted wearing a long gown of copper peau de creme which had a round neck line and a slim skirt. Her headdress matched her dress and her corsage was of baby mums. After the wedding ceremony were the Highland Pipers, friends of the Baggs family, who piped the wedding party out of the church and into reception.

For the wedding trip to Bermuda, the bride donned a summer suit of sort brown plaid with white accessories. Upon their return, the young couple will reside in Thorncliffe Park Toronto.

For the wedding reception held in the church hall, the aunt of the bride, Mrs. Marjorie Patrick, received the guests wearing a brown linen suit. A green feathered hat and brown accessories and a corsage of white 'mums tinted pink completed her ensemble. Assisting her, the mother of the bridegroom chose a turquoise fortrel two-piece suit complemented by brown accessories and a corsage of pink tinted baby 'mums.

For the wedding trip to Niagara Falls and Vermont, the bride donned a green linen A-line dress, featuring three-quarter sleeves. Brown accessories and a corsage of bronze mums completed her ensemble. Upon their return, the couple will reside at RR8, Belleville.

Home and School Association News

KING GEORGE HOME AND SCHOOL

The first meeting of the King George Home and School Association was held recently in the school auditorium. A welcome was extended by president, Mrs. H. Cavalier.

A short business meeting was held during which the objectives of home and school were read. The UNICEF organization was explained by the president. Also, at this time, Mrs. McPherson was thanked for accepting the duties of pianist for the year.

The principal, Leo McQuaid, introduced his staff and roundcount was held. The banners for the month were awarded to Mrs. Ladoucier, who tied with Mrs. Trice, Mrs. Martin and Mrs. Marson.

Mr. McQuaid gave an interesting and informative talk on "continuous progress," an educational system that would appear to be proving most successful. He was thanked by Mrs. Cavalier. Following the conclusion of the meeting, the portable schoolrooms were opened and the classroom teachers were present.

Coffee and dainties were served by the mothers of Mrs. Rogers' room, under the direction of the social convenor, Mrs. Margaret Conway.

Bridge at Remagen

Invasion of Czechoslovakia Suspends Filming

HAMBURG, West Germany (AP) — Four American actors were faced with the job of resuming a film that was suspended by the Soviet-led invasion of Czechoslovakia.

Their reactions:

Robert Vaughn: "If we can bring some unity to the picture, it will be a miracle. The whole project is being run by Mickey Mouse back into production that it will be hard to match what went before."

Bradford Dillman: "Czechoslovakia had a feel and look to it that you just can't get anywhere else."

George Segal: "Look—a movie is a movie. As long as you're working with good people —and in this case we are—you can pick up where you left off. Every movie set is the same, no matter where you are."

The Bridge at Remagen, which was filming its 60th day of production in Czechoslovakia when the Russians and their allies invaded Aug. 20, is once again before the camera with the four actors and a large cast of Americans and West Germans. How the film was saved from abandonment is a lesson in ingenuity.

David L. Wolper, television documentarian turned feature producer, had searched throughout the United States and Europe for a bridge to match the famed Ludendorff Bridge at Remagen, where American soldiers made the first Rhine crossing March 7, 1945. He found it near Prague on the Vltava River. Filming on the United Artists picture began June 6, with John Guillerman as director.

The Bridge at Remagen was 60 per cent completed when the Russians moved in. Two days later, a taxi caravan with 89 members of the company arrived at the Austrian border. They had left behind all the Second World War tanks and trucks, leased from the Austrian government, costumes, guns, props and the last five days of exposed negative—the rest of the film had been previously shipped out.

Wolper and United Artists officials conferred on how to save the production. Telephone calls were made to studios all over Europe. Studio Hamburg, a modern center for movie and television production, was chosen.

Next the film-makers needed an area where they could build a partial copy of the Czech bridge. Fortunately, production manager Milt Feldman had recently worked on another film at Castel Gandolfo in Italy, which offered a lake and similar terrain. The site proved ideal.

The actors were sent back to the United States for a month while West German film workers reconstructed the Czech sets. Production resumed here Sept. 26, and will shift to Italy, where the bridge is being built.

Negotiations were opened with the Czechs for return of the costumes, guns, props and exposed film. To the surprise of the Wolper company, all were returned—except 62 bayonets, four pistols and steel hand grenades, which were confiscated by the Russians.

Still sorely needed were battle scenes involving the bridge and tanks. Another surprise. The Russians not only allowed a camera crew to return for a week's filming; they stationed their own troops around the bridge area—lest the make-believe fighting be mistaken for the real thing.

'Give It Time'

Accidental Family--Poor Rating

NEW YORK (AP) — This is the time of the year when certain normal conditions, people employed by the U.S. television networks suddenly start talking a lot about Father Knows Best and the Dick Van Dyke Show.

"Sure. He and She isn't getting good ratings," they were protesting last season at this time. "But remember that Father Knows Best had a terrible time with the ratings at first and finally caught on . . ."

"Yes, Accidental Family isn't doing at all well, but give it time. After all, the Dick Van Dyke Show actually was cancelled when its ratings started to go up and you know what happened after that . . ."

Both He and She and Accidental Family later departed because audience help never arrived. But this season, although it is easy enough to spot the hits, the misses are more difficult to recognize.

The reason is a busy, confusing combination of paid political broadcasts, variety or dramatic specials and even professional football games in prime evening time—all of them pre-empting the regular series and affecting ratings.

Sometimes, these pre-emptions cause mysterious increases in flagging ratings. For instance, the Beautiful Phyllis Diller Show on Sunday nights seems to be one of the soft spots in the NBC schedule. In a Nielsen report issued Monday, however, it ranked 12th in popularity in a list of 97 programs. In the previous report a week ago, it was 69th in a list of 90. Its rating zoomed from an anemic 12.9 to a blooming 22.2.

The reason? Mission: Impossible, its CBS competition, was pre-empted for a political broadcast, so a lot of people who normally watched the adventure show tuned in the NBC show. And, in addition, NBC had announced that it would interrupt the Diller show as soon as it received film of the Kennedy-Onassis wedding.

A couple of weeks ago, NBC's Ironside took a dramatic nosedive in the ratings. It turned out that about three dozen stations that normally broadcast the program had pre-empted its time period for a regional political broadcast.

No one connected with a current program, including network executives, will ever admit that any series is wasting away for the simple reason that it is a lousy show that people tune out. TV shows, to hear them defend them, suffer because of circumstances —running against powerful feature movies, against an established, popular show, shown at a time when the audience is otherwise occupied or following a program that chased viewers to other channels.

Whatever the causes, some new and some old programs appear to be in trouble. Among them are ABC's Ugliest Girl in Town and the Don Rickles Show. CBS's Distant and Bloodie and NBC's New Adventures of Huck Finn and Stay Tuned.

All these—and several more —appear regularly on the lower's end of the weekly Nielsen list.

Illness Creates Problem

Haunted House Missing for Hallowe'en

By HARRY MULHALL
Staff Reporter

Hallowe'en this year in Belleville may seem like a hollowed- out pumpkin. Something significant is missing, it is.

Harold and Kay Crowe are unable to give Belleville its Hallowe'en haunting for the first time in 10 years.

And earlier hopes that a city service club would assume the project have not materialized.

The haunting is know to thousands and has made the Crowe home an annual landmark.

For a decade of Hallowe'ens the couple have been turning their house at 169 William Street into a den of complicated thrills and organizing the biggest shollout in the Quinte district.

Papier mache ghouls, electronic sound effects and weirdly costumed volunteers combined to give city youngsters the most sophisticated haunted house this side of a Dracula novel.

To top things off there was a monster shollout — with the Crowes giving away candy bags by the thousand.

Over the years, the couple likely have hosted as many chilled sightseers as there are people in Belleville. Last year, for example the people lined up along the sidewalks outside for four hours. They shelled out 3,200 bags of candy.

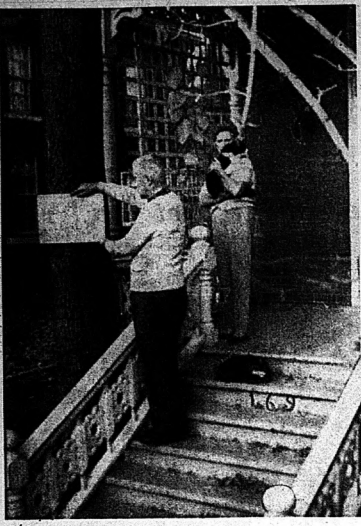
It was the biggest haunting ever. But no one suspected the difficulties under which it had been staged.

Earlier, Harold had been taken ill. He organized most of the event from a hospital bed.

It was obvious too, that the project had grown too big for one man to handle.

Tentative plans for a service club to take over the haunting were broached. They fell through.

Now, with illness still a factor in the Crowe home, the project is dead.



The Crowes also feel the disappointment. It's something that dates from Harold's childhood.

As a boy in Trenton he enjoyed Hallowe'en so much he always wanted to share the fun with youngsters. His opportunity came as an adult — and the purchase of the home on William Street.

The haunting grew greater each year — all of it underwritten personally by Harold. He organized all the details — and paid for it from his pocket.

For the first time in 10 years the Crowes will spend Hallowe'en '68 quietly at home.

Outside, a sign apologizes to visitors for the fact the house is no longer haunted.

Curtains for a Haunting!

There'll be no Hallowe'en haunting at the home of Harold and Kaye Crowe (above) this year. Illness has ruled out operation of one-man community project at William Street house that drew thousands each year. The Crowes regretfully have posted notice of no haunting for first time in 10 years. Hopes that local service club would take over project did not materialize.

Election Dec. 2

Education Is Largest Industry: Clarke

By LENNY WILLIAMS
Staff Reporter

The most important decision in education in many years will take place Dec. 2.

That's when elections for the new county-wide boards of education will be held.

And that's why Park Dale Home and School Association invited James Clarke, chairman of the interim committee formed to plan the changeover, to explain the new set-up at its meeting Monday night.

When it takes over education Jan. 1, Hastings County Board of education will be the biggest industry in the county, Mr. Clarke told his audience.

Its annual budget will be over 12½ million dollars, it will handle 30,700 pupils, 1,400 staff and 43 elementary schools and nine secondary schools will come under its jurisdiction.

"Education in Ontario accounts for 70 cents of every $1 we spend in taxes," Mr. Clarke said.

He added that about 80 per cent of the Bay of Quinte District High School Board's budget goes for teachers' salaries.

"No one could ever make the statement that formation of a county-wide board will save money", he warned the audience.

"Minor economies will result in some areas, such as centralized purchasing and better business methods, but economies will be offset by the larger range of programs offered," he asserted.

Purpose of the minister of education in setting up county-wide boards was to equalize educational opportunity for pupils across the province. As the minister's purpose is carried out, with special services formerly unavailable in Hastings county incorporated into the educational program, costs are bound to climb.

"For example, the student-teacher ratio is steadily going down," Mr. Clarke said.

"When the ratio in the Bay of Quinte District Board's high schools dropped recently from 19 to 1 to 18 to 1, 15 teachers were added to the system and these pushed salaries up by five per cent."

If the new board runs into difficulties it will be because of lack of public relations, he claimed.

"His biggest problem will be liaison — liaison between teachers and the board and liaison between parents and the board", Mr. Clarke said.

Hall-Dennis Report Has Impact

Living and Learning, the Hall-Dennis report on Ontario education, had scarcely made its way into the hands of local educators when several of its recommendations began to be put into effect.

Spurred by chairman James Clarke, the Bay of Quinte District High School Board decided in September to take the report's suggestion and develop a new health curriculum. Until the report recommended otherwise, curriculum planning had been le' the hands of the provincial department of education.

Mr. Clarke told Park Dale Home and School Association members at their meeting Monday night that a committee of local experts is now investigating the health program from kindergarten through grade 13.

He quoted the words of the Hall-Dennis report used by the committee as its guide.

"Coincident with the learning experience, the school must be aware of the health and emotional needs of pupils . . . qualified personnel should be called upon as resource people . . . when the interest or need arises in such matters as family and community relationships, physical and emotional growth, sexual ethics, and the dangers of excessive smoking, alcoholism, and drug addiction."

"High school teachers found they were instructing students in subjects that should have been covered in elementary school," Mr. Clarke said. "We decided a new program was needed, embracing pupils from the beginning of school to the end in line with the continuous progress plan now getting under way."

And so that students themselves could have a say in setting up a curriculum relevant to their needs, two high school students, a boy and a girl, were invited to become members of the committee.

Local experts sitting on the committee are a woman medical doctor, a minister and a Children's Aid social worker.

Academic representatives are two secondary school and two elementary school physical education teachers and a department of education official.

The committee's report is expected to be ready for presentation to the new board sometime in the spring.

Hard Work Is Secret of Longevity Says 93 Year Old James McAvoy

By HARRY MULHALL
Staff Reporter

James McAvoy has just finished spading 5,000 square feet of back garden.

He walks nearly two blocks to watch workmen at labor — and laments that he still can't stride the four and five miles he once did.

He's a bachelor who fends for himself in the house he built himself.

And today he's 93.

It's an event he's greeting with characteristic calmness. It's fitting.

He credits lifelong tranquility for achievement — reaching a grand old age in the best of health.

"I didn't run around the the country like they do nowadays," he says. "I got my rest every night."

There is also the fact he enjoyed and practiced hard work and never smoked or drank. But, mostly there's the hard work — on his father's farm, on his own land, and, lastly on city streets, 10 hours a day, six days a week.

But then, he comes from stout kind of stock.

James McAvoy was born on the family homestead flanking Huntingdon township's fifth concession.

The McAvoys were Irish countryfolk and the land was broken by his grandfather. Even that far back, hard pulsion.

"I didn't have the hardships my grandfather and father and mother did," ponders the last of the family. "But then I don't know why they didn't settle around the city here. It would have been easier."

Inexplicably, the immigrant McAvoys went back into the townships to hew out a new family birthright, he recalls.

Born in 1875, he worked the family homestead farming on his own after the turn of the century. He settled near Belleville in Thurlow township and farmed there about two decades.

Then he moved to the city, literally making his living off the streets.

For years he built sidewalks around Belleville, in those early days working about 50 hours a week at 40 cents an hour.

Comparisons are unavoidable. They don't' work like that anymore. They don't even build sidewalks like they once did.

And the final product shows it.

James can still point to a strip of sidewalk on Highland Avenue he says was built in 1907. There's nothing like it going down now.

"Why? They don't even use a trowel these days. And they don't put the cement in the walks the way they used to. But cement was cheap then."

He retired in the late 1940s, continuing to live with his sister, in the city, eventually building the house he lives in 16 Octavia Street.

His sister died some years back and he has been alone since.

He looks after himself mostly, although a neighbor woman brings him his main daily meal.

He looks after the house and the big vegetable garden at the back.

He sold his car a few years ago because he couldn't take the driving any longer.

Otherwise, only seven years from his first century, he still feels confident behind the wheel.

"Oh, if I was out in the country or some place I would not mind driving. But not in the city. My God, it's awful."

And the pace and rush of modern life also contrasts with his own tranquility.

People were happier when he was in his prime, he believes.

Today "God knows, the world is in an awful turmoil."

Personally, he hasn't many complaints. He hasn't seen a doctor in months and his clear complexion, merry eyes and ready chuckle prove a regular life about hurt.

He still sleeps soundly, eats regularly, preparing his own breakfast.

"I can't complain at all about anything," he says. "I've had a pretty long time."

However, he is setting no precedent for longevity among the McAvoys. While his own father lived to 87, his grandfather — also James McAvoy — reached 101 years.

The younger James McAvoy also recalls an uncle in Tyendinaga township living to a century.

His back garden, now completely turned over, is awaiting the next springtime in his life.

James McAvoy also is looking forward to it, not so much as a gardener but as a working man.

"I like to work," he says. "It never hurt anybody."

He's Readying for Another Spring!

Nomination Day -- Nov. 18

Residents to Vote for New County Education Board Dec. 2

By LENNY WILLIAMSON
(Staff Reporter)

School children are no strangers to the many uses of colored paper in the classroom.

But soon their parents will be introduced to color as a means of distinguishing one set of candidates from another in the Dec. 2 school board elections.

Although nomination day is less than three weeks away — Monday, Nov. 18 — the only thing known for certain is that poll clerks will have a variety of ballot slips to shuffle through on voting day.

Now under study is the use of different colored paper for each ballot as a solution to the confusion bound to arise from simultaneous elections for two boards of education and a referendum or two slipped into the proceedings by municipal councils.

For public school supporters, election of 14 of the 16 trustees on the new Hastings county board of education is a straightforward procedure.

Belleville electors will vote for five trustees from the city and Trenton electors for two from Trenton.

In each of the two north Hastings wards, electors will vote for one trustee from each ward.

In each of the two centre Hastings wards, electors will vote for one trustee from each ward.

Electors in Sidney township, Stirling and Frankford will vote for two trustees from their area. Thurlow township voters will select one trustee.

Separate school supporters throughout the county will elect two trustees for the remaining two seats on the 16-member Hastings county board. This will require a separate ballot.

Separate school supporters will also vote at the same time on another ballot, for the members of the combined Separate School Board of Nipissing District, Hastings and Prince Edward counties.

Fourteen members will be elected for the separate school board, with the voting honors distributed in the following manner: Belleville electors will vote for six trustees; Trenton for three; north ward for one; Marmora ward for one; Tweed-Hungerford ward for one; and south ward (south Hastings and Prince Edward County) for two.

Election day problems will be further compounded by the right of certain separate school supporters in Lennox and Addington and Northumberland to vote for some members of the Hastings-Prince Edward combined separate school board.

Belleville's city clerk Adam Stalker will receive nominations for school board candidates from the city between the hours of 7.30 and 8.30 p.m. Nov. 18 at City Hall. Nomination for the five positions open on the Hastings county board of education and the six positions open on the separate school board will be received at that time.

In addition, Belleville city hall is the nomination centre for the two separate school trustees' positions on the county board.

Nomination centres have been set for separate school supporters in the county. They are: north ward, Whitby village; Marmora ward, Marmora township hall; Tweed - Hungerford ward, Hungerford township hall in Tweed; south ward, Tyendinaga township hall.

Prospective candidates are asked to consult the township clerks concerned for the hours of nomination meetings in each locality.

Nomination centres for public school supporters in the county have not been announced, but are defined in the legislation as being in the largest municipality in each ward.

Installations Under Way

With adequate funds for the work now having been made available by city council, members of the Hillcrest Ratepayers' Association are losing no time in getting water and sewer installations under way at their new community centre.

Council voted the needed money on Monday and yesterday rock excavation for the water line and sewage holding tank installation were all but completed.

Also concrete blocks were being moved into the building for construction of washroom partitions.

The Hillcrest Community Centre is the former Centre Street United Church erected as a mission back in 1896. As result of the United Church program of a year ago which saw many of the small churches closed, the building was no longer used for church purposes and was turned over to the city.

Three Winners Not Consulted

OTTAWA (CP) — Swimmer Elaine Tanner got one. So did sprinter Harry Jerome.

Big Dep didn't get one. Neither did Canadian Club or The Immigrant. But they are horses, albeit Canada's only gold medal winners at the Olympic Games in Mexico.

Prime Minister Trudeau's special committee on amateur sport recently distributed questionnaires concerning the federal government's contribution to amateur sports to 1,500 members of Canada's sport fraternity, including members of this year's Olympic team.

From reports out of Mexico last week, some of the Olympic team aren't too happy about the government's efforts in this field.

The questionnaires were sent out to athletes, coaches, trainers, members of athletic associations and just about anybody who might qualify as an expert on the subject.

Members of the committee are Harold Ree, Toronto businessman, chairman, and Olympic skiing champion Nancy Greene and Dr. Paul Desruisseau, a Quebec City doctor specializing in sports injuries.

Lang said the committee has devoted September and October to the gathering of relevant information.

"We are not experts on sports," he said, "so we go to the people who are."

Besides sending out the questionnaires, the committee has been interviewing people and scanning the files of the national advisory council on fitness and amateur sports.

Correlation of the information has begun, and Lang said the committee expects to have a report for Health Minister John Munro by February.

Morrisons: 9-5

Jrs. Make Cobourg Net "Fuller"

(STAFF) — The Morrison Junior "B" hockey team can aptly be called the "comeback kids" today as a result of their spirited come-from-behind victory over the Cobourg Cougars in Cobourg last night.

The Morrisons came out on the long end of a 9-8 score only after trailing 4-0 midway through the first period.

The win was marred by a broken nose suffered by the locals' Floyd Baverstock midway through the first period. Baverstock was crossed checked along the boards by a burly Cobourg player and had to be fitted to Cobourg Hospital for treatment.

Coach Floyd Crawford took him to his Picton home after he was released from the hospital. Baverstock is a doubtful starter for the return match between these two clubs at the Belleville Arena Friday night.

Baverstock's injury seemed to inspire his teammates who scored four goals in rapid succession to knot the count at 4-4 by the end of the first.

In the second, the locals Ron Fuller, who enjoyed a six-point night, potted the go ahead goal and, then, after Cobourg tied the game up, scored the winning marker.

The Morrisons' scored three unanswered goals in the final frame to cap their impressive comeback performance, inspiring coach Crawford to say: "I'm pleased. These must be the original comeback kids. They started with their pants down but they didn't quit. The word dis — they just kept coming back."

Crawford said that it was a great team effort, but if individuals could be singled out for praise, then right-winger Ron Fuller, goaltender Paul Hopkins, left-winger John McConnell and defenceman Al Jones must all be mentioned.

Jones stood out most when defenceman Greg Burkitt was serving a ten-minute misconduct penalty in the first period.

Ron Fuller led the point parade for the locals with four goals and two assists; Al Ray had two goals; Bill Jasiluck a goal and assist; Al Jones had two assists, while Coughlin and Waite added singletons with assists going to McConnell and Burkitt.

After playing around the league once, coach Crawford commented, "We're a young club, and improving. We're shooting for the playoffs and if we play our game we should be in a respectable position."

The Morrisons now have won two home games, lost two and tied one.

Ordered off Ice

Carleton in Spat With Toronto Brass

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

A player who could help make Toronto Maple Leafs a contender in the Eastern Division of the National Hockey League has fallen into disfavor with management.

Left winger Wayne Carleton, once raised the best prospect in the Toronto farm system, was ordered off the ice by management coach Punch Imlach during a practice Monday.

The dismissal was another in a series of misadventures suffered by Carleton during his brief career. He has not played this season because of a cracked bone in his wrist.

It is not known whether Carleton, apparently recovered from the injury, will play Wednesday night when the Maple Leafs meet Montreal Canadiens at Toronto. No action is scheduled for tonight.

Other games Wednesday have two points of first-place Montreal.

If Carleton should patch up his disagreement with management and play to his potential, the Maple Leafs could become serious contenders for top spot.

GORDIE HOWE'S HOCKEY TIPS

Mort of the power in your shot comes from the lower hand. The player in the top illustration will lose at least 25 per cent of his because his wrist is bent. He's going to scoop the shot instead of driving it.

The grip in the lower illustration is the right one. Keep your forearm, wrist and hand in a straight line to give you maximum drive powsr.

Hunting Dog Havens

There are four good reasons there should be fewer dogs lost by hunters during the upcoming foray of deer hunters into the north Quinte area woods.

A spokesman for the East Central Ontario Association of Sportsmen's Clubs has announced the location of four hunting dog "pounds", to be open Nov. 4-18.

In the Bancroft area hunters may locate their lost dogs from John McLean, RR 1, Deloro; 697-J-2; in the Gunter area, from Gerald Trumble, Gunter; 475-5214; in Kaladar from Arnold Boomhower; 336-2226; and in Millbridge's vicinity from Gordon Holmes of Gunter.

Hunters will be charged only the cost of keeping the dogs, the sportsmen's association spokesman said.

Furthermore, dogs remaining at the four stations after the Nov. 16 deer season closing will be transfered to the Quinte Humane Society's pound on the second concession of Sidney. Owners will have another week to claim them there.

This Decision A Unanimous One!

SAPPORO, Japan (AP) — Bob Gibson, notified Monday that he had won the National League's Cy Young Award, went out to do what he does best—play baseball.

"I've got to play ball," Gibson, pitcher for St. Louis Cardinals, said after learning that he was a unanimous choice of the 20-man selection committee as his league's pitcher of the year.

The Cardinals are on a tour of Japan.

The big right-hander compiled a 22-9 record in helping the Cards win their second straight pennant and set a major league earned run average low of 1.12.

"It's a great honor to receive the award," Gibson said. "It makes me feel great and deeply honored."

During the season, Gibson won 15 consecutive games, a club record, and had one stretch of 47 scoreless innings. He finished 28 of 34 starts, pitched 13 shutouts and struck out 268 batters in 305 innings.

Gibson was bothered late in the season by a painful pitching arm, but said rest had cured it. Pitching coach Billy Muffett said Gibson might go on to bigger and better things next season.

Mo-Hawks Add 1

Ferguson on Roster For Aces' Game Tonight

(STAFF) — In an effort to add some much-needed scoring punch, the Belleville Mohawks have signed Al Ferguson who last year led the Central Junior "A" Hockey League in scoring while playing for the League champion Brockville Braves.

Ferguson, a right-winger, is a Trenton boy who played Junior "B" Hockey with the App'l Kings before going to Brockville. Just back from a tryout with the Fort Wayne Comets of the International Hockey League, he stands five feet ten inches and weighs 195 pounds.

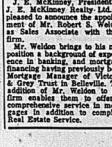
The Mo-Hawks have scored just 18 goals in six games to date, and only one in their last two games, and playing-coach Davy Jones says he will be shuffling his lines tonight in an effort to produce some scoring against the Kingston Aces, in town for an 8:30 game.

"Weiner" Brown is also expected to play for the Mo-Hawks tonight as they attempt to reverse the losing trend acquired over the weekend in games with Barrie Flyers and Orilla Terriers, Centre Bob Taylor is still sidelined with the concussion suffered Oct. 18 in a game here against Kingston.

Belleville is currently in sixth place in the eight - team OHA Senior "A" League, with a record of two wins, four defeats, and four points.

The Mo-Hawks have scored 18 goals and allowed thirty, the second highest total in the league.

Jones has secured the release of centre Andy Toeple from Fort Wayne Comets of the International Hockey League, but he injured his ankle Sunday and definitely will not play tonight, Jones said.



Teeple has not signed with the Mo-Hawks yet, but worked out with them before his injury. Teeple and Ferguson were teammates last year at Brockville and both made the Central League's first all-star team.

Mikita Heads for Third Title With Challenges from Beliveau, Nevin

MONTREAL (CP) — A pair of sharpshooters—one from Montreal and the other from New York—have fired their way into what had been Chicago Black Hawks territory in the National Hockey League scoring race—but Hawks' Stan Mikita still holds the number one position.

Mikita, seeking his third straight scoring title, leads the field with 16 points on five goals and 11 assists. Beliveau and Nevin are tied for second place along with Chicago's Jim Pappin. All have 12 points, although right winger Pappin is the league's top goal-getter with eight. Nevin has scored seven times and Beliveau has five goals.

Three other Hawks follow, with right winger Ken Wharram and defenceman Pat Stapleton tied at 11 points each, one more than Bobby Hull.

Seven players, including the West Division leaders—Ted Hampson and Bill Hicke both of Oakland Seals—are tied for eighth place with nine points each. The others are Phil Goyette, Jean Ratelle and Vic Hadfield of the Rangers and Dennis Hull and Gilles Marcotte of Chicago.

While Mikita maintained his lead in the scoring race, there is a different pair of names leading the goaltending race.

Ed Johnston and Gerry Cheevers of Boston Bruins have not had more than two goals scored against them in any of their eight games.

It has been a long time since a Boston goaltender has held the lead and as Bruin has won the top goalkeeping award—the Vezina Trophy—since Frank Brimsek in the 1941-42 season.

Jim Dorey, Toronto Maple Leafs rookie defenceman, maintained his lead in penalty minutes served and had another misconduct charged to him as a result of his fight in the Pittsburgh Penguins-Toronto game of Oct. 16.

An automatic 10-minute misconduct had been omitted from his previously-announced transgressions.

Therefore the records he established in that game are nine penalties—four minors, two majors, two 10-minute misconducts and a game misconduct for 46 minutes. His total for the season now is 56 minutes.

Centre Hastings League Enrolls Five, Maybe Six Entries

The Centre Hastings Hockey League, of intermediate calibre, held an organizational meeting Sunday at Frankford. There are five definite entries this year plus the possibility of a sixth — Loyalist College of Belleville, which was not represented at Sunday's meeting.

Four of the five definite entries are returnees from last year's eight-team league. They are: Frankford Hawks, Ban Rivers, Stirling Rebels, and Cloyne Blazers. A new entry is an as yet unnamed Tweed team.

The executive for the coming year was elected Sunday. Officers are: president, Al Bamber, Frankford; vice-president, Bill Robertson, Bata; secretary - treasurer, Bob Taylor, Stirling; and treasurer, Robert Bancroft, Tweed.

The next meeting will be Sunday, Nov. 3, in Frankford. The first league game will be Nov. 16.

Shining Starr Hogties Cowboys For Green Bay

DALLAS (AP) — Master quarterback Bart Starr was loaded four touchdown passes on Dallas Cowboys' proud doomsday defence Monday night and led the U.S. champion Green Bay Packers rolled to a 28-17 victory over the team they have beaten in the last two National Football League title games.

The victory shot the Packers into a tie for the lead in the Central Division with a 3-3-1 record and left the previously undefeated Cowboys with but a game lead over New York in the Capitol Division at 6-1.

Starr, who missed most of last week's game with a pulled muscle, rallied the Packers from a 10-7 halftime deficit with perfectly-timed passes as the Golden Boy scored of 74,604 gnoaned.

He connected on passes of three and 22 yards to tight end Marv Fleming and found Boyd Dowler on a five-yard scoring throw in the second half surge.

In the second quarter, he nailed Carroll Dale with a perfect 36-yard touchdown throw.

It was a bitter loss for Dallas, which has never beaten Green Bay in a regular season or playoff game. Twice Dallas has failed in the final seconds in the NFL title games against the Packers.

Gordie Howe's HOCKEY

By GORDIE HOWE

Collecting things like autographs, stamps, coins, cigar store Indians is a strange habit when you really stop to think about it. Perhaps a psychiatrist would have an explanation.

The strangest to me is collecting autographs, and I've collected a few myself. I believe every athlete, when asked for his autograph, is flattered and slightly embarrassed, I know I am.

Autographs . . . and sometimes the innocent things you say to sports fans can get you in trouble For example:

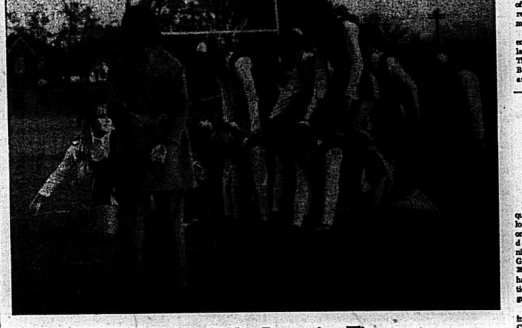
This fall, when the pennant and World Series fever was gripping Detroit, I overheard a couple of men in a hotel lobby, discussing baseball. Man No. 1 was a baseball fan, the rabid type, but Man No. 2 had no interest in the game and he explained why.

He told how, when he was in his very early teens, he had waited outside the dressing room at Tiger Stadium to get an autograph on a program from his favorite baseball player. When the player emerged, he told the youngster to beat it.

"Suddenly my heroes became men . . . and I no longer had any interest in baseball," Man No. 2 said.

See my point. When a hockey player is signing autographs, it may be giving his ego a boost, but he also must remember that he is in a position to make a friend or an enemy for the game.

He must remember that the fans are the people who pay the freight. Most autograph seekers are youngsters and we want them to be hockey fans.



Where most problems arise is when a team must rush after a game to catch a train or a bus. This has happened to us a number of times in Montreal, where as a rule, we have a number of Saturday night games scheduled.

On Saturday night it's a rush either to catch the midnight train back to Detroit, or dash to the airport for a chartered flight back.

This is when you must say, "Hey, we are in a rush to catch a plane . . . I've got time for five."

When you do this, they are always apprehensive. The thing I try to remember is to treat fans as I would like to be treated myself.

And while we are on the topic of autographs, I think the one that shook me most was a couple of years back when Bill Gadsby and I went fishing in Panama one summer. We walked into a small restaurant and a man at the next table said "You're Howe." It turned out to be a couple of hockey fans from New York.

Moira Girls Root in Tiers

These cheerleaders for the Moira Secondary School junior football squad could have pileups of their own to contend with. Part of their routine, seen here during Friday's Moira-Quinte game, involves a "human pyramid"-like formation. Everything's fine . . . unless someone down under has an itch!

Symons, Argos Are Goal to Go

TORONTO (CP) — Bill Symons and Toronto Argonauts are both only yards away from personal goals this year in the Eastern Football Conference.

Symons is eight yards short of gaining 1,000 yards rushing this year and the Argonauts are a victory away from finishing first in the EFC. Ottawa and Toronto both have 18 points and meet Sunday in the final game of the regular schedule.

If Symons gets his eight yards Sunday, he will be the first player in the history of Toronto Argonauts to have gained 1,000 yards rushing in a single season.

Symons has carried the ball 147 times for a total gain of 992 yards and a 6.7-yard average. His longest gain has been 75 yards and he has scored nine touchdowns along the ground. He has scored two others on passes.

Meanwhile, the conference scoring race has tightened with Tommy-Joe Coffey of Hamilton Tiger-Cats maintaining a three-point edge over Don Sutherin of Ottawa.

Coffey has 102 points on four touchdowns, 21 converts, 16 field goals and nine singles while Sutherin has one touchdown, 41 converts, 14 field goals and 10 singles.

Whit Tucker of Ottawa is third with 72 points, followed by Dave Mann of Toronto with 69 and Symons with 66. Tucker leads the conference in touchdowns with 12.

Bobby Taylor of Toronto is tops in the pass receiving department with 51 catches for 977 yards and a 17.6 average. Coffey has a 16-yard average while Symons' average is 12.4.

Wally Gabler of Toronto has taken over as top passer from Russ Jackson of Ottawa. Gabler has 195 completions in 335 attempts compared with Jackson's 163 completions in 288 tries.

Sports On All Fronts

CARACAS (AP) — Spontaneous street celebrations of the Olympic boxing victory of Venezuela's Francisco Rodriguez resulted in at least 50 wounded and 40 traffic accidents, it was estimated by official sources Monday. Hundreds of automobiles full of cheering, flag-waving fans crossed the city in all directions at full speed, sounding their horns.

* * *

TORONTO (CP) — Two members of Canada's Olympic equestrian team returned home Monday night with their gold medals dangling from their necks. Jim Elder and Tom Gayford, two-thirds of the team that won Canada's only gold medal in Mexico City, were greeted at Toronto International Airport by about 150 people carrying banners reading "Well done" and "Welcome home." Elder, 34, of Aurora, Ont., Gayford, 39, of Gormley, Ont., and Tim Day of King City, Ont., won the medal in the Prix des Nations, an event Canada had entered for the first time. Day is expected home today.

* * *

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Jimmy Hines, the world's fastest runner, left Olympic glory behind Monday and joined Miami Dolphins for the goal that will go with an American Football League career. Wearing his two gold medals — for a world record 9.9 clocking in the 100-metre run and for anchoring the record-setting 400-metre relay team — Hines went through a mock contact signing for photographers. Actually, he came to terms with the Dolphins last Thursday at Las Vegas, Nev., where the club president, Joe Robbie, was attending a convention.

* * *

MONTREAL (CP) — Sir Herbert A. Brechin, Lord Provost of Edinburgh, Scotland, said here Monday facilities for the 1970 Commonwealth Games to be held in his city are "considerably completed." Sir Herbert, who is chairman of the 1970 Commonwealth Games Committee, told a news conference that the swimming pool is at the roofing-in stage, an eight-lane weather-proof track now is completed and donations to the Games fund have been excellent. Recent visits to New York and Vancouver had produced "very favorable reaction" to participation in the games. More than 40 Commonwealth countries are expected to take part in the games which will run from July 16-25.

Queen Alex Sweeps Soccer Play

By ANDY HAYWARD

Queen Alexandra Public School swept both the junior and senior divisions of the annual Belleville Senior Public School Soccer Tournament Saturday at Quinte football field.

The tournament was a round-robin event with four entrants in the senior division (Grade 8) and five in the junior (Grade 7).

Final results were:

Senior Division — 1. Queen Alexandra, 2. King George, 3. Sir Mackenzie Bowell, 4. Harry J. Clarke.

Junior Division — 1. Queen Alexandra, 2. Sir Mackenzie Bowell, and Harry J. Clarke, Queen Elizabeth, King George 3.

Wayne Garispoy coached both the senior and junior teams from Queen Alexandra to their championships. The winners were presented with trophies and the tournament was organized by Walter Cochrane, Physical and Health Education Supervisor of the Belleville Public Schools.

Apple Crop 'Spotty'

Harvesting of the Quinte district apple crop is just about completed for another season with area producers re-orting the yield to be something less than average.

But apparently the crop harvested varied with the district and also with the grade of apples.

A well-known Prince Edward County apple grower said this year's harvest of Macs was "spotty" with some growers having a good crop, while for others it was something less than average.

On the other hand, this year's crop of Spies was said to have been good.

But on the overall picture it was not a big crop of apples in the Quinte district this year.

Sutures Can Be Slow to Disintegrate

By Dr. Joseph G. Molner

Dear Dr. Molner: Eighteen months ago my wife underwent an appendix operation at age 72.

Post-operative office visits resulted in four stitches being removed after surfacing. Including one that required deep probing.

Another stitch has been setting up for the past month with the same pricking and discomfort. The doctor says to wait until it surfaces so it can be removed. If it does not show signs of surfacing, what?

Are not operation stitches supposed to disintegrate? Is there something radically wrong somewhere? — W. J. Z.

I doubt that anything is radically wrong — or wrong at all, except that your wife is having an unhappy time of it.

Most sutures (stitches) are absorbable — made to disintegrate in the body and be carried away by the blood stream.

Occasionally this does not happen, or happens very slowly. Then the remnant of the suture acts as a foreign body. That is, it acts much like a splinter or wood sliver.

If you get a sliver in your finger, it is a foreign body. The body's natural defenses reject it, try to get rid of it. If the sliver is extremely small, the white cells of the blood will gradually tear it to apart, particle by particle, and cart it away and dispose of it in the same way they industriously attack germs or anything else that does not belong in the body.

In the case of a larger sliver the same process begins, but cannot be completed in any reasonable time. You've doubtless experienced it — a sliver you couldn't get out. Debris from the invisible struggle of the white cells against the foreign object accumulates. So does fluid. The forces of nature finally push the sliver toward the surface. And one day you discover that, with a little effort, it finally can be popped out easily.

The same thing can occur with a stitch. The sutures are made to disintegrate at various speeds. It seems likely that for one reason or another, it was wise to use these slower sutures in your wife's case. The precise speed (and need) cannot be determined in advance with total exactness.

Thus while so many people have no trouble at all with post-operative stitches, this becomes a fairly common nuisance for others. Once the stitch is removed, the tissues heal readily, but it does sometimes take a while for the remnants of the sutures to surface or be slowly pushed out of the body.

• • •

Dear Dr. Molner: I have a scalp itch and been to three dermatologists. None of them helped me the most tells me I have an allergy to calcium and that I am to stop drinking milk or eating dairy products that have a lot of calcium.

I have good teeth and am afraid that if I stop eating calcium my teeth will go bad, but if I do eat, my scalp itches until I can hardly stand it. What do you suggest? — R. H.

Follow his advice. As an adult, your teeth are not going to suffer from a reduced calcium intake.

While for most people I urge plenty of calcium, you are an exception, having such a sensitivity to it. You will get some calcium from other foods you eat, and your system will make maximum use of it. Your case is obviously that of an over abundance of calcium causes trouble.

Note to Mrs. F. P.: The cause of fatty tumors is not known; some people are subject to them others are not. Rarely do they become malignant. Removal is primarily because one of these has become so large as to become a nuisance or because of the appearance.

Nigeria's 'Black Tiger' Lashes Out at Observers and Newsmen

LAGOS (CP) — A flamboyant Nigerian federal army officer has lashed out with perfional attacks on Canadian and other neutral observers and ordered, without apparent reason, some Western correspondents to leave this area.

The attacks of Col. Benjamin A. Adekunle on Sunday threw into question the future of observers, who are in Nigeria at the invitation of the federal government to investigate secessionist Biafra's charges of genocide in the civil war.

The attack on Lt.-Col. E. B. M. Pinnington, 43, of Cobalt, Ont., was to be reported to Maj.-Gen. William A. Milroy of Kingston, chief Canadian observer now back in Lagos, the federal capital, after testifying before a committee in Ottawa.

The attack Sunday followed an almost equally violent Adekunle verbal assault Saturday.

Adekunle is commander of the 3rd Marine Commando Division stationed at Port Harcourt, the Biafran state's major port captured by federal forces. The unit has been the most successful force in the 16-month civil war.

Adekunle has earned such nicknames as Black Scorpion and Black Tiger and in the past has had scrapes with British and International Red Cross officials, which he suggested should leave Nigeria.

Adekunle's outburst apparently was directed over the insistence of the observers that they be allowed to visit Awgu, a Biafran village of Ursu-Inyang on Saturday to investigate published reports that 500 persons were shot dead there by federal troops three weeks ago. They found no evidence to substantiate the reports and returned Sunday.

"I have checked some of your combat records and I am not impressed," Adekunle snapped at the team headed by Major-Gen. Hans Wetter of Sweden. Saturday, he told reporters he would "fog" Raab when he returned from Ursu-Inyang.

Adekunle turned on Pinnington, who had insisted Saturday on the Ursu-Inyang visit.

"Are you here to provoke yourself?" he asked the soldier who was twice wounded in the Korean War.

"I have probably already hyperlinked my career by just being here," snapped Pinnington, "But I have a job to do."

Pinnington said he would report immediately to Milroy on the "personal attack."

In his attacks Saturday and Sunday, Adekunle ignored political problems existing in other countries, including those of the British monarchy in Canada.

He ordered seven Western correspondents a c c ompanying the observers to get out of Port Harcourt on Monday, without giving any reason.

The observers were sent from Canada, Britain, Poland, Sweden, the United Nations and the Organization of African Unity.

The observers said they seemed to boil down to the fact that the observer team insisted on doing things its own way. The group had insisted on going to Ursu-Inyang on Saturday, rejecting a Nigerian suggestion that the trip would be easier on Sunday.

They went to Aba on Monday to inspect Biafran relief camps.

Stanfield Critical of Canada's Biafran Policy

HALIFAX (CP) — Opposition Leader Stanfield followed Prime Minister Trudeau here and took the federal government to task for what he called its "disappointing" showing since taking office.

He criticized the government for delays in getting food to Biafrans and for failing to establish a national budget as had been predicted.

Mr. Stanfield's arrival here to address the annual meeting of the Progressive Conservative association in his home riding of Halifax followed Mr. Trudeau's speech to a similar meeting of Liberals at their annual meeting.

The PC leader told a news conference Monday he is not suggesting the Canadian government take sides in the Nigerian conflict, but he would have more initiative in getting food and supplies to the starving people."

He said the government should have made assistance available to the International Red Cross and other relief agencies at a much earlier date.

The government's reaction has been "a gradual yielding to public opinion in Canada."

Mr. Stanfield also suggested Canada should have taken the lead in getting nations shipping arms to Nigeria to halt such shipments. Representation should have been made through UN and directly to Britain, Russia and other arms-supplying nations, he said.

Canada should have been prepared to take the initiative at the UN in a search of a peaceful settlement of the war, despite opposition by other African countries.

Government May Fly Out Children

OTTAWA (CP) — The federal government would consider requests from private groups to fly children out of Biafra for adoption or hospital treatment, Prime Minister Trudeau said Monday.

In a Commons exchange with Mark Rose (NDP—Fraser Valley West), Mr. Trudeau said this is a type of initiative individuals and churches might take.

Mr. Rose asked whether Canadian Hercules aircraft now cleared to fly into Biafra would carry any return cargo.

The prime minister said he knew of no such plans.

Mr. Trudeau promised Gordon Fairweather (PC — Fundy-Royal) he would check whether Nigeria is keeping Canada's terms in joining a team to observe conduct of the war.

The conditions are that the team be allowed to see what it wants to see, and to use what route it chooses to get there.

Mr. Fairweather asked specifically about an attempt by the team to see a village where 500 Biafrans were reported to have died.

Mr. Trudeau said he would look into it. He dismissed as "partly facetious" Mr. Fairweather's question about a report that an observer had been threatened with a whipping by a Nigerian officer.

TORONTO STOCKS

TORONTO (CP) — The Toronto stock market was thrown into confusion by a late mid-morning trading today.

Base metals were steady, and total gains outnumbered losses by 100 to 138.

In industrials, Imperial Oil fell 7/8 to 75¼, Bramalea ⅛ to 11¼ and Asco ¼ to 23¼.

Among the heavier traders, Versafood jumped 1 to 20¾ and Seaway Hotels ¼ to 34⅛.

White Pass and Yukon was steady at 34. Subdivided shares were traded for the first time following a 3-for-1 stock split. Fleet Manufacturing slipped 10 cents to 23.25.

Rio Algom slipped ¼ to 34. Nine-month earnings fell to 37 cents a share from 63 cents in the same period last year. Hudson Bay Mining advanced ¼ to 72¼. Nine-month earnings climbed to $4.95 a share compared with $2.91.

On index, Industrials fell .06 to 178.67, golds .39 to 205.08 and western oils 1.99 to 229.25. Base metals rose .75 to 114.51. Volume by 11 a.m. was 1,367,000 shares compared with 910,000 at the same time Monday.

The market closed Monday and both industrial and base metals closed with moderate losses.

Declines outnumbered gains by 306 to 251. Volume was second although a fraction below Friday's level.

Imperial Oil fell 2 to 76¾, Cosmos Cement ¼ to 24¼, Aimco 1 to 17, Asbestos Corp. ⅛ to 22¼ and Great Northern Capital ¼ to 10½.

Science Council Urges Emphasis on Practical

OTTAWA (CP)—All-out scientific "missions" that promise big payoffs and harness public, private and university skills are proposed by the Science Council of Canada in a major report published today.

The federal government's science advisers chart a specialized role for Canada in the uses of space and computer technology.

They urge a marked swing in the emphasis of Canada's scientific endeavors toward practical results and away from so-called "pure" research.

The report, entitled Towards a National Science Policy for Canada, proposes an immediate start on prototype programs in space research—under Canada's own space agency—and in the management and development of water resources.

The council says planning should begin at once in these further areas:

—Transportation, to develop a "national, national system;"

—Urban development, to put order and scope into community planning and environmental studies "to build a new future for Canada;"

—Computer technology, "to promote intelligent use and application of computers throughout Canada's economic framework;"

—Aid to poorer nations, narrowing assistance to fewer countries and offering to share Canada's scientific and technological expertise.

Canada's challenge, says the report, is to yoke science and technology to the service of the nation. Action must be highly concentrated. It must produce new and improved goods and services, many of them for dollar-earning exports.

Ottawa Political Columnist Gave Report to Dief in 1957

OTTAWA (CP)—The author of a new book on the Diefenbaker era identifies himself as the man who passed on the famous Liberal "hidden report" of 1957 to the Conservative leader.

In Vision and Indecision: Diefenbaker and Pearson, Patrick Nicholson, a veteran Ottawa political columnist, writes that he uncovered the economic outlook report and handed it over to Mr. Diefenbaker, who had ousted the Liberals from office in the June, 1957, election.

The report, prepared by civil servants for the Liberal government months before the election, forecast economic deterioration and worsening unemployment.

Mr. Nicholson, a veteran of more than 20 years in the Parliamentary Press Gallery, now with the Thomson newspaper, wrote that he gave the report to Mr. Diefenbaker in the fall of 1957 when the Liberal opposition was attacking the government for rising unemployment and bad times.

In the following January, Mr. Diefenbaker used the report in a devastating attack on Lester Pearson in a rebuttal to the newly-elected Liberal leader's call for the Conservative government's resignation in favor of the Liberals.

The prime minister accused the previous Liberal government of concealing the facts of the economic situation from the people.

Mr. Nicholson wrote that the speech left Mr. Pearson "ridiculed, disarmed and indeed already defeated" in the March 31, 1958, election that Mr. Diefenbaker called shortly after.

The Conservatives swamped the Pearson Liberals in the election, exchanging their minority of Commons seats for the greatest majority in Canadian history—208 of the 265 Commons seats.

Mr. Nicholson writes that he got his first inkling that the Louis St. Laurent Liberal government had received some kind of economic warning from Paul Martin, the veteran Liberal cabinet minister and now government leader in the Senate.

At a social conversation at Mr. Nicholson's home in July, 1957, the author quoted his friend as saying:

"I'll wouldn't be correct to say that we sought defeat in the election. But you know some of us were not sorry that we were defeated. We had been warned of trouble ahead—there will be a lot of unemployment this winter."

When he began checking a few months later, Mr. Nicholson turned up nothing until he made a deadpan request to the parliamentary secretary for Gordon Churchill, then trade minister, to see if there was an economic forecast in government files.

The secretary found it and handed it over.

Mr. Nicholson said he could not "properly publicize" the report in his column since it was a classified document.

Instead he handed it over to Mr. Diefenbaker in the prime minister's office to rebut what Mr. Nicholson considered inaccurate and wanton attacks on the Conservatives over the economic problem.

According to the Nicholson account, Mr. Diefenbaker thanked him for the report and said it would be very useful. Mr. Nicholson said the report became "the most powerful weapon" Mr. Diefenbaker would use in the next general election.

Mr. Nicholson said Mr. Diefenbaker's use of the report later in his vitriolic attack on Mr. Pearson was the beginning of their intense rivalry through the years.

The book, published by Longmans Canada, paints the author as a confidante of many politicians of all parties who sometimes played the role of go-between, making news as well as reporting it.

By his own account, Mr. Nicholson once arranged a meeting in his Ottawa home between Robert Thompson, Social Credit leader at the time, and three Conservative cabinet ministers in December of 1962.

The little group talked over a Thompson proposal for Social Credit support for the tottering minority Conservative regime that might have saved it, in return for Mr. Diefenbaker's replacement as prime minister.

Nothing came of it and the Diefenbaker government soon fell and was defeated by the Liberals, Gordon Churchill, Leon Balcer and Senator Wallace McCutcheon were the Conservative cabinet ministers at the meeting, Mr. Nicholson says. Guy Marcoux, the Quebec Social Credit MP, was also present.

At another point, Mr. Nicholson identifies Duncan McTavish, then president of the National Liberal federation, as part of a group seeking the return of Robert Winters to politics in the winter of 1962-63.

The aim was to have him replace Mr. Pearson as leader.

Patriot: Agitator in Control

By SYDNEY J. HARRIS

Antics with Semaics:

I am taking "medication"; you are on "pills"; he takes "dope."

I vote on "principles"; you vote on "ideology"; he votes on "dogmas."

Spying by our side is "military intelligence"; spying by their side is "espionage."

When demonstrators make an unprovoked attack, it is a "riot"; when police make an unprovoked attack, it is a "defense of law and order."

An interesting example of reverse semantic logic is the fact that almost as many prostitutes officially list their profession as "model," any woman who lists her profession as model may be suspected of being a part-time prostitute.

And, speaking of this subject, the semantics of sex are no less grimly twisted around in our culture that the phrase "sleeping with" actually means "not sleeping with."

Our overweight child has a "glandular problem" but yours is "fat as a pig."

If a used car can be advertised as "owner-tested," why can't used shoes be sold as "pedestrian-tested"?

When I look at a nude film of colored people ("natives") it is, of course, ethnography"; when I look at a nude film of white people, it is "pornography."

Educational euphemisms are the most absurdly amusing in modern semantics — such as "exceptional" achievement," "disadvantaged," and so on; in his book, Translations from the English, Robert Paul Smith aptly retranslates the jargon. "The child seems to have developed late in large-muscle control," as "He falls on his head frequently."

One of the earliest warnings on the vicious way we twist words was given by George Orwell (long before Vietnam) when he wrote: "Defenceless villages are bombarded from the air, the inhabitants driven out into the countryside, the cattle machine-gunned, the huts set on fire with incendiary bullets; this is called pacification."

In the same sense, Mayor Daley was correct when he suggested there were no "slums" in Chicago . . . only "sub-standard dwellings."

A "patriot" is an "agitator" whose side long ago gained control of the government.

And remember, finally, if you agree with most of the above items, I am a "courageous" and "challenging" columnist; if you disagree, I am "slanderous" and "irresponsible."

Jeane Dixon's Horoscope

For October 30

Your birthday today: You clearly follow some inner guidance through the turmoil of this coming year. Many times there will be no precedent for you to follow, so instinct provides the main direction. The view of life tends to become idealistic. Today's natives usually have strong bodies and a knack for organization.

ARIES (Mar. 21 — Apr. 19): If you are reasonably tactful, you can avoid having extra chores dumped onto you. Remember, the day begins with peaceful intentions (and keep it that way!).

TAURUS (Apr. 20 — May 20): This is a day to strain your temper if you let petty nuisances get to you. Keep your expenses within bounds. Conservatism is the pressing need right now.

GEMINI (May 21 — June 20): Use extra diplomacy if you must work with others. New ideas are welcomed when presented with good humor. This is a good time to force issues.

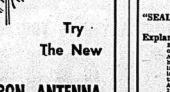
CANCER (June 21 — July 22): Travel and mechanical operations are unusually tricky today. Take precautions . . . or delay your trip. There is a high premium on mindful your every step.

LEO (July 23 — Aug. 22): Home life takes a great deal of your concern and concentration. Care in driving is essential at this time, as many people relieve their tempers with angry moves. Good music tonight will prove helpful.

VIRGO (Aug. 23 — Sept. 22): People are unable or unwilling to meet your expectations; any demands abruptly expressed cause unhappy repercussions. Electrical appliances may pose inconvenience, and great care is urged!

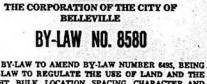
LIBRA (Sept. 23 — Oct. 22): People in authority are easier to talk with than fellow workers today. Your work is quite likely to be interrupted by circumstances hard to explain. Just don't expect any good natured give-and-take.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23—Nov. 21): Co-operation is a rare commodity today except on surface matters. You manage better in dealing with people of power.



SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 — Dec. 21): Your backers seem to disappear today. Let somebody else be centre stage and take the applause — and brickbats — for a change. Family affairs continue troublesome.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 —Jan. 19): Distant matters may be hard to cope with accurately. Put in a steady day of conscientious effort. Find a time and a place to pray tonight.



AQUARIUS (Jan. 20 — Feb. 18): Money can be troublesome now! Collect whatever is due you, and sit tight. Tonight start a preliminary roundup of your accounts for the end of the month.

PISCES (Feb. 19 — Mar. 20): Travel is to be kept to a minimum at this time. Other people have enough tension going to make them contrary. Welcome fair treatment as being rather extraordinary.

Trenton Merchants Cool to Plaza's Foe

No Firm Stand Taken

By BOB AVERY
Staff Reporter

TRENTON — The merchants of Trenton last night failed to decide whether they were for or against Belleville's proposed new shopping centre.

Geoffery Still, consultant for the Belleville interests who are opposing the construction of the shopping centre, told representatives of 25 retail outlets in Trenton "This centre will hurt you because this area will not be ready for such retail space for another 10 years."

"I am currently representing the firms which are against this centre," began Mr. Still, "and these are Metropolitan Trust, which owns the present Belleville Plaza, Oshawa Wholesale which owns Towers and the Merchants Association of the Plaza."

But he was unable to get any support from the Trenton group. The best he could do was to get a brief circulated which, if signed by a merchant, would "register objection to the centre."

However, these will be sent by mail. It seems unlikely any sort of forceful body will be formed before the OMB hearing on Nov. 4 in Belleville.

Said Mr. Still "... we will have to let the cards fall where Round and Round They Go!

Belleville's Santa Claus parade is now well on the way to being organized — thanks to much volunteer work, particularly by city firemen. Here firefighters Bruce Diamond and Wally Istead test mobile carousel which they finished building yesterday at West Moira Street firehall. (For details, see First Page, Second Section.)

Eliminating Art

But only some of it. Stanley Swain, a noted artist and acting director of the Agnes Etherington Art Centre at Queen's University, looked over exhibits in the second annual Belleville Art Association's exhibition yesterday. He chose 40 works of art to go on display, out of 105 that were submitted. (For story, see Page 5.)

Slovaks Copy Czech Defiance To Voice Anger With Russians

BRATISLAVA (AP) — Slovaks in Bratislava copied Prague's Czechs Tuesday night and roamed their city's streets shouting "Russians go home" and "Brezhnev boo boo boo."

The anti-Soviet demonstrations erupted after 10,000 cheering, chanting Slovaks broke through police lines in a wild greeting for the nation's liberal Communist leaders who are visiting the capital of Slovakia for the local celebration of Czechoslovakia's 50th anniversary.

A similar demonstration in Prague Monday night against the Soviet occupation brought a warning from Deputy Interior Minister Jan Mayer that the police were determined to "maintain public order."

But police and militiamen failed to stop the marching Slovaks shouting anti-Soviet slogans.

Leonid Brezhnev is Russia's Communist party chief.

Led by a man carrying a sign with the French word "Liberte," the column moved through Bratislava, singing the national anthem and lighting candles as memorials at half-a-dozen places where Slovaks were killed during the Soviet invasion last August.

Earlier, tens of thousands of Slovaks wildly applauded the arrival of President Ludvik Svoboda and Communist party chief Alexander Dubcek. the last ter a Slovak. The crowd mobbed the railway station as their eight-car train pulled in, forcing a guard of honor and a band to retreat without playing a note.

Lined 40 or 50 deep on each side of the street, Slovaks chanted "Long live Dubcek" and "Long live Svoboda" as a motorcade took the leaders to the Slovak National Council building. Dubcek waved briefly from a balcony when youths climbed trees around the building and yelled for them to appear.

Today Svoboda, Premier Oldrich Cernik and National Assembly President Josef Smrkovsky signed new charters creating autonomous Czech and Slovak states joined in a federation. The law goes into effect Jan. 1.

Soviet Marshal Ivan Yakubovsky, commander of the pact's armed forces, also attended the meeting.

Romania, which opposed the invasion but since has taken a more conciliatory position toward Russia, was represented by its defence chief Col. Gen. Ion Ionisa.

Czechs and Romanians Attend Warsaw Pact Defence Parley

MOSCOW (Reuters) — The first defence ministers meeting of the Warsaw pact countries since the invasion of Czechoslovakia was attended by both Czechoslovakia and its Balkan ally Romania, it was reported today.

Delegates from all seven member countries of the pact spent Tuesday and today at a meeting in Moscow, discussing the strengthening of the Communist military alliance, the Soviet news agency Tass said.

Among those present was Czechoslovakia's acting defence minister, Lt.-Gen. Karel Rusov, who is standing in for ailing Defence Minister Martin Smr.

Nixon Makes A Point

LBJ and General Hold Secret Talks

WASHINGTON (CP-Reuters) — President Johnson held top-secret talks Tuesday with Gen. Creighton W. Abrams, U.S. field commander in Vietnam. A White House spokesman said the visit did not mean there had been a breakthrough in the Vietnam peace negotiations.

The secrecy which surrounded the talks—the White House even refused to say when Abrams arrived in Washington—heightened speculation that Johnson might have reached a decision on whether to announce a halt to the bombing of North Vietnam.

Observers said Johnson might have called in Abrams for an up-to-date report on the situation in Vietnam, and to determine whether the present lull in fighting and reported Communist evidence of de-escalation justify a halt.

'Everything Is Settled'

PARIS (CP) — Envoys of the United States and North Vietnam sparred inconclusively over a basis for Vietnam peace-making today amid persistent reports that a U.S. bombing halt may be near.

An official of one allied country with troops in South Vietnam, who declined to be identified, told a reporter in reference to a bomb halt: "Everything is settled."

Third party candidate George Wallace's rally in Detroit Tuesday turned into a chair throwing melee and he said at one point: "If you want to stop all this nonsense, you vote for me Nov. 5 and I'll stop it."

Nixon's Vietnam negotiation comment came at a Syracuse, N.Y., rally at which he permitted student protesters to sing a song and then answered questions they had submitted.

To one question Nixon said he offers new leadership unfettered by past policies and said such leadership could achieve a negotiated peace. Then he added:

"The Soviet Union must be brought to that conference table. Other interested nations in Asia have to be brought there, because by broadening the number of nations and the issues, we will be able to have a negotiated settlement."

A spokesman, Ron Ziegler, said later Nixon was discussing negotiations in a general sense and not specifically advocating Soviet participation in the Paris peace talks.

Nixon Wants Russia to Participate In Negotiating Vietnam Settlement

Republican Richard Nixon says he would seek Soviet participation in negotiating a Vietnam war settlement if he is elected president next Tuesday. Democrat Hubert Humphrey says he would make peace his own way if President Johnson's efforts fail.

Crew Safety Delays Biafra Relief Flights

OTTAWA (CP) — External Affairs Minister Mitchell Sharp said Tuesday that the safety of the crews was the main problem holding up relief flights into Biafra by three Canadian Hercules aircraft.

Two of the planes on loan to the International Red Cross are based on the island of Fernando Poo off the Nigerian coast and the third is at Lagos, the Nigerian capital.

Mr. Sharp, speaking outside the Commons, said commanders of the three aircraft would have to decide whether it was feasible to fly them into danger areas.

He said it is difficult to distinguish between a plane carrying food and a plane carrying arms. The commanders would face the "very serious question" of whether to risk Canadian lives.

Mr. Sharp said the Nigerian government is not holding up the flights.

OMB Approval Now Needed

Sidney Township Moves to Control Subdivision Development

A move towards orderly development in Sidney township was taken last night when its council decided to extend subdivision control on that part of the township between the bay front and the northern limits of the tax concession as far west as Bayside School.

The council also decided to submit a formal request to Belleville and Suburban Planning Board asking its staff to prepare a zoning bylaw for the area in the vicinity of Loyalist College.

Council's action will have no affect on development now under way in the township.

Its decision was made following a closed, informal meeting between planning board and its staff and Sidneys council members at Sidneys Centennial Township Hall.

The move will prevent a farmer from selling a lot split off from his farm in the future unless he goes to the minister of municipal affairs for permission, Sidney council member Jack Bush said this morning.

A committee of adjustment can give approval to such sales without recourse to the minister, but Sidney has yet to set up a committee of adjustment.

The 600 building lots owned by Stanleypark Ltd. in the Monrose Dr. area "won't be affected because they are already there", Mr. Bush said.

Development of the area was criticized by former planning director P. J. Beavis following lifting of a restraining order on the lots last spring.

The former planner suggested that the minister of municipal affairs be asked to impose subdivision control to ensure orderly development if Sidney council refused to act on the matter.

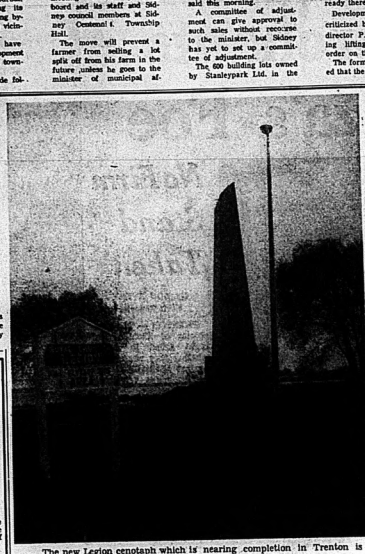
The decision also does not affect the proposed 24 acre subdivision in Sidney township announced earlier by Hastings Park developers.

Last night's meeting, of which Sidney was told, had been requested by planning board.

"I think we gained a lot of ground in convincing people planning board is not a police force," remarked planning board member Zdenek Kvarda this morning.

Conservation, Education Topics at Meeting

Conservation and education will be the topic of discussion at a public meeting of the Murray Township Ratepayers' Association scheduled for the new township Centennial Public School on Nov. 5.



Guest speaker for the meeting will be Dr. J. D. McCowan, of Queen's University, and chairman of the Catarqui Region Conservation Authority. Colored slides will be shown by Mr. R. McClelland, resources manager from the Lower Trent Region Conservation Authority.

Invitations have gone out to area conservation authority advisory committee officials and Belleville Alderman Robin Jeffrey, chairman of the Moira River Conservation Authority Education Extension committee will attend the meeting.

"The first step in conservation education is an appreciation of the wonderful world of nature," she says. "People, both young and old, must be taught to respect and care for our natural resources . ."

USED FOR FOOD

Although one of the world's ugliest creatures, the manatee or sea cow is used for food by South American natives.

The new Legion cenotaph which is nearing completion in Trenton is scheduled for unveiling Nov. 3. The war memorial will commemorate the Canadians who have died fighting for their country.

Cenotaph Unveiled Nov. 3

TRENTON — Work is progressing on the Legion War Memorial and officials say it will be ready for its Nov. 3 opening date when service units from around the area will come to celebrate the unveiling.

At present the three-sided granite column has been erected. One side carries the reverse rifle with a soldier's helmet resting on it in memory of the army veterans and the other two sides have an anchor in memory of the sailors and a propellor to commemorate the airmen who died for their country.

When completed the base of the monument will be surrounded by black granite blocks with four steps leading up to the raised base. Plans are under way to move the memorial gate posts from Fraser Park to form the entrance to the walk of the cenotaph as these columns contain the names of many departed veterans.

On Sunday, the day of the unveiling, a parade will form up at the Legion Hall and head for Centennial Park. At the o'clock that afternoon Lt. Col. Howard Graham, a life member of branch 110 of the Legion, will unveil the monument.

Invitations have been sent out to other service units in the area.

IN MEMORIAM

ETHIER—In loving memory of our dear nephew "Gerry", who passed away Oct. 30, 1966.
There is a link death cannot sever,
Love and remembrance last forever.
—Sadly missed by Uncle Jos, Anne Mae and family.

MILLER—In loving memory of a dear husband, Ivan Miller, who passed away Oct. 30, 1961.
Loved with a love beyond all telling,
Missed with a grief beyond all tears.
—Lovingly remembered by wife Evelyn.

ETHIER—In loving memory of a dear husband, Gerald E. Ethier who passed away Oct. 30, 1966.
—Ever remembered, ever missed,
by wife Bev.

ETHIER, Gerald (Bucky) — In loving memory of a dear nephew who passed away Oct. 30, 1966, and today Oct. 30, 1968.
Every day, in some small way,
Memories of you are kept alive.
Thoughts of you are ever dear,
Still missed, and always will be dear.
—Always loved, always remembered by aunt Glad and uncle Bert.

ETHIER — In loving memory of a dear brother and uncle Gerald (Bucky) Ethier who passed away two years ago today Oct. 30, 1966.
I will always remember the way
He looked and smiled.
The little things he said and did,
To win me all the while.
For down the lane of memories,
The light is never dim,
Until the stars forget to shine,
I'll remember him.
—Always remembered by sister Barbara, brother-in-law Bill and family.

ETHIER, Gerald — In loving memory of a dear son and brother who passed away Oct. 30, 1966.
"Gone from this world of sorrow, gone from this world of care,
God must have a beautiful garden,
He needed flowers there."
—Sadly missed and lovingly remembered by grampa Arnold and aunt Peggy.

ETHIER, Gerald (Bucky) — In loving memory of our dear grandson who passed away two years ago Oct. 30, 1966.
Often a silent tear,
And always a beautiful memory
Of the one we loved so dear.
—Always loved and remembered by cousin Carol Ann and family.

ETHIER — In loving memory of a dear son and brother Gerald (Bucky) who passed away suddenly two years ago today Oct. 30, 1966.
Another year, another sigh,
Always thinking and wondering why.
Simply wishful, Bucky but very true,
We will always love and remember you.
—Sadly missed by Mom, Sharie, Dad and brother Bob.

CARDS OF THANKS

I wish to thank my relatives, friends and neighbors for their kindness to me and visits, also special thanks to the nurses and doctors of 4A and 4B. I was a patient in Belleville General Hospital.

UIC May Move To Belleville

A proposed move of the Ontario regional office of the Unemployment Insurance Commission has raised the possibility it might be located in Belleville.

A spokesman at the office in Toronto today admitted the a move from the commission's St. Clair and Yonge Street location was contemplated and said "Belleville is one of the places under consideration.

At this time the move is only in the planning stage," he said. "Primarily, the matter is under consideration, as a means to reduce administrative costs. The service to the public will not be affected."

If and when such a move takes place it would mean the transfer of most of the top executive administrators to the community in which the commission locates.

Rally Enthusiasts Check Bible Before Starting

Bibles Determine Rally Winner

TRENTON — Bible reading is determining the success of car rallies sponsored by the Tri - County Motor Sports Club here.

The course last weekend which commenced at Consecon and ran north to No. 7 highway west of Marmora was planned by club president Rev. Peter Walford - Davis minister of the United Church at Consecon.

Navigators for the first time were called upon to take along bibles with their maps if they hoped to locate pre-set check points.

You can say this is an unorthodox rally since navigation depends upon clues derived from the bible, Rev. Walford - Davis explained.

Commenting on the job expected of the navigator in each car he said "it means she or he is required to have the bible at hand ready for reference throughout the trip."

Lowell G. Watson, manager of the International Cooperage plant at Belleville, demonstrates the cover mechanism used on big 60 gallon container made in local plant.

Cheese Box Industry Starts in City--Again

They say that everything goes in cycles.

And that is the way it is with the manufacture of cheese boxes in the Belleville area.

In the heyday of the Quinte district cheese industry cheese box manufacturing plants were spotted throughout the area north of Belleville.

However, diminishing supplies of elm veneer for the cylindrical wooden containers forced local companies out of business and a new type of compressed paper design was brought in to supply the demand.

But until this year the new fibre boxes have not been made in the immediate Belleville area.

That is, not until International Cooperage Company of Canada Ltd. commenced operations in the late spring of this year.

International cooperage in the northeast industrial park area, is one of the city's newest industries and although starting on a small scale will hopefully grow to employ about 30 workers. Currently there are six employees in the plant production area.

One of the company's lines is the manufacture of fibre drum containers for 95-pound round block cheese.

But the "Cheddrums" are only one of about nine different type containers ranging all the way from one gallon size to 23-inch diameter 65-gallon capacity for holding liquid chemical.

The firm specializes in modern fibre drums, custom made to industrial requirements for packing both dry and liquid products.

It is but one — and the smallest — of 11 International Cooperage plants in Canada and is one of 200 company plants in the United States and Canada making fibre or steel drums.

Manager of the local plant is Lowell G. Watson, who came to Belleville from Milton, Ontario, where he was assistant manager at the International Cooperage plant.

And what about the quality of the fibre cheese boxes as compared to the former wooden veneer containers?

Down at the Ontario Milk Products Marketing Board cheese storage in Belleville, where thousands of boxes of cheese are handled each week they have a preference for the compressed paper containers.

It seems the old elm veneer box dried out and was subject to splitting unless handled with care.

"We are quite happy with the new type boxes," stated a storage worker.

Buy into Canada.

There are probably as many good reasons for buying Canada Savings Bonds as there are Canadians. There are the hopes, plans and ambitions you have for yourself and your family. There is the desire, which all of us share, to play a part in building the future of our country. The simple, safe, profitable way to help realize these goals is to buy Canada Savings Bonds.

They offer an excellent return. The average yield to maturity is 6.75% a year. There are fourteen annual interest coupons which begin at 5.75% and rise to 7.00% for each of the last nine years. These can be cashed each year as they become due. Better still, if you choose to keep these coupons uncashed, you can earn interest on your interest. Take full advantage of this option and, when your Bonds mature, your total interest earnings plus your original investment will amount to $250 for each $100 invested.

They are available to everyone. Canada Savings Bonds are available to every Canadian resident in amounts from $50 up to $50,000, for cash or on instalments, wherever you work, bank or invest. Adults, children, businesses and institutions—all may buy them.

They are instant cash. You can cash them any time at any bank in Canada at their full face value plus earned interest.

Few investments are so profitable. None builds more surely for the future. Buy into Canada today. Buy Canada Savings Bonds. It pays.

It pays.

Miss Gail Kent, private secretary, gives the daily mail to her boss, Mrs. Shiela Kellett, first female manager of the loan department of Commercial Credit Corp. Ltd. in Canada.

The First in Canada

Are females taking over the world?

No, not really — but they are moving into the business world and in Belleville too.

Mrs. Sheila Kellett is the first of a number of female employees of Commercial Credit Corp. Ltd. to become manager of a department.

Mrs. Kellett is the first female manager in Canada for that company. She won't be the last.

She is manager of the loan department at the Commercial Credit office at 177 Pinnacle Street.

"Other females are going to become managers in a short time to come," she says.

"It's a wonderful opportunity. I think more women should be given the challenge and if a woman has the experience she should be given the same opportunity as a male."

Commercial Credit seems to be agreeing with that idea.

Mrs. Kellett adds, "You have to be willing to take on the responsibility. I do the same work as a male."

"I've been here for almost 10 years and I've become familiar with our customers."

Mrs. Kellett started at Commercial Credit with a summer job in 1959. From that point she decided to stay and since then has worked her way through the ranks.

She took the job as receptionist and then became an account clerk. She has been in the loan department for five years now, spending the last year as assistant to the loan manager.

She began work at her history-making post Sept. 15.

Mrs. Kellett was born in Belleville and attended Quinte Secondary School where she took the four year academic course with commercial options.

Youth Marches On

Young people are wonderful — imaginative, idealistic and all that — but must people of more mature years opt out of the race. In other words, is youth attempting to take over the world on a shoestring of experience?

For some time now the adult world has been treading warily in its dealings with the rising generation. The former are painfully aware that the world of war and rumors of war they have perpetuated all these years just is not good enough. They are aware also that their codes of ethics and social behavior generally, marked too often by the double standard and double dealing, leave much to be desired.

Do the young people have anything better to offer? Inevitably they do, but it is not always apparent. Every generation confers its benefits upon the world, but today we hear too much of the activities of the hippies, the drug users and the apostles of the new morality. Contemporary mores are bringing into disrepute the old respect for family ties and family integrity.

But if youth is idealistic, maturity of thought comes only with the years. That is why the Trudeau administration, young as it is, does not have anyone in ministerial ranks much under the age of 35. The prime minister himself made a good point with regard to Biafra, when he told students that tribal wars have been occurring in Africa for "thousands of years."

And here is one of Trudeau's "older" men, Secretary of State Gerald Pelletier (he is 49), coming out with what might be described as a manifesto for youth. In a recent speech to the Montreal Board of Trade, Mr. Pelletier envisaged for youth "a year of civic service similar to the military service in other countries — but devoted to peaceful ends."

Significantly, Mr. Pelletier attributed the idea to "some youth groups of The young, he said, "would like to work with their hands and brains to build their country, especially its underdeveloped regions, so they can play their part in creating a more just society. . ."

It sounds like the kind of thing Young Canadians, but there the resemblance should end. The CYC has been plagued by political complications from the start. Its composition has been less than impressive.

This new body should be free of political tinge. Its members, whether they wear beards or not, should be genuinely interested in contributing to the further development of Canada. We wish such a prospect every success and urge Mr. Pelletier meanwhile not to create the impression that at 49 he himself is over the hill. Observing that he was not one who runs with youth to create an illusion of not aging, he said: "I accept my declining condition."

At 49? Nonsense! And that "just society" slogan of Mr. Trudeau's. Perhaps it would be a good idea to drop it quietly. It is getting to be tiresome.

They Curse More

Women are said to be cursing more as social barriers and concepts of decorum drop. College campus demonstrations have been providing evidence of this. Where the women stand, the language is reported to be bluer and the atmosphere more electric than they are among the men.

All kinds of sophisticated excuses are being advanced for this phenomenon. For example, a Stanford University professor says: "The psychological controls that we put on women are right there when they break through, they really let go . . ."

Cursing may be a safety valve, but a little of it goes a long way. Polite cursing is one thing, obscenity of the kind tossed at police by young college women demonstrators is another.

Excuses may be found for anything, but that does not alter the fact that four-letter and other such expressions from the tongues of women of any age fall far short of what generally is considered good manners.

Amy Vanderbilt has said a knowledge of what constitutes good manners "makes us comfortable within ourselves and with other people . . . good manners, she says, "is consideration of other people in respect of their feelings, their safety, their privacy, and their full social rights and privileges."

And that definition should hold good for high school students, for university students, and for society at large.

A Fish By Any Other Name More Appealing

By RICHARD JACKSON

OTTAWA — You don't have to be a flaming orator in the Commons to be a good MP.

You don't even have to sit in the House day after dreary day — although fairly regular attendance does help both e'n e image — to give the taxpayer a fair shake for the annual $18,000-plus he pays you.

Nor must you necessarily be a ball of investigatory fire on any of the special committees of enquiry the Commons fairly routinely calls.

Sometimes an MP can do his best work — for his constituency, perhaps for all Canada — just sitting in his office thinking.

Dreaming, even, of ideas.

They can be, often are, simple, basic, sometimes obvious ideas. But they must be productive.

Like New Democratic MP Barry Mather's idea which the Honorable Member for British Columbia's Surrey riding happened to dream up while just sitting there in his West Block office on the far side of Parliament Hill, idly cogitating.

He was considering the sad state of the Canadian fishing industry.

It's lamented almost daily by concerned MPs from the coasts, West and East, from Ontario and Quebec, and even from such unlikely at - first - glance places as the Prairies and the Territories.

The market for fish, fresh, frozen, salted, warm the MPs, seems to be contracting instead of expanding, and they all want something done about it. They are not sure what, maybe subsidies, easier loans, tax concessions, export bonuses, deficiency payments — anything. In fact, that might help.

Pondering on ways to make "Buy - More - Fish - Month" pay off for fishermen and their never - an - easy - life industry, Barry Mather had an idea and immediately dashed it off in a memo to Fisheries Minister Jack Davis.

"Quit calling it 'fish,' a name with a sound that does little to whet the appetite for some of Canada's very finest food," he wrote.

"Think of 'fish,' and its word association 'fishy eye, poor fish, sounds fishy' and the rest of such expressions," says Barry Mather, "and you think of something not at all attractive."

The livestock industry doesn't call everything "meat," especially when it is marketed, where it becomes steaks, chops, roasts, ribs, spring lamb, New York cuts, sirloin, porterhouse, all word sounds calculated to conjur up visions of good things to eat.

Instead of "fish," Barry Mather has tipped Jack Davis, sell it with some "flair and imagination — give it a little supermarket sex appeal."

Call it anything, says Barry Mather, but don't call it "fish."

Call it what it is: Boundary Bay Crab, BC Red Spring Salmon, West Coast Coho, Gaspe Salmon, New Brunswick Sardines, Nova Scotia Lobster, Athabaska Salmon Trout, Lake Superior Whitefish, Lake Erie Perch, Lake Ontario Pickerel, Georgian Bay Smelt, Newfoundland Cod, Prairie Goldeye . . . the list is endless.

Call it anything, but don't call it just plain cod, or halibut, or salmon. Instead, give it a placename and make it a proud product—.

Jack Davis has written back: "I like the idea. It is a good one. Useful. Could work, wonders."

He is putting it through the fisheries department's public relations mill to listen to how it plays back. If it sounds like sales, then the department might go for a big market promotion.

Barry Mather's had other ideas.

He has a continuing campaign going, putting the pressure on the external affairs and other federal government departments to serve nothing but good domestic Canadian wines at their many many social and promotional "do's," from formal diplomatic white tie dinners to trade and commerce cell - sell, sell cocktail parties here and around the world.

He also managed to shame former Health Minister Judy LaMarsh into kicking the cigarette habit, almost but not quite pressured Mr. Health Minister Allan MacEachen to sweat off, and is currently working — with little success — on Health Minister John Munro who still puffs his unworried way through three packs a day.

Godfrey Winn World's Top Paid Writer

Allan Fotheringham in The Vancouver Sun

The highest-paid writer in the world was quite apologetic on the other end of the phone. There had been some mistake, he insisted. He'd love to see me but he just couldn't. So there I was, forlorn in the lobby of the Georgia and Godfrey Winn, with that awesome title, was safe up there in Room 1106. Godfrey Winn, you see, advertises himself as the No. 1 bloke, lootwise, in this racket. As someone rather far down the scale (actually, I'm 1,457,893rd I was naturally interested as to his secret. Like, c'mon ! ' ' ' g and sell the formulas? Godfrey, says Godfrey, has been paid 50,000 pounds annually for the past 35 years and so dwarfs those few American authors who get a million or so for a book every few years. He writes for the London Daily Mail, two magazines, has a weekly radio program, does lecture tours, six guest appearances on the BBC every year and has his own TV show, Birthday Honors. When Lord Beaverbrook was once asked why he paid Winn more than any other writer, he replied. "Because he shakes hands with peoples' hearts."

Who Cares for Whom ? It's the "In" Thing to Be Cool

Edinburgh Scotsman

Neighborliness is not all that much in evidence these days. The bread - and - butter brand which involves lending and borrowing cups of sugar or self-raising flour and minding the children still persists, but more and more jarring notes seem to be introducing themselves. In the international league, of course, there doesn't seem to be any neighborliness at all, even among old cronies. Indeed it might be said, especially among old cronies. Only China and Albania seem to swing along together. Even our own celebrated entente isn't quite so cordiale any more now that the general's gone broody about the Common Market, and seems intent on eating it on the swing-wing aircraft.

Its definitely "in" to be cool, and trend-setting Britain is, as always, well to the fore. The Scots, Welsh and Irish don't have a lot of time for the English, and probably, if the truth be known, for each other. People who vote Labor don't really get along with people who vote Conservative, and neither lot is enamored of the Liberals. They all hate the Scottish Nationals. But it should be remembered also that the Heath men loathe the Powell men and the Labor Rights are not at all taken with the Left. Once the Liberals have sorted themselves out we'll be able to see who bugs whom in their little set-up. There hasn't been any substantial niggling on the SNP front as yet, but the old East vs. West thing looks a likely chewsome bone which might prove good for a gnaw some sunny day.

Coming down the scale (or up, if you prefer it) to the ordinary fun-loving decent people, it is evident that Catholics are hard pressed to co-exist with Protestants, and vice - versa, particularly when taking their collective ease at non-religious sporting events where the air is generally thick with unecumenical-looking bottles. Catholics who use it are looked at askance by Catholics who don't. Tee-up wicars have little in common with the stalwarts of the Free Kirk.

All in all, it would seem that that gentleman who kept his neighbor quiet by sending him a set of coal gas through the wall whenever he felt the occasion warranted it, may just have stumbled on to something.

Ontario's Litter Bill

St. Catharines Standard

One of the worst examples of taxpayers' money going down the drain is the $1,350,000 spent each year by the Ontario department of highways on removal of litter dropped by couldn't-care-less motorists along provincial highways.

Of course, as long as so many of us behave little better than pigs, discarding whatever we no longer need or want wherever we happen to be, the highways department will have to continue spending the money. But just think of the more productive uses to which this kind of money could be put.

It could provide as many as four small community hospitals a year for some of the more isolated areas of Northern Ontario. Or it could provide 150 dwelling units a year for aged or handicapped citizens. Or, as well think for yourself the good use to which $1,350,000 could be put.

But you know as well as we do that there's little chance for all the multi-thousanding warnings and exhortations and fines, we'll continue dumping our refuse along our highways, and messing up nature as we go along.

Sir Charles Tupper, the last surviving Father of Confederation, died 23 years ago today—in 1915—aged 94. As prime minister of Nova Scotia, from 1864 to 1867, Tupper was a leading pro-Confederationalist. He took part in the Charlottetown, Quebec and London conferences and engaged in discussions with Joseph Howe on the issue. He succeeded Mackenzie Bowell as prime minister in 1895, but was defeated by Laurier's Liberals after six months in office.

Vietnam's Complex Politics Defy Negotiation

By STEPHEN SCOTT

NEW YORK (CP)—With all the excitement over a possible break in the Vietnam peace talks, there is danger of confusing what the public believes has been proposed by United States President Johnson with peace.

Johnson has proposed no more than a step to get the talks in Paris into something more substantive than the exchange of charges each Wednesday, plus a little hush-hush negotiating, reports say.

That step in itself would be enormous. But the problems to be overcome before the shooting stops are equally awe-inspiring.

Reports agree that Johnson proposes a halt in the U.S. bombing of North Vietnam in return for a not-publicly-specified de-escalation by the North.

Another point at issue is the representation of the South Vietnam National Liberation Front —political arm of the Viet Cong guerrillas—and the South Vietnamese government at the negotiating table.

If there are other substantial proposals they are a well-kept secret.

It would be a tremendous step to get the Saigon government and the NLF at the same table. But consider how much greater a step it would be for those two antagonists to agree on anything.

Both consider themselves the only legal government of South Vietnam. Both have said they would have no part of a coalition with the other.

Both have indicated that, although their goal in the war are second to those of the main adversaries, the United States and North Vietnam, they have minds of their own.

The U.S. and North Vietnam may have other peace formulas ready. They may be talking of them quietly behind the scenes while the world waits for the bombing halt

But at this stage it is difficult to conceive of a solution to the war that would not involve some form of coalition, pending free elections. And it is equally difficult to forecast that Saigon and the NLF would agree to such a coalition or, if they did, that it would stay together for any length of time.

In the past, the NLF heaped abuse on President Nguyen Van Thieu and other leaders of the South Vietnamese government.

Now, in the interests of peace, would the NLF agree to form a government with them? Or could Thieu form a coalition without being damned by his own backers?

Many agree that a coalition government would be the first step to handing over the reins of power to the Communists. Perhaps on that basis, the NLF would agree to a coalition. But on the same basis Thieu would have to refuse.

Another thorny problem is that of troop withdrawal—how, when and by whom. And there is the question of what to do with the two South Vietnamese armies, the Saigon government's and the Viet Cong.

If these and other issues can be resolved in a comparatively short time it would be remarkable indeed.

Decking Goes On CPR-Bay Bridge Road Overpass

Bridge Supports Now in Place

With bridge support pylons in place and one of the two abutment structures complete, the first of the deck slabs for the new CPR-Bay Bridge Road overpass were slung into place this week.

The deck of the overpass structure will be laid in four sections each spaced about a week apart.

The deck slabs are 43 feet in length, are four feet in width and 16 inches deep and weigh about 14 tons each. The pre-cast slabs were poured at Wilson Concretee in Belleville.

A finish slab of three inches of concrete will be poured for the deck overpass and this again will be poured in sections.

"We're working against the weather and can't afford to wait until all deck slabs are placed, commented the project supervisor.

"But you can't depend on the weather at this time of year. Every working day now is a bonus."

The general contractor, Lightfoot Construction, is ahead of schedule on the job and every effort is being made to have the overpass sufficiently completed for use this winter.

No Firm Stand Taken

Merchants Cool to Plaza's Foe

they may, there won't be time to meet with the Trenton merchants again."

The fact that the Belleville downtown merchants have not gone against the centre "could be their downfall," said Mr. Still.

"If this centre goes through," he explained, "it will take business away from the downtown core and this could result in the finish for many downtown merchants."

"Can you imagine travelling to a new shopping complex with plenty of parking and then returning to Belleville's downtown area?"

"This could end any plan of downtown development for the city," stated Mr. Still.

He said the downtown merchants of Belleville had decided to go against the new centre but then reversed their decision.

"I don't know for sure," he said, "but I have strong indications that K-Mart will be the anchor store."

The Tornto-based consultant said he had "no idea" how the OMB hearing would go, but said he still hoped the Trenton merchants would take action in the form of appearing at the hearing and voicing their protests.

In the brief, which will be mailed to the merchants who will then vote by signing or throwing it away, Mr. Still gives three reasons why the merchants of Trenton should protest.

"The retail sales here are stagnant, and the population growth of now per cent per year could not support this 150,000 square feet of retail space," he declared.

The brief adds if there are to be more retail outlets here there would have to be more industry.

"In an area of this size this new centre can have nothing but a detrimental effect," he concludes, "everyone will suffer."

Lawyer Don Templeman Speaks to Accountants

Belleville lawyer, Donald Templeman, was guest speaker at the recent monthly meeting of the Quinte chapter of the Society of Industrial Accountants.

Mr. Templeman, a graduate of McMaster University and Osgoode Hall spoke about commercial law contracts and agreements.

During his address he stressed that people become involved in contractual arrangements in everyday life. As an example he mentioned the purchase of a house.

He said this is an area in which many people find themselves in difficulty as they are unaware of the legal significence of an offer to purchase.

He noted that some laws were archaic and were being gradually changed through representations to the Legislature to satisfy the needs of today's society.

Mr. Templeman told the members many people become involved in disputes over contracts; however, only about ten per cent ever go to court.

A question and answer period followed Mr. Templeman's address.

Appeal Goal Nears

If obtaining the last few thousand dollars for the United Community Fund's goal is like pulling teeth, campaign chairman Mrs. Betty McFarlane is determined to see her canvassers are unyielding dentists.

The total today stands at $110,503.45, not very far away from the $118,000 goal of this year's drive.

"It's like pulling teeth for the last pennies," said Mrs. McFarlane, "but we're following every lead."

"There is some money pledged that will be coming in, but we still have to go to more people. The canvassers will have to keep hard at it."

Provincial Potato Honors

Byron Beeler, secretary of the Ontario Soil and Crop Improvement Association, looks on.

Art on Display at Library

Only 40 made it!

Out of 106 works of art submitted at the Corby Library in Belleville only 40 were chosen to be on display as Stanley Swain, ARCA judged them.

Ninety-nine paintings and six pieces of sculpture were judged for the second annual exhibition of the Belleville Art Association.

The displays of local talent will last from Nov. 2 until the end of the month.

Mr. Swain who is acting director of the Agnes Etherington Art Centre at Queen's University adjudicated the entries.

The noted educator has had vast experience with art. He was educated at William Morris School in London, Eng., and then went on to study painting at Sir John Cass and The Royal College of Art in London.

He has worked in a number of fields including interior design, illustration and was the director's assistant at the Beaux Arts Gallery in London.

Adjudicating or judging and comparing paintings requires immense knowledge and even more concentration.

Mr. Swain insists on being completely alone with the paintings as he compares and classes them.

Now as acting director of the Queen's University Art Centre Mr. Swain is also teaching at the University.

Collections in Europe, the USA and Canada contain over 50 of his own paintings.

Hepburn Elected to Office

Officers of the Ontario Association of Counties Tuesday approved a report suggesting that all community social and health agencies be joined and administered by one municipal department.

Lloyd Davis of Iroquois was elected president of the association succeeding Carl Bateman of Belleville,

Housing was also discussed at the annual meeting and H. W. Suters, managing director of the Ontario Housing Corporation, told delegates that public housing in rural areas is as important as public housing in urban centres.

Pizza Parties Are Good for Any Age Group

By MARY MOORE

Pizza parties are still go-go-go.

At a recent reunion of campers salmon pizzas were the hit of the evening. There are several definitions of what "happiness is . . ." To add to the growing list make salmon pizzas and watch your young guests take healthy bites. That will "happy" you.

SALMON PIZZAS (Six)

2 cans 7¾-oz. each (or one 15½ - oz. can) BC salmon
½ cup milk (including salmon liquid —see below)
¾ cup fine cornflake or cracker or bread crumbs
1 large egg, beaten
1 tsp. salt
¼ tsp. pepper
1 small bay leaf, finely crumbled
1 tbsp. grated onion (or Instant bottled)
2 tsps. oregano
6 small rounds Mozzarella cheese
6 hamburg buns or English muffins, halved
Grated Parmesan or Romano cheese
About 9 or 10 stuffed olives sliced

Drain salmon, reserving liquid to add to milk to make ½ cup. In a mixing bowl, beat egg slightly and add salmon and mash and mix. Add milk and salmon liquid, crumbs and seasonings and mix well. Spread sheet of wax paper on counter and with wet palms, shape salmon mixture into 12 thin patties, size of buns or muffins. Cut out six rounds of Mozzarella slightly smaller than salmon patties. Place on top of six of the salmon patties. Top these with remaining six salmon patties and press together. Split buns or muffins and toast cut side under broiler. Watch them! Do not burn them. Remove from oven and place a prepared patie on each. Return to centre rack of oven preheated to 350 deg. F.for to heat through for about 5 or 7 min., then cover with remaining six ½ u halves. Sprinkle with Parmesan or Romano cheese and return to broiler position about six inches from burner and broil 2 or 3 min. until cheese is golden. Remove from oven, garnish top with line of overlapping stuffed olive slices, and serve at once.

NOTE: These are not sloppy and tenders like eating them out of their hands, but you should provide a big paper napkin.

Salmon Pizzas are camp! A camper said, "These turn me on!" Mary Moore gives you details for making these pizzas that are popular with the young — and old.

Tabernacle UCW Hear Talk on Red Cross

President Mrs. E. Cornish opened the meeting of Tabernacle United Church Women and conducted the opening exercises. There were 41 members present.

Mrs. R. Crooks was in charge of the devotional and dedication of the offering. Mrs. R. Atkins then gave an appropriate story.

The guest speaker was Mrs. R. Boyce who spoke on the Red Cross. She explained how the Red Cross got its name and symbol of a red cross on a white background. Mrs. Boyce is in charge of the Red Cross Homemaker unit. She explained that the majority of people do not know what the Red Cross organization does voluntarily and free of charge. They have a wide scope of lending articles such as wheel chairs, crutches, canes and walkers. They also contribute several services in helping the public such as conducting the Red Cross donor clinic and mentioned in particular that students aged 18 - 20 from Loyalist College had donated blood.

The Red Cross also has an individual emergency aid for bedding, layettes, galoshes and dentures and many other items. They take the Senior Citizens driving once a week and at Christmas time to see the yule decor. They have a women's working committee for knitting and sewing and run a water safety service for adults and children where swimming classes are held at the Tops Motel. They have a disaster committee for flood and fire victims, also home nursing classes and the homemaker service.

Miss Ethel Horton thanked Mrs. Boyce for her enlightening talk and felt that much had been learned from it.

Unit one under the direction of Mrs. R. Lockyer conducted a bake sale.

Mrs. E. Pickell and committee served lunch during the half-hour social period.

Church Groups

(Ladies' Aid)

DESERONTO — Mrs. Albert Walker opened her home last Thursday for the October meeting of the combined Ladies' Aid and Women's Missionary Society of the Presbyterian Church. The president, Mrs. Charles Griffiths presided.

In her discussion of the regions of Japan, Mrs. Blake Moore was assisted by Mrs. Dorothy McCullough and by Mrs. Eric Quirt, a guest. Several poems which were read brought the Thanksgiving spirit to the meeting.

The business chiefly concerned the forthcoming annual bazaar and tea to be held in the church on November 23. The women have a special reason for hoping that good weather will favour them and add to their financial returns. The exterior of the church is now undergoing extensive repairs which must be completed next summer. After that, the church members must cope with the complete decoration of the interior.

A social hour followed the formal meeting with Mrs. Alex Watson and Mrs. McCullough, substituting for her sister, Miss Gladys Pearsal, assisting the hostess to serve refreshments.

"How about a little get-together for the new neighbours?"

Wine says "welcome" best. The six wines listed will please every taste. Caution: if you think that good wines have to be expensive you're in for a disappointment. These aren't.

Make the new neighbours feel welcome. First, make sure you have the wine on hand; after that let nature take its course.

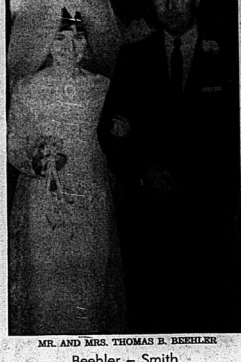
Floral Display Highlights UCW Meeting

A most interesting demonstration of flower arrangement in Oriental style was given by Mrs. Susan Maikawa arranged by group leo of College Hill United Church Women for the October meeting.

Using the O'Hara School methods, in which she is greatly interested, Mrs. Maikawa entranced her audience with the method and results of her efforts in producing many beautiful floral arrangements.



Mrs. Evelyn McIlquham introduced the speaker who was assisted in her presentation by Mrs. Florence Watson's contributions of pastel flower paintings, in explaining her methods Mrs. Maikawa stated that there are five styles of arrangements which she showed in detail; also dealt with the origin of the O'Hara School in Japan about the year 1896. The only school in Canada for the study of this venture is at the Ontario Culture Centre in Toronto with one previously in Ottawa, but the teacher there has now returned to Japan.

Mrs. Maikawa demonstrated the arrangements in low bowl and tall vase, explaining the two basic arrangements and continued with a number of other artistic displays.

Following the speaker's demonstration, members were asked to try their hand at arranging and prizes were awarded to Mrs. Jenkinson, Marilyn MacIntosh and Elinor Brown and special mention to Mrs. Bell for the two lovely arrangements in the alloted time.

A short devotional period followed with members of the group participating after which the business period was conducted by the president Nellie Greenwood after which there was some discussion in regards to the annual bazaar to be held November 6. Contributions were requested for such of the sales booths.

Lunch was served by the group in charge and time was spent in viewing the beautiful floral arrangements created by Mrs. Maikawa.

MR. AND MRS. THOMAS B. BEEHLER

Beehler — Smith

Our Lady of the Airways Cheehler, Winnipeg.

was the setting on Saturday October 19, 1968 at 11.30 a.m., when Mary Catherine Smith, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Erwin Smith of Winnipeg, Manitoba was united in marriage to Thomas Bernard Beehler, son of Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Beehler, Belleville.

Rev. M. Arsenault officiated at the ceremony and nuptial music was rendered by Miss J. Webb.

The bride, given in marriage by her father wore a full length bridal gown of Chantilly lace over satin with long sleeves and a matching train of Chantilly lace. A four-tier chapel length veil was caught to a cluster of tiny flowers and she carried a white prayer book created with pink Sweetheart roses and white stephanotis.

Miss Susan Murphy of Trenton as maid of honor wore a floor length gown of pink peau de soie with an overlay of matching chiffon. The short sleeves and neckline along with openings on the side of the dress were trimmed with lace. She carried a bouquet of pink tipped white pom poms.

The bridesmaid Miss Cheryl MacDonald of Winnipeg was attired identically to the maid of honor and both attendants wore bows in their hair to match their dresses.

Peter Gleeson of Belleville was groomsman, while the usher was Michael Smith of Toronto, brother of the bride.

Following the ceremony a reception was held in 17 Wing Auxiliary Sgts' Mess, Canadian Forces Base, Winnipeg where the bride's mother greeted the guests wearing a light green peau de soie fitted dress with matching lace coat white and silver hat and shoes and a corsage of orange delight roses. Assisting the bridegroom's mother wore a golden beige wool dress with shot silk hat in blending shades of gold and green, dark brown accessories and a corsage of yellow roses.

Leaving on the wedding trip for Minneapolis, Minnesota, the bride donned a black and white wool tweed dress, black accessories and a corsage of Hawaiian Delight roses.

On return Mr. and Mrs. Beehler will reside at 2255 Portage Avenue, Apt. 346, Winnipeg, Manitoba.

Jordison — DeMille

On Saturday, October 19, Wooler United Church was the setting when Rev. Wellwood Adam united in marriage Gloria Ruth DeMille, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David DeMille of Trenton R.R. 3, to Kenneth Dale Jordison, son of Mr. and Mrs. Norman Jordison of Frankford. The wedding music for the double-ring ceremony was rendered by Mrs. A. G. Austin.

The bride, given in marriage by her father wore a floor-length A-line silk gown over satin with long sleeves. The rounded neckline and hemline were outlined with white embroidered daisies. Her shoulder length veil, held in place by a white satin bow and covered with white embroidered daisies was extended by a long trailing train. She carried a white Bible accented with red Sweetheart roses.

Maid of honor Miss Bonnie McCollough wore a street length green lace dress over taffeta with white accessories and carried a bouquet of bronze and yellow mums. Bridesmaids Miss Patsy DeMille, sister of the bride, Miss Ellen Jordison, sister of the bridegroom were identically attired to the maid of honor, but in yellow. The flower girl Miss Maida DeMille wore a dress identical to the maid of honor and carried similar flowers.

Groomsman was Larry Young of Trenton and the ushers were Wayne Jordison, brother of the bridegroom and Johan DeMille, brother of the bride. Glenn Deane, cousin of the bridegroom was the ring bearer.

A reception was held in the church parlor where the bride's mother received the guests wearing a powder blue dress of accent shoes with a three-tone blue feathered hat, black accessories and a corsage of pink roses. She was assisted by the bridegroom's mother who wore an emerald green lace dress over satin with beige and brown accessories and a corsage of yellow roses.

For the wedding trip to Watertown, New York, the bride chose a gold and brown dress with matching accessories and a corsage of yellow roses.

On their return the couple will take up residence at 38 Haig Street, Batawa.

PORT ELIZABETH, South Africa (AP) — German pianist Hans Richter-Haaser broke off his concert, walked to the wings and flung open a curtain to reveal a photographer. He chased the man away and apologized to the audience, saying: "How can I play with this click-click?"

Club Activities

Prince Edward — Belleville Ladies' Club

The meeting of the Prince Edward - Belleville Ladies Club was held on October 9, in the Recreation centre with 28 members in attendance.

Mrs. F. Henderson welcomed the members, and the business section of the meeting was begun. Both the secretarial and financial report were read and approved. Mrs. O. White, corresponding secretary, read several notes of thanks from Mrs. E. Brickman, Mrs. E. Sager, Mrs. G. Nicolson and the family of the late Mrs. E. Trumpour.

Mrs. F. Cook expressed thanks for the flowers sent in her recent bereavement. Gifts had been sent to Mrs. Ardella Trumpour, Mrs. A. Jones, Mrs. A. Bulmer and Mrs. P. Baird. A donation is to be given by the club to the Salvation Army in November for their Christmas cheer program.

Mrs. M. Welch and Mrs. E. Morris' group were in charge of the program, Mrs. M. Welch had a similar prayer in memory of the late Mrs. E. Trumpour. Some of those contributing to the program were Mrs. H. Insley, who sang a solo and Mrs. E. Morris and Mrs. M. Welch, who both gave readings.

The meeting was closed in the usual manner, and the group in charge of the program also served refreshments.

SOCIALS

Previous to her recent marriage Mrs. Ann Gray (nee Burns) was honored at a paper shower at the home of Mrs. Ross Allan, Wooland Drive; also at miscellaneous showers given at the home of Mrs. H. Dunn, Cloth Street and also by Mrs. Owen Keogh and at one given by Miss Jean Wager at the home of Mrs. Freda King when staff members of the BGH Laboratory were present.

Community Tenders Shower for Couple

On Saturday evening, October 19, the Mount Pleasant community tendered the recently married couple, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Oliver (nee Joan Sharpe) a presentation party in the church hall.

Relatives and friends were also in attendance from Oshawa, Peterborough, Belleville, Eldorado and various nearby points. Rev. W. C. Cox was chairman and the singsong was conducted by Miss Judy McAdam and Mrs. Mac Sharp.

Piano solos were contributed by Mrs. Harry Brown, Miss Carolyn Merrick and Miss Bonnie Williams. Readings were given by Mrs. Richards and Mrs. C. Hoard. Other solos were given by Mrs. W. C. Cox and Miss Judy McAdam.

Musical numbers were given by Harvey Coons and by Mr. Coons and by Donnie Campbell. Vocal duets were by Janice and Valerie Clemens and by Linda and Heather Hoard. Selections were read by Mrs. Grant Hoard, Mrs. Albert Hubbs and Mrs. Kenneth Weaver.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Oliver then were seats of honor, and Mrs. Carleton Potts read an address on behalf of the community and Howard Jeffs made the presentation of a purse of money. Mrs. Oliver received several other gifts which included a gift from the U.C.W. The recipients later voiced their thanks to everyone.

Women's Institutes

(Melrose W.I.)

At the September meeting of the Melrose W. I., two very interesting guests were in attendance.

Mr. W. Hogeboom of Napanee spoke of the raising of rutria and had brought along an adult nutria, and four of the young ones, each of a different color. These fur bearing animals belong to the beaver family and originated in Argentina and South America.

Mr. Hogeboom gave out a great deal of information concerning his business that had been started by a hobby. Nutria fur is one of the most exotic and lovelier than mink. Later on in the evening of his talk, Mr. Hogeboom was thanked for his educational talk and demonstration.

During the business period, it was agreed to continue sponsorship of the W.I.'s Korean-sponsored child; and also to send a generous donation to the Norwich W.I. Fund. It was also agreed to purchase a new supply for the Boys 4-H Club as previously done and to purchase a small set of books. Mrs. J. McKenzie reported on the September meeting of Hastings Manor Auxiliary.

Program convener, Mrs. H. McAvoy had arranged for a guest speaker, Mr. Wallace Hogeboom. Mrs. W. English gave a humorous reading on educational toys and Mrs. G. Blatherwick conducted a contest, the winners of which were Mrs. H. McMechan and Mrs. J. McFarlan.

The lunch committee served delicious refreshments at the close of the meeting.

Alpha Lambda Chapter Holds Annual Ball

The annual Black and Gold Ball, sponsored, by Alpha Lambda Chapter, Beta Sigma Phi was held at Club Cedars. The gala event was enjoyed by more than 100 couples. Many of the women were attired in long gowns. To add to the enjoyment by dancers to the music of the "Music Makers".

A number of favors were presented to the women at the door.

The spot dances were won by Mrs. Bob Mitchell. Dr. D. B. Harper, Mrs. Harold Haggerty, Mr. and Mrs. Tom Mar- shall, Mr. and Mrs. Allen Smith. The door prize was won by Mr. and Mrs. George Bailey and the raffle was won by Mrs. Bob Fair.

CLUB 4-H NOTES

The Bethel-Tim Banana Splits held their sixth meeting on October 14, 1968, 7.00 p.m. at the home of Mrs. L. Ketcheson. The meeting was opened by president, Susan Ray, with everyone repeating the 4-H pledge.

Bonnie Marvin was elected as the new press reporter. Minutes for the March meeting were read by Mary Tunnison. Susan Ray read the minutes of the April meeting.

Mrs. Ray discussed the notes, "Fruit in Salads." The exhibit was a fruit salad plate, prepared by leader, Mrs. Ketcheson.

Mrs. Ketcheson demonstrated "Banana Bread". This, along with the fruit salad, was enjoyed by everyone. With the guidance of Mrs. Ray, for group work, the girls practiced menu building. The next meeting will be held on Saturday, October 19, 1968, 1.30 p.m. at the home of Mrs. L. Ketcheson.

Church Groups

(Marmora Council of C. W. L.)

Twenty-four members of Marmora Council of C. W. L. met in the Parish hall Monday.

President Mrs. Bill Monk referred to the report in the Canadian Register of the regional meeting in Sioux on the discussion on Catholic press by Don Auty, editor.

Conveners' report showed a membership of 94 to date. Members were asked to do sale two articles for the C. W. L. sewing booth; and stamps were requested for the ministry in Korea and Mrs. Charles Lajoie. Clothing will be packed for Combermere in November.

A spiritual article "there are persons whose words are remembered" was read by Mrs. William Mcchan Jr. Mrs Breen O'Connor explained that each council has been asked to help in the program of the Canadian Catholic Organization for Development and Peace by saving their broken or discarded gold jewelry. It will be collected the first Sunday in December, proceeds will be sent to impoverished countries.

Members were thanked for their cooperation in catering to the two recent banquets and special appreciation to teen-agers. Groups were named to cater to a wedding banquet in November and final details discussed for the Bazaar on October 22-23.

Rev. Father Leo Forestell will be invited to speak and show slides of India at the November meeting. Rev. Forestell has served several years in India.

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A survey of Los Angeles County coroners' cases losses a heart attack victim's chances of survival, the California department of health reports. The study showed that persons living in less smoggy areas of the county survive attacks more readily than others.

Ann Landers

Relative Always Makes a Scene

ANN LANDERS

DEAR ANN LANDERS: What is wrong with a person who insists on making scenes in restaurants? My brother-in-law seems to enjoy bawling out waiters, yelling at busboys — anything to get attention.

Although no one else seems to notice, he's constantly complaining that the silverware isn't clean, the glasses are cloudy, the table linen is wrinkled, the sugar is lumpy, the salt shakers don't pour freely, the service is slow, there's too much noise in the kitchen — and on and on and on. Why would a person behave like this? — EMBARRASSED.

* * *

DEAR EM: Anyone who must abuse waiters and busboys and find fault with the silver, the glasses, the linens, the salt and sugar, etc., is pathetically insecure. If and when your brother-in-law develops some self-esteem and a measure of contentment, he will not find it necessary to abuse those who are paid to serve to prove that he is better than they are.

* * *

DEAR ANN LANDERS: My husband left for Vietnam one month after our son was born. My father has become so attached to little Ricky that it is making me nervous. Dad comes over every evening to see the boy. On weekends he takes Rick to the park, the pool, the fair and shopping. Of course I go along but I feel like a third wheel because Dad likes complete charge.

I see a father-son relationship developing and I'm afraid when my husband returns, there will be trouble. Please tell me what to do. — ANONYMOUSLY WORRIED.

* * *

DEAR WORRIED: Your child is fortunate to have an adoring grandfather who wants to spend time with him while his daddy is at war. When your husband returns he will assume the father role in due time and Grandpa will step back. Relax.

* * *

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I am 14 and love children, especially babies. Being an only child, I haven't had much experience taking care of them. When I babysit it's usually for five-year-old and up.

A woman I sit for now is expecting a new baby in January. She has already promised me her business.

I am afraid I don't know enough about taking care of infants. Ann, but I'd like to learn. What do you suggest? — WILLING.

* * *

DEAR WILLING: The best way to learn to care for a new baby is by letting the mother teach you. Ask the woman if she will allow you to watch her feed and change the baby. Then ask if you can "practice" in her presence.

There are also schools and organizations such as the Red Cross which conduct "well baby clinics." Some of them will even send a conscientious sitter to attend classes when there is room to spare. Call and inquire.

Church Groups

(Christ Church A.C.W.)

The regular business meeting of Christ Church A. C. W. Evening Branch took place on Monday evening October 7, at the Parish Hall with the president, Mrs. J. Kilburn in charge. A most successful rummage sale had been held earlier the same evening with a profit of $62.25.

Mrs. Kilburn opened the meeting. Mrs. H. Stevens gave the prayer for the sick. Secretary, Mrs. Earl Mossman read the minutes from the last meeting; and Mrs. F. Smith gave the treasurer's report which showed a very satisfactory financial report, and reports from all departments were given. A donation was given to our visitor, the Reverend David Hawkins, the assistant curate in our Parish, to go toward some fine films to be sent to the Parish on Family Counselling, etc.

A donation has also been sent to the Mentally Retarded. Thank-you notes were read from Mrs. A. Gilroy and Mrs. E. MacInnes. The next meeting will be a work meeting on October 21.

The business meeting was adjourned, and the closing prayer was given by the president, Mrs. J. Kilburn, and a delicious lunch was served by Mrs. W. Edwards and Mrs. O. B. Ragsdale.

Home and School Association News

AMELIASBURG TOWNSHIP

The first regular meeting of the Ameliasburg Township Home and School Association was held on Monday night in Knox Public School, Ameliasburg.

During the brief business portion the 1963-64 executive was introduced to the large audience. The new executive is made up of the following: president, Mrs. Marion Andrews; 1st vice-president, Herb Murray; 2nd vice-president, John McIntyre; recording secretary, Mrs. Barbara Cairns; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Shirley Thomas; treasurer, Mrs. Cecile Wilson; membership and bulletin, Fred Oakes; social convener, Mrs. Faye Wetherall; publication, Mrs. Pat Rabouzinie; program, Mrs. Mary Marshall.

The position of council representative is still vacant.

Herb Murray, Mrs. B. Cairns and Mrs. Mary Marshall attended the leadership seminar in Peterborough on Oct. 26 and Mrs. Marshall reported on this event.

The brief presented to the Prince Edward Interim School Organization Committee dealing with oral French, kindergarten, special education, teacher transfers and liaison between Home and School and the new county board was read by Douglas Trumble.

Teachers from all classes in the townships four schools were present and parents were granted brief interviews following the general meeting. A film on kindergarten was shown, following which refreshments were served and memberships sold.

The next meeting will be on Nov. 25.

Club Activities

WHITE CANE CLUB

The October business meeting of the White Cane Club was held at the Recreation Centre on Wednesday evening with a good attendance. President Clarence Morris extended a special welcome to field secretary, Mr. E. Wheeler and Mrs. Wheeler, Miss Lynn Beetham, home teacher and Preston Timmins, retired field secretary, all of Kingston.

Mrs. Maude Rollins read the C.C. B. Council Commentary for October. In it, members were reminded of the project which will commemorate the 25th anniversary of the Canadian Council of the Blind.

This project is the furnishing of a C.C.B. study room, in the Arthur V. Weir National Training and Vocational Guidance Centre. The deadline for contributions to this 1963 C.C.B. project is December 8, 1963.

Mr. P. Timmins, the guest speaker for the evening was introduced by Mr. E. Wheeler. In his opening remarks, Mr. Timmins said, "people often ask, what is the point of a visually handicapped person taking a sight-seeing trip?" His reply was that it all depends on your aspect, who is very important.

Last Spring, Mrs. Timmins accompanied her husband on a trip to Great Britain and Europe. She was given full credit for the enjoyable holiday by her perfect description of the sights and scenes she viewed.

Travel is especially broadening if one has an appreciation of history. The 18-day bus tour through England and Scotland was vividly described and left the audience with the impression that they had actually visited the many interesting and historic spots.

The city of London was described with genuine appreciation and humor. Here the travellers enjoyed the theatre, concerts and lighter entertainments.

The bus tour through Belgium, Switzerland, Germany, and Austria was a memorable one.

Mr. Harper McElrath extended the sincere thanks and appreciation of the Club to Mr. Timmins for his most interesting and informative talk. Thanks were extended to the Kinette Club girls for a very tasty lunch. The Lions Club provided the transportation.

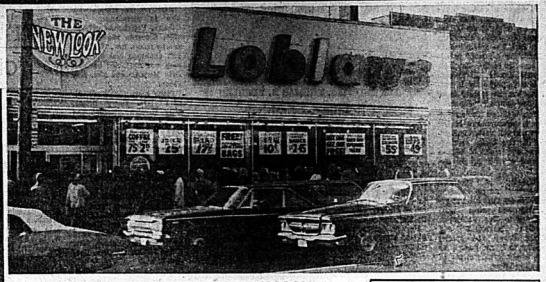
Scholarships Awarded Students

The University Women's Club, Belleville Branch, has awarded three scholarships this year to girls graduating from Grade XIII in the city and district high schools.

The scholarships are awarded to three applicants who have achieved the highest aggregates in any seven upper school credits written in the current school year.

Winner of the University Women's Club Scholarship of $300 is Miss Pamela Taylor, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward K. Taylor, 12 Village Drive, Belleville. Miss Taylor, a graduate of Quinte Secondary School, is now studying Modern Languages at the University of Toronto.

Miss Susan E. O'Riordan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. P. O'Riordan, 80 Elgin Street, Madoc, has been awarded the Manly Macdonald Scholarship of $200. Miss O'Riordan, a graduate of Centre Hastings Secondary School, is attending Trent University, taking an Honors English Course.



The Beverley Macdonald Scholarship of $300 goes to Miss Diane G. Young, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William J. Young, R.R. 3, Bath. Miss Young attended Napanee District Secondary School and is now a student at the University of Western Ontario, taking Natural Sciences.

Through the generosity of Manly Macdonald, well-known artist, and of the interested public, the University Women's Club raises money for the three scholarships at its Spring Fair and Exhibition of Manly Macdonald paintings. Money from the sale of tickets on a painting donated by Mr. Macdonald goes entirely to the scholarship fund.

HILDA'S COLUMN

The letters that have been flooding my mailbox at Loblaws are always informative and interesting to the president and, of course, to me. You are giving everyone at Loblaws an education about what you, the consumer, really wants and needs.

Naturally, not every customer's request can be satisfied by Loblaws (like the gentleman who wanted to know if we could move a certain subway entrance away from Loblaws front door so he wouldn't have to buck the commuter crowd to get into the store!), but wherever possible, your requests are filled.

And in case you're wondering whether your letters are given the "once over" and discarded, rest assured that they are not only read carefully and answered, but are kept for discussion and future reference.

Adults Should Not Have to Play the Game of 'Hard to Get'

By DORIS CLARK

Dear Doris: Do you think that two grown adults should have to play games? I thought that when a person was grown up, knew what they wanted, and knew they were wanted in return, that they wouldn't have to play such games as 'hard to get'.

I've had friends tell me that if I let my boy friend to believe I was interested in other men, I would soon nail him. (I'm not really interested in a marriage, but would like just the one boy friend, and don't feel I want to 'play the field').

He doesn't run with other women. Just gets interested in hunting, fishing and his very time-consuming job. We're not children. I've been married and divorced, I have children to raise; he's been married and separated.

If you feel it is necessary to play such games, don't you think I run the risk of letting this man get the idea that perhaps I am a 'run around'? Just how and to what extent might one appear to be interested in other men when you haven't got your heart in it and aren't a very good liar? — Not A Flirt

Dear Not A: I agree. The hard-to-get bit is supposed to be fun and games for teens; and is linked up with immaturity.

What do you want of this man? Not marriage, but daily attention? Exclusive dating, and no other fish on his line, not even the ones that swim?

I'd suggest you match his he-man interests — which are perfectly legal — with some feminine enthusiasms of your own. And — yes — even a date or two with another male. Not for purposes of appearing disinterested, but to broaden your own look at life.

You might just find yourself less dependent upon him even as he becomes intrigued with the more vital and interesting you.

Dear Doris: I too am interested in receiving pen pals. I am president of a pen pal club and have some from practically everywhere. If you would please send me the address of the boy who wrote you (Interested), I will be glad to supply him with pen pals . . . and any others. — Pen Pals

Dear Pen Pals: If "interested" or anybody else wants us to pass along their name to you, we'll be glad to. Up to now, "Interested" has not written to identify himself.

• • •

Dear Doris: How much should a husband who is clearing about $650 a month give to his wife for groceries, cleaning supplies, replacement of linen, etc., for family of three (one son 13 years old); and how much for her personal allowance for cigarettes, hairdresser, clothes, etc.? — Financial Problem.

Dear Financial: Not even an all-knowing social worker (even if there were one) could lay down laws about such things. People's needs differ greatly, and so do costs of living in various parts of Canada.

It is a matter of consultation. Do this: Keep a record for six months of what you are spending, and for what. Get your husband to do the same. If you find you are going short in one area or another figure what you would need to get by more happily — and put this in another budget.

Then together look over the whole set-up and find out where you could "rob Peter to pay Paul". My list of hints about budgeting and shopping might help a little. It is on its way.

Don't just muddle along. Do something about what's troubling you. A letter to Doris can put you on the way to more Successful Living.

(Xi Beta Zeta)

Richard Howard was the guest speaker for Xi Beta Zeta chapter at the home of Mrs. Bruce Bishop. He gave a most interesting and enthusiastic talk followed by a question and discussion period.

He was introduced by Gordon Collins, president of the Belleville Theatre Guild and thanked on behalf of the group by Mrs. Eben James.

During the business portion of the meeting, president Elisabeth Black announced that Christmas cards would soon be ready to sell for the Psychiatric Unit of the Belleville General Hospital. The cover picture was drawn by a child from the Belleville Mental Health Clinic.

Plans for a progressive dinner were discussed. Refreshments were served by the hostess Mrs. Bishop assisted by Mrs. R. Hinchey and Mrs. N. Desmond.

Ontario Hospitals May Adopt Area-wide Bargaining on Wages

TORONTO (CP) — Ontario's 322 hospitals may have to stop negotiating with employees on an individual basis and adopt area-wide bargaining, Alan Page, manager of the new hospital personnel relations bureau, said Tuesday.

Addressing hospital trustees at the Ontario Hospital Association convention, Mr. Page said the bureau, which begins operation in January, will assist interested hospitals to co-operate with one another when they open negotiations with employee unions.

About 55 Ontario hospitals have so far joined the bureau, set up to provide advice, statistical information or even negotiators for hospitals facing contract bargaining or demands for union certification of employees.

"Several hospitals have indicated they would like eventually to adopt area bargaining," Mr. Page said. "For your own preservation you may decide as time goes on that some such pattern has to develop."

He said the bureau was not intended to destroy the bargaining autonomy of individual hospitals "but as time goes on you may destroy your own autonomy."

Mr. Page examined 86 hospital contracts with employees and said that since different hospitals grant different wages and conditions to employees this made the whole group more vulnerable to demands.

"The unions will get different concessions at different hospitals and finally will come around to each of you and ask for every single one," Mr. Page said. "You are creating precedents and I am disturbed by the trend that is developing."

Marchand Announces Prince Edward Island Development Plan

HALIFAX (CP) — Jean Marchand, federal forestry and rural development minister, Tuesday outlined some of the aims of the new regional development department and indicated the federal government would soon approve a development plan for Prince Edward Island.

Mr. Marchand, who will head the new department which has not yet been formally set up, was speaking here at a dinner, the final session of the two-day annual meeting of the Atlantic Provinces Economic Council.

"There is the proposed development plan for Prince Edward Island, which we hope to initiate in co-operation with the province before the end of the year," he said.

Although the plan has not yet been released, there was speculation it would involve major changes in the provincial economy.

Mr. Marchand said the new department will formulate a 15-year plan for development, but he added that planning should be done with the co-operation of the provinces and voluntary agencies.

"If we can do that well, and if our successors stick to our work, the Canadian economy can be changed so fundamentally that it will provide good employment opportunities for Canadians everywhere, for people in the East just as much as in the centre and the West."

He said regional development was a matter of top priority. The new department involves more than a federation of existing programs to eliminate duplication and improve government efficiency.

"We can't allow the economic structure of the regions to remain so different that there is severe unemployment in Eastern Canada when the expansion of demand in Central Canada is getting to inflationary proportions."

He said fundamental changes must be made so the forces of economic demand operate more consistently across the country.

The minister said there must be co-operation to solve the disparity problem, both between the federal government and the provinces and between the provinces on a regional level.

Along this line, he said the federal government is willing to pay half the costs of a Maritime union study, up to a maximum of $125,000, if the provinces match the amount. New Brunswick, Nova Scotia and Prince Edward Island already have started a joint-study on union.

Alexander T. (Tando) MacIsaac, Nova Scotia minister without portfolio, who attended the meeting Tuesday, was killed in a car-truck collision on the way to his home in Giant's Lake.

Mrs. MacIsaac who was in the car with her husband, was treated in hospital for minor injuries and released.

The collision with a four-ton gravel truck on the Trans-Canada Highway between Truro and New Glasgow demolished the MacIsaac car.

The meeting, which opened Monday, was attended by an estimated 300 businessmen from the Atlantic area.

Aid to Needy Through UNICEF Replaces Hallowe'en Mischief

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

When schoolchildren across Canada go from house to house Thursday night shouting trick-or-treat, most of the mischievousness usually associated with Hallowe'en will be missing.

Instead, many will be seeking to raise funds for UNICEF—the United Nations International Children's Emergency Fund—as well as collecting goodies and treats for themselves, a Canadian Press survey shows.

And fireworks displays will be missing in most communities. Municipal regulations either have banned the carrying of fireworks or civic groups have dropped all plans for their public display.

Police will be at full strength in some communities watching for vandalism. But in some provinces, where booby-trapped treats were reported given to youngsters last year, police officials were reluctant to discuss any activity planned to prevent such occurrences.

Police Chief George Blow of Winnipeg said his department "hasn't done a thing" to prevent booby-trapped treats.

"We had hoped it would pass this year without any publicity which puts the idea in some people's heads," Chief Blow said, adding that parents "didn't need the police chief to tell them to warn their children to be cautious."

In Edmonton, where there were isolated reports of broken razor blades and pins found inside apples and a case of children finding a mildly toxic fertilizer in some treats, a police inspector said: "The less publicity we give it, the better. . . ."

But Police Chief Fred Sloane admitted there was a possibility news media could provide the impetus for a "perverted idea."

Children in most provinces will be out collecting funds for UNICEF.

Thirty-eight girls from a high school in Saint John, N.B. already have walked 14 miles to raise more than $300 for the fund.

Jacqueline-Anne Sorel of Toronto, public information administrator for UNICEF, said about 500,000 children in Canada took part last year, bringing in $500,000.

In Vancouver, the city's parks board, which has sponsored dance-party programs for the last 10 years, plans 15 dances for teen-agers, 30 children's parties and three skating parties. The board is assisted in this program by various community associations.

Marshall Smith of the city's recreation office said the program "has definitely been a success . . . and the cost is only a fraction of the savings resulting from reduction in vandalism."

Tom Stokes, acting deputy police chief, said there has been a "significant decline in vandalism during the 10 years the program has been in operation."

Announced Budget

TEL AVIV (AP) — Prime Minister Levi Eshkol disclosed Israel's 1969 budget will be about 7,000,000,000 Israeli pounds—$2,000,000,000—and much will go for defence. The 1968 budget was 5,850,000,000 pounds.

World's 71st Transplant

Toronto Resident Gets New Heart

TORONTO (CP) — A Guyanese immigrant, Henry Taylor, received a new heart Tuesday from a 20-year-old machine operator who was also the donor of two kidneys and two eyes.

The heart, kidneys and one of the eyes were replanted Tuesday in four separate operations in two Toronto hospitals. The other eye was to be transplanted today.

Donor George Lawrence Slinn, 20, of Severn Bridge, Ont., died Tuesday from injuries suffered in an automobile accident Oct. 22.

The heart transplant at Toronto's Western Hospital was the world's 71st, of which 37 survive.

Mr. Taylor, 45, a Toronto mechanic, was responding well at midnight Tuesday night. A medical bulletin from Western said "his vital signs had stabilized."

One of the Slinn's kidneys now belongs to Mrs. Ronald Peters, 30, of Holland Landing, Ont., who received the organ at Western.

The other kidney was given to Donald Ransberry, 21, of Orono, Ont., at Toronto General Hospital.

The cornea of one of Slinn's eyes went to Ralph Parkinson, 61, of Toronto, at Toronto General.

The second cornea will be given today to Fanny Meretsky of Toronto, who has had cataracts removed from both eyes and who has failing sight.

Dr. Donald Wilson performed the heart transplant.

Dr. Wilson also headed the medical team which performed Ontario's first heart transplant Oct. 19 on Pietro Ongaro, 42, resting comfortably in the same hospital.

Mr. Taylor has five children.

Seven of the nine Canadians given new hearts are still alive, Canada's first heart transplant was performed May 31 by Dr. Pierre Grondin in Montreal on Albert Murphy, a retired butcher. He died 36 hours after the operation.

...Heart, Kidneys Donated

TORONTO (CP) — A young construction worker's death Tuesday set in motion three transplant operations using his heart and kidneys. His eyes were donated for future cornea transplants.

George Lawrence Slinn, 20, of Severn Bridge, Ont., near Orillia, died at Toronto Western Hospital of head injuries suffered in a car accident last Friday.

Minutes later, the hospital's transplant team headed by Dr. Donald Wilson, who performed Toronto's first transplant Oct. 19, began to transfer his heart to Henry Taylor, 45, a Guyanese immigrant who developed a heart ailment two months ago.

At the same time, another Toronto Western team began transplanting a kidney into a 20-year-old female. The other kidney was rushed by police cruiser to Toronto General, where a third transplant was started.

The eyes were taken to the Canadian National Institute for the Blind central eye bank.

The heart transplant was Canada's ninth and the world's 71st, of which 37 patients survive.

The donor's father, Orillia teacher George Slinn, after hearing the operation was under way said: "My wife and son and I have often talked about transplants.

"We had pledged our bodies or parts of them when we die if it could help."

Mr. Slinn said he and his wife, a former nurse, were told Sunday their son would not live, and gave permission then for the transplant.

Marmora: Village Feels, It's Been Railroaded !

Marmora Putting Up Stiff Battle To Prevent Closing of Rail Station

By HARRY MULHALL
Staff Reporter

MARMORA — This mining village is more than a name on a railway station.

But now it is indignantly locked in struggle to keep its station — and thereby part of its identity.

Now up for decision by the Canadian Transport Commission is a proposal by the Canadian National Railways to close the railroad centre here.

The bid is being hotly contested by the village which has found some sympathetic friends.

Joining in the protest are the neighboring communities of Deloro village and Marmora and Lake Townships and the County of Hastings through its industrial committee.

The struggle is a classic case of modern times, pitting local tradition against centralizing authority.

For the local citizenry, their own railroad office means convenience in shipping, in seeking information. All transactions are on a personal basis with a local station agent who is a community resident.

There is something else — the intangibles of community living.

"It's not only the railroad," says Reeve William Shannon, who's leading the fight. "They could also reason we don't a hack here and have us put our money in a slot. They could take away our post office, even."

For the railroad, it's a case of centralizing operations, making business more smoothly functional and economically-operational in a businesslike era.

Assembly of the opposing forces goes back to late 1966 when Marmora village council first learned of the railroad's plan.

Both sides finally met head on Sept. 24 last when the transport commission called a formal hearing in Marmora.

In the interim there had been cumulative developments.

First, claims Marmora council in its official brief to the hearing, the railroad began advising local residents to do shipping business by direct no-charge telephone calls with a new service centre at Belleville.

Despite this, the council claims, many local customers still find it necessary to sort out problems with the local agent.

Then, in February this year, the community learned the CN even intended to withdraw the station agent, Ed McNamara.

There are no passenger services any longer out of Marmora. Two freight trains make a weekly run through the community from Belleville to Bancroft. The big Marmoraton Mining iron-ore operation ships by mail. So does a nearby stone quarry.

The local viewpoint claims the Marmora station generates current revenue of nearly $950,000.

For the railroad, Rideau area operations manager R. G. Messenger says most of the revenue is by the carload not the package — bulky shipments from the mine and quarry.

The local councils' brief submits there is little comparison between operating expenses and revenue. The savings at best would be "paltry."

They queried: "Is it good business for the CN to follow a policy of centralization in a deliberate attempt to dry up small localities."

"Councils would expect that the CN would be anxious to maintain the position of residency agent here and thus contribute something to our local economy."

In the middle is the station agent, Mr. McNamara. A veteran railroader, he has been a Marmora resident 16 years and active in community affairs. Last year he was elected to the village council.

He has no comment on the turn of events. A shutdown at Marmora would see him sent elsewhere in the CN's Rideau administrative area.

But curtailment of his functions have already caused needless discomforts, the local councils claim. There are delays in bills of lading. Telecommunications have "deteriorated seriously."

For local residents without telephones, telegrams are mailed.

In the old days "when the agent received such a message he was always able to handle it with despatch through a neighbor, or in many cases, deliver it himself."

To telegraph money transfers, residents must travel to the Belleville operations centre.

Local residents have had a taste of what it means to be without an agent during Mr. McNamara's vacation last summer, the councils state.

During that time the station was closed.

At one point, the CN asked one shipper to flag down trains and pick up rush shipments.

The 24-page statement submitted the transport commission warns: "Patrons of CN in this locality prefer the personal services provided by the local agent to the impersonal and — in many cases — the unsatisfactory telephone services provided by the service centre at Belleville."

The railroad's case for closing out the station is unwarranted and should be denied."

Reeve Shannon, who has been an advocate of centralization of several phases of county government, says he even has supported abandonment of railroad lines when they became operationally purposeless.

"But — and it's a great big but — I don't agree with withdrawing a service location when its need is indicated from every point of logic."

For railroad, it's apparently part of an income pattern.

"We're doing this all across the country — and Canadian Pacific is doing it as well," says Mr. Messenger.

There are, as yet, no indications when the transport commission will decide the issue.

Both sides are hopeful of the outcome — for opposite reasons.

Sums up Reeve Shannon: "We were pleased with the hearing — and we're anxiously waiting the verdict — with the sincere hope that further representation will be unnecessary."

Nomination - - Nov. 18

Qualifications for New County School Trustees Outlined

By LENNY WILLIAMSON
Staff Reporter

After Jan. 1, 16 people will decide the course of education in Hastings County.

They will replace the 131 trustees now grouped into 12 boards in the county.

Fourteen people will control separate school education in the combined Napanee District, Hastings and Prince Edward Counties separate school board.

What qualifications are required by law for candidates aspiring to run in the Dec. 2 elections?

A candidate for Hastings County board of education must be a person whose name appeared on the last revised voters' list as a public school supporter. He (or she) must be a Canadian citizen 21, or over, owner of property or tenant of a rel contained dwelling unit in the municipality or ward in which he is running.

His nominator and seconder must also be public school supporters.

Candidates for the separate school board, their nominators and seconders must all be separate school supporters. In all other respects the requirements are the same.

Nominators and seconders must appear at the nomination centre Nov. 18, at a time decided upon by the municipal clerk, to propose their candidates.

In Belleville, nominations will be received at city hall by city clerk Adam Stalker between 7.30 and 8.30 p.m. Nov. 18. Mr. Stalker will accept a telephoned assurance from proposed candidates that they intend to let their names stand for ballotting. In other centres the procedure varies — some clerks require a written assurance some may require the presence of the candidate at the nomination meeting.

In Belleville, candidates have until 9 p.m. Nov. 19 to qualify. To qualify, a candidate goes to city hall, receives a qualification and treasurer certifying that his taxes for those of his landlord) have been paid up to the end of 1967, and takes an oath of legal eligibility. In taking the oath, the candidate swears that he knows of no reason which might disqualify him from running as a trustee.

What factors disqualify a candidate? Property taxes in arrears for the previous calendar year automatically disqualify a candidate.

Also a factor making a candidate ineligible is spelled out in legislation stating, "A person is not qualified to act as a trustee who either himself, or by, or with, or through another, has an interest in any contract with the board."

This automatically rules out teachers, superintendents and school business officials who have contracts with their boards.

However, a Prince Edward county resident, who teaches in Belleville, would be eligible to run for the Hastings-Prince Edward County Board of Education. In this case, his teaching contract would be with the Hastings board, not with the Prince Edward board to which he seeks election.

From 131 to 16

Reduction in Members Brings Savings

Reduction in the number of school trustees next Jan. 1, from the present 131 to 16, will result in a saving for the new Hastings County board of education.

With the number of trustees cut by reason of a county-wide board, an estimated saving of about $18,020 is anticipated.

Now, honoraria paid trustees and members of school advisory committee members on the 12 school boards in the county range from $180 for each member each year in the case of small boards to $720 a member a year on larger boards such as the Bay of Quinte District High School Board.

The 12 chairmen are entitled to an extra one-third each year. Honoraria are based on pupil enrolment in each school under a board's jurisdiction.

Estimates place the amount now paid to trustees throughout the county at $66,620. The sum would be larger if members of Belleville Public School Board accepted the $720 permitted each member each year.

When the new county board is set up Jan. 1, members will be allowed to draw a total of $47,600 a year for their services.

Under the new county-wide system, the 14 trustees elected by public school supporters will be entitled to a maximum of $200 a month each.

The two separate school representatives on the board will be entitled to $150 a month each.

The eight members of the advisory committees will be entitled to $100 a month each, and the board chairman can draw an extra $800 a year beyond his trustee's honorarium for his extra responsibility.

However, once the county board is in operation members may vote to accept all, part, or none of the maximum honoraria allowed by the department of education.

The majority of the separate school boards in the area to be combined into the Nipissing District, Hastings and Prince Edward counties separate school board now refuse the payments to which their members are entitled.

When the combined separate school board comes into effect, each of the 14 members will be entitled to $100 a month.

Safety Frame Is Breakthrough

By HARRY MULHALL

DESERONTO — A spectacle frame is scarcely a dramatic product. But there's a story to a new breakthrough here.

Canada Optical Company — this town's largest industry — has developed something new in child safety: a safe spectacle frame.

And Jack Spence has a personal interest in seeing sales of the new product push to a room. It's much more than just a vested business interest because:

About 11 years ago here, Jack Spence followed his active interest in junior sports onto the ballpark bleachers to watch a minor softball game.

Today, doctors estimate he has 10 per cent vision.

He doesn't believe them. He not only personally directs operations of Canada Optical. He travels widely, pushing company exports of spectacle frames around the world.

In coming months he expects to be just as busy plugging the new breakthrough — the end of more than two years research and experiment by himself and two key plant employees.

The development, he says, became a "personal thing" because of his mishap. However, he still is baffled he didn't think of it earlier.

"We didn't just come up with this idea right away. Why I don't know. It's something that developed over a period of years."

Safety glasses are not new. Where the Canada Optical development is unique is in making them esthetically appealing.

Close-up, you can't tell their safety frames from ordinary glasses. In a time when even youngsters are fussy about their appearance the significance of the breakthrough is obvious.

It also has become increasingly obvious throughout the ophthalmic profession, claims Mr. Spence. Since the company began manufacturing the frames this summer, domestic demand has been at a peak.

Construction of the new frame prevents the lens being pushed inward toward the eye. A shatterproof lens rounds out the safety factor.

The combination lens and frame is vital to the overall product. To this end Canada Optical have worked in coordination with Imperial Optical, Toronto, who manufacture the shatterproof lens.

The search for a frame as robust as the customary safety spectacle and comfortable as the normal optometrists item, needed two re-tooling jobs to complete.

Research went on in spare time.

"This is what you don't do during the daytime," says Mr. Spence.

This is what you do Saturdays and Sundays and evenings when the phone isn't ringing."

"We didn't do it just to be in the newspapers. We did it because we felt it was something that was needed."

Once in production, the idea "took off like Apollo-7."

Response to the new product has been "unbelievable," he claims. Now, production is finally levelling with the home market.

Soon the export drive will start abroad — in the U.S., Europe, Australia, South Africa.

While not ignoring the business possibilities, Mr. Spence says his personal dividends also includes knowing his company's development might contribute something to some child's safety.

One of his favorite questions is a terse poser: "What's an eye worth."

He's one of the few who knows.

The Developers

Changes Made In Santa Parade

There'll be a number of minor changes to get into costume for the festivities.

According to the parade spokesman most costumes are too big to fit small children.

This has always been a problem for the costume committee," the spokesman explained.

To raise funds for the annual celebration, the committee will be holding a tag day on Nov. 15 and 16.

Volunteers are being sought to help make it a success.

Last year the tag day was a not a success as there were not enough taggers able to assist.

Taggers will appear on those two days on Front Street and at the Shopping Plaza and Towers.

the parade has appealed to older people to get into costume for the festivities.

Old Saint Nick will travel the Belleville parade route with a fewer number of floats and on top of that he'll probably find his route changed.

According to a parade spokesman, floats will number approximately 20 to 25. Last year there were 31.

"We're cutting down on quantity and worrying more about quality," the spokesman said this morning.

The parade committee has decided to try to change the parade route back to the earlier manner in which it travelled a few years ago.

It is proposed that the caravan begin at Fire hall No. 2, travel down to the Upper Bridge, along Front Street and then down Pinnacle Street to end up back at the fire station.

For a number of years the parade has travelled up Coleman Street to finish at the fire hall.

The 10 to 15 committees of the parade organization met last night at the fire station and gave their reports.

A spokesman said the reports were all good and that floats were coming along well. Four of them have already been completed and others are well under way.

On top of that private float entrants are now coming in, ensuring a good representation for the city.

New Building For Brighton

Public Works Minister Ray Connell has awarded a $5,475 contract to Bethan Construction, R.R. 1, Cobourg, for the construction of a sanitary sewer at the Department of Agriculture and Food Services Building at Brighton.

VON Reports A Busy Month

The nurses in charge, Miss Norma Gaudal reported that 281 home visits were made during the month of September in an area of 25 miles surrounding Belleville. It was announced that Miss Ruby Cuthbert, the Regional Supervisor will be visiting this area for two weeks at the end of October.

Athletic Scholarships Given Dief's Endorsement

OSHAWA (CP) — The government should offer athletic scholarships to deserving athletes, John Diefenbaker suggested Tuesday night.

He made the suggestion after noting that in the wake of every Olympic Games "there is cynical comment about how badly Canada is doing."

"Every four years, some Canadians react with embarrassment, which turns to scorn of our representatives when we do not carry off honors."

In a speech to the Oshawa Kiwanis Club, the former Conservative party leader and prime minister said most major United States universities provide athletic scholarships.

"The system has been criticized as being too commercial but, in my view, and subject of course to possible excesses, it gives an unequalled opportunity to athletes."

Only a few Canadian universities provide such scholarships, Mr. Diefenbaker said. Others, while proclaiming their opposition, were "providing cheap accommodation and meals, as well as generous loan funds, for major team-sport athletes."

The result was that football and hockey got preferred treatment at Canadian schools while other sports suffered.

Mr. Diefenbaker said the government could provide scholarships through its council on fitness and amateur sports. It should pay particular attention to athletes in track and field and other sports not now being emphasized.

He noted that Canadian track star Harry Jerome had gone to university in Oregon to get his training.

Many other Canadian Olympic competitors had to train and get into condition without proper equipment or supervision.

"The time has come for Canada on a national scale with provincial co-operation to assist amateur sport by providing financial resources, equipment and facilities."

Opportunities must be available in sports other than those which are supported by professional leagues, Mr. Diefenbaker said.

A text of Mr. Diefenbaker's speech was released before delivery.

by

Maurice Switzer

Sports Editor

It's a very nice little book, the 1968 pocket-size "Game and Fish Act" I got in the mail the other day from the Department of Lands and Forests.

But here's hoping there aren't many armed persons venturing into Ontario's hinterlands that need Rene Brunelle's hunting bible to inform them that:

"Closed season' means a period that is not an open season. . .

"farmer' means a person whose chief occupation is farming. . .

"hunting' includes chasing, pursuing, following after or on the trail of, searching for, shooting, shooting at, stalking or lying in wait for, worrying (?), molesting (??), taking or destroying any animal or bird, etc. etc.

"owner', with reference to land, includes any person who is the owner of an interest in land entitling him to the possession of it. (We'll buy that!)

Certainly hope most hunters take these things for granted . . . at least if they're within range of me!

The Lands and Forests guide does have its more salient points, of course, and no responsible hunter or fisherman should participate in his hobby without at least a perusal of the publication.

Within its 175 pages are defined the particular hunting and fishing regulations for every district in the province. .

Whether it's information on muskie limits or duck quotas, it's all there, including those often obscure-type regulations that can get an unwary game-chaser into trouble with his friendly Forestry officer.

The layman might not know that a bow is considered a "firearm" under the provisions of the Game Act, for example, nor that he cannot legally buy so much as a dolly-sized piece of muskrat fur without a trader's licence.

And would anyone believe a designated season and quota for bullfrogs?

Ignorance of the regulations could cost a $1,000 fine, and incur the well-known seizures of everything from ammunition to automobile.

And rightly so.

With the "crowded woods" fast becoming the earthly equivalent of the airport "crowded skies" syndrome, the menace posed by lax hunting is not one to be taken as lightly as the cartoons in sportsmen's magazines. You know, those ones depicting hunters draped over the fenders of fellow hunters' cars.

And the conservation havoc wrought by callous fishing habits is a plague to our country's natural resources.

With the letter of the law spelled out lucidly, and readily available for the asking, there is less excuse for the stray bullet, or the too-full fishnet.

Mo-Hawks Need Problems Like This

By MAURICE SWITZER
Sports Editor

Mo-Hawk coach Davey Jones should have more problems like last night's game with the Kingston Aces.

WAYNE BROWN

A 6-3 win — the Mo-Hawks' second in three season's starts against the Aces — boosted their record to 3-4 but at the same time provided playing-coach Jones with a lineup dilemma.

Last year's successful forward combination of Wayne and George Godson, left-winger Wayne "Weiner" Brown, and Jones was reactivated last night to give the Mo-Hawks some desperately needed scoring punch. (They had scored one goal in their last two outings).

And the club's three top scorers last year did just that accounting for four of last night's six-goal Mo-Hawk total between them while providing the 721 spectators with some of the best senior hockey they have seen from the locals this season.

"But I can't keep the line together at the expense of the other two," Jones said after the game. "Our big problem is up the middle, and we're hoping Andy Teeple will be a big help in that respect."

Teeple, the former Trenton junior who played in Brockville last winter, injured his ankle in a Mo-Hawk workout this week, but Jones said he expects him to sign in the Sunday afternoon game here against Woodstock.

Meanwhile, Teeple's lengthy time limmate in Trenton and Brockville, hefty winger Al Ferguson, played his first game in a Mo-Hawk uniform last night. Ferguson tested Kingston goalie Neil Parry with a pair of good scoring opportunities — one while working a third-period penalty — killing shift — and he earned the respect of a few lightweight Aces, despite an obvious lack of coordination.

But the Godson - Brown - Jones threesome were the showstoppers last night, accounting for four of the Mo-Hawk goals and more than their share of the 29 team shots on the Kingston net.

Godson banged in Brown's quick pass-out from behind the Kingston net with the game less than three minutes old to set the pattern.

GEORGE GODSON

At the 13.52 mark, Stu Muirhead got his first goal of the year while helping kill a Mo-Hawk penalty for too many men on the ice. Muirhead stole the puck at the Kingston blueline, skated in on Parry, and fired a shot along the ice that rebounded back from behind the Kingston goalie.

After some referee - goal judge discussion, the goal was allowed.

Brown scored at 14.51 while the Godson line played ring - around - the Kingston def, and Rod Graham's tip - in of Bob Brown's slap shot with 14 seconds left in the period left the Mo-Hawks with a 3-1 margin.

It took the Mo-Hawks just 28 seconds to capitalize on Gebhardt's hooking penalty in the second period, with Brown again doing the damage after Godson got the draw in Kingston's end, and Wilson's slap shot rebounded out in front of Perry.

Appa narrowed Belleville's margin to 5-3 less than a minute later, dropping the puck past Holmes after Ball's hard drive from the point.

But Jones ended a frustrating string of missed chances at 18.03, using Godson as a decoy on a two-on-one break, and slamming a waist-high 30-footer past Perry to give the Mo-Hawks a 6-3 edge.

Seale's rising shot fooled Holmes 30 seconds later but a scoreless third period preserved Belleville's three-goal lead.

After being benched with 14 of the 17 goals scored against the Mo-Hawks in their last two games, Holmes appeared to regain his composure last night, blocking 30 shots by the fast-skating seven Ace lineup, and Conservery's point-blank 20-footer in the final period was nothing short of grand larceny.

Bob Taylor returned to action wearing a helmet, after being sidelined with a minor concussion since the Oct. 18 Kingston game here. Taylor centred Ralph Plane and newcomer Ferguson.

DAVEY'S TWO MOVE SHOW

O'Quinn Bemoans TV Effects

OTTAWA (CP) — General manager Red O'Quinn of Ottawa Rough Riders said Tuesday that other Eastern Football Conference clubs are only now beginning to feel the effects of cable television on their home crowds.

"We've been hollering for three years," said O'Quinn who is convinced Ottawa crowds would be bigger but for outside stations beaming Rider games into the capital.

Both O'Quinn and club president Sam Berger blame cable TV for Ottawa's failure this year to draw a full house for any of its seven home games.

"And this despite the fact we have been a contending team," said Berger who also is president of the EFC and a member of the conference's broadcast committee.

Berger said Riders failed to fill all the 27,000 plus seats even once this season because thousands of Ottawa fans sat back in their living rooms and watched Rider home games on "cable television relayed from TV stations in Kingston, Onk., or Montreal."

O'Quinn estimates that Riders attracted roughly the same attendance this year as last — about a game average of 22,000.

"And it is going to get worse before it gets better," said Berger.

Berger said one suggestion that the EFC will have to think about this year before it considers bids from CTV and CBC for television coverage next year is blacking out Montreal for Ottawa games.

But he admits this would cut down on money the league would get from television and also have the effect of scaring away sponsors.

But the Ottawa situation was not a good one and a solution must be found.

O'Quinn said cable TV's effects are beginning to be felt in Hamilton. A Peterborough station was getting through on cable there.

Maryland Miss Is Only Female Licensed As Jockey

LAUREL, Md. (AP) —Kathy Kusner, an Olympic equestrian, has become the first woman ever to be licensed to race horses on the flat at a major track where betting is legal.

Miss Kusner, 27, a 103-pounder from Monkton, Md., was awarded her licence Tuesday by the Maryland Racing Commission on orders from a circuit court judge who ruled she had been denied a licence twice before because of her sex.

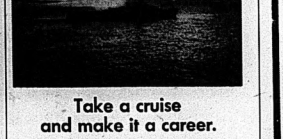
Miss Kusner said she had prior commitments which would keep her from riding at Laurel race course until late next month.

She will be a member of the United States equestrian team which competes in the international horse show at the Royal Agricultural Winter Fair in Toronto from Nov. 15 to Nov. 23.

"Kathy, the chief concern of this commission is for your safety, and the safety of the other jockeys," said D. Eldred Rinehart, commission chairman, as he handed the licence to Miss Kusner.

The commission, in previously denying her application, had said it found she lacked "sufficient strength to control a mount and for this reason could create hazardous racing conditions for other jockeys if her application were granted."

She went in court after the second denial and on Sept. 26, Judge Ernest A. Loveless ordered the commission to licence her.



Judy Johnson, the only other woman ever licenced as a professional jockey and now a horse trainer, had sided with the commission in refusing to licence Miss Kusner.

"There's a lot of difference between galloping on a jumper and breaking out of the gate on a race horse," she said.

Miss Johnson was licenced during the Second World War to compete only in steeplechase races, on the infield turf and over jumps.

Wheelchair Athletes Worry About Ability... Not Disability

VANCOUVER (CP) — Canadian paraplegic athletes head for the Wheelchair Olympics in Israel this weekend with their captain avowing that "it's ability that counts, not the disability."

Doug Wilson, 32-year-old Vancouver rehabilitation counselor who has been Canada's outstanding male paraplegic athlete for the last two years, heads the 23-member team.

"Paraplegics are like anyone else," he said in an interview.

"We compete for the joy of competition. I think we will bring home more medals from Israel than the Canadian athletes did from Mexico. I think we have an excellent chance of making a good showing for our first time in."

The games start Nov. 3 at Ramat Gan, near Tel Aviv, and run until Nov. 14.

The team manager is Doug Mowat of Vancouver.

Four Ontario athletes, who qualified for the team at last August's national trials in Edmonton, are Hilda Binns, Hamilton; Jan Godfrey, 21, Ajax; Dale Moe, Port Credit, and Gordon Paterson, Toronto.

The games in Israel will feature individual competition in track and field, fencing, swimming, weight lifting, and snooker — while team events include volleyball, basketball, table tennis and relay races.

A slalom course, part of the track and field program, runs over ramps and other obstacles, similar to the Olympic steeplechase race. Darchery is a variation of archery which involves shooting arrows at a dart board from a distance of 15 yards and precision javelin entails aiming the javelin at a target with a 20-centimetre bullseye.

Canada's first taste of international wheelchair competition came with a strong second-place finish behind the Americans at the 1967 Pan-American Games in Winnipeg. The Canadians collected 28 gold medals, 47 silver and 33 bronze at Winnipeg, compared with the U.S. winning effort of 94 gold medals, 68 silver and 53 bronze.

Canada's medal prospects appear strong in Israel as several members of the Olympic team are holders of Canadian open records.

International competition for paraplegics started 17 years ago when Sir Ludwig Guttman, an English neurologist, organized a small meet with wheelchair athletes from England and Holland.

Interest grew to the point where a program was organized in conjunction with the able-bodied Olympics and the first Wheelchair Olympics attracted 25 nations to Rome in 1960. A total of 33 countries sent competitors to the 1964 Games at Tokyo.

Roof Falls In On Shaky Celtics

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

A sheet of galvanized sheet metal that fell from the roof of the new Madison Square Garden may have shaken up the defending champion Boston Celtics.

The Celtics had just staged a National Basketball Association comeback that had wiped out a 26-point Chicago lead, but the Bulls recovered for a 103-97 victory.

Gardens' officials said the piece of metal was a galvanized hinged cable access cover that had been opened to rig special lighting for another Garden event.

It fell between the Celtic's bench and the officials' table but nobody was injured.

Flynn Robinson sank 22 points for the Bulls and team-mate Jerry Sloan had 20. Bailey Howell led the Celtics with 16 points.

In the second game of the doubleheader at New York, Cazzie Russell's 24 points led New York's balanced attack as the Knicks dropped San Francisco 110-97.

Kevin Loughery had 29 points and Earl Monroe 25 as Baltimore Bullets took a 129-112 decision over the Bucks at Milwaukee.

Split Decision Rankles Griffith Corner

PHILADELPHIA (A P) — Stanley (Kitten) Hayward won an upset split 10-round decision over former middleweight champion Emile Griffith Tuesday night.

Griffith and his manager, Gil Clancy, screamed they were robbed and would appeal the verdict to the Pennsylvania State Athletic Commission.

Referee Zack Clayton and judge Lou Tress each scored the fight 47-46 for Hayward, of Philadelphia. Judge Jack Styles had it 47-44 for Griffith. The Associated Press had it 48-43 for Griffith, who twice has held the middleweight title and was welterweight champ.

The bone of contention was Clayton's scoring of the 10th round. He carded it 5-5 under the Pennsylvania scoring system of five points must for the winner of a round.

Griffith, however, appeared to win the final round handily. In fact, he had Hayward staggering as the bell ended the fight.

Hayward admitted he had conceded the last round to the New Yorker.

"I was not fighting my usual fight in the 10th round," he said, "because my trainer told me I had won the first six rounds and all I had to do to win was finish."

Clancy, in a bitter dressing room tirade, said Griffith had a two-point lead going into the 10th round. "The other guy (Hayward) was just trying to stay in there. There was no way he could be given the round."

Griffith's manager also disclosed he had told the commission Tuesday afternoon about receiving an anonymous telephone call warning him: "Hayward will get help from the officials. I made the commission aware of this and was assured it would use its best officials."

Asked what plans he had for Griffith, the manager replied: "I have no plans until I get this ironed out. What plans can you have now?"

Sports On All Fronts

DENVER (AP) — Denny McLain, star pitcher for Detroit Tigers, said Tuesday numerous threats have been made on his life and on those of his wife and children. He also said a bomb was placed in his wife's automobile last May. The explosive was found while Mrs. McLain was driving on a freeway, but was dismantled and disposed of before it could explode. McLain said some of the threatening telephone calls probably could be attributed to derogatory remarks he made about Detroit fans.

BONNEVILLE SALT FLATS, Utah (AP) — Driver Mickey Thompson had a third chance call Tuesday, then decided to wait until early today for another try at the world speed record for wheel-driven cars. Thompson, driving a car only 27 inches high — except for canopy and tail fin — pulled out of a vicious skid at about 400 miles an hour as he passed the four-mile post of the 10-mile salt straightaway. "I would've bet a thousand dollars that the car would have turned over," he said. "Why it didn't, I just don't know."

The inquiries came from Lear Jet Aircraft Builders and from Andy Granatelli of STP Corp.

Eskies Could Play Spoilers

REGINA (CP) — Edmonton Eskimos, seeking their fifth successive victory in the Western Football Conference, tonight have a chance to delay a championship celebration party for the second consecutive year.

The third-place Eskimos, who clinched a playoff berth Oct. 13 in Winnipeg, meet first-place Saskatchewan Roughriders in a game to be televised on the CTV network starting at 9 p.m. EST.

Saskatchewan leads the conference with 21 points, one more than Calgary Stampeders, and the Roughriders need a point tonight or against British Columbia Lions in Vancouver Saturday to nail down their second title in the last three years.

On Oct. 21, 1967, the Eskimos prevented the Stampeders from wrapping up first place by taking a 20-11 decision in Calgary. The Stampeders had to win their final game of the season to capture the crown and a bye in the western playoffs.

Coach Eagle Keys of the Roughriders says his club expects to have a tough game against the Eskimos.

"The Eskimos have improved in several departments and especially on offence. We had an easy time against them early in September when we won 29-2, but we don't expect the same results again."

Keys says his club, undefeated in seven home games this season, is stronger than in 1967 when the Roughriders lost 24-1 to Hamilton Tiger-Cats of the Eastern Conference in the Grey Cup.

"We have better overall depth this year, making us an improved team in most every department," Keys said. "We had a few individual players in 1967, but this season everybody is working together."

Tonight Keys will give Bill Goods, Saskatchewan's part-time place-kicker and utility backfielder, a starting assignment. The former Calgary star, who collected 70 points last season and claims 75 this year, will start in the offensive backfield while Silas McKinnie rests a sprained ankle.

Government Sticks to Its Guns on Farm Loan

OTTAWA (CP) — The government stuck to its guns Tuesday in the Commons on new legislation which could lead to higher interest rates on loans to farmers.

It held the line as opposition MPs depicted the Liberal party as one interested only in big city Canadians and as the signers of a virtual death warrant for the Canadian family farm.

Agriculture Minister H. A. Olson stood behind the revised Farm Credit Act, undergoing clause-by-clause study in the Commons.

The revised act would increase the authorized capital of Farm Credit Corp., the federal lending agency, to $50,000,000 from $40,000,000 and allow it to increase its outstanding loans to a total of $1,600,000,000 from the

But the revised act also would abolish the old act's fixed interest rates—a five-per-cent floor and a six-per-cent ceiling—depending on the type of loan. The new rate would fluctuate at about one per cent above whatever the government had to pay to borrow money in the regular market.

Mr. Olson said the end result would be to make more loan funds available to farmers, making them better equipped to be productive and competitive.

Opposition MPs disagreed.

Jack Horner (PC—Crowfoot), an Alberta farmer, said the end result would be to make loan funds s expensive that present farm owners would be turned into "tenant farmers."

He proposed an amendment that the five-per-cent interest limit be retained on all Farm Credit Corp. loans up to $60,000. It drew voting support from New Democrat and Creditiste MPs as well as Conservatives but went down 61 to 34 before the Liberal majority.

John Burton (NDP—Regina East) said the country needs a farming industry flexible enough to meet changing requirements. Loans must be available so farmers could achieve this flexibility.

Pricing loan money out of the reach of many farmers would have the opposite result, tending to make farmers feel they had to carry on with present methods because they could not afford to change or improve.

Stanley Korchinski (PC—Mackenzie) and Ed Schreyer (NDP—Selkirk) both expressed fears that provisions in the new act speeding loan funds for farm corporations would result in big corporate businesses swallowing up family farms.

Mr. Schreyer suggested a big corporation such as a meat-packing house could get a farm manager with a small share interest and have him do the borrowing. This would set up a situation where the packing house became both producer and supplier.

Mr. Olson said the lending corporation requires that the approved borrower be a person whose principal interest is farming. Where he represented a farm corporation, the applicant had to hold more than a simple majority of shares in the corporation.

This would prevent the sort of situation Mr. Schreyer suggested.

Mr. Korchinski, a farmer, said "this is fine and dandy; this is all phraseology." But the net result would be that the changes would be regretted "in a few years time when we see the American corporation taking over all the land in Canada."

The Liberal party, drawing its voting support from the big cities, should "have a caucus" and realize that Canadian farmers were feeding the country, not freezing it.

The Liberals had sent a housing inquiry team into big eastern cities but didn't care that many farmers had to spend their lives in log huts, Mr. Korchinski said.

Andre Fortin (Creditiste—Lotbiniere) said Quebec farmers are operating on such a narrow profit margin now that higher interest rates could force them to give up their farms.

Mr. Olson said any business operation that borrows too heavily risks being taken over by creditors.

Ran Harding (NDP—Kootenay West) noted that Mr. Olson had spoken of the possibility that general interest rates might rise, meaning that farmers would not be paying much more for government loans.

But the fact that the government was scrapping the old ceilings was a tacit admission that it did not expect rates to move lower. If it really believed this, the government would not have been so anxious to scrap the old act.

"This government hasn't a hope of controlling inflationary interest rates," Mr. Harding said.

The interest rate clause went to a vote and once again the Liberals stood against the combined opposition. The vote was 77 to 53.

The last section of the bill to be concerned extension of the act's lending authority to Indian bands and individual Indians engaged in farming.

An apparent misunderstanding bubbled up here and took about 45 minutes of debate.

It was cleared up when Mr. Olson said the clause specifically extended all the borrowing rights to Indians that it did to other farmers.

By this time, the regular 10 p.m. adjournment hour was reached. The government tried in a belated move to have the sitting extended to complete committee study of the bill but this was ruled out of order. The Commons comes back to the legislation today.

'Peace Draft' Is Under Fire

OTTAWA (CP) — Prime Minister Trudeau told the Commons Tuesday the government has not considered the possibility of drafting Canada's youth for a year of public service.

He described the idea, however, as "very imaginative" and said it was "something that might be done in the future of this country." It had been discussed with some of his ministers but was "nothing near the planning stage."

The prime minister was replying to a question from Opposition Leader Stanfield prompted by a Montreal speech Monday by State Secretary Gerard Pelletier.

Mr. Stanfield did not give his own views while questioning the prime minister but said outside the House he favors encouraging Canadians to offer their services for useful work.

"But I'm not in favor of the use of compulsion or the use of a draft for this purpose."

David Lewis, NDP parliamentary leader, and Creditiste Leader Real Caouette, also speaking outside the House, opposed the idea of a civic-service draft.

"I'm strongly opposed to all kinds of conscription for our youngsters as well as for any others . . .," Mr. Caouette said.

"I'm in favor of education, of inducement. You can get somebody to listen to you but don't force him. This is why I object to conscription of any kind at any time."

Mr. Lewis said he did not know the details of the suggestion "but it sounds to me like one of those far-fetched ideas of a minister who's looking for something to replace the Company of Young Canadians which hasn't worked out very well."

Strictly Personal

We Are All Superstitious

By SYDNEY J. HARRIS

My youngest daughter's birthday fell on Friday, Sept. 13, and I flew home from an out-of-town business engagement to get there in time for her party.

En route to the airport, I was reading a newspaper in the cab, and my eyes fell on the customary "Friday the 13th" story — the usual mélange of jokes, portents and superstitions whenever a Friday happens to fall on the 13th.

Of course, like all civilized people, I snorted at this nonsense, since I'm fully aware of the psychological and tribal and totemistic reasons for such things as black cats and walking under ladders a nd four-leaf-clovers and rabbit's feet and your name it.

I was so eager to get home that I arrived at the airport an hour early — time enough, in fact, to get aboard an earlier plane than the one I had a reservation for. I just made it as the doors were closing.

As I settled in my seat and buckled my belt, I became conscious of a vague but persistent sense of anxiety — not about flying, which I am inured to by now, but something else I couldn't pine down. As we were borne aloft, I suddenly realized what it was. Superstitious feelings, no less.

I had flirted with fate and defied destiny by changing planes at the last moment. If I had taken the plane I was originally scheduled for, the gods would have been pleased at my humility and allegiance to the superstitious code, and were going to show me it was boss.

This irrational feeling was so strong for a moment that I could even mentally envision the headlines of the crash, and the story citing the irony of the passenger who switched planes to get home faster and was home not at all. You can bet I ordered a stiff drink when the stewardess c a m e around.

But what is significant about this little frisson that momentarily overcame me is the recognition that beneath all the layers of rationality and sophistication and knowledge, the primordial man still quivers in his skin — perhaps not at black cats, but at changed schedules.

At the existential level, we are all superstitious, for we know (unconsciously) that our lives hang by a thread, that everything is contingent, temporary, frail, adventitious and, finally, mortal. We may not need to placate the gods, to get on the good side of destiny, to make incantations (not over eviscerated chickens, as the ancients did, but o ver their modern equivalents), to delay as long as possible our appointment in Samarra. To tell us to stop being superstitious is as futile as urging a hunchback to stand up a little straighter.

George Potts, Campbellford, Dies at 102

CAMPBELLFORD — Seymour township's centenarian, George Potts, died this past week in Campbellford Memorial Hospital, and with his passing a link with the past has been broken. He was 102 years of age, born in Brighton township, a son of the late Stephen J. Potts and Harriett Stollery and he moved to the Bradley Bay area at 10 years of age and continually resided in the district.

Up to recently Mr. Potts enjoyed excellent physical and mental health. He was keen of mind, well informed on current politics and sports and was a regular TV viewer of the weekend NHL hockey games. Mr. Potts was a staunch Conservative and although his education was limited to two winters at the English Line School, he was nevertheless well versed on many topics and he was an informed, interesting conversationalist.

He fashioned shanty work for many years, was an expert angler and hunter. He was also a river log driver and brought many logs to the mills at Percy Boom and Campbellford. Fishing at an early time was not only a hobby but a way of life and he shipped fish to Buffalo and other points for years. He knew the Bradley Bay area like the back of his hand and all the good spots for lunge and pickerel and the elusive bass.

Mr. Potts married Caroline Adams of Belleville when he was 30 and after her death in 1937, he lived his later years with his niece and nephew, Mr. and Mrs. Alex Stephens. He never owned or drove a car. He always practiced temperance and accepted without strife or worry the things he could not change.

Mr. Potts was of a family of six, three brothers and three sisters and Charles Potts a brother survives. The funeral was held from the Bennett - Weaver Funeral Home on Thursday and interment was in the English Line Cemetery.

INTEGRATION INCREASING

PORTAGE LA PRAIRIE, Man. (CP) — Integration of Indian high school students into private homes in this community 50 miles west of Winnipeg has tripled during the last year. J. G. Harris, Indian affairs administrator, said 38 Indian youths have been placed in private homes this year compared with 14 last year. He has an Indian student sharing his home with his family.

THE BETTER HALF

By Bob Barnes

"And this is my husband—the only human in history who retired at age zero."

A.N.A.F. Weekly News

A number of new members were initiated last Thursday. With over 100 club members were on hand to attend the ceremony.

After the ceremony was completed, president George Christopher invited everyone to adjourn to the lower lounge.

Next Friday, Nov. 1, is the first dance of the season — the Hallowe'en Masquerade.

Tickets for the Remembrance Day banquet are available from the stewards of both clubs and all veterans are welcome and invited to join their comrades for a good evening.

Next Saturday evening is another dart night and a good crowd is anticipated. The ladies are asked to bring a few sandwiches for a lunch break.

Tag Day Is Successful

TRENTON — The Trenton Fire Department's money raising project for Muscular Dystrophy on Saturday was an outstanding success.

The tag day involving firemen, their wives and children netted $483.13 against $395.14 by the same means last year.

BOILED THEIR OWN

Right-wing Quebec Political Party, Christian Nationalists, Is in Making

QUEBEC (CP) — A right-wing political party, claiming seven times the popular support of Rene Levesque's new separatist party, is germinating in the fertile fields of protest in Quebec politics.

The new group, called the Christian Nationalist party, is rising in protest against education reform in the same Quebec regions cultivated successfully by the Creditistes in federal politics.

It is championing a return to traditional Roman Catholic, French-Canadian values in what one leader describes as the first political movement countering the quiet revolution politics started in 1960.

The political strength and influence of the Christian Nationalist party remains to be proved in an election, but party leaders claim support of more than 150,000 Quebecers.

The party sprouted from the political underground this week with the resignation from the ruling Union Nationale party of a back-bencher in the legislative assembly.

Dr. Gaston Tremblay, 44, elected in Montmorency riding in the June 5, 1966, general election, denounced his Union Nationale colleagues for continuing what he called "evil and social ills policies" introduced by the Liberals.

The wealthy doctor's resignation left the Union Nationale government with a working majority of one in the assembly.

Dr. Tremblay said other Union Nationale MLAs would soon follow him into the Christian Nationalist party, but Premier Jean-Jacques Bertrand said none of his other MLAs would defect.

Standing in the house now is: Union Nationale, 54; Liberals, 48; independent, 4; vacant, 3. Byelections are to be held Dec. 4 to fill vacancies in Bagot and Notre-Dame-de-Grace ridings.

With political attention riveted on formation of Rene Levesque's new Parti Quebecois which claims more than 20,000 members, the Christian Nationalist party sprang up virtually unnoticed.

The new group emerged from a grassroots organization known as the front commun pour des ecoles confessionnelles, the Common Front for Denominational Schools, organized in 1966.

The organization stirred up its support mainly through a series of Sunday television broadcasts featuring Leo Tremblay, a 47-year-old self-styled martyr, for the cause of French-Canadian liberation and founder of the Christian Nationalists.

Leo Tremblay, no relation to Dr. Tremblay, is a former importer who for the last two years has worked full time at organizing a campaign against reformers of Quebec's traditional education system.

The new right-wing movement's rallying cry has apparently been heard by many Roman Catholic priests, particularly in the Quebec City, Trois-Rivieres and Sherbrooke regions.

One of its organizers is Rev. Arthur Sideleau, a 43-year-old priest who works as an administrator at a Sherbrooke seminary. He was the Common Front's treasurer.

Santa's Parade Approved

The Belleville Financial Appeals Review Board has approved the plans of the Belleville Santa Claus Parade Committee to hold a tag day.

Scheduled for Friday and Saturday, Nov. 15 and 16, the tag day proceeds will be added to the contributions of the city council, local merchants and various groups for the parade.

The parade committee operates on an annual budget of about $3,000, about half of which is used for materials and supplies for the many floats. Other expenses include transportation costs of out-of-town bands and confectionery for the children.

The review board was pleased to learn that the accounts of the committee are audited by a licensed public accountant, and that the committee will report fully to the public following the parade.

Widow Seeks Home for Fifteen

LONDON, Ont. (CP) — Margaret Morin, a 37-year-old widow with 15 children, wants to find a home for her family but she does not want charity.

"I want a home I can raise my children in as respectable citizens, but I don't want charity," said the former Rouyn, Que., area woman whose husband died last March.

She wants to pay her way and her problem lies in the refusal by many to accept a family with 15 children, she says.

Since April, she and her children, ranging in age from 4½ months to 13 years, have been living in a home donated rent-free by the owners—the Roman Catholic Order of the Sisters of St. Joseph which operate St. Joseph's Hospital.

When she moved into the home last spring, she was clear: "I told it would have to be a temporary thing, she says.

"I feel guilty for staying here any longer," she said. The hospital needs the home for expansion purposes.

An official in the hospital's department of social services said Mrs. Morin had declined to accept dwellings located "out in the country."

Mrs. Morin confirmed this, saying she would not be able to manage her family so far from the city.

She has also refused to move into a home obtained through the city's social service department.

"What's the use of moving into a place with just a roof over our heads and then having to move out again," she said.

The city's department of social and family services, working on the understanding Mrs. Morin was ready to move into the home, broke from its normal policy and advanced a half-month rent cheque to the owner.

"I'm not looking for charity," said Mrs. Morin. "I want a home and I intend to pay my way."

Canada May Build Venezuelan Subway

CARACAS (CP) — A Canadian trade mission touring nine Latin American countries has brought with it a bid to construct a metropolitan subway in this Venezuelan capital.

The Canadian bid—$75,000,000 U.S.—is reported lower than the proposals received from French, West German, Italian, Japanese and American firms.

The ministerial mission arrived here Tuesday.

Jean-Luc Pepin, minister of industry and commerce, said Canada is reassessing its relations with Latin America and is keen to supply capital and technology and increase mutual trade.

Resources Minister J. J. Greene, interviewed by reporters Wednesday, said Canada is looking again at the question of membership in the Organization of American States.

Canada's main objective at the moment, said Greene, is to draw nearer to all Latin American Nations, as proposed by Prime Minister Trudeau.

"If this entails joining the OAS, even if it includes political involvement, we shall go through with it," Greene said.

Defence Chief To Visit City

Lt.-Gen. F. R. Sharp, Vice Chief of Defence Staff in Ottawa, will visit Belleville on the weekend.

Gen. Sharp will be arriving in Trenton Saturday and will visit Belleville that afternoon in time to sign the guest book at city hall and receive a key to the city and a mosaic of Belleville from Mayor J. Russell Scott.

He will then move to the Armories to inspect an honor guard from the Hastings and Prince Edward Regiment at 4.30 p.m.

A reception for the officer will be held in the officers mess at the armories until six.

Lt. General Sharp is coming to Belleville on the invitation of Belleville Mayor R. J. Scott, who was invited along with Hon. Leo Cadieux, Minister of National Defence. Mr. Cadieux will be unable to come owing to a previous committment.

"Belleville has been a military and air force town for many years," said Mayor Scott, "the invitation was extended as a gesture of goodwill toward the military."

'Organized Crime' Topic of Speech

"Organized crime in Canada" will be the topic of the former head of the Criminal Investigation Branch of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police at their Ottawa headquarters when he speaks in Belleville.

Superintendent William George Fraser, after a career of over 36 years with the force retired in January of 1967.

He will be speaking to the Canadian Club of Belleville at Sir Winston Churchill School on Wednesday evening at 8:15 p.m.

Supt. Fraser has had a noted career, with Canada's federal police force and was responsible for setting up all new detachments in Newfoundland when it entered confederation in 1949.

He has served in the Arctic on several occasions and rode in the Coronation Ride in Ottawa for the Governor-General in June of 1953.

Throughout his career much of his work was concentrated on criminal investigation.

SUPT. WILLIAM FRASER

School Contract Signed

A contract was signed Oct. 25 for construction of the $535,102 George Vanier Separate School on Tracey St.

Trenton contractor Miron and Wiggers are now clearing the 6½ acre school site.

The Combined Roman Catholic Separate School Board of Belleville and district plans to operate a continuous progress, ungraded school in the Vanier building.

The school, designed by Zygmunt G. Nowak, Ottawa architect, will house 200 pupils from kindergarten to grade 6 in three learning "pods" each equal in area to three regular classrooms.

A science centre, special education room, kindergarten, library and general purpose room are also included in the building.

George Vanier School is expected to be ready for use by September, 1969.

Also under construction by CRCSS Belleville is a general purpose room addition to Holy Rosary School, expected to be finished Nov. 15, and a kindergarten and general purpose room addition to St. Joseph's School, expected to be finished by the end of November.

White's District

WHITE'S DISTRICT — Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Cotton spent the weekend with their son and wife, Major A. Cotton, Mrs. Cotton and family of Ottawa.

Mr and Mrs. Larry Farrar, Randy and Shane of Belleville were Sunday visitors of Mrs. Farrar's sister and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Garnet Jones and family.

Mrs. Joyce Pearson, Linda, Karen, David and Cheryl of Trenton, were Sunday visitors of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Curtis.

Mr. and Mrs. William Free of Murray were Sunday evening guests of Mr. and Mrs. William Vaneman, Alf called on Mr. and Mrs. Roy Yateman of Trenton.

Mrs. S. C. Reid and Margo were among other relatives and friends from Trenton, Picton, Belleville, Carrying Place and Consecon, who attended a house warming party on Saturday evening for Mrs. Reid's sister and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Lorne Orser of Consecon.

Mrs. George Bilham opened her home on Wednesday morning for Bible Study.

Miss Suzanne Heinsteuber of Trenton was a Thursday visitor of her grandmother, Mrs. George Bilham.

Mrs. S. C. Reid and Margo spent the Thanksgiving weekend with Mrs. Reid's sister and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Lorne Orser of Consecon.

Mrs. S. C. Reid and Margo were Monday visitors at Norwood Fair.

KITE INTERFERES

TRENTON, N.J. (AP) — Police asked an elderly resident to shorten the string on his kite. They said air traffic controllers at Mercer County airport complained the kite was interfering with landing airplanes.

Federal Conservatives in Leeds Hold A Funny, Funny Meeting

BROCKVILLE, Ont. (CP) — The Progressive Conservative Association in the federal riding of Leeds held its annual meeting Tuesday night.

Here, in part, is how it went.

As the crowd filed into the legion hall, one young party official worriedly reported to John Maclean, an association director, there were no plates to serve cookies.

Mr. Maclean, a 41-year-old operator of a local car-rental agency who runs for the leadership of the national Conservative party last year, suggested putting the cookies on a big piece of paper "and let the people come and get them."

The crowd of 200, two or three times the usual size for an annual meeting, was attracted in part by a controversy over a month-long delay in the holding of the meeting and a series of resolutions advanced by Mr. Maclean.

One resolution asked that the close associates of National Leader Robert Stanfield—who likes bananas—"remove the banana from his mouth and stuff it" into that of John Diefenbaker, the former leader.

Mr. Maclean said it was a joke but nobody quite grasped it.

A child began crying "mummy" while Jack Hewitt the secretary-treasurer, read the financial report, but the cries stopped by the time he had reported a $107.64 deficit.

Howard Musclow, identified as chairman of the resolutions committee, presented the resolutions list to the chair.

Challenged from the floor about whether his committee had met, he said he served as a committee of one.

A. B. Murphy, a medical doctor, in his retirement speech as association president, told the largely-middle-aged crowd that the meeting was delayed from the spring to give the association more time to fight the June 25 federal election in the eastern Ontario riding.

It was not true that the executive wanted to cling to office, he said.

A. W. Hswison, a veteran Conservative fund raiser, keep popping up with remarks and was interrupted once by the meeting chairman. Ronald MacPharlane, who felt the time of the meeting should not be wasted on one of Mr. Hswison's "funnies."

"This is not funny at all," Mr. Hswison replied and then advised the chairman: "Go chase yourself."

Then he sat down. Nobody seemed to mind because Mr. Hswison had been doing this kind of thing for years.

Finally it was time for the resolutions advanced by Mr. Maclean, who has been trying to shake up what he calls the rigid and old-fashioned ways in the riding, represented in the Commons by Conservative Desmond Code.

The banana resolution infuriated one delegate who called it an insult to Mr. Diefenbaker, drivel, disgraceful, a shame and so on, getting a huge round of applause for each anti-Maclean charge.

The crowd tossed out several facetious Maclean resolutions and some serious ones too, including one that invited the party's national headquarters "to get the lead out of its pants" on organization.

Soon it was time to select a new president from two contenders, one of them Mr. Hewitt, 37, who said he was "a Tory from a long line of Tories and I'm not afraid to admit it."

His opponent, Ernest Haight, a 31-year-old school teacher, lost, but the count remained secret because the chairman said both candidates had asked him not to divulge it.

Many in the crowd shouted "no, no" when it came time for vice-presidential hopefuls to speak. It was late and they wanted to go home.

"You gave me hell an hour ago for trying to cut down the amount of speaking," chairman MacPharlane said, "now you don't want to hear them." Only one candidate took up his offer to speak.

Half the audience had fled before the completion of voting for new officers. Those who remained to the end gave Mr. MacPharlane, a slim, short lawyer with a big voice, a hand for running the meeting like a parade-ground sergeant.

"I think the quality of a chairman is to be nasty on demand," he said. "I think I can qualify."

Questions and Answers On Highway Travel

Ontario Motor League
Eastern Ontario Club

Every year we have a winter — and every year motorists react to the snow and freezing temperatures with a shocked surprise.

They aren't ready! And forgetful motorists are turned into stranded, angry, frustrated pedestrians — the walking wounded in the annual battle with nature. "We get the same faces every year," says Wes Reid, owner of a service station. "Some have forgotten about anti - freeze and everything is frozen. With others, the car simply won't start."

"It's the same as licence plates," says Stan Wickham, another service station operator. "They leave everything to the last minute. That's why we're all tied up with the first cold snap every winter."

Mechanically Ontario Motor League officials agree, anyone driving an almost new car is probably just about ready for winter.

You may have to add some anti-freeze to the radiator and windshield washers, put on snow tires and throw a box of sand in the trunk to give the back wheels more traction. For the person with 10,000 miles on his car, not much more preparation is needed. But one could have trouble starting on a cold morning unless one gets new spark plugs and points - - and the carburetor should be adjusted. Drivers of cars with more mileage can expect trouble unless they make a real effort to get ready for the Arctic breezes.

Here's what the mechanics say should be done to avoid frustration, delay and possibly damage when the cold comes:

Batteries: Batteries in all cars should be checked. Batteries more than two years old should be replaced. Battery cables must be checked for corrosion.

Ignition: Install new condenser, spark plugs and points.

Cooling System: Check hoses leading from the radiator. If they are beginning to feel soft, there could be trouble.

Engine: Check the thermostat valve. Re-set the automatic choke.

Heating: Check the heating system and windshield wipers to make sure defects haven't developed. Carry a good windshield scraper in the car.

Wheels: Snow tires are a must and chains could be carried for real emergencies. The new tires with studded nails are good for ice and snow.

Chassis: Wax the car before street salting starts and paint over all scratches.

The manager of road service for the Ontario Motor League, says that for a car in good condition a service station check should cost about $18 and include anti-freeze, plugs and points. The cost rises if other parts like the battery must be replaced. The main thing, is to get the winterizing job done now. People who wait until the temperature dips create havoc at the service stations. Everyone is overworked and the motorist doesn't get as good a job, as he expects."

OFF THE RECORD — BY ED REED

Corn Dumping Is Prevented

OTTAWA (CP) — Value for duty will be applied beginning today on U.S. corn entering Canada to raise its effective import price to $1.05 a bushel in U.S. funds, Agriculture Minister H. A. Olson announced in the Commons Tuesday.

The measure sets the value of the corn at $1.05, the U.S. support price, and levies a duty on any difference between that and the actual import price.

Mr. Olson said that this will mean a delivered price of American corn in Toronto of about $1.28 a bushel in Canadian funds after transportation costs, an existing eight-cent duty, and the exchange rate on the dollar.

His announcement followed protests by Ontario farmers that American corn is being dumped in Canada at prices well below $1.05 U.S.

Sources here say the corn market has not been affected by actual dumping but by the threat of dumping, causing corn traders to hold off purchasing.

Mr. Olson said the value-for-duty provisions, effective today, will place a floor under the competitive market for corn. Traders will know that their competitors cannot get corn at a better price than they are paying Canadian producers at present.

But he said the measure is not a permanent solution and fundamental marketing problems still exist for growers of southwestern Ontario.

Assessors Attend Meeting

All assessors from the counties of Hastings and Prince Edward and the city of Belleville recently attended the autumn meeting of the Institute of Municipal Assessors of Ontario held in Haliburton.

Local assessors acting as officers for the district are S. G. Manley from Picton, as chairman and F. H. Howard of Belleville as secretary-treasurer.

G. Leighton Thompson, MIMA, past president of the Institute, introduced the guest speaker, J. E. McKinney, a Belleville realtor.

"The Three Approaches to Value" was Mr. McKinney's topic and a discussion period followed the speech.

Jeane Dixon's Horoscope

For October 31

Your birthday today: You are going to experience growth throughout the coming year exempt from conflict with the past. Reconciliation becomes the watchword for the year. Today's natives are seldom fully understood; there is within them a nature different from that on the surface.

ARIES (Mar. 21 — Apr. 19): Perhaps as part of your reaction to yesterday, investigation is indicated for today. There is much to find out, and more thought is needed to learn the reasons for things as they are.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 — May 20): Pick up the pieces where you are today and go on. Offer explanations (and apologies) where you owe them; but only once! Ventures into untried areas are not well favored just now.

GEMINI (May 21 — June 20): Concentration is feasible today, as things appear to quiet down so you can focus. Put your energy into full use. Get the odds and ends of your finances all straightened out. Tonight!

CANCER (June 21 — July 22): Self-improvement is your challenge. Whatever you can do to learn something interesting is in investment. Force no issues today. Take a rest if opportunity offers.

LEO (July 23 — Aug. 22): Start nothing new today, but get busy find out where you stand concerning obligations. This is all extremely tedious so get your rest early.

VIRGO (Aug. 23 — Sept. 22): Yesterday's upsets can be righted today, if you will sincerely try. Get rest in between, start again later.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 — Oct. 22): Clear up the unfinished elements. Give thought to your health. Get down to business. The evening will be good for long-term planning.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23—Nov. 21): The drive to push is not available today. Settle on a few key items until you break through. Go over your position tonight and make (tentative) plans.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 — Dec. 21): If you will concentrate on getting those outstanding obligations retired today, this will be quite enough of a victory. It is a good day for getting work done but not very significant otherwise.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 — Jan. 19): Mental pursuits progress extremely well. New projects need to wait until you have a bit more freedom to push them. You need a break, so get some extra rest.

PISCES (Feb. 19 — Mar. 20): Take up the activities you could not get to yesterday. Start nothing that you can judiciously postpone. Get set for a big weekend.

Help! Hallowe'en

It's time for goblins, ghosts and their ghoul friends to make an appearance. Tonight's Hallowe'en. But a band of Belleville youngsters like Robbie Scully, 12, (above), added new excitement to the festival of fright. (For details, see Page 5.)

Good Ghouls Face Hazards

By DON MacKENZIE
Staff Reporter

There will be ghouls and ghouls out on the prowl in Belleville tonight.

And the good ghouls that are dressed in costume are the ones who must watch out for careless ghouls behind the wheels of cars and perhaps a few evil ghouls who don't exactly give out edibles that should be "et."

Police chief Douglas Crosbie issued a warning this morning for all drivers to be very careful tonight.

"It's very dark in many places and of course many of the children will have dark costumes on," he stated.

"Parents should also warn their children not to eat things like apples and other treats until they've gone home."

"We haven't ever had any trouble along those lines," said the chief, "but there's always a first time and it's better to be safe than sorry."

In some places children have been given poisoned candy, razor-blade apples and other harmful treats by bad ghouls.

News Briefs

TORONTO (CP) — Robert Nixon, Ontario Liberal leader, said Wednesday he expects the Conservative government will call a royal commission to study university government before deciding on changes in the law that will meet demands of student-power leaders.

* * *

BROWNSVILLE, Tex. (AP) — A 20-year-old Mexican national forced a Mexican airliner with 35 passengers and a crew of four to fly at gunpoint from Tampico, Mexico, to Brownsville, Tex., Wednesday. The man immediately asked for political asylum.

MONTREAL (CP) — A demonstration by taxi drivers which led to a clash with riot-trained police, Wednesday left two policemen injured, nine persons arrested and eight vehicles either burned out or badly damaged.

Protesting a limousine service's monopoly on passenger traffic from Montreal International Airport, the cab drivers converged on the airport shortly after 7 p.m. and began hurling bottles filled with gasoline at buses and limousines loading passengers from incoming flights.

Two of the service's cars were overturned and one of them was set afire, injuring a provincial police officer who was standing nearby.

Police said the injured officer was burned on the leg.

At the start of the demonstration, police had massed 30 local officers from suburban Dorval. 60 provincial officers and 25 RCMP. But within 30 minutes, about 200 police were at the airport. They included 50 Dorval police officers, 200 provincial police and 200 RCMP.

The demonstrators, who police said included about 400 cab drivers and about 100 student sympathizers, were quickly routed. They returned to their cars and began driving around a traffic circle adjacent to the airport, shouting taunts at policemen.

While a squad of about 100 provincial police were busy manning roadblocks at the traffic circle, a group of cab drivers less than 500 feet away prepared to ambush vehicles from the limousine service which still were ferrying passengers to and from Montreal. The transportation service is owned and operated by the Murray Hill Limousine Service.

First to be ambushed was a Murray Hill bus containing about 30 passengers.

Demonstrators threw stones and eggs against windows and battered the sides of the vehicle with iron bars. The bus was brought to a halt by cabbies who had stopped traffic by stalling their cars across the highway.

Bewildered passengers scrambled out, clutching their belongings while others retrieved suitcases from the baggage compartment.

Suitcases in hand, several passengers began walking toward Montreal. Passing motorists offered them lifts.

Meanwhile, police dispersed demonstrators and ordered remaining passengers back onto the bus. No one was injured.

In other incidents, demonstrators overturned at least three limousines and set fire to one bus, police said. There were no passengers injured.

Murray Hill gave up trying to provide service at about 9.40 p.m.

North Vietnam Renews Pledge

Something New Promised U.S. If Bombing Is Halted

Thieu Still Balky

SAIGON (AP) — Despite worldwide speculation that a U.S. order halting the bombing of North Vietnam is near, South Vietnam's President Nguyen Van Thieu said today that North Vietnam has not agreed to the U.S. terms.

Thieu's statement came while U.S. headquarters reported that American battle deaths in the war since 1961 topped the 29,000-mark last week with 109 Americans killed.

Following a ceremony honoring South Vietnamese war dead, Thieu told reporters "we cannot decide to halt the bombing" unless there is some sign of reciprocity from the North Vietnamese. "I don't see my direct (response) from Hanoi," he said.

"As long as Hanoi decides to be stubborn," he told a questioner, "and as long as Hanoi demands an unconditional halt of the bombing, and as long as we have no sign of goodwill from Hanoi," and as long as Hanoi refuses to "talk directly to us, that they will not de-escalate the war, we cannot decide to halt the bombing."

Thieu said another stumbling block is Hanoi's insistence that the Viet Cong's National Liberation Front, be treated as a separate delegation at any expanded peace conference. He said his government could not approve of this.

THE WEATHER

Synopsis: Temperatures in Ontario will moderate considerably tonight as southerly winds develop over the province. A weather disturbance over the central United States is expected to move into the Great Lakes region on Friday accompanied by cloud and showers.

Peace Bid Watched By Rivals

By Reuters

With the day of reckoning just five days away, both major U.S. presidential candidates had their eyes today on strings being pulled by the man in the White House, Lyndon B. Johnson.

Neither Democrat Hubert Humphrey nor Republican Richard Nixon would comment on the behind-the-scenes negotiations, but both have said they would support the president if he decided it was in the interests of peace to halt the bombing now.

Reply Offered 'Immediately'

PARIS (Reuters) — The chief spokesman for the North Vietnamese delegation to the Paris peace talks Wednesday night repeated a vow that Hanoi would respond "with something new immediately" to a bombing halt of North Vietnam.

The spokesman, Nguyen Thanh Le, told reporters he would summon a news conference within an hour if the United States stopped the bombing and "there will be something new, there will be something new immediately."

Answering a question, he said the response, which he did not elaborate on, was already prepared in his mind and "I have only to get it out."

Le first used the word immediately in this context a week earlier, when he told reporters at his regular news conference: "Let the United States stop the bombing, then there will be something new immediately."

He was speaking Wednesday night to a group of French and foreign correspondents at a reception given by the South Vietnamese National Liberation Front, the political arm of the Viet Cong, to mark the opening of the NLF information bureau here.

Xuan Thuy, Chief North Vietnamese negotiator, also attended the reception and said: "Everything depends on President Johnson.

"Within six days of the U.S. presidential election President Johnson still has time and power to call off the bombing and achieve a breakthrough in the deadlocked Paris talks."

Le's new emphasis on the pledge that North Vietnam would respond at once to a bombing halt made in conversation with a group of French and foreign correspondents.

A reporter asked him what would happen if Johnson called off the bombing against North Vietnam that very night.

Le smiled and said without hesitation: "If President Johnson stops all the bombing at this very moment, I shall summon a press conference"—he looked at his watch—"at 8:30 p.m."

The time was then about 7:30 p.m.

The reporter suggested: "Within the hour then?" And Le replied: "In the ensuing hour."

Another reporter asked, "Have you already prepared it?" Le, pointing to his forehead, said: "It is already there, the filing cabinet . . . I have only to get it out."

When asked what he would have to offer if such a news conference, he answered: "There will be something new, there will be something new immediately."

He nodded agreement when asked if this was what he had in mind at least week's news conference when he said: "Let the United States stop totally and unconditionally the bombing and all other acts of war against the Democratic Republic of Vietnam, and then there will be something new immediately."

Hercules Makes First Biafra Trip

OTTAWA (CP) — A Canadian forces Hercules transport made its first relief flight into Biafra Wednesday night, the International Red Cross reported from Geneva.

The Geneva report said the Hercules, on loan to the Red Cross, flew two sorties from the island of Fernando Poo, carrying dried milk and food, to a makeshift airstrip at Uli.

Prime Minister Trudeau forecast the first relief flight by the big Canadian plane Wednesday in the Commons. He said a Hercules carrying 20 tons of food would take off from Fernando Poo at 6:15 p.m. local time. Three Canadian Hercules have been on Nigerian duty since earlier this month.

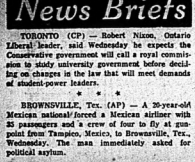
The plane, from 435 Transport Squadron at Namao, Alta., arrived in Lagos Oct. 14 and orders to assist the International Red Cross to fly aid to Biafra. It has been awaiting clearance since Oct. 14 and the mechanical problem now means parts must be flown in from Canada or West Germany.

Cold at Both Ends



This configuration of early season icicles is just a forewarning of what is to come. The icy stalagmite and stalactite formations resulted from the combination of a dripping hose tap and last night's 27 degree temperature. The stalagmite is the one growing up from the ground.

Nixon Wants Humphrey To Back Vote Leader

WASHINGTON (AP) — Republican Richard M. Nixon has challenged Democrat Hubert H. Humphrey to join in promising bipartisan support for the popular vote winner should the election go to the House of Representatives.

The election would go to the House if no one wins a majority of 270 votes in the Electoral College—a possibility raised by the candidacy of American Independent George C. Wallace.

Nixon said in a radio speech that election of a minority president in the House would result in "four years of division, dissension and despair."

Hallowe'en Help to Biafra

Tonight is Hallowe'en and different people have different ways of celebrating the occasion. One eight-year-old Belleville girl wrote a letter to Biafran children and mailed it under her pillow. (For story, see Page 3.)

Their Fairy Tree Is Spared

BALLINTRA (AP) — Ireland's message for Hallowe'en is that the little people are alive and well and living in Donegal and playing hob with the county road program.

Their favorite domicile around these parts is said to be a knarled old whitethorn not far from the Atlantic coast. People in the tiny village of Ballymagroartyscotch call it a sheog, or fairy tree, and the county council calls it a nuisance.

The trouble arose when Donegal, ever keen to cater for tourists, started a new road to the coast. It winds through the mountains toward the Atlantic, and when it reaches the fairy tree it stops.

For six months the cry has been roaring through the hills: "Roadman, roadman, spare that tree." And not a soul in all Ireland could be found to cut it down.

The reason is Ireland's firm belief that disaster can come to those who harm a fairy tree.

After six months' delay, Donegal has decided: The tree shall be saved, and the coast road diverted. The Irish Tourist board knows a good tree when it sees one.

Ruth Anne Campbell

Trenton Girl Chosen 'Miss Hope' in Toronto

TRENTON — A Trenton nurse, studying in Toronto, has shown the residents of that city what real beauty looks like as she was chosen Miss Hope for the city's 1969 Canadian Cancer Society campaign.

And after receiving the honor she has a chance to become Miss Hope for the Province of Ontario.

Miss Ruth Anne Campbell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Campbell Sr., of 58 Third Street in Trenton, will compete on Jan. 18 and 19 in the province-wide competition.

She will be facing 13 other division winners who represent teaching hospitals across the province.

The 21-year-old beauty will be graduating from St. Joseph's hospital in Toronto this spring. If chosen as Miss Hope for Ontario she will represent the Canadian Cancer Society in various activities in the upcoming year.

The society's campaign begins on March 28 and ends on April 25 in 1969. For the interest of the male readers all competitors must be unmarried and in their third year of training.

Case to Supreme Court

Property Owner Appeals City Decision

The refusal by the city earlier this month to issue a building permit for construction of a multi-family residence on the O'Donnell property on Cannifton Road will be appealed before the Supreme Court in Toronto next week.

The date of the appeal is scheduled for Nov. 3 at Osgoode Hall and according to the City Manager will be opposed by the city.

The application for the building permit made on Oct. 3, was refused on the grounds that there is no water or sewer service at the property.

But the property owners claim that under zoning by-law 7080 sewer service is not required in the area.

Mr. Reynolds said that when the zoning by-law was originally passed some years ago the sewer requirement for multi-family residences was somehow omitted.

Since the application for the building permit on Oct. 21 council amended its 7080 by-law making sewer and water service a requirement for multi-family residences.

The O'Donnell property is on the west side of Cannifton Road immediately to the north of the Orr property which has been acquired by the city for park purposes.

At its last meeting council approved of a parks board recommendation asking the Moira River Conservation Authority to purchase the O'Donnell property and turn it back to the parks board for development as part of Riverside Park.

Police Need New Building

DESERONTO — Deseronto council will look into the question of a new building for the use of its police department. The present facilities are far from satisfactory.

The cells in which the police must keep inebriated persons overnight are in a deplorable state, and, even though repairs were made, could not be brought up to pass inspection. Also, police have no quarters in which they can interview prisoners or others with any degree of privacy.

A new building, to house cells and a police office, seems to be the solution for both problems, and so at its regular mid-monthly meeting last week, first steps were taken to erect such a building. It was felt the logical solution is to utilize part of the park beside the firehall as a site, and erect a small building there. The probable cost of such a building is to be investigated.

Deseronto has never had a system of regular wage increases for its constables, and this is now under consideration. Salaries will be increased regularly if service is satisfactory.

Toys, Toys, Toys

Kiwanis members and their helpers played Santa Claus last night as they repaired and packed donated toys and games for distribution at Christmas. The basement was just packed full of goodies that are sure to bring plenty of Christmas cheer to a lot of youngsters in less than two months.

Single Worker Joins Line

PICTON (Staff) — A change in tactics has resulted in hiring one of 41 workers at the Proctor-Silex plant from her job.

James Donofrio IUE union representative, said that the woman who had been the picket line yesterday might be followed by more.

Donations from labor unions throughout the country have boosted the weekly take home pay of pickets at the plant here to as much as $40.

Union members have approached plant workers offering to share the wealth, if they come out on the line.

Rabies Decreases

PICTON (Staff) — The rabies scare seems to have been down in this county, but Picton Provincial police say they still receive calls concerning suspected animals.

An OPP spokesman said only one case of rabies has been reported this summer, the animal in question, a cat, had attacked a family in Bloomfield, early in September.

The officer said that the only other case he had been informed of was unconfirmed. It involved a horse, shot at Outlet Park, after contracting the disease.

Usually two calls are made per week, he said.

OPP policy, is to destroy the animal and keep it on the spot if it has not attacked any persons or domestic animals.

The head of the animal is then shipped to Hull Quebec for dissection to determine if the animal was rabid.

Wilson Concrete Gets Huge Contract

A $1,300,000 subcontract awarded to Wilson Concrete Products Limited of Belleville will necessitate the hiring of an additional 25 people.

Vice president James Clarke said that the award of the contract combined with others presently being negotiated will create jobs for a further 30, bringing the staff to a total of 300.

The million dollar contract was awarded to supply and install precast concrete for the new Federal Maximum Security Penitentiary at Millhaven, Ontario.

General contractor for the project is Argo Construction Ltd. of Montreal, whose forces are already at work on the site.

Engineering design and drafting are now under way at Wilson's plant with production due to start shortly and proceed until the summer of 1969.

The company is actively seeking applications to fill these openings which occur in engineering, drafting and supervision, as well as the production areas.

Assessment Department Makes Change in Notices

Belleville ratepayers and householders are receiving their assessment notices for 1969 this week and the more observing residents will immediately see there has been a change.

The shape of the assessment form has been changed, the color has been changed and there have been additions to the content.

City assessment commissioner Leighton Thompson, says the new type of forms, mean only that the city has joined many other municipalities across the province and adopted the standard form used by all municipalities when the provincial equalized assessment system goes into operation.

This is the first year for the new forms in Belleville, but counties having the county assessment system adopted the forms last year. The standardized forms are necessary for computer programming.

Mr. Thompson feels the new forms are an improvement in that the appeal date is spelled out clearly by red arrow marking.

The age of voting household members is also included on the new form.

The assessment department has always had to know ages because of the connection with voting and jury duty, but this is the first time they have been listed on the assessment notice." said Mr. Thompson.

OMB Hearing Postpones Meeting

The Ontario Municipal Board hearing on the Cambridge Leaseholds application for a zoning change in the North Front Street area to allow a shopping plaza has forced a postponement of next Monday's regular meeting of city council.

The OMB hearing is scheduled for the city hall council chambers at 11 a.m., and is expected to last all day and possibly into Tuesday.

Because the council chambers will not be available, the council meeting has been postponed until Wednesday afternoon.

Mayor J. R. Scott said this morning the city's presentation, and that of Cambridge Leaseholds is expected to last well into the afternoon. Following this will be the presentation of objectors to the proposed shopping plaza.

Should the application for re-zoning be approved, and the shopping plaza is constructed, Belleville Plaza Merchants Association would oppose any change in the present store hours, according to association chairman Joseph Burke.

Hospital Group

The Hospital Auxiliaries Association of Ontario has announced its slate of officers for 1968 and 1969.

Included in the slate are Mrs. Harold Keefer of Trenton who will serve as district director and district committee chairman.

Elects Officers

Also elected from this area were Mrs. T. W. Spear of Trenton, constitution and resolutions committee chairman and Mrs. Andrew Clarke of Picton, district representative for district 8.

No Injuries -- Damage Is $3,500

TWEED — A single car accident last night caused $3,500 damage to a 1968 automobile.

The mishap occurred approximately two miles west of Marmora on Highway 7.

Driver of the car, William Edgar Jeffrey, 23, of RR3, Belleville, was uninjured.

According to an OPP spokesman there was no other property damage.

The incident was investigated by Constable G. H. Hollins of the Madoc detachment.

Data Seekers Survey City

A seven man team of spotters is at work in Belleville this week.

This morning a team of data seekers representing Proctor, Redfern Bousfield and Bacon, town planning engineers of Toronto, started work on a transportation survey, the data from which will form a basis for improving transportation facilities in the city's downtown area.

The project is part of the field work involved in the city's central area urban renewal scheme which the above firm of planners have been retained to provide.

IN MEMORIAM

FERGUSON — In loving memory of a dear mother, Mrs. Nina Ferguson, who passed away Oct. 31, 1967.

And while she lies in peaceful sleep,
Her memory we will always keep.
—Lovingly remembered by son Norman and Norma, and grandson Bill.

FERGUSON — In loving memory of a dear wife and mother who passed away one year ago today.

Lovingly we suffer, we bear you sigh.
But in God's world she was just stand by.
When the time came — we suffer-ed.
For you never deserved what you had.
God took your hand and we had He eased your pain and broke our hearts.
Although we smile and seem carefree,
Nobody misses you more than we.
—Ever remembered by Doreen, Marjorie and Robert.

GUIRT — In loving memory of Milton Guirt who passed away Oct. 31, 1967.

Sadly thought, in heart, a silent sorrow,
Always remembered by wife Lewetta.

Found Under a Pillow

Debbie Helps Biafrans

It wasn't the good fairy of the east that left the letter under eight-year-old Debbie Rompen's pillow but it might as well have been.

And out of 302 cents in her piggie bank Debbie had decided to send 300 of them to Biafra ,so children there could have "bacon and eggs for breakfast — once."

The young philanthropist had saved the money 10 cents at a time and is keeping only 2 cents for herself. According to her, Debbie heard about the plight of the Biafrans at Park Dale Primary School, where she is in the grade three class taught by Miss J. Little. Principal of the school, Bernard Wright, was touched by the magnanimous gesture on the part of one of his younger students.

One friend couldn't understand why Debbie did it and kept only 2 cents for herself.

"I wouldn't do it," said the friend.

Debbie soon set him straight. "I don't care," she said. "I want to see those kids have some bacon for breakfast."

Labor Leader Claims

Strikes--Lack of Confidence

BATAWA — Members of the United Church of Canada's AOTS Men's Club held their annual meeting last night and were told by one of the earliest organizers of labor unions in Canada that "strikes come from lack of confidence and other alternatives must be found if industrial relations are to survive."

The meeting was attended by over 140 persons who crowded the Batawa recreation centre to listen to Charles H. Millard speak on the "importance of industrial relations."

Mr. Millard was described as a "top notch union man" by those present and one of the "figures instrumental in organizing labor across the country."

Using the recent postal strike as an example the retired union leader blamed hardships caused by the strike on the "inability for the parties involved to find an alternative solution in the year year lapse between the two postal strikes."..

Mr. Millard, who has been president of both the United Steelworkers and the United Auto Workers in Oshawa, blasted both management and strikers for "not taking action before the inevitable crisis."

He went on to accuse both parties of "falling down on the job."

To prevent strikes, according to Mr. Millard, there must be a reciprocal feeling of confidence.

"This is the only way alternatives to strikes can be found", he explained, "and this must be done to stop the suffering that people endure during strikes."

"I believe that strikes undermine a good working relationship," he concluded," and all those involved must do all they can to cope with the problems in time to avoid a strike."

Labor Leader Speaks

Charles H, Millard talks with some of the 140 persons who came to hear him speak on labor relations last night at the Batawa Recreation Centre. The occasion was the annual meeting of the AOTS Men's Club of King Street United Church.

Divorce Actions Show Increase

Ontario Supreme Court Assizes open next week in Belleville — with most of the court docket given over to divorce actions.

Of 55 cases listed for hearing, 42 are divorce cases, both contested and undefended.

The rest of the cases listed are civil damage accidents, predominantly automobile-accident claims.

The assizes open Nov. 4 with Mr. Justice W. J. Henderson presiding.

Education Costs

How much is being spent on education? James Clarke, chairman of the Bay of Quinte District High School Board has released some interesting statistics on this subject.

Mr. Clarke says that when the Hastings County board of education assumes responsibility on January 1 under the new county-wide system of administration, its annual budget will be more than $12,500,000. It will be responsible for 22,700 pupils and 1,400 staff in 43 elementary schools and nine high schools.

Education in Ontario, he pointed out, accounts for 70 cents of every $1 spent in taxes. Sixty per cent of the district high school board's budget goes for teachers' salaries.

These last two figures alone should make taxpayers stop and think. They should also make school administrators, from Queen's Park on down to the local level, resolve to keep costs down wherever possible. We have come so far so fast from the days of the little red school house that we are in constant danger of overreaching ourselves. The cost of school buildings and equipment, not to mention the elaborate furnishings seen in many schools today are enormous.

Mr. Clarke says "minor economies" resulting from centralized purchasing and better business methods will be offset by the larger range of programs being offered under the county administration. This is all the more reason in future to effect economies in such areas as school construction and interiors.

Latin America Tour

Once it was Latin America that was the happy hunting ground of revolution. Generals and presidents quarrelled, and next thing some leader was in exile and some militarist in power in the presidential palace.

Happily, the sub-continent today is a more peaceful region. True, there is the odd upheaval — as in Panama recently and of course the pre-Olympic student riots in Mexico City, certainly not to be easily overlooked.

But Latin America is still a region of wide economic extremes. On the one hand there is great wealth and on the other poverty and unrest, the kind of situation in which communism flourishes all too easily.

It is in such a situation that trade and cultural links between Canada and Latin America should be maintained. The present tour of a Canadian diplomatic mission is a case in point. The mission, led by External Affairs minister Mitchell Sharp is in an excellent position to improve our standing in Latin America.

Trade is in this category. The mission will be looking for new markets for Canadian goods and services. It will also take up the thorny question of the Organization of American States. Canada is not a member as yet and while Prime Minister Trudeau is reported to be favorable toward the idea, opposition members have reservations toward any such move.

Canada will do well though if the mission does result in closer links with Latin America. Trade almost certainly will enjoy a boost, and from that standpoint alone both Canada and the countries the mission is visiting stand to gain.

Nigerian War

In the absence of any definite proof that Nigerian federal forces have been carrying out a policy of genocide — specifically the reported killing of 500 villagers at Uruwa-Inyang — Nigerian leaders are justified in regarding foreign observers with suspicion.

What other country has ever invited observers to its front line, army commander Col. Benjamin Adekunle is reported to have asked. Adekunle then made some pertinent comments about the conduct of governments in other countries. Like this: "What did the United Nations do in Palestine . . . what about Rhodesia — and Canada and the Red Indians? The observers, for their part, have complained, with justification, about the arrogant attitude of the Nigerian.

Whatever the conduct of the Nigerian federal forces, one thing is sure: the situation in the country is very confused. The war itself is unlike any fought before in Africa or anywhere else. The sooner it is concluded and people are able to get food and lead normal lives again the better.

Warns Ankara Against Power Blocs

President De Gaulle Casts His Spell Over Turks

By CY FOX
Canadian Press Staff Writer

President de Gaulle of France has been pressing home to the people of Turkey his opposition to any rigid division of the world into power blocs.

In their present political mood, some Turks — living in a vitally strategic corner of the Mediterranean area — may be sympathetic to the Gaullist gospel.

But, though the French president has been warmly received in Turkey, persuasive reasons still are being cited in defence of the country's continued fidelity to a foreign policy based on NATO and strong attachment to the United States.

The U.S. tie has at least one major root—trade. The Americans remain Turkey's main commercial partner, with West Germany also bulking large in the country's economic life.

Bolstering the appeal of NATO is the fact Turkey is bordered on the east by the Soviet Union and must watch the same super-power flexing its naval muscles immediately to the Turkish north, on the Black Sea.

Soviet ships also are increasingly numerous in the Mediterranean, moving into that sea via the Turkish-controlled Bosporus and Dardanelles.

Particularly since 1955, the Turks have been developing economic ties with Russia.

But at the same time the apparent reduction of tensions over Cyprus has somewhat mellowed relations between Turkey on the one hand and Greece and the U.S., both NATO powers, on the other.

De Gaulle referred to the Cyprus problem during a speech at Ankara, urging that Turks on the island "remain Turks and the Greeks there be Greeks."

If this sounded non-committal, the Turks nevertheless reacted enthusiastically.

The general also praised their national achievements.

In addition he cited an international issue which has aroused special indignation among Turks—the Soviet invasion of Czechoslovakia.

In domestic policy, the Turkish government remains decidedly anti-Communist.

Reference to the Czech crisis thus seems to have been a shrewd attempt by De Gaulle to convince the Turks that "power-bloc politics" bring tragedy in international affairs.

It is difficult to estimate his success.

Possibly the speed with which he completed his Tuesday meeting with President Cevdet Sunay belies the significance of the resulting agreement on greater French help in technical and cultural fields.

The French leader's trip has brought a flamboyant personality vividly into the lives of another 31,000,000 of the world's people. It could be another step forward in de Gaulle's policy of giving France greater stature in the tension-ridden Mediterranean area.

Quebec—A "Master Race" Based on Bilingualism?

Editor,
The Intelligencer,

The other day you republished a letter concerning my sister, Kahntineta of Caughnawaga, expressing opposition to the conduct of the Negro civil rights people, and the hippie-activist students.

Since that time she has spoken at the University of New Brunswick where a man from a strange land has been given, at best, until suspended, to continue the classes under him, at the University of Moncton where about five percent of the student body is wagging the dog, and at the University of Vancouver, where a New York propagandist came in and lead the students around by the nose so wildly that they took over the Faculty Club by force. My sister spoke the following day and told them on radio, on TV, and then face to face, what idiots they are, and how the Indians would never have turned the land over to weakling Anglo-Saxons if they had thought they would give up their authority on this continent.

Now you English - speaking people of Ontario are permitting the establishment of a new Master Race. This master race is confined to those who learn two languages. The servant race are those who learn one. We know from experience that the Iroquois and the Anglo Saxons cannot learn to speak French no matter how they try. So if you people would be wise you would accept all this Bilingualism, or else after a good number of your people learn to speak two languages and have a fair representation in the master race.

Today among the master races in Canada the percentage is at least 80 per cent French-speaking Canadian, and 20 per cent others of which the Anglo-Saxons do not make up more than 5 per cent.

Supervision of Prisoners

Editor,
The Intelligencer,

With one attempted suicide, and one tragically successful, both within a matter of two weeks in the police cells, the concern of Chief Crosbie is understandable. However, his solution to the problem, in advocating the installation of closed circuit television gives rise to other possibilities that could outweigh its adoption.

The few cells contained in the Belleville station would hardly seem to warrant the extravagance of closed circuit TV. It is doubtful if most of the police stations in our larger cities boast such a system. Moreover I feel that this is the thing might well constitute a breach of civil rights. People confined in police cells are usually awaiting trial, or appearance before the magistrate.

Under our law their innocence is presumed until proved otherwise, and therefore any additional burden placed upon them over and above their incarceration must certainly be carefully considered.

Such persons, kept in confinement under such psychologically trying conditions could plead with reasonable justification that they were in no condition to successfully defend themselves in court.

Surely, in Belleville we do not need to resort to such tactics. Before we go in for such refined methods we should be better for the citizens if we took the trouble to ensure that our constables receive full training in the basics of everyday law enforcement. Any person being placed in a police cell should be thoroughly searched for anything that could be used to harm himself, and he should be checked regularly.

Nature's Spell Amid Urban Sprawl

Kingston Whig-Standard

Neither government nor the general public can afford to ignore the tremendous recreative power of beauty and nature. Great efforts must be made, even at great expense, to ensure that this power is freely accessible to every man, woman and child.

In this regard it should be noted that President Johnson has placed his signature on a law authorizing a program that will create a system of scenic trails in the United States. The first two national trails will be the Appalachian, which runs for 2,000 miles from Maine to Georgia and the Pacific Crest which drops 2,350 miles from Canada to Mexico along the west coast mountain ranges. Attention will also be given to the historic Lewis and Clark trail which opened up the American west shortly after 1800, and the Mormon trail from Illinois to Utah, begun in 1846. Congress has also approved a Scenic Rivers Bill to preserve stretches of wild and scenic rivers. The first eight to be protected lie in Idaho, Missouri, California, New Mexico, Oregon, Minnesota and Wisconsin.

This is important legislation. But as The Christian Science Monitor points out "Those of us who are city dwellers need daily beauty, however, as well as the comfort of knowing that occasional glimpses of nature's wonders are not too many hours or days away. What about scenic walks in the city? Boston has, of course, its charming paths alongside the Charles River. But much of the rest of its waterfront is as unsightly as it is inaccessible." And Detroit too, the editorial continues, has reclaimed but a "pitiably short stretch" of its riverfront land for the joys of strolling. "Thus while we applaud efforts to secure remote scenic resources, we are but the more reminded of the need for progress close to home."

The observations of the Monitor would be of particular significance to Kingston residents. In addition to its fine parks, the city provides numerous restful areas for strolling — particularly along the waterfront. The sometimes frustrating fight of residents of other cities (and countries) to secure what, should exist in every Kingston resident realize how fortunate he is. It should also remind our city planners that natural beauty must be an integral part of urban renewal.

Canada New Target For Pornographic Literature

(Allan Fotheringham in The Vancouver Sun)

Nature — and pornography — abhors a vacuum. Doctors' receptionists around town are a little gun-shy these days. They are nervous about opening mail since doctors have been receiving some rather interestingly illustrated ads from the Eviceo Film Club of Copenhagen for pornographic films. Whoever is sending the material—the mailing envelope is stamped out of Montreal — has got his hands on a Canadian doctors mailing list — out of date by the way. The brochure offers, with a self-addressed envelope, some 30 varieties of 8mm films. The illustrations, which have sent shock waves through some doctor's offices, (and xerox machines through others), are actually about the vintage of those passed around in Grade Nine.

Postmaster-General Eric Kierans has already moved in to prevent orders reaching the Copenhagen address. But the rationale behind it all is interesting. A year ago Denmark became the first country in the West to abolish censorship of anything written. The usual flood of hard-core pornography was rushed into print. And what happened? The market never materialized. Unsold dirty books were sent back by the carload. According to one publisher, about 75 per cent of the first overprinting of titles were returned. Erotic literature in Denmark became a very poor commodity, since it was no longer forbidden fruit. Obviously the pornos are now looking abroad—and where better than to poor old puritan-ridden Canada?

Cursing Not for Women

Ottawa Journal

United States police say they are amazed by the obscenity issuing from the lips of apparently demure girls at political demonstrations.

In the area of cussin', women need advice from men. All right to go ahead with mini-skirts, slacks and other clothing innovations but they need counsel on bad words.

The first consideration is that no man ever commended a woman to his friends simply because she was a good swearer.

The second is that a swearing woman is an embarrassment even to the most relaxed age and there's nothing more upsetting than the eagerness of some young women to prove by shocking old words that they are moderns.

A final consideration is that cursing is men's work. A furious man, relieving his rage in bad language, may have a little sympathy from onlookers. But a woman, talking out of control, is a virago, a disgrace to her sex, a companion no one wants.

New Way to Say Hello In Canada

Regina Leader - Post

A distinctive, all-Canadian salutation is being promoted by the national capital commission and the department of Indian affairs and northern development.

To counteract the influence of such alien phrases as "Skol," "Mazel Tov" and "Salud," these two groups would like Canadian bibbers to toast each other with the word "Chimo" when lifting a glass of friendship.

The word, they say, is an obsolete Eskimo term which can be found in old records of the Hudson Bay Company.

It seems that whenever two Eskimos would meet on the Arctic tundra, one would rub his chest in a circular motion and ask, "Chimo?", meaning, "Are you friendly?"

In reply, the other would repeat the word to indicate, "Yes, I am friendly." All of which, we suspect, was a prelude to a bout of vigorous nose-rubbing.

You Just Can't Win

Ottawa Journal

An American Cancer Society study has shown that the death rate from strokes was considerably higher among those who usually sleep nine to 10 hours a night than for those who usually sleep seven hours a night.

Might not those who sleep longer be more tired? Thus the incidence of strokes could be due to sheer exhaustion and not hours of sleep? Like any set of statistics, these will probably be twisted and turned around.

As science continues to delve into our habits it seems anything we enjoy is bad for us. But when the alarm rings at some ungodly hour after a late night most of us know instinctively that if we get out of bed we will have a stroke. According to the study, either way we are losers.

Show Business Tykes Present Ghoul Show

By HARRY MULHALL
Staff Reporter

Hallowe'en was twice this week for scores of small fry on Belleville's West Hill.

It's all thanks to seven venturesome youngsters who set up a series of seasonal side-shows with all the gusto of carnival veterans.

The group of seven installed their own Hallowe'en spook house using a streetside garage for their haunting.

Scene of the ghoul show was behind the home of general storekeeper Melvin MacKinnon at Murney and Henry Streets.

It all started back last summer when the MacKinnon's 10-year-old daughter Maureen used the garage as a playhouse with her chums.

Came the Hallowe'en season and they decided to convert it to a spookhouse and give the neighborhood youngsters a treat.

Creating the suitably eerie atmosphere stimulated the youngsters' natural ingenuity.

Maureen filled a washtub with water, colored it with food dyes and dumped in pieces of lemon peel and charcoal to create a grisly witches cauldron. Using the head of a mop for a wig she presided over the pot with ghoulish glee.

With the shelves removed, a cigarette rack from MacKinnon's store made a dandy coffin for one of the chums. A rope and pulley was rigged to the lid which then could be hoisted at intervals in the darkness, allowing another of the chums to manifest himself scarily.

The youngsters opened for business Monday and last night.

As the word spread, scores of moppets made for the MacKinnons," impatiently lining the sidewalks, clamoring for admission.

Shirley Flindall and Heather Carleton, both 10, handled the box office by the light of candles and pumpkin jack-o-lanterns.

"Little kids up to five are charged two cents, five cents for bigger kids and a dime for adults," explained Heather.

Up to early last night they had taken in $4.80.

The kids plan on having a hot-dog party with part of the proceeds.

The balance, says Heather, likely will go to UNICEF.

Incidentally, there's no show tonight.

The youngsters are out trick-ing-'n'-treating.

It's Hallowe'en and they feel sure their patrons will understand.

If they don't, well — that's show biz!

To Serve Quinte Area

Plans Go Ahead for Regional Jail

Plans for the Quinte District four-county regional detention centre, proposed for construction at Napanee are going ahead but there is still no indication of when construction will get under way.

A spokesman for the provincial correctional services which has taken over the responsibilities of reforms and institutions said this week the centre was "definitely going ahead" but it was not known when tenders would be recalled.

The query was prompted by a Toronto newspaper report earlier this week announcing approval of a Carleton county regional detention centre.

Department minister Hon. Allan Grossman said the Carleton county jail at Ottawa was first on the province's priority list.

It was stated however that the Quinte jail had already been announced and was definitely going ahead.

The Quinte Centre will serve the four counties of Hastings, Prince Edward, Lennox and Addington and Frontenac, along with Belleville and Kingston.

County councils first talked of the regional centre about four years ago and original estimates were for a structure costing slightly in excess of one million dollars.

But by the time tenders were called cost estimates had increased to $2,350,000 and bids showed the complex would cost $2,340,000.

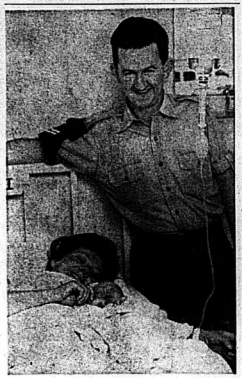
In view of the high costs revised architect's plans were ordered and the public works department is expected to call new tenders when revised plans are approved.

Originally the responsibility for construction was to have been that of the four counties with the province paying a percentage of the costs.

Since then the province has taken over all costs of administration of justice.

Mr. Grossman said the order of priorities for construction of the regional jails will depend on further studies by senior department officials.

It was suggested their decision might be influenced on the changed demands on jails resulting from changes in bail procedures and the operation of the recently established legal aid system.



Building Permits Increase

Residential and institutional construction made up nearly 100 per cent of the building permits issued at city hall during the month of October.

City building inspector Grant Sickle reported today that permits totalling $1,181,897 were taken out during the month.

Biggest single permit was for the new Georges Vanier Separate School on Tracey Street about a block west of North Front Street. The amount of the permit was $335,102.

Included in the month's list were 34 dwelling units, made up of two 11-unit apartments to be built on the north side of Progress Ave. in the West Park village area. There were 32 single family dwelling permits issued.

Successful Living

Suitor of Teener Never Mentions Love

By DORIS CLARK

Dear Doris: I am 15. I am pregnant by a 24 - year - old man. He insists that I marry him. We've gone steady for five months. My friends say I'm lucky because he is quite well off and he would treat his wife wonderfully.

But never once has he said he loved me. If he'd say it I'd say yes, but he won't say it. Should I marry him? I know he likes me very much but marriage is built on love.

It would also kill my Mom and Dad if they knew. Maybe I should just run away. — Dilemma.

Dear Dilemma: Score for you. At least you know you shouldn't marry without love. Do you also know you cannot marry without parents' consent, at your age?

Aside from which, the gap in age is terrific; and it may take half a dozen years, more or less, for you to socialize enough to choose your own mate wisely.

Don't let that quite-well-off bit throw you. Money may seem glamorous, but love birds — real ones — can make heaven out of hamburgs in a tent.

Murder will out. So will pregnancy. Far better to tell Mom now and get her to go with you to the child care agency which can help you make workable plans for yourself and the baby.

* * *

Dear Doris: At an every day family meal (around a large table), which is the correct way to pass the plates of meat, vegetable bowls, etc.? These are all placed on the table before we are seated. This is also done when we have company.

In many homes the food gets passed every which way; some have told me it is passed to the left, which seems backwards to me! I have read that to the right is correct; and when folks have a maid, you are offered food from your left side when you are seated. Correct?

I feel when you have a young family they should be taught correct etiquette even though none of us is likely to have a maid.

The "practical Canadian authority" you mention, is this a book I could buy? — Pass The Potatoes.

Dear Pass: Main thing is to avoid a traffic jam. Etiquette books don't even grant the existence of a system which passes loaded platters and vegetable dishes around from guest to guest. Yet it is often done.

My Practical Canadian "Authority is a flesh - and - blood person. She says left to right seems handiest, so that one may hold a platter while the one to the right serves himself, then receives the platter and passes it across him to next person on his right.

Even when you just pass the pickles or peanuts, a one-way system can prevent accidents.

* * *

Dear Doris: Could you tell me whether there is any truth in fortune telling? What I mean is, do they really know what they're telling or are they just guessing? Wondering.

Dear Wondering: Who knows? There are certainly cases on record where reliable persons have had advance notice, through dreams or telepathy or what-have-you, of coming events. And the events have come off as predicted. Many instances have been far too detailed and accurate to be written off as coincidence. Just the same, anyone who sets himself up as a fortune teller leaves himself open to accusations of fraud.

A recent fascinating book, written by a Canadian graduate in theology, describes many unexplained psychic phenomena, and draws some of his own conclusions. If you would like to send me your name and address on a stamped envelope, I'd be glad to supply name and author.

* * *

(Are you in doubt about the proper etiquette to use for your special occasion? Ask Doris, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope for her reply.)

THE SNOWMOBILE THAT MAKES FUN NO PROBLEM

NORDIC SERIES
Both for handy snowmobiling, everything about SKI-DOO Nordic is new ... from its wider 18" track to its automatic clutches, lighter. And new Nordic gives you a level, comfortable ride — without losing any of SKI-DOO's famous sportiness.

OLYMPIC SERIES
Olympic is the lowest priced snowmobile in its class. Yet Olympic is so perfectly powered, so beautifully balanced — it gives you that mighty, responsive ride no other snowmobile can match. No wonder more people start snowmobiling with SKI-DOO Olympic than any other make.

ALPINE SERIES
Alpine is the most right-footed SKI-DOO of all. With its twin 15" tracks, Alpine can climb steep mountain slopes — race across open snowfields. You never have to worry about digging in or bogging down — no matter how deep or fluffy the snow.

Ann Landers

Electrifying Glances May Bring Results

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I'm past the giddy teen-age fantasy stage but still I need some answers. Can you help?

I've met a man of whom I am growing very fond. His

ANN LANDERS

At times I'm sure he feels more than just friendship for me but I am not certain.

Every now and then when we are engaged in stimulating conversation, our eyes seem to lock. It feels as if a magical electric current is passing between us. Sometimes it can be across the room and when he glances at me I feel this same current, even though for only a moment.

My question: Is he feeling the current also or is it just me? — TURNED ON.

* * *

DEAR T.O.: I hope it's a complete circuit, Toots, but there's no way to tell for certain — until he gives you a signal. When those 100-watt glances begin to generate a little heat as well as light, he'll let you know it.

* * *

DEAR ANN LANDERS: This is for the physician who said, "Psychiatrists are the balmiest of the professionals." Some physicians are a little balmy, too, or perhaps more to the point, they are not sufficiently interested in their patients to give them a few minutes of reassuring conversation.

Two years ago I had a falling out with my gynecologist. He didn't believe in hormone treatments. He gave me a few shots here and there but the dosages were so light they didn't do any good.

Following a complete hysterectomy I began to experience surgical menopause. I felt horrible and didn't know what was happening to me. My gynecologist said "Maybe you'd better see a psychiatrist. This doesn't mean you're nuts or anything . . ."

I switched to an internist who was kind enough to spend 15 minutes explaining that the removal of female organs can produce depression and disorientation. The internist also increased the hormone dosage and I felt like a new woman within three weeks.

So, please Ann, tell the physicians in your reading audience that if they would spare a few minutes to talk with their patients, give them reassurance and explain how their physical condition affects them emotionally — in other words, if the physicians would do their job the psychiatrists wouldn't be so overworked. — J OF RIVERSIDE

* * *

DEAR J.: I hope physicians from Fairbanks to Mexico City read your letter and ask themselves, "Could this woman be talking about me?"

Unfortunately not all physicians are communicators, and of course some physicians do not have the background or the training to evaluate the emotional needs of their patients. In my opinion it is in this area that the physicians need to be alerted and I am trying in my limited way to alert them.

Points for Parents

By MARY BRYSON

Father: "I blew up and grounded Tim for a month because he was disrespectful to his mother. Now he's surly and we're all miserable, and we still have three weeks to go before his punishment ends."

Think before you impose penalties — even if your teen-ager seems to be pushing beyond the point of tolerance. If the punishment is too severe, it may create resentment, whereas reasonable discipline should help him learn self control.

Father: "Tim, go to your room until you settle down — and forget about going out tonight. You cannot talk to mother that way."

Tim (later): I'm sorry, Mother. I shouldn't have yelled at you."

Hamburg Makes Economical and Tasty Dish

By MARY MOORE

Remember the girl, Bunny, who did the cooking, who saved the money for the house that hamburg built? It sure paid off. They have a lovely home and a cottage by a waterfall in a glade over which tower tall cedars in a cathedral-like setting. And do you know, Bunny is still turning out those mouth - watering hamburg dishes?

Jump on Bunny's home-building bandwagon.

BEEF AND NOODLE BAKE
(Serves 6 to 8)

2 cups ¼" noodles
1 qt. salted boiling water
1 lb. ground beef (chuck)
1½ cups chopped onions
2 cups chopped celery
3 tbsps. chopped green pepper
1 tbsp. fat or oil
1 tsp. salt

THURSDAY

Dinner Menu

French Onion Soup; Macaroni and Cheese; Green and Red Cabbage Salad; Deep Plum Pie with Pouring Cream; Coffee.

Dash of pepper
1 tbsp. soy sauce

1 can condensed tomato soup
½ to ¾ cup grated nippy cheese

Cook noodles in boiling salted water until tender and drain. In a frypan in hot fat or oil saute meat, onion, celery and green pepper until meat browns, breaking up the meat as you stir. Add salt, pepper, soy sauce and tomato soup. Bring to boiling point. Combine noodles with half of the meat mixture. Pour into greased two-quart casserole and top with remaining meat. Sprinkle with grated cheese generously.

Bake at 350 deg. Fahr. 30 min.

NOTE: This may be made and baked about 25 min. if you want to be prepared in advance. Cool and chill it: 20 to 25 min. before mealtime reheat at 350 deg. Fahr.

Let's tie one on . . . an apron, that is, Mrs. Jack Farley (right) suggested to Mrs. Merle Ostrander, as they wrestled (perhaps literally) with the "tying decision" at Holloway Street United Church Tea and Bazaar held Wednesday afternoon.

Holloway Street United Church Scene of Colorful Autumn Tea

Vases overflowing with yellow and brown 'mums, a large collection of autumn fruits and vegetables and a bow of colorful leaves formed the entrance to the Autumn Tea and Bazaar held Wednesday afternoon at Holloway Street United Church.

To guide the guests to the tearoom were Mrs. W. Lamb; Mrs. N. Brown; Mrs. L. Reid; Mrs. William Phillips and Mrs. A. Campbell. Also receiving guests at the door during the afternoon were Mrs. R. Kilbank; Mrs. F. Scott; Mrs. K. Parks; Mrs. M. White and Mrs. R. Coulter.

Responsible in a special way for the success of the tea and bazaar were the bazaar committee, which consisted of Mrs. M. Outingdyke; Mrs. K. Parks; Mrs. K. Weaver; Mrs. F. Wilson; Mrs. T. Poole; Mrs. S. Lough and Mrs. L. Adams.

The entrance to the tea room consisted of a miniature white picket fence, flanked on either side by large artificial green plants. The main tea table was covered by a chocolate brown linen tablecloth, decorated by a solid "leaf and line" design.

A two-tier silver container brimmed over with bright yellow 'mums on one level and a bank of attractively arranged grapes, oranges, apples on the second. A silver candelabra, with green, yellow and brown colored candles flanked the centre-piece, complemented by a beautiful silver tea service and large platters of dainty sandwiches and hors d' oeuvres.

Each tea table was covered by a white linen tablecloth, and centred with a small silver bowl containing fruit. Supervising all the tea room activity were the tea room hostesses: Mrs. C. Holmes; Mrs. F. Wilson; Mrs. I. Knight and Mrs. L. Reid. Convenors of the tea room were Mrs. T. Poole and Mrs. G. Dobbs.

The various tables were filled with almost every kind of article imaginable. The bake table, barboring such delicacies as pies, tarts and cookies, was under the auspices of Mrs. J. Bush, while the candy table was convened by Mrs. A. McMillan. The kitchen convener for the event was Mrs. S. Lough.

Striped aprons, embroidered aprons, or just plain ordinary aprons — all at the apron table of course, under the supervision of Mrs. G. Coulter. In complete contrast was the farmer's market, which offered fruits, vegetables and plants. Mrs. A. Mitchell was in charge there.

The fancy work display, composed of articles such as shoe bags, doilies and knitted articles was convened by Mrs. O. Bertrand, Mrs. V. Bailey and Mrs. L. Townsend. A complete section filled with doll clothes, ranging from a fur-trimmed coat to an antique leather cape suit, was convened by Mrs. L. Walker and Mrs. R. Taylor.

At the gift centre, with great ideas for Christmas, Mrs. G. DeMille and Mrs. F. Moore assisted everyone with their selections. The odds and ends table, which consisted of just that, was convened by Mrs. J. E. Dixon.

GIRL GUIDE, BROWNIE NEWS

SHOWER HELD

The Girl Guide and Brownie mottoes of Be Prepared and Lend a Hand took on practical meaning recently. The leaders of Belleville Division met on Monday evening in Parkdale Community centre for the purpose of giving a kitchen shower of gifts to the former Guide Leader and Camp Advisor Mrs. A. Steenburg whose home was badly damaged by fire during the summer.

Two interesting movies "Trefoil on the River" showing pictures of the Centennial Heritage Camp near Cornwall, and "Kids and Cookies", a humorous account of cookie day, supplied the entertainment for the evening.

The shower was convened by the Division Camp Advisor, Mrs. A. Bannon, and by District Commissioner Mrs. N. F. Crone and the lunch was supplied by members of their committee.

Home and School Association News

HILLCREST SCHOOL

The first meeting of Hillcrest Home and School was held last Monday with Mrs. F. Belch, membership chairman registering this year's members.

Mr. Wishart the new principal at Hillcrest introduced the teaching staff. Mr. Robert Schamerhorn was presented with a past - president's pin by Mr. C. Belch, this year's president. U.N.I.C.E.F. boxes will be distributed to the boys and girls.

Mrs. Betty Forte was guest speaker of the evening. Her topic was "The Importance of Membership." In having Home and School it gives a better understanding between parents and teachers and promotes the welfare of the children.

The evening was concluded with a bake sale and refreshments were served.

SOCIAL and PERSONAL

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Wannamaker and daughter and son-in-law, Wayne and Donna Trice were in Cobourg on Sunday attending an at home at 180 Burks Street, for the 60th wedding anniversary of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. William H. May. Some years ago, Mr. and Mrs. May resided on the Trent Road, and at Bayside.

25TH ANNIVERSARY

Mr. and Mrs. John D. Orcan were recently entertained by their daughters Sherry and Nancy on the occasion of their 25th wedding anniversary with a family dinner held at Sun Luck Gardens. Among the guests the members of the immediate family included Mr. and Mrs. Percy Chase, Rednersville, Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Chase, Frankford, Mrs. Harold Regenaburg, Belleville, Harry Orans, Bloomfield, and Douglas Bradshaw, Belleville. Mr. and Mrs. Allan Orchard of Willowdale and Mr. and Mrs. Elgin Oram of Bancroft were unable to attend.

ITS SUPER - TEACHERS

MIAMI (AP) — A special Cuban school has turned out 20 expert teachers, to be called re-educationist, who will be assigned to youth camps "to make new men" out of "deformed youths," Radio Havana reports. The re-educationists are trained in psychology, teaching, re-education, investigative methods, social work and penology.

Honor Council Held by Crusaders

On Sunday, October 27, the Christian Youth Crusaders of the Wesleyan Methodist Church Everett St., Belleville held an Honor Council under the direction of Director Mrs. J. LeRoy. Welcomed by the pastor, the Rev. E. F. LeRoy, the congregation was led in singing by Mr. Ira Soterman accompanied by Miss Judith Thompson at the organ.

The boys and girls marched in to the CYC Theme song and the Scripture containing the CYC motto, which was read by Mr. Leslie Jewell, Director of the Grades 7 to 9 Crusaders.

A special selection was sung by Roger Rawlings, after which the District CYC Director, Mrs. Ella Dow, Trenton, was introduced and presented a film entitled "Mr. Layman", the story of a family that became committed and involved in the local church through the CYC program.

This program, it was emphasized, is totally open to children from all denominations and presents the opportunity for their well-rounded development — socially, spiritually, physically and mentally. A Hallowe'en social was announced for Tuesday, Oct. 29 for grades 1 to 6.

The staff was introduced: director, Mrs. J. LeRoy; berakds, Mrs. D. Cummings, Miss J. Brooks and Mrs. V. Stevenson; cadets, Mrs. J. Locklin and Miss J. Thompson; crusaders, Mr. L. Jewell, Mr. F. Cummings, Mr. E. Voteary and Rev. E. LeRoy.

Following the presentation of sashes and enlistment seals the children, parents, and guests gathered in the Church parlor for refreshments with Mrs. Helen Spearman, Mrs. Verna Hall and Mrs. Winnifred Glover in charge.

CLUB 4-H NOTES

MOUNTAIN VIEW MODERN MISSES

The fourth meeting of the Club Girl entertains was held on October 21 at the home of Carol McMurter. The meeting was opened with the 4-H pledge followed by the minutes read by Brenda Wood.

The topic up for discussion was "an afternoon tea". Mrs. Barber read what to do at a formal and informal tea. The demonstration for the meeting consisted of making fancy sandwiches and a relish dish, by Mrs. Barber and Mrs. Motley.

After each member applied the demonstration by making both these, all enjoyed a delicious lunch. The next meeting will be on October 28.

Quintena Rebekahs Hold Hallowe'en Tea

The Hallowe'en theme was much in evidence at the Odd Fellows Hall, Front Street, Wednesday afternoon, when the Quintena Rebekah Lodge held its annual tea and bazaar.

Typical orange and black decor was carried throughout with background motifs of witches, goblins and Jack o' lanterns holding sway in the vestibule where Sister Nora MacDonald N. G., Sister Elda Sopha V. G. and Sister Eva Judge D.D.P. warmly greeted the many patrons.

In keeping with the Hallowe'en theme for the successful event which was convened by Sister Alice Adams and Sister Doreen Hackett, a large number of the members were attired in unique Hallowe'en costumes which added much to the overall effect.

The various sales tables were located in the main hall — each bedecked with colorful orange and black streamers and highlighted with twinkling Jack o' lanterns. Taking tickets at the entrance were Sisters Margaret Thomas, Jessie Blakely, Lillian Summers and Evelyn Callerey.

A large selection of aprons ranging from every day to the real fancy styles were sold by Sisters Elda Sopha and Orlene Lott. A variety of vases, rose bowls and other china wares were at the next table which was convened by Sisters Phyllis Wing, Nelda O'Neill and Ida Holt.

For the sweet toothed a grand assortment of fudges maple creams and other sweets in cups and larger box containers were available and taking care of sales here were Sisters Marguerite Wessels and, Ruth Easton. Equally tempting was the home bake table laden with pies (especially pumpkin) tarts, cookies, homemade bread and buns, cookies and cakes where Sisters Gladys Bonnor and Irene McMartin were in charge of sales.

Many children's wear lovers, so suitable for Christmas giving were also displayed and these included cute little girls' aprons, toque and mitten sets, socks, terry cloth bibs and numerous other articles. These were sold by Sisters Florence Pollitt and Grace Akyr. The doll's wariobes were all made by Nanno LaRue. The fancy work table also had an abundant supply of gift giving items and along with the usual fancy pillow slips, dresser scarves were colorful driftwood centrepieces which sold rapidly.

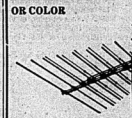
The men of the Lodge were not to be overlooked and an assortment of books, along with other miscellaneous items, and baskets of apples was in charge of Brothers Larry Pollitt, Nels Johnson and Randolph Nelson. The Boys' Junior Lodge also contributed by having a variety of house plants for sale with Peter Anderson the salesman.

The tea room with Ila Addy and Betta Anderson as convenors was located in the upper hall away from the hive of activity on the main floor and it was carried out the Hallowe'en decor with its white picket fence encircled with two huge Jack o' lanterns and intertwined with orange and black streamers. An attractive arrangement of orange and yellow mums centred the lace covered tea table, and this in turn was flanked with eye-catching orange and black candles in tri-branch silver candelabras. The guests tables carried out the color scheme with orange blooms in miniature driftwood centrepieces.

Pouring tea throughout the afternoon were Sisters Margurite Wessels, Doris Clark, Lena MacMillan, Nora MacDonald and Ellen Anderson. Kitchen conveners were Sisters Clara Ironside and Anais Webb, while other members of the lodge assisted in the serving and replenishing of the dainty sandwiches and cookies artistically arranged and enhanced with tiny Hallowe'en motifs. Sister Annie Rose collected the tickets at the tea room door.

A travelling apron with ticket sales in charge of Sister Martha Norris was won by Joyce Fish and a draw for a quilt was run by Sisters Irene McMartin and Oreas Adams and won by Mrs. Maslin. A number of other prizes were drawn and these included: a cake, Pearl Baird; candy, Helen McKibbon; electric knife, Joyce Fisher; groceries, Ron Bonsor; pillow slips, Bert MacMillan; hall, Maude Craig; and centrepieces, Elsie Humphrey and Orlene Lott.

Community Honors Couple



A large number of community friends gathered at River Valley School house on Friday evening in honor of the newly married couple, Mr. and Mrs. Paul MacHold (nee Yvonne Zuidema).

Jack Bush was master of ceremonies and Mrs. Philip Cooley was pianist for the assembly singing. Selections were read by Mrs. Ernest Carr Mrs. Vernon Harry, Mrs. G. Bartels and Mrs. Glenn Bush.

Mrs. J. E. Donohoe conducted a game. Mrs. Roy Irven brought greetings from Mrs. Gerald Brooks and herself, on behalf of the River Valley-II Club. Mrs. MacHold had been a valued member for several projects.

The young couple were given seats of honor, and Mrs. Glen Morrow read the address. Gifts were presented by Jack Donohoe, Nick De Haan and Ed Kent. The recipients voiced thanks and a special thank you was given by Mr. and Mrs. T. Zuidema, River Valley, and Mr. and Mrs. T. A. MacHold, Redneersville, parents of the bride and groom. The committee in charge then served refreshments followed by a social hour.

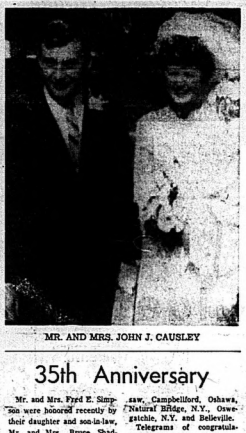
Four Couples Honored on Anniversaries

On Tuesday evening at the Parkdale Baptist Church four couples of the congregation celebrated 25 years of married life. Those being honored on this occasion were the Pastor and his wife Rev. and Mrs. Eric Penny, Mr. and Mrs. Andy Donald, Mr. and Mrs. Angus Hannah and Mr. and Mrs. John McGregor.



After a most enjoyable time of skits, speeches, pictures and poems depicting various stages of their marriage a delightful lunch was prepared and served by the women of the church. This included the cutting of the cake by the four honored wives.

Each woman was presented with a lovely corsage by Mr. H. Robinson at the beginning of the evening. Later on in the program Mr. E. Naismith, the master of ceremonies, presented each couple with identical gifts from the church which included a silver tray appropriately engraved.

The evening came to a happy ending with the entire group forming a large circle and with joined hands sang an appropriate selection.

DON'T CUT IN

RIO DE JANEIRO (AP) — Cutting in at dances has been forbidden by the sheriff of Sorlade, in Rio Grande do Sul, Brazil's southermost state. Sheriff Mario Cavalheiro — his name means gentleman in Portuguese — justified his action by saying: "No-good elements have been borrowing girls."

MR. AND MRS. JOHN J. CAUSLEY

Causley – Clements

St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, Trenton was the scene of a recent wedding when Donna Eileen Clements, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Clements, R R 2, Trenton, was united in marriage to John Joseph Causley of Kingston, son of Mrs. E. MacDonald, Sarnia, and the late Mr. J. Causley.

Rev. Douglas Wilson officiated at the ceremony and wedding music was rendered by Harold McNish.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore an Empire styled white crepe gown featuring a lace overlay on the bodice which was complemented with a shoulder length veil of tiered silk organza. She carried a cascade bouquet of white gladioli and yellow roses.

Miss Diane Clements, sister of the bride as maid of honor wore a pale green Empire styled gown of peau de soie with a head dress of white Shasta daisies and carried a bouquet of similar flowers. The bridesmaids, both sisters of the bride, the Misses Denice and Darlene Clements were similarly attired to the maid of honor, but in a dark shade of green.

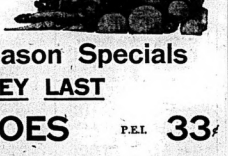
Paul Smith of London was groomsman, while the ushers were Thomas Evers of Sarnia, uncle of the bridegroom and Dwight Clements of Trenton, brother of the bride.

At the reception in the Dutch Mill Inn at Trenton, the bride's mother greeted the guests wearing a gold shade princess-style dress with brown accessories and a corsage of pale brown orchids. The bridegroom's mother assisted wearing a two-piece oatmeal shade dress with white accessories and a corsage of pale brown orchids.

Leaving for points west the bride donned a brown wool dress, yellow wool coat and brown accessories with a corsage of yellow carnations.

35th Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Fyrd E. Simpson were honored recently by their daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Shadlock, with a party for friends one evening and Open House and buffet dinner for relatives on the following Sunday. The event was the occasion of their 35th wedding anniversary. A beautifully decorated anniversary cake was served at each party.



Guests were present from Exeter, Colborne, Brighton, Trenton, Peterborough, Warsaw, Campbellford, Oshawa, Natural Bridge, N.Y., Oswegatchie, N.Y. and Belleville.

Telegrams of congratulations and lovely floral arrangements were received from relatives who could not be present. Many beautiful gifts were presented to the couple.

The honored guests expressed thanks and appreciation for the thoughtfulness of their family and friends and a social time was enjoyed.

The couple has one daughter and four grandchildren.

"Kids Terrific"

School Secretary Loves Job

By LINDA GELDART
Staff Reporter

Coping with a million interruptions that are all important; compiling statistical reports that take at least two months to prepare; being a diplomat, a public relations officer and a little bit of everything else.

That is the way it really is for senior school secretary, Mrs. Verona Meades, of Centennial High School.

Only some of the time, though.

Mrs. Meades, who has been senior secretary at Centennial since its opening, is no newcomer to this field. "Not a newcomer" is a tremendous understatement. when you consider that she has worked in a great variety of positions for more than 25 years.

Her whole career began during the war. She took advantage of an opportunity to get started in office work, taking courses in typing and accounting. Much of her practical and theoretical "know-how" was gained through a course in business college.

And she has been going ever since.

Her exact duties, and for that matter, even her inexact ones, would take too much space to list. However, what she does do consists mainly of balancing budgets of the various departments, school clubs, right down to taking care of the mail.

Does Mrs. Meades like what she does?

"I think there is a great deal of variety here — more than anywhere else, and I like dealing with the students. Kids today are terrific, and, on the whole, very sensible."

Secretary - bound students would do well to heed the wise words of advice from this soft-spoken and highly trained professional. She stresses, "you have to be prepared to spend extra time in the office, it isn't always a case of punching the clock, and leaving at five."

Mrs. Meades also emphasized qualities every secretary should have. She listed an ability to meet the public, to converse, to take responsibility, with a special stress on spelling.

"So many people have prejudices concerning secretaries. Our work is not merely doing correspondence, we must have the ability to adapt to any field, and do a little of everything."

"The most important thing in succeeding in any job, of course," smiled Mrs. Meades, "is that you have to enjoy your work to do it and appreciate it."

Educational Choice Aided By University Tours

By JUDY SCHRIEDER

When a student reaches grade 12 or 13, he is faced with an important decision. Will he go on to further education, and if so, to what institute of higher learning will he seek admittance? One of the best ways for such a student to become acquainted with various universities, if he attends NCC would be to take advantage of some of the trips being sponsored by the school.

A group will be journeying to Queen's to visit the mathematics department at the end of November, excursion to the University of Waterloo in Kitchener is also planned. Those students interested in French will attend a conference at York University, Nov. 2. Hopefully, a better insight into the university curriculum will be gained. On November 11, grade 13 history and biology students will travel to Niagara Falls. These three trips should help to emphasize the importance as well as the fun, of education.

Last week, Lawrence Adams principal dancer in the National Ballet Company, addressed a student assembly at Nicholson. By means of color slides, depicting costume and set designs, he succeeded in dispelling some of the mystery associated with the art of ballet.

The whole student body at Nicholson can be proud of its athletes. In football last Thursday, Nicholson seniors edged Albert 7-6, while the girls' senior and junior basketball teams defeated Madoc, 32-23 and 31-16 respectively.

The school newspaper will be coming out before Hallowe'en at a penny a copy for the first issue.

Grade 12 and 13 students will have the pleasure of hearing Canadian poet Al Purdy reading his own poems on Nov. 6. Some of the students have already read some of his works.

BLASTED STEPS

CANNON BEACH, Ore. (AP) — Ten charges of explosives were used to eliminate possible climbing steps on Haystack Rock, a prominent landmark on the northern Oregon coast. The bureau of sports, fisheries and wildlife did the blasting because too many venturesome tourists received rescue by Coast Guard helicopters.

People's Children. The Art Club did a fine job of decorating the gym, with the theme a cave.

Because the student body was let out for the football game last week, we did not have an assembly, but the Key Club made up for it Thursday morning with their annual slave auction. This proved to be a lot of laughs for spectators — but will be a lot of hard work for the slaves.

This was the final day to make downpayments on the yearbook. The production of the yearbook takes much work so the editor and workers must know early how many are demanded.

Quinte's students received the first copy of Quintattler, the school newspaper last week. This was a long issue and all hope to see many more just like it.

EACH PLAYS ROLE

PINE MOUNTAIN, Ga. (AP) — An individual interacting with a group will assume the role he likes best, a Harvard psychiatrist says. Some persons are only happy when they are "running the show," Dr. Jacob Moreno said. "There are others who are only comfortable as troublemakers; others only have to stand in the background."

Farm Credit Act Critics Force Delay in OK

OTTAWA (CP)—Proposed amendments to the Farm Credit Act ran into a barrage of opposition criticism and suggestions in the Commons again Wednesday, delaying passage of the bill.

The measure would increase capitalization of the Farm Credit Corp. and broaden the conditions under which loans are made.

The government ran into criticism for its proposal to wipe out a reference in the act to "family farms" and for the wording of provisions which would extend credit to Indians on reservations and to Indian bands.

Debate on the bill continues today when it is expected to get third reading and be sent to the Senate for final approval.

Earlier criticism focussed on the removal of the fixed five-per-cent interest rate.

Wednesday the House gave unanimous approval to a government amendment making it clear that the act would provide loans for farming corporations or co-operatives by individual groups of Indians, as well as to Indian bands as whole.

But members criticized the $100,000 limit on the loans.

Jack Horner (PC—Crowfoot) proposed an amendment to remove the limit and John Burton (NDP—Regina East) moved another which would require consultation with the Indian affairs department to set the limit for each loan. Both amendments were defeated 67 to 43, with Conservatives, New Democrats and Creditistes voting against the government.

Lincoln Alexander (PC—Hamilton West) said the $100,000 limit "smacked of discrimination." It did not take into account the different sizes of the bands or the various capital requirements.

Agriculture Minister Olson replied that the $100,000 limit applied to all loans to corporations and co-operatives regardless of the number of people involved.

He said the legislation is designed to treat Indians exactly the same as other Canadians. The Indians would be able to use all the money for capital improvements as none of it would have to be spent on land.

The present act had excluded Indians as reservation land cannot be used as security for a mortgage.

Donald MacInnis (PC—Cape Breton-East Richmond) said Indians are not being treated as other Canadians if they are to be held responsible for the loan to the band as well as for the loan they may receive as individual farmers or part of a farm corporation.

Mr. Olson said everyone is responsible to the degree that he has an equity in the entity. The controlling factor in loans to Indians was the agreement of the Indian affairs minister.

Mr. Horner protested the removal of a reference in the bill to the family farm. A farm corporation would be encouraged to buy up land for speculative purposes.

Mr. Olson said a farm corporation included the family-farm corporation and the present wording is redundant.

The regulations would ensure that loans were not used for speculation. They would also make some favorable distinction between family-farm corporations and corporate farms set up by non-related persons.

Minto Personals

MINTO — Sympathy is extended to Mr. and Mrs. Ed Colden and family in the passing of Mrs. Colden Sr. in Belleville hospital on Thursday. Funeral service was held Saturday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Martland Duff and boys of Toronto were dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Orval Jackson on Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Gary Colden and children of Westree spent the weekend with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Colden and attended the funeral of his grandmother.

Russell Hagerman spent Thursday, Friday in Guelph as a 4-H forage representative and Grant Hagerman, a former 4-H member spent Monday at Ottawa Fair.

Coroner's 'Trials' Unfair

TORONTO (CP) — A hospital administrator Wednesday described the coroner's trial in Ontario as "a trial that is not a trial."

Speaking to the Ontario Hospital Association, Dickson Thornton, administrator of Port Colborne general hospital, asked for overhauling or abolition of the Ontario coroner's system, which he described as "wide open to exploitation by news media."

"If the press are to be permitted to report . . . every damaging statement, whether it has any foundation or not; if they are to be permitted to perpetrate such miscarriages of justice as to report a person, or an organization, guilty of negligence when nobody has even been on trial, then surely the system is wrong," he said.

Mr. Thornton's attack on the coroner's system was followed by a defence from Fred Cruickshank, consultant to the supervising coroner of Ontario, who said the Ontario system is considered one of the best in the world.

"We are contributing a tremendous amount to better medical attention for the people of this province," Dr. Cruickshank told an audience of several hundred attending the final session of the association's three-day convention here.

Stop Smoking

LONDON (AP) — An official of the World Health Organization has urged the British government to act against cigarette smoking because of "the terrifying incidence of chronic bronchitis and lung cancer" in Britain. Prof. Max Rosenhem said: "It would appear that health education of the public will not, by itself, lead to improvement here. Active governmental intervention is called for."

Gordie Howe's HOCKEY

Dean Prentice, who is really a rather quiet guy around the dressing room, never ceases to surprise me with his industry.

When it comes to sawing and planing sticks, he must rank as a master carpenter. He is always whittling away.

Now he's up to something else and, to me it's a darn good idea. It's a homemade sweatsuit made from a plastic garbage bag. You know the big ones that are used to line garbage cans.

Dean cuts a hole in the bottom for his head and holes in the sides for his arms and pulls it on over a sweatshirt, tucks it in his belt and he's in business.

Apparently he came up with the idea in the summer back in Guelph, his hometown. Dean taught at hockey schools for a month at London and another two weeks at Guelph. About three weeks before our camp opened, he figured he was a couple of pounds over what he'd like to be so he took up jogging.

Dino, who has never had a weight problem, then came up with the idea for the sweat jacket. It's an idea that also has possibilities for fishermen, too. Why not take a few of those plastic trash containers fishing. Not only are they good to carry the fish in, but you could fashion a rain jacket in a hurry if you needed one.

But back to Prentice and his jogging. He prefers to call it running. He said he shed two pounds the first night and kept it up to get his legs in shape and to help his wind.

Prentice, however, claims that riding the bicycle is better for the legs than running. I agree with him.

Back in Saskatoon years ago there was a half-mile race track not far from my home. I would run on that. Maybe run to one quarter pole, then walk to the next and then run for two more. When I got home, my mother would rub the back of my legs with linament.

After I got up with the Red Wings, I had operations on my knees and one knee wouldn't bend and the doctors told me they might have to put me out and force it to bend. I didn't care for that idea so I got a bicycle and every night the family would go bicycle riding. It wasn't long before the knee was bending the way it should.

Leafs: Wha Happen ?

Doug No Detriment to Blues

By SCOTT BUTTON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

That old saying about life beginning at 40 usually isn't applied to athletes, but don't tell Doug Harvey.

Harvey apparently believes that a man of 43 can still play in the National Hockey League and so do his employers, St. Louis Blues.

The Blues, who have provided a home for several elderly hockey citizens, lead the Western Division of the NHL today. And Harvey deserves much of the credit.

The aging defenceman, who broke into the NHL 21 years ago, scored a goal and assisted on another Wednesday night to guide the Blues to a 4-1 victory against Philadelphia Flyers.

The victory moved St. Louis two points ahead of the second-place Oakland Seals who were not scheduled.

Elsewhere, Montreal Canadiens maintained their grip on first place in the Eastern Division by blanking Toronto Maple Leafs 9-0.

In other games, Chicago Black Hawks downed Los Angeles Kings 4-2, New York Rangers bombed Pittsburgh Penguins 7-3 and Boston Bruins took Minnesota North Stars 4-2.

Harvey, who joined the Blues during last spring's Stanley Cup playoffs after playing the season in the minors, got St. Louis off to a quick start Wednesday.

He scored his first goal of the season on a power play at 2:56 of the opening period. Then he picked up an assist late in the third period on Red Berenson's goal.

Two younger defencemen, Noel Picard and Barclay Plager, also scored their first goals of the season for the Blues.

Gary Dornhoefer replied for the Flyers.

A crowd of 10,754 at St. Louis watched the Blues bring their record to four wins and four losses. Every other team if the Western Division has a losing record.

Jacques Lemaire paced the Canadiens to their victory against the Maple Leafs with

DOUG HARVEY

Rogatien Vachon stopped 25 shots to record his first shutout of the season and lower his goals-against average to 1.66 for six games.

The 16,485 fans at Maple Leaf Gardens, disturbed at Toronto's mediocre performance, cheered when it was announced there was one minute left in the game.

Bobby Hull scored one goal and assisted on two others to help the high-scoring Black Hawks to their victory. The three points moved Hull into a tie with team-mate Jim Pappin for third place in NHL scoring with 13 points.

Other Chicago snipers were Pappin, Pit Martin and Chico Maki. Scoring for the Kings in front of 9,407 Los Angeles fans were Howie Hughes and Jim Peters.

Nevin also picked up an assist to move into second place in the scoring race, one point back of Mikita.

Other New York scorers were Don Marshall, Vic Hadfield and Ron Stewart. The Penguins led 2-0 at the end of the first period on goals by Charlie Burns and Noel Price, and Jean Pronovost made it 3-0 early in the second period.

But a New York gathering of 13,111 saw the Rangers rally to win their fifth consecutive game against Western Division opposition.

The Bruins won on last-period goals by Eddie Shack and Johnny Bucyk. Derek Sanderson and Fred Stanfield scored the other Boston goals.

Shack, put into the clear on a pass from Ed Westfall, scored at 4:45. Bucyk's insurance tally came with only 35 seconds left to play.

A crowd of 10,982 had seen the hometown North Stars tie the game at 2-2 late in the second period on goals by Bill Goldsworthy and Andre Boudrias.

Games tonight have New York at Philadelphia and Boston meeting the Red Wings at Detroit.

FRANKFURT, West Germany (AP) — Horst Koehler of East Germany, who placed fifth in the Olympic dressage competition, has decided not to return home, informed sources said Wednesday. The sources said Koehler had decided to live in West Germany and had used the Olympics as a means of leaving East Germany. They declined to give any details of his whereabouts.

Waples Wins 2,000

(CP) — Keith Waples became the ninth driver in North America to win 2,000 races when he drove Armbro Glimlet to victory in the second race at Mohawk Raceway Wednesday night.

The pacer, in its first victory in 19 starts this year, paid $4.70 and clicked with Arman Joe in the first for a $68.70 daily double.

Waples boosted his victory total to 2,001 in the sixth with Rockeye Joe, finishing a length ahead of Ash Song to complete a $15.20 exactor.

Waples, 44, from Victoria Harbor, Ont., now has won 152 races this year for more than $250,000 in earnings. He won his first race when he was 12.

A crowd of 2,722 wagered $200,807.

Junior Win Would Boost Them Over .500 Mark

(STAFF) — The Morrisons Junior "B" hockey club may not come galloping into the Belleville Arena for Friday night's game against Cobourg Cougars, but some lucky youngster will get to ride his own pony, complete with bridle and halter, out of the arena on Friday, Nov. 29th, the seventh annual junior hockey "Pony Night."

On this night the financial salvation of junior hockey in Belleville, there will be a draw for a pony, plus numerous other prizes, including two bicycles and hockey sticks autographed by Bobby Hull.

The event is promoted by Cleveland Sports Inc., run by Jim Hendy. Working from the Queen's Hotel, a Hendy agent, Mr. "Buddy" Rich sol cits Belleville residents to buy tickets to enable Belleville children to attend this gala night. Crowds for this annual affair usually exceed 2,000, most of them children.

Meanwhile, a victory tomorrow night will give the Morrisons a winning record. They currently have two wins, two losses, and a tie in five starts. Defenceman Jerry Chandler, out for two weeks with foot problems, may return to the lineup for Friday night's game.

Lloyd Baverstock who suffered a broken nose in Monday's victory over the Cougars in Cobourg has told coach Floyd Crawford that he wants to play Friday night. Crawford said that if a protective mask can be obtained for Baverstock he will likely start.

"Cobourg should be up for this game after Monday night's loss to us," said Crawford, "and if they play as well as they did in the first ten minutes of Monday's game we'll have our hands full."

"They're a good big team capable of beating anyone in this league, so we certainly can't be overconfident."

High School Tangle

Computer Needed on Sidelines?

By MALCOLM JOHNSTON
Staff Sportswriter

The combinations and permutations of playoff possibilities in the final week of Class "AA" football would stagger the imagination of the mathematics staff at any of the seven league high schools.

Today, Moira, Trenton and B.C.I are tied for first place with four wins and a loss. Quinte is fourth with three wins and two losses.

But after Friday's final regular season action, a playoff could be necessitated between Trenton and B.C.I., Moira and B.C.I., Trenton, Moira and B.C.I., or Moira, Trenton, B.C.I. and Quinte.

The most probable result appears to be a playoff between B.C.I., who play winless Napanee at the Fairgrounds, and the winner of the Trenton, Moira conflict which will be played at Moira's field.

Under C.O.S.S.A. regulations, there definitely will be a playoff, because no team will be undefeated, or more than two points ahead of its nearest rival when the schedule concludes tomorrow afternoon.

"We'll try a few wrinkles against Trenton, Moira coach Gord Smith remarked, "But we've got to stop their sweeps and passes to win." "We've been working with the offence all week, but we're going to have to play great defence to keep them from scoring."

Coach Tom Nigro of Trenton said, "We'll be close to full strength, but this will be a very tough game — execution is the key to the game for us." When questioned as to what effect last week's loss to Quinte would have on the Trojans he replied, "I think it will likely build them up for this game."

Despite a rash of injuries, Moira's coach Smith felt "Most of our boys will play — our whole season will be wrapped up in this one game."

In all cases, there will be Junior games preceding the Senior. Meanwhile, the Senior Saints of Quinte will be out to prove that last week's 25-0 thrashing of Moira was no fluke, when they tangle with Picton at the Quinte football field. Centennial has completed its season and has a bye this week.

The Standings:

	G.	W.	L.	T.	Pts.
Moira	5	4	1	0	8
B.C.I.	5	4	1	0	8
Trenton	5	4	1	0	8
Quinte	5	3	2	0	6
Centennial	6	2	4	0	4
Picton	5	0	4	1	1
Napanee	5	0	4	1	1

Reed Gallops for Four Majors as Saskies Clinch Top Spot

REGINA (CP) — George Reed continued a scoring spree Wednesday with four touchdowns as Saskatchewan Roughriders clinched first place in the Western Football Conference with a 34-20 win over Edmonton Eskimos.

Reed, who scored three touchdowns Oct. 23 against Winnipeg Blue Bombers, boosted his season total to 16 for 96 points and second place in the WFC scoring race.

He made 140 yards rushing on 27 carries to move within 24 yards of the rushing leadership, Rookie Jim Evenson of British Columbia Lions tops the WFC in rushing with 1,189 yards on 229 carries. Reed has 1,165 yards on 245 attempts.

R was the fourth successive win for the Roughriders, who wound up their league schedule at home with an undefeated record of eight victories.

The Roughriders, with 11 wins and a tie in 15 games, increased their margin to three points over Calgary Stampeders. Saskatchewan and Calgary each have one game remaining.

The Eskimos remained in third place with 17 points and will meet the Stampeders in Calgary Nov. 10 in the sudden-death western semi-final.

Jim Thomas and Thermun Butler accounted for the Edmonton touchdowns. Both were converted by Peter Kempf, who also kicked two field goals—both from 40 yards.

Reed is still four behind the Canadian Football League record of 20 touchdowns for a season, set by Pat Abbruzzi of Montreal Alouettes in 1956. Reed needs two more touchdowns to equal a club record established by Ken Carpenter in 1955.

Ron Lancaster, named the WFC's most valuable player Wednesday completed 13 of 17 passes for 314 yards. The Roughriders, who dominated the statistics, had a total offence of 513 compared with 229 yards by the Eskimos.

Edmonton's quarterback Charlie Fulton completed five of seven attempts for 83 yards. Frank Cosentino started the game at quarterback and was replaced by Corey Colehour in the second quarter. Fulton took over in the second half.

The Roughriders, who won the WFC title in 1966 said went on to capture the Grey Cup with a 29-14 win over Ottawa, had 24 first downs as 17,068 fans watched. The Eskimos, losing their first game after four successive wins, had 17.

ANDY CAPP

Trend to Young Coaches Finds Way to North Star Camp

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — A trend toward younger coaches in the National Hockey League continued Wednesday when Minnesota North Stars named 34-year-old John Muckler to succeed Wren Blair.

The trend started following the 1967-68 season when Stanley Cup champion Montreal Canadiens named Claude Ruel, then 29, to replace Toe Blake. It continued when Bernie Geoffrion, 37, succeeded Emile Francis as coach of New York Rangers.

Muckler, a Paris, Ont., native, has been general manager-coach of the North Stars' Memphis farm club of the Central League since Minnesota came into existence in June, 1967.

Blair's first appointment when he became general manager-coach of the Minnesota expansion franchise was the naming of Muckler as his top aide.

Wednesday, Blair decided that he could no longer do justice to both jobs, and tabbed Muckler as his new coach.

Muckler expressed his satisfaction at the news conference where the North Stars officially named him coach.

"I guess this means that I won't renew the lease on my house in Memphis," he said.

"Seriously, I figure the North Stars will do well this season, but don't feel that any of the expansion West Division teams has the edge on any other.

"A team has to be up for every game, and the team that is up for most of the games will win our division."

Blair, flanked by Muckler and North Stars' president Walter Bush, made the announcement an hour before the North Stars lost to Boston Bruins 4-2.

Blair, a 43-year-old from Lindsay, Ont., said he would coach the team for three more games and Muckler would make his debut next Wednesday against Toronto Maple Leafs.

Ted O'Connor, the team's chief scout, was named as interim coach and general manager at Memphis.

"Obviously the dual job of general manager and coach is far too demanding in today's market and expanded league for one man to do too long and to do both jobs effectively," Blair said.

Regan "Holidays" After $1,000 Swing

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Larry Regan, general manager of the National Hockey League Los Angeles Kings, has been sent on a scouting trip to Czechoslovakia and possibly Russia following a $1,000 fine for hitting a referee.

"I was absolutely dismayed b. Larry's action," said club owner Jack Kent Cooke Wednesday.

Although Regan remains on full salary with expenses for his trip, Cooke said, "you might say I am suspending him."

NHL president Clarence Campbell slapped the fine on Regan during the weekend and the general manager left town Monday.

The club announced he will be gone two or three weeks and possibly will do some scouting in Canada on his way home.

Regan punched referee Bruce Hood in Oakland Sunday night, Oct. 13, after Hood called a five-minute penalty on Kings' defenceman Dale Rolfe in the third period.

"The referees represent the authority in the National Hockey League," Campbell declared. "They must retain the superior hand."

HELSINKI (CP-Reuters) — Finland defeated Canada's national hockey team 3-2 in an exhibition game in this Finnish capital Wednesday night. The game was the first of a series the Canadians will be playing in seven European cities during the next two weeks. Left-winger Bill Heindl, 22, of Winnipeg got Canada's first goal after Lasse Oksanen put Finland ahead in the first period. The Finns added another in the second and one early in the third before right-winger Bill MacMillan of Charlottetown, playing his fifth year as a National, got Canada's second goal.

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Billy Casper is looking to become the second $200,000-a-year man in golfing history. He may be looking in the right place. Casper leads a street field into the first round of the $100,000 Lucky International Open Gold Tournament today. He warmed up Wednesday with a four-under-par 67 to share the pro-am title with Chi Chi Rodriguez, Bob Murphy and Bob Rosburg. The leading money winner on the 1968 tour- Casper has earned $183,309. The $20,000 first-prize money would make his only the second man to clear the $200,000 mark. Jack Nicklaus did it last year.

CALGARY (CP) — Scotty Munro and Bob Brownridge, co-owners of Calgary Centennials of the Western Canada Hockey League, were each fined $100 Wednesday for entering the referee's dressing room after a game Sunday. WCHL president Dan Ballis said the two men were disputing a goal in the game which Calgary won 11-4 from Edmonton Oil Kings.

Celtics Low Again

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Boston Celtics, who won five straight games to open defence of their National Basketball Association championship, lost their second in a row Wednesday night, 119-117 to Detroit Pistons.

Jimmy Walker's corner jump shot with nine seconds to play was the winning margin. Walker completed the game with 21 points while Dave Bing connected for 33. Bailey Howell also scored 33 points for the Celtics.

In another cliff-hanger, Earl Monroe's corner shot with two seconds left climaxed a Baltimore Bullet comeback for a 112-110 victory over San Francisco. Gus Johnson paced Baltimore with 31 points.

Cincinnati Royals held off a determined New York Knicks 118-114 behind the clutch shooting of Oscar Robertson. Robertson, who scored 24 points, dumped four free throws in the final minute of play.

Elvin Hayes, who scored 18 of his 32 points after the half-time intermission, paved a San Diego comeback that saw the Rocks down Atlanta Hawks 127-117.

Behind-Scene Activity Included Canadian Games Bid

MONTREAL (CP) — While Canadian athletes were busy on the various fields at Mexico's recently-concluded Olympic Games, there was a flurry of background activity among the various sports federations of the world.

Col Jack Davies of Montreal, president of the British Commonwealth Games Association of Canada, was in Mexico and gave notice to the general assembly of the British Commonwealth Games Federation that Canada will make a firm bid for these Games in 1974 or 1978.

The next Commonwealth Games will be held in Edinburgh in 1970. The last time Canada played host for them was in 1954 at Vancouver.

Davies said Wednesday he expects Toronto, Hamilton, Vancouver and Winnipeg will be in the running for the Commonwealth endeavour.

Col Davies was elected for his fifth four-year terms as a member of the International Technical Committee of the International Amateur Athletic Federation while in Mexico. He was also elected a member of the commission which is responsible for matches between this hemisphere and others and remains the guardian and sanctioning authority for all records.

League Leaders

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Bob Nevin of New York Rangers picked up two goals and an assist Wednesday night to move into second place in National Hockey League scoring.

The three points, coming in Nevin 15 for the season—one Pittsburgh Penguins, gave Nevin 14 for the season—one less than Stan Mikita of Chicago Black Hawks who was held scoreless Wednesday.

Jim Pappin and Bobby Hull, both of Chicago, are tied for third with 13 points each. Pappin scored a goal Wednesday during the Black Hawks' 4-2 victory against Los Angeles Kings, while Hull collected a goal and two assists.

Tied with 12 points each are Jean Beliveau of Montreal Canadiens and Jean Ratelle of New York.

The leaders:

	G	A	Pts.
Mikita, Chi	5	11	16
Nevin, NY	9	6	15
Pappin, Chi	9	4	13
R. Hull, Chi	7	6	13
Beliveau, Mtl	5	7	12
Ratelle, NY	5	7	12
J. Hull, Chi	4	7	11
Stemkowski, Chi	4	7	11
Hadfield, NY	3	8	11
Stapleton, Chi	1	10	11

There is a kind of man who tries.

You have seen him. He limps a little when it's damp. Everything he does, he gives it the full shot. 100 per cent. My friend, there is a whisky like that. The full shot. Gold Stripe.

It will put 100 per cent full, laughing taste in your mouth with every sip. And quietly leave. Without biting. If you're not afraid of a little honest taste, maybe you should try Gold Stripe. And get the full shot.

Junior Hockey Program to Operate on $6,500 for Province

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld. (CP) — Howie Meeker, a former player and coach with the National Hockey League's Toronto Maple Leafs, says an outdated minor hockey set-up is the root of Newfoundland's troubles in junior-class hockey.

Meeker, 1948-47 winner of the Calder Cup as NHL rookie of the year, said the central Newfoundland community of Grand Falls is the only centre in the province with an up-to-date minor hockey system.

"To develop junior hockey there has to be a genuine interest on the part of people who control senior hockey. They have to put just as much time and energy in junior as they do in senior."

At a junior hockey meeting this fall, the Newfoundland Amateur Hockey Association laid out an expanded junior hockey program. The junior B division would be split in two sections, with three teams playing in the west and possibly four teams in the east.

Claude Anstey of Corner Brook, NAHA junior president, said the junior C division would have up to 18 teams, but they won't be all named until officials meet Dec. 11 to draw up a schedule.

Anstey said the junior hockey committee of the NAHA has $6,500 left to start the junior league, after spending $2,000 on a junior hockey school at Buchans, Nfld., in August, and $500 towards a referee s' clinic.

He said the committee is depending heavily on co-operation of stadium managements around the province. "We hope they don't charge centres too much to play junior hockey, and we are hoping we will be able to retain five per cent of the gate receipts for operating expenses."

Officials expected junior B would be well supported in the larger centres, while junior C probably would get most of its support from smaller centres such as Port aux Basques, Port Saunders and Parsons Pond in the west and Clarenville and Bonavista in the east.

Anstey had praise for the fall meeting, intended to revive junior hockey in the province.

"I am quite pleased with the results. . . . The interest in junior hockey shown by all delegates was just great. . . . Co-operation from everyone is the thing we need now and we're off and running."

Meeker, chief instructor at the NAHA junior clinic, praised the youngsters who attended, but added that their efforts were wasted.

"They deserve a lot of credit because they're thinking and they have the talent, but you can see the coaching just isn't there. Many of them have trouble with simple things like passing the puck. We should be importing coaches instead of players."

He said to develop top junior players quickly, the NAHA should take the best players from various centres on the island, and place them on one team entered in senior NAHA competition.

"Take our best 16 and bring them to St. John's. Here they could play hockey and also further their education. We have a trades school and a university they could attend. After they had played in the NAHA for a year, send them back to their home teams. This would result in better hockey."

Meeker, one of the most vocal advocates of an upgraded hockey system in Newfoundland, also said the high schools could be doing more to help, although some people would complain that travelling would interfere with studies.

"There would be a problem, but all that would be needed to overcome it is to set standards for those who want to play. If they don't meet the grades set, then they don't play."

He said money is always a problem when you try to obtain improvements, but there is a way of getting it.

"All the centres have to do is take 10 per cent of the net received at the gate and furthermore, I think you could run a junior team on the beer money that is spent in the NAHA."

NAIROBI, Kenya (AP) — Kipchoge Keino, first Kenyan athlete to win an Olympic gold medal, fainted during a victory parade Wednesday and was taken to hospital. Some 30,000 cheering Kenyans turned out to welcome home their Olympic heroes. Doctors did not disclose what was wrong with Keino, a soldier in the Kenyan Army, but he has suffered from stomach trouble recently and it was reported he was to have an operation in Germany.

NHL Exec Says Hockey Is "In"

NEW YORK (CP) — "Hockey is the new "in" sport in the United States," declares Don Ruck, whose appointment as National Hockey League vice-president was announced Wednesday.

"Hockey is in today's tempo," said the 43-year-old dynamo from Michigan who as NHL public relations director has been helping for the last 2½ years to make big-league hockey a major U.S. sport.

"It's what the public wants," he added.

"It was the speed, physical action, continuity of play, color, and the magnificent skills of individual players which I think the public is coming to appreciate more and more."

Ruck, a five-foot-seven, 145-pound pipe smoker, has been preaching the hockey gospel since April 1, 1958, when the then six owners of the NHL picked him to open a New York office and help make a success of the league's expansion to 12 teams.

A former ski jumper, an ardent fly fisherman, but never much of a hockey player, Ruck has worked hard at his job.

In appreciation, the NHL has named him to the newly-created post of vice-president. The announcement was made by Clarence Campbell of Montreal, long-time league president, and William Jennings, chairman of the NHL board of governors and chairman of New York Rangers.

In its 52 years, the NHL never before has had a vice-president.

The new rank will make little difference in Ruck's duties. He will continue to publicize the league, coordinate network television, and head NHL Services Inc., a firm which makes royalty arrangements with firms wishing to use the NHL label.

Ruck was interviewed in his office on the 36th floor of a new building which towers over Madison Square Garden in mid-town Manhattan.

He was born in Iron River, a town in northwestern Michigan which has a climate which can be described as typically Canadian. His enthusiasm for Canada seems almost as boundless as his love for hockey and fishing.

ABOUT REAL ESTATE

"What's Your Problem?" — by Don G. Campbell

While "real estate investment" has been defined as the technique of putting a $2 "win" ticket on the nose of each horse in an eight-horse race on the assumption that — in the long run — those occasional long-shot winners will spell the profit margin, "real estate speculation" boils down to the black art of putting the whole bundle on a single long-shot's nose.

Dear Mr. Campbell: The chance for turning over a nice profit in real estate has fascinated me for a long time but frankly, I don't have the patience to buy a $10,000 lot in the path of a freeway on the off-chance that I'll be able to resell it for $11,000 some time next year.

Doesn't the real chance for a killing in real estate depend on buying raw land at a very low price — and with very little cash involved — and depending on leverage to give you a fat profit? — Mr. T. T.

ANSWER: Sure! What else is new?

It might also be said that the "killing" lies in staying away from the crap table until the man with the dice is prepared to make 12 straight passes. Theory is one thing and the harsh realities of life are something else again.

Admittedly, the attractions of raw land speculation are considerable: you buy undeveloped land at $500 an acre and put 20 per cent of this down ($100). A year later the acre which gives you a profit of not 100 per cent, but 900 per cent, of your actual cash outlay. This was how — before the bust — so many millionaires were created during the great Florida land boom of the 1920s. In one small Florida town underdeveloped lots were selling for $500, and two years later, offers of $50,000 for them were being turned down.

As long as one confines the purchase of raw land with the full understanding that it is strictly a gamble, there is certainly nothing wrong with such speculation. But bear in mind that you may sit on it for years when there is absolutely no market for it at all and, in the end, may surrender it for no more — or less — than you paid for it. If you hit, you may hit it big. "May," I said.

Essentially there are three approaches to buying raw land: (1) the dumb-luck stratagem which simply depends on the increase in population and the shrinkage of available land to drive up its value; (2) the purchase of raw land that is in disfavor because, at the moment, land that is no better is selling materially higher in another direction. Since public taste is fickle, the trend could swing your direction at any time. Or, (3) the purchase of land that seems to be on the verge of changing in nature — pasture-land, for instance, that could very easily become farming, residential or recreational with a bit of subtle promotion.

And then, when all is said and done, cross your fingers.

Dear Mr. Campbell: When we moved into our new home I was shocked to discover that the previous owner had removed a beautiful dining room chandelier which I had assumed went with the house. Without it, in fact, the dining room is so gloomy that I doubt if we could have bought the house otherwise.

The previous owner is pretty frosty about the matter and refuses to discuss it with me and I am mad enough about it to talk to the lawyer. Or would I be making a fool of myself? — Mrs. F. W.

ANSWER: I don't know how much muscle your lawyer has in such matters, but this is probably your best — perhaps only — course of action. The law on this sort of thing is a bit hazy, but it is generally assumed that any fixture or device supposedly fastened to the house in a permanent way is a part of the property being sold — unless it is specifically exempted in the sales agreement.

Unfortunately, postal gaiety, or what-have-you, frequently enters the picture, and supposedly permanent fixtures have a strange way of disappearing between the echoes of the old owner and the arrival of the new. There have been cases where the new owner has arrived to find the bulk of the front lawn de-sodded.

Your lawyer may be able to find a way to force the return of the chandelier, or to withhold the reasonable cost of a replacement from the final closing costs. Make sure first, however, that the chandelier hasn't been exempted in the sales agreement or you're going to emerge from the whole thing looking pretty silly.

Dear Mr. Campbell: I am nervous about the possibility of home fires and have been toying with the idea of buying an alarm unit that has been offered to me by a salesman. The cost of the unit is about $75, and I am wondering if it would be adequate for a seven-room home. — Mrs. L.

ANSWER: I doubt it very much. To be really effective a seven-room home would need a system of 14 or 15 heat detectors and one smoke detector. And these start at about $675 and run up to about $1,600. I would suggest that you write for a pamphlet published by the National Fire Protection Association, (50 cents), 60 Batterymarch St., Boston, Mass., 02110, for more details.

Mr. Campbell welcomes your letters and comments. Unfortunately, he is unable to enter into personal correspondence with readers, but will attempt to answer as many letters as possible through his column.

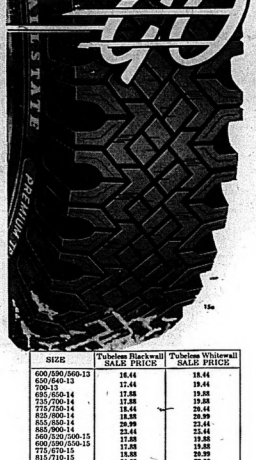
McNaughton Gives Views

Regional Regimes Will Need More Authority

STRATFORD, Ont. (CP) — When regional governments are formed in Ontario they "must have more authority, more resources, more capacity, more expertise and more responsibility," Provincial Treasurer Charles MacNaughton said Wednesday.

Broader units of local government, whether they are based on existing counties or larger units, must be used to "develop a governmental system which will provide greater autonomy at the local level," he told the Association of Ontario Counties.

A major objective of regional government is "the development of a local system with the ength to tackle local problems in a more effective and comprehensive manner."



"The alternative, I suggest, is greater concentration of power in the provincial government, a trend which has developed already to some extent and which many of you deplore."

Mr. MacNaughton said regional government is essential if there is to be provincial tax reform and improvement in the municipal tax base.

He said Ontario's tax-reform plans were "hampered severely by the recent federal budget."

The federal government ignored and pre-empted "the needs of our provinces and particularly our municipalities in priority and growth services" and did it just before a conference at which these questions were to be discussed.

"To pile injury on insult the federal government imposed a heavy new tax in our most important and fastest-growing field of revenue, the personal income tax, which constitutionally belongs as much to the provinces as to the federal government."

THE BETTER HALF By Bob Barnes

"...and, Charlie—I want you to meet what's-her-name, my own true love."

Queen Elizabeth Sails Last Time from Gotham

NEW YORK (Reuters) — The Queen Elizabeth and the Port of New York rang down the curtain Wednesday on a 28-year romance as the world's largest liner sailed for England.

The parting was filled with nostalgic memories as the 82,997-ton Cunard liner moved into the Atlantic with more than 1,200 passengers in chilly but brighter weather.

Tugboats and fireboats blew their horns in farewell and police helicopters buzzed overhead as the liner slipped out of the Hudson River.

After returning to Southampton on Nov. 4, the ship will sail on her final passenger-carrying cruise to the Canary Islands and Gibraltar.

Then a skeleton crew will take the vessel to its final anchorage at Port Everglades, Fla., where it will be transferred into a hotel, convention and trade centre.

Windsor Constable Dismissed

WINDSOR, Ont. (CP) — Constable Gregory Sharron has been dismissed from the Windsor police department after an earlier conviction of common assault while on duty.

Sharron was fined $250 Oct. 11 for hitting Garry Affleck of Windsor three times in the face with a flashlight. The assault occurred after Sharron and another policeman stopped Mr. Affleck and accused him of speeding.

HAS FOUR BABIES

St. Mark's ACW Holds Bazaar and Dessert Tea

DESERONTO — The Anglican Church Women of St. Mark's Church feel that last Wednesday afternoon's bazaar and dessert tea was one of the most successful such annual events for some time. The weather cleared and the Lions Hall was crowded with guests most of the afternoon, with the eight small tables nearly always full. Rev. A. F. Dowdell officially opened the event.

The hall looked exceptionally attractive with its many paper flowers of all sizes and colors. The general effect was one of gaiety and happiness. Mrs. Reginald Batt, Mrs. Bert Coles and Mrs. John Glen were responsible for the decorations.

Pouring tea were representatives from all the sister churches: United Church, Mrs. George Lyons; Roman Catholic Church, Mrs. Mervin Sherman; Pentecostal Church, Mrs. Felix O'Coin; Presbyterian Church, Mrs. Charles Griffiths; and Salvation Army, Mrs. Stafford Claus, Sr.

Mrs. Dowdell and Mrs. Robert Tucker, ACW president, welcomed the guests and Mrs. C. A. Sergeant received admissions. Members of the group assisted in serving and replenishing.

The many desserts were arranged buffet style, with Mrs. Batt and Mrs. Coles assisting the guests in making their choice.

The sale tables, arranged at the sides, were well patronized, the cooked food table, the most popular, in charge were Mrs. John Lyons and Mrs. Jack Spence.

The miscellaneous table, including the candy, was presided over by Miss Alice Jackman and Mrs. Thomas Bowen, and produce was sold by Mrs. Harry Oliver, Mrs. James Finlayson and Mrs. Rogers. The fancy work table was in charge of Mrs. Charles Gray and Mrs. Maurice Kimmett, and Mrs. Arthur Reim sold church calendars. A number of, beautiful bouquets of flowers were also offered for sale.

Bullet Matches Rifle

PETERBOROUGH (CP) — The bullet that killed Donald Comrie, 20, during a holdup last March 23 was identified in court Wednesday as having been fired from a .44-40 calibre rifle.

Police found the rifle in a field June 5 during a search of property near Onemee, about 15 miles west of here.

John Williams Wray of Peterborough has pleaded not guilty to non-capital murder in the shooting death at a service station.

Edward Anderson, a Toronto ballistics expert, testified at Wray's trial Wednesday that marks on the bullet taken from Comrie's body compared with those on test bullets.

He added that the rifle's ejection mechanism made marks on casings similar to those on a casing found in the Malton lot shortly after the shooting.

About $55 was taken in the holdup.

The trial continues.

Moldavia Turns to Industry

A young worker in Kishinev, capital of Moldavia, works at a grinding machine in a pump factory. Moldavia, smallest of Soviet republics, is located between Romania and the Ukraine. Although it officially became part of the U.S.S.R. in 1940, industrialization only got under way in recent years and the republic remains largely agricultural. (CP Photo)

Wallace Campaign Tails Off

PHILADELPHIA (CP) — George Wallace's southern-based appeal to the U.S. politically-disenchanted grew 6,000 avid supporters here Wednesday night, filling one-third of the 17,000 seats.

It was a tame show, and perhaps a disappointing one to the little former governor of Alabama whose American Independent party is the third force in the presidential election next Tuesday. The response was long and loud, but no portent of success.

There were some of the hecklers who have marked his campaign trail and whose presence in Detroit the previous night had produced the most violent outbreak since the Democratic party's nominating convention in Chicago in late August.

But there was just enough heckling, from no more than 100 persons at the far end of the hall, waving amid a racially-mixed group the black flag of Afro-American Black Power, to prompt the one-line gibes against "anarchists" and "pointed-headed intellectuals" that fuel the Wallace speech formula.

The all-white audience in the cardinal-red seats were in devotion to Wallace openly on its sleeve, cheering before Wallace made a delayed arrival—so that more people could show up—and reacting in stormy ovations to such hand offerings as God Bless America. There was special enthusiasm whenever television cameras turned their way.

There was also the usual shouting, stamping, flag-waving —Confederate and American flags—ovation, lasting 14 minutes this time. Through it, Wallace in a dark blue suit snapped off salutes, clapped in time to Dixie and Yankee Doodle Dandy, blew the occasional kiss, spoke to newspaper men and watched the crowd with a smile that never touched his big, black, observant eyes.

"Have your day now," he told the first fairly-faint chant of heckling from the back of the arena. "After Nov. 4, you're through."

Stag Film On Cable

PALM SPRINGS, Calif. (AP)—Police arrested a young television technician Wednesday in the showing of a lewd stag film carried through the Coachella Valley by cable television.

For a start, Americans do not vote directly for the candidate of their choice. They vote for the slate of delegates to the Electoral College understood to support the candidate the voter favors.

Although about 70,000,000 Americans will vote next Tuesday in full confidence that they are deciding who will be the new president, the formal decision actually will be made six weeks later when the 538-member college votes.

Each state has representatives in the Electoral College equal to its members in Congress—in other words, in proportion to the population. New York, with two senators permitted each state and 41 members of the House of Representatives, has the greatest number—43. A number of states, such as Alaska, Nevada and Vermont, have only three electoral votes.

It's a winner-take-all fight with the candidate who gets even a bare plurality in any state taking all that state's electoral votes. Thus a candidate could scrape by in big states, picking up a basketful of vital electoral votes, while an opponent winning big in small states would build a hefty popular total but an unimpressive electoral total.

To the average American the electors are largely faceless and nameless. Selection of candidates for the college is left to state law and in most cases each party makes its selection through conventions or committees.

Strangely, although an elector is bound by custom to cast his vote for his party's candidate there is nothing under law to force him to do so. Some have betrayed this trust but it didn't change the election outcome.

Barring a hairline decision, or betrayal of trust by several electors, the outcome of the election should be known on election night.

But if neither Humphrey, Wallace or Nixon receives the 270 electoral votes necessary to elect a president, the decision goes to the House of Representatives. There, each state would have one vote and 26 votes—a simple majority of the 50 seated —are necessary for victory. With the House still expected to be dominated by Democrats after the election, Humphrey would seem to have the edge there.

U. S. Election Oddity

Voters Pick Electoral College Supporting Presidential Choice

WASHINGTON (CP) — The key to election of an American president is the Electoral College which isn't a college at all but is, in the words of the American Bar Association, "archaic, undemocratic, complex, ambiguous, indirect and dangerous."

It's also confusing.

Although it has endured some 180 years, most Americans don't fully understand it. More than 100 attempts in Congress to change it have failed.

Although it usually works pretty well, it is placed in particular jeopardy this election year by the strong third-party challenge of George C. Wallace, former governor of Alabama, in a three-way fight with Democratic Vice-President Hubert Humphrey and Republican Richard Nixon in next Tuesday's presidential voting.

Even in a normal two-party race it is inherently undemocratic in that it has the effect of disfranchising millions of voters and makes the votes of some count for more than others.

Most important it can frustrate the will of the majority and permit the defeat of the man who gets the largest popular vote, with the prize going to the candidate placing second. This has happened before—in the 1876 election of Rutherford B. Hayes and the 1888 election of Benjamin Harrison.

Delinquents Not Criminals

By SYDNEY J. HARRIS

Thoughts at Large:

There is not nearly as much relationship between "juvenile delinquent" behavior and adult crime as most people think; fewer than 15 per cent of juvenile delinquents go on to be adult criminals, and the great bulk of adult criminals have little in common with juvenile offenders.

• • •

Most of the ferment and turmoil in education today springs from the fact that the schools are being asked not only to make up in a hurry for their own failures but to compensate for the failures of society as a whole — and it can scarcely do the first job, much less the second.

• • •

Why do we "uphraid" people when we reprove them, instead of "downbraiding" them which sounds more appropriate?

• • •

Politicians, no matter how impressive their oratory, do not really persuade people to change their minds; a politician is successful when he articulates the frustrations of the people more than when he embraces their principles — for, often, their frustrated needs contradict their professed principles.

• • •

Speaking of oratory, why is every circle always "vicious" — aren't there virtuous and benevolent circles as well?

• • •

The basic paradox that creates so much bitterness today is the fact that, in order to survive as a species, we need institutions on a world - wide scale; but in order to enjoy life as individuals we need more and better personal relations on a small scale — and neither of these objectives is being realized: The world is not moving toward the large universality that would eliminate war, or toward the smaller units that would restore a sense of identity, but merely hanging in limbo between the two.

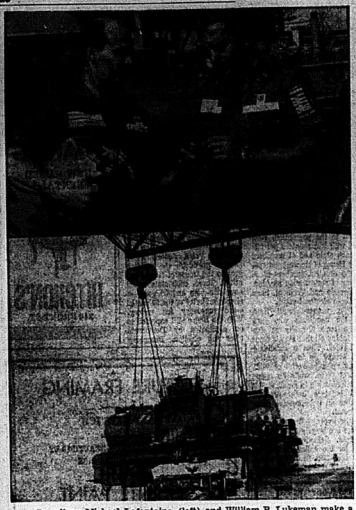
• • •

The "publish or perish" attitude among researchers was neatly satirized by Otto Loewi, the Nobel Prize-winning pharmacologist, when he defined a "drug" as "a substance which, if injected into an animal, produces a paper."

• • •

People who primly say "It is I," or answer the phone with "This is he," would hardly, when shown a group photograph, exclaim: "Oh, which is I? Is this I?" — as Geoffrey Wagner cutiingly points out in his amusing new book, "On the Wisdom of Words."

• • •



If our bodies were as lazy as our minds, hardly anybody would bother to get out of bed in the morning.

• • •

When someone under 30 says to us, "You've really got it made," we simply smile quietly and wait for them to grow older and learn that nobody has it really made.

One in Ten Students Uses Drugs

OAKVILLE (CP) — A survey given among 4,000 Oakville high school students and released Wednesday showed nearly 10 per cent of the students have used a hallucinatory drug at least once.

The survey was conducted by student council members of the four high schools to refute what they described as published reports which claimed that between 20 and 40 per cent of the students had taken drugs.

Student leaders said the publicity which resulted after 15 teen-agers were taken to hospital following an LSD party in September, made Oakville appear to be the drug-using centre of Canada.

About six per cent of the 4,000 students who replied to the survey said they were still taking hallucinogens.

Eight Men From Yacht Reach Land

DARTMOUTH, N.S. (CP) — Eight unlucky sailors were to fly to Saint John, N.B. today—their sleek, 85-foot yacht presumed sunk somewhere in the stormy Atlantic 350 miles southeast of here.

The men, crew members aboard the yacht Atlanta II bound from New Brunswick's Deer Island to Bermuda, arrived in port here Wednesday aboard the Canadian Coast Guard cutter Rapid.

Airport Noise Level Demonstration Staged

MISSISSAUGA, Ont. (CP) — About 700 residents of this community Wednesday night got a demonstration of the noise level they can expect if the federal transport department goes through with plans to expand Toronto International Airport.

As persons entered a school auditorium for a meeting to discuss the expansion plans, two loudspeakers blared noise from jet engines at a level of 100 decibels.

Douglas Hanson of the Society for Aircraft Noise Abatement, an organization which opposes expansion, told the meeting if the department goes through with its plans, about 1,300 housing units in the community's Applewood Hills district could be considered uninhabitable.

Mr. Hanson said mass demonstrations may be required to show the federal government that Mississauga residents do not want expansion of the airport.

MARKET INCREASES

SASKATOON (CP) — The University of Saskatchewan says markets for Canadian-produced milk will reach 25,000,000 pounds by the year 2000, while 43,000,000 pounds of beef, pork and poultry will be needed. The figures are almost double the 1963 production.

With principal Glen Post directing, the grade eight performers of Stockdale school yesterday played records while the tape machine in the foreground picks it all up for a radio show.

These Kids Aren't Mike Shy

TRENTON — Leave it to the kids.

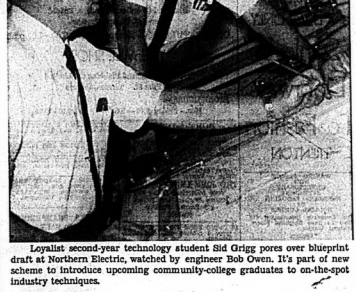
They take the complicated and make it simple, do anything without getting tangled up in the complications that give adults ulcers.

Take putting on a radio show for example. For most in the voting age bracket this would mean hours of rehearsal and strained tempers resulting in a project that has all the enjoyment of participating washed out of it.

But for the grade 8 students at Stockdale Public School yesterday the whole idea was as forgetting about homework.

Under the direction of principal Glen Post, and music supervisor, Ruth Margeson an eight minute broadcast was put together entitled "The UNICEF Story."

The microphones were set and as soon as the vibrating buzz of enthusiasm had levelled off the show was under way.



The recording took place in a school classroom but as far as the kids were concerned it was as good as a professional studio. Just what UNICEF is all about was explained by narrator Larry Read and the rest of the Program was backed up by songs and music from the rest of the members.

Mistakes were no problem, for as one young performer calmly put it "Oh, I guess we better do that one over again."

The odd voice cracked and a strange note was heard once or twice but this didn't bother anyone — they were too busy enjoying themselves.

The project was labelled by Mr. Post as "our contribution towards the UNICEF program" and with children collecting for UNICEF this Hallowe'en it couldn't have been more appropriately timed.

Mrs. Margeston said "many long hours had gone into the production" but this work was soon forgotten by the children, who on completion of the tape, asked when they could hear themselves on the radio.

Loyalist second-year technology student Sid Grigg pores over blueprint draft at Northern Electric, watched by engineer Bob Owen. It's part of new scheme to introduce upcoming community-college graduates to on-the-spot industry techniques.

Students 'On the Job'

As a resource centre for trained manpower, Loyalist College is being put to its first practical test.

Technology is a key program for the college, hopefully designed to meet the needs of its surrounding community.

This means Loyalist must produce graduates skilled in the needs of local industry.

How the potential graduates are getting a look at what industry really is like. Local industry also is having a chance to assess the value of Loyalist training.

Launched this week was a program of on-the-job orientation that takes students out of the classrooms and into industrial workshops.

Under the scheme, about 30 second-year technology students will spend at least one week studying under working conditions at various Belleville plants.

The industries include Northern Electric, Stewart Warner, Stephens-Adamson and Bata Shoe at Batawa.

Also in the works are plans for field trips to major industries in Eastern Ontario.

At Northern, which now has four of the students and will host 11 more in coming weeks, what is happening is typical.

The youths work along with the industrial veterans at bench and drafting board.

"They're looked upon the same as our regular employees," explains Martin Hamelink, Northern training officer. "They go through a full-time routine and are evaluated the same way as a regular worker. They are involved in our every-day workings."

The scheme cuts two ways, emphasizes Mr. Hamelink.

"At the end of the training period the students should give us feedback — what they think of our work environment, how our techniques relate to their studies".

It also gives industry personal contact with the drift of Loyalist instruction and permits evaluation of its usefulness to industrial requirements.

The program also is being extended beyond the city and district, says Paul King, Loyalist dean of technology.

How come a Volkswagen dealer has used Chevs, Fords and Pontiacs for sale?
A Volkswagen dealer isn't all Volkswagens. The better cars which people trade in on Volkswagens go on our used car lot... right alongside the bugs and 1500s. You can buy almost anything. For almost any price. Take a look.

TORONTO STOCKS

TORONTO (CP) — The Toronto stock market posted further gains in active mid-morning trading today.

By 11 a.m. the industrial index was up 1.24 to 179.39 in response to the rising New York market where unconfirmed Vietnam peace rumours are boosting prices.

FPE-Pioneer advanced 1¼ to 25¼. Canada and Dominion Sugar 1 to 37, MacMillan-Bloedel ¼ to 25¾ and Price and Voting ¼ to 23¾.

Among the heaviest traders, Revenue Properties gained ¼ to 17¼ and Noranda, Canadian Locomotive 25 cents to $4.40. Trilag Mining dropped 13 cents to $2.02.

Prices were low to 29¼, Alcan ¼ to 29 and Dofasco ½ to 22¾. All three reported higher nine months earnings.

Consumers Gas was up ¼ to 22 and Union Gas ¼ to 18¼ after the companies announced a consumers Gas, said the company has bought 700,000 common shares in Union Gas for an undisclosed price.

Morse A slipped ½ to 18½ after reporting lower nine month profits.

Among mines and western oils, Bethlehem Copper gained and western oils .02 to 227.07.

Northland Oils rose 7 cents to 52 cents after trading was delayed briefly at opening to match orders. The stock gained 10 cents Wednesday.

On index, golds lost .14 to 226.23 and Dominion golds .13 to 226.94. Base metals gained .56 to 113.56. Volume by 11 a.m. was 1,200,000 shares compared with 1,325,000 at the same time Wednesday.

Prices were lower for the fourth successive day on the Toronto exchange Wednesday, although losses were fractional.

The industrial index closed at 178.15, down .05. Volume shrank to 4,618,000 shares compared with Tuesday's exceptionally heavy total of 5,073,000.

Declines outnumbered gains by 272 to 246. Brokers say the market, which is close to the record level reached on Oct. 7, is going through a weak phase in response to the recent dip in New York.

On index, golds fell .63 to 226.37, base metals 29 to 112.00 alls. Bethlehem Copper gained and western oils .02 to 227.07.

NOTICE OF APPLICATION to The Ontario Municipal Board by the Corporation of the City of Belleville for approval of a by-law to regulate land use and control in the Planning Act.

TAKE NOTICE that the Council of the Corporation of the City of Belleville intends to apply to The Ontario Municipal Board pursuant to the provision of Section 30 of The Planning Act for approval of By-law Number 8582 passed on the 7th day of October, 1968. A copy of the by-law is furnished herewith. A further and better explanation of the purport and effect of the by-law and stating the lands affected thereby is also furnished herewith.

Any person interested may, within fourteen (14) days after the date of this notice, send by registered mail or deliver to the Clerk of Belleville notice of his objection to the approval of the said by-law, together with a statement of the grounds of such objection.

The Ontario Municipal Board may approve of the said by-law, but before doing so it may appoint a time and place when any objection to the by-law will be considered. Notice of any hearing that may be held will be given only to persons who have filed an objection.

The last date for filing objections will be November 7, 1968.

DATED at the City of Belleville this 24th day of October, 1968.

Adam S. Stalker,
City Clerk,
Hall,
Belleville, Ontario.

SPECIAL NOTICE

ALL OWNERS of land abutting the Belleville City Limits and located in the Township of Thurlow are hereby notified of the foregoing NOTICE OF THE ONTARIO MUNICIPAL BOARD UNDER SECTION 30 OF "THE PLANNING ACT".

THE CORPORATION OF THE CITY OF BELLEVILLE

BY-LAW NUMBER 8582

A BY-LAW TO AMEND BY-LAW NUMBER 7080, BEING A BY-LAW TO REGULATE THE USE OF LAND, THE LOCATION, BUILDING AND USE OF BUILDINGS AND THE SIZE OF LOTS AND THE DENSITY OF POPULATION.

COUNCIL OF THE CORPORATION OF THE CITY OF BELLEVILLE ENACTS AS FOLLOWS:

1. THAT By-law Number 7080 be, and it is hereby, amended by adding the following subsection to sections 9, 10 and 11 as subsections 9.10, 10.13 and 11.14 respectively:

Municipal Services
(i) Sanitary Sewer
(ii) Municipal Water Supply

THIS BY-LAW shall not come into force and take effect until approved by The Ontario Municipal Board.

Read a first time this 7th day of October, 1968.

Read a second time this 7th day of October, 1968.

Read a third time and finally passed this 7th day of October, 1968

(Sgd.) F. R. Scott
J. Russell Scott, MAYOR

(Sgd.) Adam S. Stalker
Adam S. Stalker, CITY CLERK

October 24, 1968.

EXPLANATORY NOTE TO BY-LAW NUMBER 8582

It had come to the Planning Board staff's attention that By-law Number 7080 specified and required certain municipal services for all types of residential accommodation except for those uses permitted in R1, R2 and R3 Zones. In theory therefore, one could erect an apartment building without the necessary municipal services anywhere in the 1959 annexed area of the City of Belleville.

The proposed amending by-law rectifies this undesirable situation.

Adam S. Stalker,
CITY CLERK

'The Pill' Is Out If Nursing Baby

By Dr. Joseph G. Molner

Dear Dr. Molner: I am expecting my third child and want very much to nurse it. However, I have been told that if I do, I cannot take the birth control pill. Is this true? And why?

I have used the pill successfully for five years and am leery of the other forms of contraceptives. Can you help! — Mrs. M.

You have been correctly advised. One of the ingredients in the birth control pills can be secreted in mother's milk and have an unfavorable effect on the baby. Therefore, you should give up the pill for as long as you continue nursing.

I (and many others) see so many benefits of breast-feeding that I hope you will do so. I also feel that you are unduly leery of other forms of contraceptives. Discuss this with your physician, as I think I am entirely warranted in saying that in the interim he can provide some other, contraceptive which has had a very high degree of success until you are ready to return to the pill.

The pill also curtails the milk supply.

Dear Dr.. Molner: My son has mononucleosis and I would like to know more about it. Do you have a booklet about it? — Mrs. A. G.

It's a very common ailment among young people, and yes I have a booklet, Mononucleosis: What It Is; What To Do. Anyone can order a copy by sending 25 cents in coin and a long, self-addressed, unstamped envelope to Dr. Molner, in care of the Chicago Sun-Times Syndicate, P. O. Box 19, Dundee, Ill.

Dear Dr. Molner: Would you publish in your column the dangers of sniffing glue? I have reason to believe that my nephew and a few of his friends are sniffing glue. He is 15 and a wonderful boy, but I think this is something they just started.

I have been taking care of him while his mother is in the hospital. When I cleaned his room I found several containers of plastic glue and some paper bags with glue in them. — C. R.

I have warned against gluesniffing, and still another warning was published just a few days after you wrote your letter so I assume that you have seen it by now. Permanent liver damage, damage to the blood and to the brain are the outstanding dangers, plus the fact that the solvents in these glues are intoxicating. Many accidents have been traced to "glue drunks."

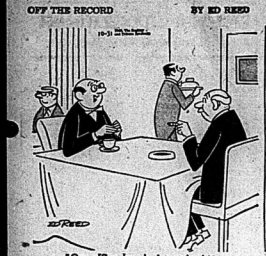
You are right in being suspicious of the paper bags. That is the mush - used and extremely dangerous method of sniffing glue, putting the glue in a bag, and then breathing deeply. Of course, it means that the sniffer is exposed to highly concentrated intoxicating and poisonous fumes.

• • •

Dear Dr. Molner: I never miss your column but have never seen anything on "essential hypertension." Is it so uncommon, or is it that so little is known about it that it doesn't merit mention? — Mrs. H. C.

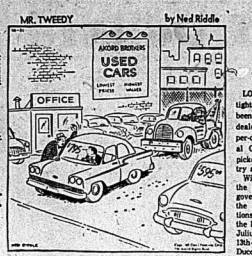
That's life for you, isn't it? You evidently missed seeing the column in which I discussed essential hypertension.

There are various known causes of hypertension (high blood pressure), but there are still cases in which no cause can be identified. And those are the cases we call "essential hypertension."



All you can do is take such precautions as are possible to maintain good health otherwise. After all, if they happen to have been born with healthy blood vessels such individuals may not encounter any particular trouble from their elevated blood pressure, except that it's there.

• • •



Dear Dr. Molner: My 8-year-old daughter has been treated for a staphylococcus throat infection, but it still persists. Could her tonsils be removed in her present condition? — Mrs. F. L.

With protection from suitable antibiotics, yes, the tonsils can be removed in such a situation. It depends on your doctor's decision.

Huge Profit on Picture Sale Rocks Britain's Art World

LONDON (CP) — Britain's tight little world of high art has been rocked by the case of the dealer who turned a neat 5,500-per-cent profit from the National Gallery on an Old Master picked up for a song at a country auction.

With complaints heaping up in the press and Parliament, the government Wednesday called in the director of public prosecutions to see if everything was on the level when American dealer Julius Weitzner snapped up a 13th-century gem by Italian Duccio di Buoninsegna last March.

The 73-year-old Weitzner, who now runs a Mayfair gallery, bought the 16- by 11-inch Virgin and Child for £2,700 (about $7,020). This week the government-financed National Gallery announced its purchase for £150,000 (about $390,000).

The transaction has brought to record allegations of the existence of a "dealers' ring" operating to depress prices for the benefit of buying members at art auctions.

It has also brought red faces. The auctioneers are embarrassed. So is the National Gallery. It says it had no inkling of anything unusual about the original sale, though the board (department) of trade was tipped off in early August that it was worth looking into.

The furore has brought the Duccio out of centuries-long obscurity. Harry Bridson, a Lancashire cotton magnate and wholesale collector of art, acquired it for a few francs in a job lot from a Parisian Montmartre garret about 45 years ago. It stayed undiscredited in his home at Aldwick Court, Somerset, until the auction after the death of his son and heir.

Weitzner picked it up with little opposition bidding. It's not Weitzner's first coup of the kind here. A few years ago he paid £500 for Rubens' Daniel in the Lion's Den, later sold for £200,000.

The Opposition Conservatives have put a series of questions on the Commons order paper.

One of them asks Anthony Crosland, the trade minister, what representations he has received about "the illegal operation of a dealers' ring" after the Somerset sale.

Newspapers for several years have been running periodic exposes of the ring system, alleged to operate widely to boost prices in the antique as well as art field.

Interest Reports Prepared

OTTAWA (CP) — The revenue department announced Wednesday that it has begun printing millions of T5 slips, a form that small investors and bank depositors soon will get to know.

Finance Minister Edgar Benson announced in the Oct. 22 budget that the government will attempt in future to keep track of all interest and dividend payments above $10.

Banks and other financial institutions paying interest on deposits, and corporations paying dividends, now must file a T5 slip to the government with every payment over this amount.

The previous minimum limit in both cases was $100.

The slips will be required for payments made in the 1968 calendar year.

The government will also move progressively toward 100-per-cent matching of T5s against tax returns, making sure that taxpayers admit the interest and dividend payments as income.

At present, the small volume of T5s received by the revenue department is hand-matched in an incomplete way with returns.

TO DOUBLE TAX

The departing passenger tax at Hong Kong's airport will be doubled to $1.65.

Jeane Dixon's Horoscope

For November 1

Your birthday today: You are beset with the need to end unfinished matters this coming year. Conventional advice is not acceptable to you; your own feelings take precedence. Today's natives are affectionate, sometimes fickle — hermits at heart.

ARIES (Mar. 21 — Apr. 19): A strenuous ten days lie ahead for you. Unusual quirks can cause dismay. Use your inventive talents, seek new solutions. Competition is vigorous.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 — May 20): The tone of the coming weeks is set today. Lawsuits are not favored at this time. If you can manage to work on your own, by all means do so. Well-meaning friends clutter the path.

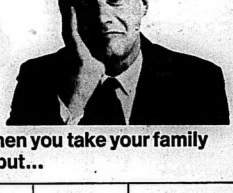
GEMINI (May 21 — June 20): Focus your critical eye on work rather than on your friends; they may not take it so well. Be moderate; it pays. Meditate a bit tonight.

CANCER (June 21 — July 22): Today marks the slow start of three weeks of adventure in romance! Everything you do today must be watched carefully. Do not expect immediate results.

LEO (July 23 — Aug. 22): Begin this quiet and sober month with a resolve: thrift! Your stewardship of other people's affairs may slow up your day.

VIRGO (Aug. 23 — Sept. 22): Your concern over money should not be permitted to dominate your day. Instead, find ways to cope with misunderstanding or the opposition from friends; ask why (and how).

LIBRA (Sept. 23 — Oct. 22): Be the one who is calm and peaceful. If others seem a bit tense, remember they have not been so lucky as you. Give a little, meet them halfway.



SCORPIO (Oct. 23—Nov. 21): This weekend begins a three-week venture into a more creative approach to life. Concentrate on your private activities. Discussions concerning older people cause delays.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 — Dec. 21): This is one of those days when there seems entirely too much to do. Do the most important things first, get as far as you can into the work. (Avoid arguments).

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 — Jan. 19): Discussion burns up a lot of time and energy . . . with little results. Postpone money deals until next week. Meditate tonight rather than getting involved in parties.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20 — Feb. 18): Nothing special today beyond restless discontent with things as they are. This coming month requires conscious thrift since your natural impulse will be to scatter money needlessly.

PISCES (Feb. 19 — Mar. 20): Today your intentions are not understood by anybody closely related to you. Proceed calmly, with care about details, and you will succeed, in due time.
